2 Another preuention , iſſuing out of the former anſwer : that the iuſtice of God is in ſuch ſort commended and ſet foorth by our vnrighteouſneſſe, that therefore God forgetteth not that he is the iudge of the world, and therefore a moſt ſeuere reuenger of vnrighteouſneſſe.

g Teachery, and all the fruits thereof. h Therefore I ſpeake not theſe words in mine owne perſon , as though I thought ſo , but this is the talke of mans wiſedome , which is not ſubiect to the will of God. 3 A third obiection which addeth ſomewhat to the former , If ſinnes do turne to the glory of God , they are not onely to be puniſhed , but we ought rather to giue our ſelues to them : which blaſphemie Paul contending himſelfe to curſe and deteſt , pronounceth iuſt puniſhment againſt ſuch blaſphemers. i The trueth and conſtancie. 4 Another anſwere to the firſt obiection : that the Iewes , if they be conſidered in themſelues , are no better then other men are : as it hath beene long ſince pronounced by the mouth of the Prophets. k Are guiltie of ſinne. ♣ Pſal. 14,1,3. and 53,1,3. ☙ Pſal. 5,10. ✱ Pſal. 140,3. ✱ Pſal. 10,7. ✲ Eſai. 59.7. l An innocent and peaceable life. * Pſal. 36,1. 5 He prooueth that this grieuous accuſation which is vttered by Dauid and Eſaias , doeth properly concerne the Iewes. m The law of Moſes. 6 A concluſion of all the former diſputation , from the 8 verſe of the firſt Chapter. Therefore ſaith the Apoſtle , No man can hope to be iuſtified by any Law , whether it be that generall Law , or the particular Law of Moſes , and therefore to be ſaued : ſeeing it appeareth (as we haue already prooued) by comparing the Law and mans life together , that all men are ſinners, and therefore worthy of condemnation in the ſight of God.

n Be found guilty before God.

o By that that the Law can by vs be performed.

p Fleſh is here taken for man , as in many other places, and furthermore hath here a greater force : for it is put to ſhew the contrarietie betwixt God and man : as if you would ſay , Man who is nothing elſe but a piece of fleſh defiled with ſinne, and God who is moſt pure and moſt perfit in himſelfe.

q Abſolued before the iudgement ſeate of God.

r A ſecret ſetting of the righteouſneſſe which is before men , be they neuer ſo iuſt, againſt the iuſtice which can ſtand before God : now there is no righteouſneße can ſtand before God , but the righteouſneſſe of Chriſt onely.

7 Therefore ſaieth the Apoſtle , Leaſt that men ſhould periſh , God doth now exhibite that, which he promiſed of old , that is to ſay , a way whereby we may be iuſtified and ſaued before him without the Law. 8 The matter , as it were of this righteouſneſſe, is Chriſt Ieſus apprehended by faith , and for this end offered to all people, as without him all people are ſhut out from the kingdome of God. ſ Which wee giue to Ieſus Chriſt , or which reſteth vpon him. t By the Glory of God , is meant that marke which wee all ſhoote at , that is , euerlaſting life , which ſtandeth in that wee are made partakers of the glory of God. 9 Therefore this righteouſneſſe touching vs , is altogether freely giuen , for it ſtandeth vpon thoſe things which we haue not done our ſelues , but ſuch as Chriſt hath ſuffered for our ſakes , to deliuer vs from ſinne. u Of his free giſt, and meere liberalitie. 10 God then is the authour of that free iuſtification, becauſe it pleaſeth him : and Chriſt is hee , which ſuffered puniſhment for our ſinnes , and in whom wee haue remiſſion of them : and the meane whereby wee apprehend Chriſt , is faith. To be ſhort , the end is the ſetting foorth of the goodneſſe of God , that by this meanes it may appeare , that hee is mercifull indeede , and conſtant in his promiſes , as hee that freely , and of meere grace iuſtifieth the beleeuers. x This name of Blood , calleth vs backe to the figure of the olde ſacrifices , the trueth and ſubſtance of which ſacrifices is in Chriſt. y Of thoſe ſinnes which wee committed when we were his enemies. z Through his patience , and ſuffering nature. a To wit, when Paul wrote this. b That he might be found exceeding true and faithfull. c Making him iuſt , and without blame by imputing Chriſt righteouſneſſe vnto him. d Of the number of them which by faith lay hold vpon Chriſt : contrarie to whome, are they which looke to be ſaued by circumciſion , that is , by the Law. 11 An argument to prooue this concluſion , that we are iuſtified by faith without workes, taken from the end of Iuſtification. The end of Iuſtification is the glorie of God alone: therefore we are iuſtified by faith without workes : for if wee were iuſtified either by our owne workes onely , or partly by faith , and partly by workes , the glorie of this iuſtification ſhould not be wholly giuen to God. e By what doctrine ? now the doctrine of workes hath his condition ioyned with it , If thou doeſt : and the doctrine of faith hath this condition , If thou beleeueſt. 12 Another argument of an abſurditie: if iuſtification depended vpon the Law of Moſes , then ſhould God be a Sauiour to the Iewes onely. Againe : if hee ſhoulde ſaue the Iewes after one ſort , and the Gentiles after another , hee ſhould not be one and like himſelfe. Therefore hee will iuſtifie both of them after one ſelfe ſame manner , that is to ſay , by faith. Moreouer , this argument muſt be ioyned to that which followeth next , that this concluſion may be firme and euident. f God is ſaid to be their God , after the manner of the Scripture, whome hee loueth and tendereth. g The circumciſed. 13 The taking away of an obiection : yet is not the Law taken away therefore , but is rather eſtabliſhed , as it ſhallbe declared in his proper place. h Vaine , voide , to no purpoſe , and of no force. i Wee make it effectuall and ſtrong.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Hee prooueth that which he ſayd before of faith, by the example of Abraham, 3, 6 and the teſtimonie of the Scripture: and ten times in the Chapter he beateth vpon this word, Imputation.

WHat [1] ſhall we ſay then, that Abraham our father hath found concerning the [a] fleſh?

2 [2] For if Abraham were iuſtified by works, he hath wherein to reioyce, but not with God.

3 [3] For what ſayeth the Scripture? Abraham beleeued God, and it was counted to him for righteouſneſſe.

4 [4] Now to him that [b] worketh, the wages is not [c] counted by fauour, but by debt:

5 But to him that worketh not, but beleeueth in him that [d] iuſtifieth the vngodly, his faith is counted for righteouſneſſe.

6 [5] Euen as Dauid declareth the bleſſedneſſe of the man, vnto whom God imputeth righteouſneſſe without works, ſaying,

7 Bleſſed are they whoſe iniquities are forgiuen, and whoſe ſinnes are couered.

8 Bleſſed is the man to whom the Lord imputeth not ſinne.

9 [6] Came this [e] bleſſedneſſe then vpon the circumciſion onely, or vpon the vncircumciſion alſo? For we ſay, that faith was imputed vnto Abraham for righteouſneſſe.

10 [7] How was it then imputed? when hee was circumciſed, or vncircumciſed? not when hee was circumciſed, but when he was vncircumciſed.

11 [8] After, hee receiued the [f] ſigne of circumciſion, as the [g] ſeale of the righteouſnes of the faith which he had, when he was vncircumciſed, [9] that hee ſhould be the father of all them that beleeue, not being circumciſed, that righteouſneſſe might be imputed to them alſo.

12 [10] And the father of circumciſion, not vnto them onely which are of the circumciſion, but vnto them alſo that walke in the ſteps of the faith of our father Abraham vvhich he had when he was vncircumciſed.

13 [11] For the promiſe that hee ſhould be the [h] heire of the world, was not giuen to Abraham, or to his ſeed, through the [i] Law, but through the righteouſneſſe of faith.

14 [12] For if they which are of the [k] Law, be heires, faith is made void, and the promiſe is made of none effect.

1 A new argument of great weight, taken from the example of Abraham the father of all beleeuers: And this is the propoſition: if Abraham be conſidered in himſelfe by his works, he hath deſerued nothing wherein to reioyce with God.

a By works, as appeareth in the next verſe.

2 A preuenting of an obiection: Abraham may well reioyce and extoll himſelfe amongſt men, but not with God.

3 A confirmation of the propoſition: Abraham was iuſtified by imputation of faith, therefore freely without any reſpect of his works.

4 The firſt proofe of the confirmation, taken of contraries: to him that deſerueth any thing by his labor, the wages is not counted by fauour, but by debt: but to him that hath done nothing, but beleeueth in him which promiſeth freely, faith is imputed.

b To him that hath deſerued any thing by his worke.

c Is not reckoned nor giuen him.

d That maketh him which is wicked in himſelfe, iuſt in Chriſt.

5 Another proofe of the ſame confirmation: Dauid putteth bleſſednes in free pardon of ſinnes, therefore iuſtification alſo.

6 A new propoſition: that this manner of iuſtification belongeth both to the vncircumciſed, and alſo to the circumciſed: as is declared in the perſon of Abraham.

e This ſaying of Dauid, wherein he pronounceth them bleſſed.

7 He prooueth that it belongeth to the vncircumciſed (for there was no doubt of the circumciſed) in this ſort: Abraham was iuſtified in vncircumciſion, therefore this iuſtification belongeth alſo to the vncircumciſed. Nay, it doth not appertaine to the circumciſed in reſpect of the circumciſion, much leſſe are the vncircumciſed ſhut out for their vncircumciſion.

8 A preuenting of an obiection: why then was Abraham circumciſed, if he were already iuſtified? That the gift of righteouſnes (ſayth he) might be confirmed in him.

f Circumciſion, which is a ſigne: as we ſay, the Sacrament of Baptiſme, for Baptiſme which is a Sacrament.

g Circumciſion was called before a ſigne, in reſpect of the outward ceremony: now Paul ſheweth the force and ſubſtance of that ſigne, that is, to what end it is vſed, to wit, not onely to ſignifie, but alſo to ſeale vp the righteouſneſſe of faith, whereby we come to poſſeſſe Chriſt himſelfe: for the holy Ghoſt worketh that inwardly indeed, which the Sacraments being ioyned with the word, doe repreſent.

9 An applying of the example of Abraham to the vncircumciſed beleeuers, whoſe father alſo he maketh Abraham.

10 And applying of the ſame example, to the circumciſed beleeuers, whoſe father Abraham is, but yet by faith.

11 A reaſon why the ſeed of Abraham is to be eſteemed by faith, becauſe that Abraham himſelfe through faith was made partaker of that promiſe, wherby he was made the father of all nations.

h That all the nations of the world ſhould be his children: or by the world may be vnderſtood the land of Canaan.

i For works that he had done, or vpon this condition that he ſhould fulfill the Law.

12 A double confirmation of that reaſon: the one is, that the promiſe cannot be apprehended by the Law, and therefore it ſhould be fruſtrate: the other, that the condition of faith ſhould be ioyned in vaine to that promiſe which ſhould be apprehended by works.

k If they be heires which haue fulfilled the Law.

15 [13] For the Law cauſeth wrath: for where no Law is, there is no tranſgreſſion.

16 [14] Therefore it is by faith, that it might come by grace, and the promiſe might be ſure to all the [l] ſeed, [15] not to that onely which is of the Law: but alſo to that which is of the faith of Abraham who is the father of vs all,

17 (As it is written, I haue made thee a [16] father of many nations) euen before [m] God whom he beleeued, who [n] quickneth the dead, & [o] calleth thoſe things which be not, as though they were.

18 [17] Which Abraham aboue hope, beleeued vnder hope, that he ſhould be the father of many nations: according to that which was ſpoken to him, So ſhall thy ſeed be.

19 And he [p] not weake in the faith, conſidered not his owne body, which was now [q] dead, being almoſt an hundred yeere old, neither the deadneſſe of Saras wombe,

20 Neither did he doubt of the promiſe of God through vnbeliefe, but was ſtrengthened in the faith, and gaue [r] glory to God,

21 Being [ſ] fully aſſured that he which had promiſed, was alſo able to do it.

22 And therefore it was imputed to him for righteouſneſſe.

23 [18] Now is it not written for him onely, that it was imputed to him for righteouſneſſe,

24 But alſo for vs, to whom it ſhall be imputed for righteouſneſſe, which beleeue in him that raiſed vp Ieſus our Lord from the dead, 25 Who was deliuered to death for our [t] ſinnes, and is riſen againe for our iuſtification.

13 A reaſon of the firſt confirmation, why the promiſe cannot be apprehended by the Lawe: becauſe that the Law doth not reconcile God and vs, but rather denounceth his anger againſt vs, forſomuch as no man can obſerue it.

14 The concluſion of this argument. The ſaluation and iuſtification of all the poſteritie of Abraham (that is, of the Church which is gathered together of all people) proceedeth of faith, which layeth hold on the promiſe made vnto Abraham, and which promiſe Abraham himſelfe firſt of all layed hold on.

15 That is to ſay, not onely of them which beleeue and are alſo circumciſed according to the Lawe, but of them alſo which without circumciſion, and in reſpect of faith onely, are counted amongſt the children of Abraham.

16 This fatherhood is ſpirituall, depending onely vpon the vertue of God, who made the promiſe.

m Before God, that is, by a ſpirituall kinred, which had place before God, and maketh vs acceptable to God.

n Who reſtored to life.

o With whom theſe things are already, which as yet are not in deed, as he that can with a word make what he will of nothing.

17 A deſcription of true faith, wholly reſting in the power of God, and his good will, ſet foorth in the example of Abraham.

r Acknowledged and praiſed God, as moſt gracious and true.

ſ A deſcription of true faith.

18 The rule of iuſtification is alwayes one, both in Abraham and in all the faithfull: that is to ſay, faith in God, who after that there was made a full ſatisfaction for our ſinnes in Chriſt our mediatour, raiſed him from the dead, that we alſo being iuſtified, might be ſaued in him.

t To pay the ranſome for our ſinnes.

CHAP. V.

1 He amplifieth 2 Chriſts righteouſneſſe, which is layed hold on by faith, 5 who was giuen for the weake, 8 and ſinfull. 14 He compareth Chriſt with Adam. 17 Death with Life, 20 and the Law with Grace.

THen being [1] iuſtified by faith, we haue peace toward God through our Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

2 ♣ [2] By whom alſo through faith wee haue [a] had this acceſſe into this grace [b] wherein wee [c] ſtand, [3] and [d] reioyce vnder the hope of the glory of God.

3 [4] Neither that onely, but alſo we § reioyce in tribulations, [5] knowing that tribulation bringeth forth patience.

1 Another argument taken of the effects: we are iuſtified with that, which truely appeaſeth our conſcience before God but faith in Chriſt doth appeaſe our conſcience, and not the Law, as it was before ſayd, therefore by faith wee are iuſtified, and not by the Law.

2 Whereas quietneſſe of conſcience is attributed to faith, it is to be referred to Chriſt, who is the giuer of faith it ſelfe, and in whom faith it ſelfe is effectuall.

a We muſt here know, that wee haue yet ſtill this ſame effect of faith.

b By which grace, that is, by which gracious loue and good will, or that ſtate wherevnto wee are graciouſly taken.

c We ſtand ſtedfaſt.

3 A preuenting of an obiection againſt them which beholding the dayly miſeries and calamities of the Church, thinke that the Chriſtians dreame, when they bragge of their felicitie: to whom the Apoſtle anſwereth, that their felicitie is layed vp vnder hope in another place: which hope is ſo certaine and ſure, that they doe no leſſe reioyce for that happineſſe, then if they did preſently enioy it.

d Our mindes are not onely quiet and ſetled, but alſo we are marueilouſly glad and conceiue great ioy for that heauenly inheritance which waiteth for vs.

4 Tribulation it ſelfe giueth vs diuers and ſundry wayes occaſion to reioyce, much leſſe doth it make vs miſerable.

5 Afflictions accuſtome vs to patience, and patience aſſureth vs of the goodneſſe of God, and this experience confirmeth, and foſtereth our hope, which neuer deceiueth vs.

4 And patience experience, and experience hope.

5 [6] And hope maketh not aſhamed, becauſe the [e] loue of God is ſhed abroad in our hearts by the holy Ghoſt, which is giuen vnto vs.

6 [7] For Chriſt, when wee were yet of no ſtrength, at his [f] time died for the ✤ vngodly.

7 [8] Doubtleſſe one will ſcarſe die [g] for a righteous man: but yet for a good man it may be that one dare die.

8 But God [h] ſetteth out his loue toward vs, ſeeing that while wee were yet [i] ſinners, Chriſt died for vs.

9 Much more then, being now iuſtified by his blood, we ſhallbe ſaued from [k] wrath through him.

10 For if when wee were enemies, wee were reconciled to God by the death of his Sonne, much more being reconciled, we ſhall be ſaued by his life, 11 [9] And not onely ſo, but we alſo reioyce in God through our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, by whom we haue now receiued the atonement.

12 [10] Wherefore, as by [l] one man [m] ſinne entred into the world, and death by ſinne, and ſo death went ouer all men: [n] in whom all men haue ſinned.

13 [11] For vnto the [o] time of the Law was ſinne in the world, but ſinne is not [p] imputed, while there is no law.

14 [12] But death reigned from Adam to Moſes, euen ouer [q] them alſo that ſinned not after the like [r] maner of the tranſgreſſion of Adam, [13] which was the figure of him that was to come.

15 [14] But yet the gift is not ſo as is the offence: for if through the offence of [ſ] that one, many be dead, much more the grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man Ieſus Chriſt, hath abounded vnto many.

16 [15] Neither is the gift ſo, as that vvhich entred in by one that ſinned: for the fault came of one offence vnto condemnation: but the gift is of many offences to [t] iuſtification.

17 [16] For if by the offence of one, death reigned through one, much more ſhall they which receiue that abundance of grace, and of that gift of that righteouſneſſe, [u] reigne in life through one, that is, Ieſus Chriſt.

18 [17] Likewiſe then, as by the offence of one, the fault came on all men to condemnation, ſo by the iuſtifying of one, the benefit abounded toward all men to the [x] iuſtification of life.

19 [18] For as by one mans [y] diſobedience [z] many were made ſinners, ſo by that obedience of that one, ſhall many alſo be made righteous.

20 [19] Moreouer, the Law [a] entred thereupon, that the offence ſhould abounded: neuertheleſſe, where ſinne abounded, there grace [b] abounded much more:

21 That as ſinne had reigned vnto death, ſo might grace alſo reigne by righteouſneſſe vnto eternall life through Ieſus Chriſt our Lord.

6 The ground of hope is an aſſured teſtimonie of the conſcience, by the gift of the holy Ghoſt, that we are beloued of God, and this is nothing els but that which we call faith: whereof it followeth, that through faith our conſciences are quieted.

7 A ſure comfort in aduerſitie, that our peace and quietneſſe of conſcience be not troubled: for he that ſo loued them that were of no ſtrength, and while they were yet ſinners, that hee died for them, how can he neglect them being now ſanctified and liuing in him?

f In time fit and conuenient, which the father hath appointed.

✤ Hebr. 9, 15. 1. pet. 3, 18.

8 An amplifying of the loue of God toward vs, ſo that we cannot doubt of it, who deliuered Chriſt to death for the vniuſt, and for them of whom he could receiue no commoditie, and (that more is) for his very enemies. How can it be then that Chriſt being now aliue, ſhould not ſaue them from deſtruction, whom by his death he iuſtifieth and reconcileth?

g In the ſtead of ſome iuſt man.

h He ſetteth out his loue vnto vs, that in the middeſt of our afflictions we may know aſſuredly, he will be preſent with vs.

i While ſinne reigned in vs.

k From affliction and deſtruction.

9 He now paſſeth ouer to the other part of iuſtification, which conſiſteth in the free imputation of the obedience of Chriſt: ſo that to the remiſſion of ſinnes there is added moreouer and beſides, the gift of Chriſtes righteouſneſſe imputed or put vpon vs by faith, which ſwalloweth vp that vnrighteouſneſſe which flowed from Adam into vs, and all the fruits thereof: ſo that in Chriſt wee doe not onely ceaſe to be vniuſt, but we beginne alſo to be iuſt.

10 From Adam, in whome all haue ſinned, both guiltineſſe and death (which is the puniſhment of the guiltineſſe) came vpon all.

l By Adam, who is compared with Chriſt, like to him in this, that both of them make thoſe which are theirs, partakers of that they haue into: but they are vnlike in this, that Adam deriueth ſinne into them that are his, euen of nature, and that to death: but Chriſt maketh them that are his, partakers of his righteouſneſſe by grace, and that vnto life.

m By ſinne is meant that diſeaſe which is ours by inheritance, and men commonly call it originall ſinne: for ſo he vſeth to call that ſinne in the ſingular number, whereas, if he ſpeake of the fruits of it, he vſeth the plurall number, calling them ſinnes.

n That is, in Adam.

11 That this is ſo, that both guiltineſſe and death beganne not after the giuing and tranſgreſſing of Moſes Lawe, it appeareth manifeſtly by that, that men died before that Law was giuen: for in that they died, ſinne, which is the cauſe of death, was then: and in ſuch ſort, that it was alſo imputeth: wherevpon it followeth that there was then ſome Lawe, the breach whereof was the cauſe of death.

o Euen from Adam to Moſes.

p Where there is no Lawe made, no man is puniſhed as faultie and guiltie.

12 But that this Lawe was not that vniuerſall Lawe, and that death did not proceed from any actuall ſinne of euery one particularly, it appeareth hereby, that the very infants which neither could euer knowe nor tranſgreſſe that naturall Lawe, are notwithſtanding dead as well as Adam.

r Not after that ſort as they ſinne that are of moe yeeres, following their luſts: but yet the whole poſteritie was corrupt in Adam, when as hee wittingly and willingly ſinned.

13 Now the firſt Adam anſwereth the latter, who is Chriſt, as it is afterward declared.

14 Adam and Chriſt are compared together in this reſpect, that both of them do giue and yeeld to theirs, that which is their owne: but herein firſt they differ, that Adam by nature hath ſpred his fault to the deſtruction of many, but Chriſts obedience hath by grace ouerflowed many.

ſ That is, Adam.

15 An other inequalitie conſiſteth in this, that by Adams one offence men are made guilty, but the righteouſneſſe of Chriſt imputed vnto vs freely, doth not onely abſolue vs from that one fault, but from all other.

t To the ſentence of abſolution, whereby we are quit, and pronounced righteous.

16 The third difference is, that the righteouſneſſe of Chriſt being imputed vnto vs by grace, is of greater power to bring life, then the offence of Adam is to addict his poſteritie to death.

u Be partakers of true and euerlaſting life.

17 Therefore to be ſhort, as by one mans offence, the guiltines came on all men, to make them ſubiect to death: ſo on the contrary ſide, the righteouſneſſe of Chriſt, which by Gods mercie is imputed to all beleeuers, iuſtifieth them, that they may become partakers of euerlaſting life.

x Not onely becauſe our ſinnes are forgiuen vs, but alſo becauſe the righteouſneſſe of Chriſt is imputed vnto vs.

18 The ground of this whole compariſon is this, that theſe two men are ſet as two ſtocks or rootes, ſo that out of the one, ſinne by nature, out of the other, righteouſneſſe by grace doeth ſpring foorth vpon others.

y So then, ſinne entred not into vs onely by following the ſteppes of our forefather, but we take corruption of him by inheritance.

z This word, Many, is ſet againſt this word, A few.

19 A preuenting of an obiection: why then did the Law of Moſes enter therevpon? that men might be ſo much the more guiltie, and the benefit of God in Chriſt Ieſus be ſo much the more glorious.

a Beſide that diſeaſe which all men were infected withall by being defiled with one mans ſinne, the Law entred.

b Grace was powred ſo plentifully from heauen, that it did not onely counteruaile ſinne, but aboue meaſure paſſed it.

CHAP. VI.

1 He commeth to ſanctification, without which, that no man putteth on Chriſtes righteouſneſſe, he prooueth 4 by an argument taken of Baptiſme, 12 and therevpon exhorteth to holineſſe of life, 16 briefly making mention of the Law tranſgreſſed.

What [1] ſhall we ſay then? Shall we continue ſtill in [a] ſinne, that grace may abound? God forbid.

2 [2] How ſhall we, that are [b] dead to ſinne, liue yet therein?

3 [3] Know ye not, that ✤ all wee which haue bene baptized into [c] Ieſus Chriſt, haue bene baptized into his death?

4 ✤ We are buried then with him by baptiſme into his death, that like as Chriſt was raiſed vp from the dead [d] to the glory of the Father, ſo [e] we alſo ſhould ∵ walke in newneſſe of life.

1 He paſſeth now to another benefit of Chriſt, which is called ſanctification or regeneration.

a In that corruption: for though the guiltineſſe of ſinne be not imputed to vs, yet the corruption remaineth ſtill in vs: the which Sanctification that followeth Iuſtification killeth by litle and litle.

2 The benefit of Iuſtification and Sanctification, are alwayes ioyned together inſeparably, and both of them proceed from Chriſt, by the grace of God: Now ſanctification is the aboliſhing of ſinne, that is, of our naturall corruption, into whoſe place ſucceedeth the cleanneſſe and pureneſſe of nature reformed.

b They are ſayd of Paul to be dead to ſinne, which are in ſuch ſort made partakers of the vertue of Chriſt, that that naturall corruption is dead in them, that is, the force of it is put out, and it bringeth not forth his bitter fruits and on the other ſide, they are ſayd to liue to ſinne, which are in the fleſh, that is, whom the ſpirit of God hath not deliuered from the ſlauerie of the corruption of nature.

3 There are three parts of this Sanctification, to wit, the dead of the olde man or ſinne, his buriall, and the reſurrection of the new man, deſcending into vs from the vertue of the death, buriall, and reſurrection of Chriſt, of which benefit our baptiſme is the ſigne and pledge.

✽ 1. Cor. 6, 14. 2. tim. 2, 11.

[f] ſimilitude of his death, euen ſo ſhall we [g] be to the ſimilitude of his reſurrection,

6 Knowing this, that our [h] old man is crucified with [i] him, that the body of [k] ſin might be deſtroyed, that henceforth we ſhould not [l] ſerue ſinne,

7 [5] For he that is dead, is freed from ſinne.

8 Wherefore, if wee be dead with Chriſt, wee beleeue that we ſhall liue alſo with him,

9 Knowing that Chriſt being raiſed from the dead, dieth no more: death hath no more dominion ouer him.

10 For in that he died, he died [m] once to ſinne: but in that he liueth, he liueth to [n] God.

11 Likewiſe thinke ye alſo, that ye are dead to ſin, but are aliue to God in Ieſus Chriſt our Lord.

12 [6] Let not ſinne [o] reigne therefore in your mortal body, yͭ ye ſhould obey it in the luſts therof:

13 Neither [p] giue ye your [q] members, as [r] weapons of vnrighteouſnes vnto ſinne: but giue your ſelues vnto God, as they that are aliue from the dead, and giue your members as weapons of righteouſnes vnto God.

14 [7] For ſinne ſhall not haue dominion ouer you: for ye are not vnder the Law, but vnder grace.

15 [8] What then? ſhall we ſinne, becauſe we are not vnder the Law, but vnder grace? God forbid.

16 ✣ Knowe yee not, that to whomſoeuer ye giue your ſelues as ſeruants to obey, his ſeruants ye are to whom ye obey, whether it be of ſinne vnto death, or of obedience vnto righteouſneſſe?

17 [9] But God be thanked, that ye haue bene the ſeruants of ſinne, but ye haue obeyed from the heart vnto the [ſ] forme of the doctrine, whereunto ye were deliuered.

18 Being then made free from ſinne, yee are made the ſeruants of righteouſneſſe.

19 I ſpeake after the maner of man, becauſe of the infirmitie of your fleſh: for as ye haue giuen your members ſeruants to vncleannes and to iniquitie, to commit iniquitie, ſo now giue your members ſeruants vnto righteouſneſſe in holineſſe.

20 For when ye were the ſeruants of ſinne, yee were [t] freed from righteouſneſſe.

21 [10] What fruite had ye then in thoſe things, whereof ye are now aſhamed? For the [u] ende of thoſe things is death.

22 But now being freed from ſinne, and made ſeruants vnto God, ye haue your fruit in holineſſe, and the end, euerlaſting life.

23 [11] For the wages of ſinne is death: but the gift of God is eternall life, through Ieſus Chriſt our Lord.

[f] In ſo much as by the meanes of the ſtrength which commeth from him to vs, we ſo die to ſinne as he is dead.

[g] For we become euery day more perfit then other: for we ſhall neuer be perfectly ſanctified, as long as we liue here.

[h] All our whole nature, as we are conceiued and borne into this world with ſinne, which is called olde, partly by comparing that old Adam with Chriſt, and partly alſo in reſpect of the deformation of our corrupt nature, which we change with a new.

[i] Our corrupt nature is attributed to Chriſt, not in deede, but by imputation.

[k] That naughtines which ſticketh faſt in vs.

[l] The end of ſanctification which we ſhoote at, and ſhall at length come to, to wit when God ſhall be all in all.

[5] He prooueth it by the effects of death, vſing a compariſon of Chriſt the head with his members.

[m] Once for all.

[n] With God.

[6] An exhortation to contend and ſtriue with corruption and all the effects thereof.

[o] By reigning, Saint Paul meaneth that chiefetie and high rule, which no man ſtriueth againſt, and if any do, yet it is in vaine.

[p] To ſinne, as to a Lord or tyrant.

[q] Your mind and all the powers of it.

[r] As inſtruments to commit wickedneſſe withall.

[7] Hee granteth that ſinne is not yet ſo dead in vs that it is vtterly extinct: but he promiſed victory to them that contend manfully, becauſe we haue the grace of God giuen vs which worketh ſo, that the Lawe is not now in vs the power and inſtrument of ſinne. [8] To be vnder the law and vnder ſinne, ſignifie all one, in reſpect of them which are not ſanctified, as on the contrary ſide, to be vnder grace and righteouſneſſe, agree to them that are regenerate. Nowe theſe are contraries, ſo that one cannot agree with the other: Therefore let righteouſnes expel ſinne. ✣ Iohn. 1, 34. 2. pet. 2, 19. [9] By nature we are ſlaues to ſinne, and free from righteouſnes, but by the grace of God we are made ſeruants to righteouſneſſe, and therefore free from ſinne. [ſ] This kinde of ſpeech hath a force in it: for hee meaneth thereby that the doctrine of the Goſpel is like vnto a certaine mould which wee are caſt into to be framed and faſhioned like vnto it. [t] Righteouſneſſe had no rule ouer you. [10] An exhortation to the ſtudie of righteouſnes and hatred of ſinne, the contrary endes of both, being ſet downe before vs. [u] The reward or paiment. [11] Death is the puniſhment due to ſinne, but we are ſanctified freely, vnto life euerlaſting.

CHAP. VII.

1 He declareth what it is, to be no more vnder the Law, 2 by an example taken of the Lawe of marriage, 7. 12 And leſt the Lawe ſhould ſeeme faultie, 14 hee prooueth, that our ſinne is the cauſe, 15 that the ſame is an occaſion of death, 17 which was giuen vs vnto life. 21 He ſetteth out the battell betweene the fleſh and the ſpirit.

KNow [1] ye not, brethren, (for I ſpeake to them that know the Lawe) that the Law hath dominion ouer a man as long as he liueth?

2 ✣ For the woman which is in ſubiection to a man, is bound by the Law to the man, while hee liueth: but if the man be dead, ſhee is deliuered from the Law of the man.

3 So then, if while the man liueth, ſhee taketh another man, ſhee ſhalbe [a] called an ✣ adultereſſe: but if the man be dead, ſhee is free from the Lawe, ſo that ſhe is not an adultereſſe, though ſhee take another man.

4 [2] So ye, my brethren, are dead alſo to the Law by the [b] body of Chriſt, that ye ſhould be vnto an other, euen vnto him yͭ is raiſed vp from the dead, that we ſhould bring forth [c] fruit vnto [d] God.

5 [3] For when we [e] were in the fleſh, the [f] affections of ſins, which were by the [g] law, had [h] force in our members, to bring forth fruit vnto death,

6 But now we are deliuered from the Law, he [i] being dead [k] in whom we were [l] holden, that we ſhould ſerue in [m] newneſſe of Spirit, and not in the oldneſſe of the [n] letter.

7 [4] What ſhall we ſay then? Is the Law ſinne? God forbid. Nay, I knew not ſinne, but by the Law: for I had not knowen [o] luſt, except the Law had ſayd, ✣ Thou ſhalt not luſt.

8 But ſinne tooke an occaſion by the commandement, and wrought in me all maner of concupiſcence: for without the Law ſinne is [p] dead.

9 [5] For I once was aliue, without the [q] lawe: but when the commandement [r] came, ſinne reuiued,

10 But I [ſ] died: and the ſame commandement which was ordeined vnto life, was found to be vnto me vnto death.

11 For ſinne tooke occaſion by the commandement, and deceiued me, and thereby ſlew me.

12 [6] Wherefore the Lawe is * holy, and that [t] commandement is holy, and iuſt, and good.

[1] By propounding the ſimilitude of a marriage, he compareth the ſtate of man both before and after regeneration together. The law of matrimony, ſaith he, is this. that ſo long as the huſband liueth, the mariage abideth in force, but if he be dead, the woman may marry againe.

✣ 1. Cor. 7, 32.

[a] That is, ſhee ſhall be an adultereſſe, by the conſent & iudgment of all men.

✣ Matth. 5, 32.

[2] An application of the ſimilitude thus. So, ſaith he, doeth it fare with vs: for now we are ioyned to the ſpirit, as it were to the ſecond husband, by whom we muſt bring foorth new children: we are dead in reſpect of the firſt husband, but in reſpect of the latter we are as it were raiſed from the dead.

[b] That is, in the body of Chriſt, to giue vs to vnderſtand how ſtraight and nere that fellowſhip is betwixt Chriſt and his members.

[c] He calleth the children which the wife hath by her husband, fruit.

[d] Which are acceptable to God.

[3] A declaration of the former ſaying: for the concupiſcences (ſaith hee) which the law ſtirred vp in vs, were in vs as it were an husband, of whom we brought forth very deadly and curſed children. But now ſince that husband is dead, and ſo conſequently being deliuered from the force of that killing law, we haue paſſed into the gouernance of the ſpirit, ſo that we bring forth now, not thoſe rotten and dead, but liuely children. [e] When we were in the ſtate of the firſt mariage, which he calleth in the next verſe following the oldnes of the letter. [f] The motions that egged vs to ſinne, which ſhew their force euen in our minds. [g] He ſaith not, of the law, but by the law, becauſe they ſpring of ſin which dwelleth within vs, and take occaſion to worke thus in vs, by reaſon of the reſtraint that the law maketh, not that the fault is in the law, but in our ſelues. [h] Wrought their ſtrength. [i] As if he ſaid, The bond which bound vs, is dead, and vaniſhed away, inſomuch, that ſinne which held vs, hath not now wherewith to hold vs. [k] For this husband is within vs [l] Satan is an vniuſt poſſeſſor, for he brought vs in bondage of ſinne and himſelfe deceitfully: and yet notwithſtanding ſo long as we are ſinners, we ſinne willingly. [m] As becommeth them, which after the death of their old husband are ioyned to the ſpirit: as whom the ſpirit of God hath made new men. [n] By the letter he meaneth the law, in reſpect of that olde condition: for before that our will be framed by the holy Ghoſt, the law ſpeaketh but to deafe men, and therfore it is dumbe and dead to vs, as touching the fulfilling of it. [4] An obiection: what then? are the law and ſinne all one, and do they agree together? nay, ſaith he: Sinne is reproued and condemned by the law. But becauſe ſinne cannot abide to be reprooued, and was not in a maner felt vntill it was prouoked and ſtirred vp by the law, it taketh occaſion thereby to be more outragious, and yet by no fault of the law. [o] By the word, Luſt, in this place he meaneth not euill luſts themſelues, but the fountaine from whence they ſpring: for the very heathen philoſophers themſelues condemned wicked luſts, though ſomewhat darkly, but as for this fountaine of them, they could not ſo much as ſuſpect it, and yet it is the very ſeat of that naturall and vncleane ſpot and filth. ✣ Exo. 20, 17. deut. 5, 21. [p] Though ſinne be in vs, yet it is not knowen for ſinne, neither doth it ſo rage, as it rageth after that the law is knowen. [5] He ſetteth himſelfe before vs for an example, in whom all men may beholde, firſt what they are of nature before they earneſtly thinke vpon the law of God: to wit, blockiſh, and heady to ſinne and wickednes, without all true ſenſe and feeling of ſinne, then what maner of perſons they become, when their conſcience is reprooued by the teſtimonie of the law, to wit, ſtubburne, and more enflamed with the deſire of ſinne, then euer they were before. [q] When I knew not the law, then me thought I liued in deed: for my conſcience neuer troubled mee, becauſe it knew not my diſeaſe. [r] When I began to vnderſtand the commandement. [ſ] In ſinne, or by ſinne. [6] The concluſion: That the lawe of it ſelfe is holy, but all the fault is in vs which abuſe the law. * 1. Tim. 1, 8. [t] Touching not coueting.

13 [7] Was that then which is good, [u] made death vnto mee? God forbid: but ſinne, that it might [x] appeare ſinne, wrought death in me by that which is good, that ſinne might be [y] out of meaſure ſinfull by the commandement.

14 [8] For wee know that the Law is ſpirituall, but I am carnall, ſold vnder ſinne.

15 [9] For I [10] allow not that which I do: for what I [11] would, that do I not: but what I hate, yͤ doe I.

16 If I doe then that which I would not, I conſent to the Law, that it is good.

17 Now then, it is no more I, that doe it, but [z] ſinne that dwelleth in me.

18 [12] For I know, that in me, that is, in my fleſh, dwelleth no good thing: for to will is preſent wͭ me: but I find [a] no means to performe yͭ which is good,

19 For I doe not the good thing, which I would, but the euill, which I would not, that doe I.

20 Now if I doe that I would not, it is no more I that doe it, but the ſinne that dwelleth in me.

21 [13] I finde then that when I would do good, I am thus yoked, that euill is preſent with me.

22 For I delight in the Law of God, concerning the [b] inner man.

23 But I ſee another Lawe in my members, rebelling againſt the law of my [c] minde, and leading mee captiue vnto the law of ſinne, which is in my members.

24 [14] O [d] wretched man that I am, who ſhall deliuer me from the body of this death!

25 I [e] thanke God through Ieſus Chriſt our Lord. Then I [f] my ſelfe in my minde ſerue the Law of God, but in my fleſh, the law of ſinne.

7 The propoſition: That the Law is not the cauſe of death, but our corrupt nature, being therewith not onely diſcouered, but alſo ſtirred vp, and tooke occaſion thereby to rebell, as which, the more that things are forbidden it, the more it deſireth them, and from hence commeth guiltineſſe, and occaſion of death.

u Beareth it the blame of my death?

x That ſinne might ſhew it ſelfe to be ſinne, and bewray it ſelfe to be that, which is in deed.

y As euill as it could, ſhewing all the venime it could.

8 The cauſe of this matter, is this: Becauſe that the Law requireth a heauenly pureneſ, but men, ſuch as they be borne, are bondſlaues of corruption, which they willingly ſerue.

9 He ſetteth himſelfe, being regenerate, before vs, for an example, in whom may eaſily appeare the ſtrife of the Spirit and the fleſh, and therefore of the Law of God, and our wickednes. For ſince that the Law in a man not regenerate bringeth fourth death onely, therefore in him it may eaſily be accuſed: but ſeeing that in a man which is regenerate, it bringeth foorth good fruit, it doth better appeare that euill actions proceede not from the Law, but from ſinne, that is, from our corrupt nature: And therefore the Apoſtle teacheth alſo, what the true vſe of the Law is, in reproouing ſinne in the regenerate, vnto the end of the chapter, as a litle before (to wit, from the ſeuenth verſe vnto this fifteenth) he declared the vſe of it in them which are not regenerate. 10 The deedes of my life, ſaith he, anſwere not, nay they are contrary to my will: Therefore by the conſent of my will with the Law, and repugnancie with the deedes of my life, it appeareth euidently, that the Law and a right ruled will do perſwade one thing, but corruption which hath her ſeate alſo in the regenerate, another thing. 11 It is to be noted, that one ſelfe ſame man is ſaid to will and not to will, in diuers reſpects: to wit, he is ſaid to will, in that, that he is regenerate by grace: and not to will, in that, that he is not regenerate, or in that, that he is ſuch an one as he was borne. But becauſe the part which is regenerate, at length becommeth conquerour, therefore Paul ſuſtening the part of the regenerate, ſpeaketh in ſuch ſort as if the corruption which ſinneth willingly, were ſomething without a man: although afterwarde hee granteth that this euill is in his fleſh, or in his members. z That naturall corruption, which cleaueth faſt euen to them that are regenerate, and not cleane conquered. 12 This vice, or ſinne, or law of ſinne, doeth wholy poſſeſſe thoſe men which are not regenerate, and hindreth them or holdeth them backe that are regenerate. a This doeth in deede agree to that man, whom the grace of God hath made a newe man: for where the Spirit is not, how can there be any ſtrife there. 13 The concluſion: As the Law of God exhorteth to goodneſſe, ſo doeth the Lawe of ſinne (that is, the corruption wherein wee are borne) force vs to wickedneſſe: but the Spirit, that is, our minde, in that that it is regenerate, conſenteth with the Lawe of God: but the fleſh, that is, the whole naturall man, is bondſlaue to the Law of ſinne. Therefore to be ſhort, wickedneſſe and death are not of the Law, but of ſinne, which reigneth in them that are not regenerate: for they neither will, nor doe good, but will, and doe euill: But in them that are regenerate, it ſtriueth againſt the Spirit or lawe of the minde, ſo that they cannot either liue ſo well as they would, or be ſo voyde of ſinne as they would. b The inner man, and the new man are all one, and are anſwerable and ſet as contrary to the olde man: neither doeth this word, Inner man, ſignifie mans minde and reaſon, and the olde man, the powers that are vnder them, as the Philoſophers imagine, but by the outward man is meant whatſoeuer is either without or within a man, from toppe to toe, ſo long as that man is not borne a new by the grace of God. c The law of the minde in this place, is not to be vnderſtood of the minde as it is naturally, and as our minde is from our birth, but of the minde which is renewed by the Spirit of God. 14 It is a miſerable thing to be yet in part ſubiect to ſinne, which of it owne nature maketh vs guiltie of death: but wee muſt cry to the Lord, who will by death it ſelfe at length make vs conquerrours as wee are allready conquerours in Chriſt. d Wearied with miſerable and continuall conflict. e Hee recouereth himſelfe, and ſheweth vs that he reſteth onely in Chriſt. f This is the true perfection of them that are borne anew, to confeſſe that they are imperfite.

CHAP. VIII.

1 He concludeth that there is no condemnation to them, who are grafted in Chriſt through his Spirit, 3 howſoeuer they be as yet burdened with ſinnes: 9 For they liue through that Spirit, 24 Whoſe teſtimonie, 15 driueth away all feare, 28 and relieueth our preſent miſeries.

NOw [1] then there is no condemnation to them that are in Chriſt Ieſus, which [a] walke not after the [a] fleſh, but after the Spirit.

2 [3] For the [b] Law of the Spirit of [c] life vvhich is in [d] Chriſt Ieſus, hath [e] freed me from the Law of ſinne and of death.

3 [4] For (that that was [f] impoſſible to the Law, in as much as it was weake, becauſe of the [g] fleſh) God ſending his owne Sonne, in the ſimilitude of [h] ſinful fleſh, and for [i] ſinne, [k] condemned ſin in the fleſh,

4 That that [l] righteouſnes of the Lawe might be fulfilled [5] in vs, which walke not after the fleſh, but after the Spirit.

5 [6] For they that are after the [m] fleſh, ſauour the things of the fleſh: but they that are after the Spirit, the things of the Spirit.

6 [7] For the wiſedome of the fleſh is death: but the wiſedome of the Spirit is life and peace,

7 [8] Becauſe the wiſedome of the fleſh is enimitie againſt God: [9] for it is not ſubiect to the Law of God, neither in deed can be.

8 [10] So then they that are in the fleſh, cannot pleaſe God.

9 [11] Now ye are not in the fleſh, but in the ſpirit, becauſe yͤ ſpirit of God dwelleth in you: but if any man hath not yͤ Spirit of Chriſt, the ſame is not his.

1 A concluſion of all the former diſputation from verſ. 16. of chap. 1. euen to this place: Seeing that we being iuſtified by faith in Chriſt, do obtaine remiſſion of ſins and imputation of righteouſnes, & are alſo ſanctified, it foloweth hereof, that they that are graffed into Chriſt by faith, are out of all feare of condemnation.

2 The fruits of the Spirit, or effects of ſanctification, which is begun in vs, doe not ingraft vs into Chriſt, but doe declare that wee are graffed into him.

a Follow not the fleſh for their guide: for he is not ſayd to liue after the fleſh, that hath the holy Ghoſt for his guide, though ſometimes he ſtep away.

3 A preuenting of an obiection: ſeeing that the vertue of the ſpirit which is in vs, is ſo weake, how may we gather thereby, that there is no condemnation to them that haue that vertue? becauſe ſaith he, that vertue of the quickning ſpirit which is ſo weake in vs, is moſt perfit and moſt mighty in Chriſt, and being imputed vnto vs which beleeue, cauſeth vs to be ſo accounted of, as though there were no reliques of corruption, and death in vs. Therefore hitherto Paul diſputed of remiſſion of ſins, and imputation of fulfilling the Law, and alſo of ſanctification which is begun in vs: but now he ſpeaketh of the perfit imputation of Chriſts manhood, which part was neceſſarily required to the full appeaſing of our conſciences: for our ſinnes are defaced by the blood of Chriſt, and the guiltines of our corruption is couered with the imputation of Chriſts obedience: and the corruption it ſelfe (which the Apoſtle calleth ſinfull ſinne) is healed in vs by litle and litle, by the gift of ſanctification, but yet it lacketh beſides that another remedy, to wit, the perfect ſanctification of Chriſtes owne fleſh, which alſo is to vs imputed. b The power and authority of the ſpirit, againſt which is ſet the tyranny of ſin. c Which mortifieth the olde man, and quickneth the newman. d To wit, abſolutely and perfitely. e For Chriſts ſanctification being imputed vnto vs, perſiteth our ſanctificaton which is begun in vs. 4 He vſeth no argument here, but expoundeth the myſtery of ſanctification, which is imputed unto vs: for becauſe, that the vertue of the law was not ſuch (and that by reaſon of the corruption of our nature) that it could make man pure and perfit: and for that it rather kindled the diſeaſe of ſin, then did put it out and extinguiſh it, therefore God cloathed his Son with fleſh like vnto our ſinfull fleſh, wherein he vtterly aboliſhed our corruption, that being accounted thorowly pure and without fault in him apprehended and layd hold on by faith, we might be found to haue fully that ſingular perfection which the Law requireth, and therefore that there might be no condemnation in vs. f Which is not proper to the Law, but commeth by our fault. g In man not borne anew, whoſe diſeaſe the law could not heale it. h Of mans nature which was corrupt through ſin, vntill he ſanctified it. i To aboliſh ſin in our fleſh. k Shewed that ſin hath no right in vs. l The very ſubſtance of the law of God might be fulfilled, or that ſame which the law requireth, that wee may be found iuſt before God: for if with our iuſtification there be ioyned that ſanctification which is imputed to vs, we are iuſt, according to that perfect forme which the Lord requireth. 5 He returneth to that which he ſaid, that the ſanctification which is begun in vs, is a ſure teſtimony of our ingraffing into Chriſt: which is a moſt plentifull fruit of a godly & honeſt life. 6 A reaſon, why to walke after the fleſh, agreeth not to them which are grafted in Chriſt, but to walke after the ſpirit agreeth and is meet for them: becauſe, ſaith he, that they which are after the fleſh, ſauour the things of the fleſh, but they that are after the ſpirit, the things of the ſpirit. m They that liue as the fleſh leadeth them. 7 He proueth the conſequent: becauſe that whatſoeuer the fleſh ſauoureth, that ingendreth death: and whatſoeuer the ſpirit ſauoureth, that tendeth to ioy and life euerlaſting. 8 A reaſon and proofe, why the wiſedome of the fleſh is death: becauſe, ſaith he, it is the enemy of God. 9 A reaſon why the wiſedome of the fleſh is enemy to God: becauſe it neither will neither can be ſubiect to him. And by fleſh he meaneth a man not regenerate. 10 The concluſion: therefore they that walke after the fleſh, cannot pleaſe God: whereby it followeth, that they are not ingraffed into Chriſt.

11 He commeth to the others, to wit, to them which walke after the ſpirit, of whom we haue to vnderſtand contrary things to the former: and firſt of all he defineth what it is to be in the ſpirit, or to be ſanctified; to wit, to haue the ſpirit of God dwelling in vs; then he declareth, that ſanctification is ſo ioyned and knit to our graffing in Chriſt, that it can by no meanes be ſeparated.

10 [12] And if Chriſt be in you, the [n] body is dead, becauſe of ſinne: but the Spirit is life for righteouſneſſe ſake.

11 [13] But if the Spirit of him that raiſed vp Ieſus from the dead, dwell in you, he that raiſed vp Chriſt from the dead, ſhall alſo quicken your mortall bodies, by his Spirit that [o] dwelleth in you.

12 [14] Therefore brethren, wee are debters not to the fleſh, to liue after the fleſh:

13 [15] For if ye liue after the fleſh, yee ſhall die: but if ye mortifie the deedes of the body by the Spirit, ye ſhall liue.

14 [16] For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the ſonnes of God.

15 [17] For yee haue not receiued the [p] Spirit of bondage, to [q] feare againe: but ye haue receiued yͤ Spirit of [r] adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father.

16 The ſame Spirit beareth witneſſe with our ſpirit, that we are the children of God.

17 [18] If vve be children, vve are alſo [ſ] heires, euen the heires of God, and heires annexed with Chriſt: [19] if ſo be that wee ſuffer with him, that we may alſo be glorified with him.

18 [20] For I [t] count that the afflictions of this preſent time are not worthy of the glory, which ſhall be ſhewed vnto vs.

19 [21] For the feruent deſire of the [u] creature waiteth when the ſonnes of God ſhall be reuealed,

20 Becauſe the creature is ſubiect to [x] vanitie, not of it [y] owne will, but by reaſon [z] of him, which hath ſubdued it vnder [a] hope,

21 Becauſe the creature alſo ſhall be deliuered from the [b] bondage of corruption into the glorious libertie of the ſonnes of God.

22 For wee know that euery creature groneth with vs alſo, and [c] trauaileth in paine together vnto this preſent.

23 [22] And not onely the creature, but we alſo which haue the firſt fruites of the Spirit, euen wee doe ſigh in our [d] ſelues, waiting for the adoption, euen ✤ [e] the redemption of our body.

24 [23] For wee are ſaued by hope: but [f] hope that is ſeene, is not hope: for how can a man hope for that which he ſeeth?

25 But if we hope for that we ſee not, wee doe with patience abide for it.

26 [24] Likewiſe the Spirit alſo [g] helpeth our infirmities: for wee know not what to pray as wee ought: but the Spirit it ſelfe maketh [h] requeſt for vs with ſighs, which cannot be expreſſed.

27 But hee that ſearcheth the hearts, knoweth what is the [i] meaning of the Spirit: for he maketh requeſt for yͤ Saints, [k] according to the vvill of God.

28 [25] Alſo we know that [l] all things worke together for the beſt vnto them that loue God, euen to them that are called of his [m] purpoſe.

29 For thoſe which hee knew before, he alſo predeſtinate to bee made like to the image of his Sonne, that hee might be the firſt borne among many brethren.

30 Moreouer, whom he [n] predeſtinate, them alſo he called, & whom hee called, them alſo he iuſtified, and whom he iuſtified, them he alſo glorified.

31 [26] What ſhall we then ſay to theſe things? If God be on our ſide, who can be againſt vs?

32 Who ſpared not his owne Sonne, but gaue him for vs all to death, how ſhall he not with him [o] giue vs all things alſo?

33 [27] Who ſhall lay any thing to the charge of Gods choſen? it is [p] God that iuſtifieth.

34 Who ſhall condemne? it is Chriſt which is dead: yea, or rather, which is riſen againe, who is alſo at the right hand of God, and maketh requeſt alſo for vs.

35 Who ſhall ſeparate vs from the loue of [q] Chriſt? ſhall tribulation, or anguiſh, or perſecution, or famine, or nakedneſſe, or perill, or ſword?

36 As it is written, § For thy ſake are we killed al day long: we are coũted as ſheep for yͤ ſlaughter:

37 [r] Neuertheleſſe, in all theſe things wee are more then conquerers through him that loued vs.

38 For I am perſwaded that neither death, nor life, nor Angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things preſent, nor things to come,

39 Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, ſhall be able to ſeparate vs from the loue of God, which is in Chriſt Ieſus our Lord.

[12] Hee confirmeth the faithfull againſt the relikes of fleſh and ſinne, granting that they are yet (as appeareth by the corruption which is in them) touching one of their parts (which he calleth the body, that is to ſay, a lumpe) which is not yet purged from the earthly filthines in death: but therewithall willing them to doubt nothing of the happy ſucceſſe of their combate, becauſe that euen the litle ſparke of the Spirit, (that is, of the grace of regeneration) which appeareth to be in them by the fruits of righteouſneſſe, is the ſeede of life.

[n] The fleſh, or all that which as yet ſticketh faſt in the clefts of ſinne, and death.

[13] A confirmation of the former ſentence: You haue the ſelfe ſame Spirit, which Chriſt hath: Therefore at length it ſhall die the ſame in you, that it did in Chriſt, to wit, when all infirmities being vtterly layd aſide, and death ouercome, it ſhall cloath you with heauenly glory.

[o] By the vertue and power of it, which ſhewed the ſame might firſt in our head, and dayly worketh in his members.

[14] An exhortation to oppreſſe the fleſh dayly more and more by the vertue of the Spirit of regeneration, becauſe (ſaith he) you are detters vnto God, for ſo much as you haue receiued ſo many benefits of him.

[15] Another reaſon of the profit that enſueth: for ſuch as ſtriue and fight valiantly, ſhall haue euerlaſting life.

[16] A confirmation of this reaſon: they be the children of God, which are gouerned by his Spirit, therefore ſhall they haue life euerlaſting.

[17] He declareth and expoundeth by the way, in theſe two verſes, by what right this name, to be called the children of God, is giuen to the beleeuers: becauſe ſaith hee, they haue receiued the grace of the Goſpel, wherein God ſheweth himſelfe, not (as before in the publiſhing of the Law) terrible and fearefull, but a moſt benigne and louing father in Chriſt, ſo that with great boldnes we call him Father, that holy Ghoſt ſealing this adoption in our hearts by faith.

[p] By the Spirit is ment the holy Ghoſt, whom we are ſaid to receiue, when he worketh in our minds.

[q] Which feare is ſtirred vp in our minds, by the preaching of the Law.

[r] Which ſealeth our adoption in our minds, and therefore openeth our mouthes.

[18] A proofe of the conſequent of the confirmation: becauſe that he which is the Sonne of God, doth enioy God with Chriſt.

[ſ] Partakers of our fathers goods, and that freely, becauſe we are children by adoption.

[19] Now Paul teacheth by what way the ſonnes of God doe come to that felicitie, to wit, by the croſſe, as Chriſt himſelfe did: and therewithall openeth vnto them fountaines of comfort: as firſt, that we haue Chriſt a companion and fellow of our afflictions: ſecondly, that we ſhall be alſo his fellowes in that euerlaſting glory.

[20] Thirdly that this glory which we looke for, doth a thouſand parts ſurmount the miſery of our afflictions.

[21] Fourthly, he plainely teacheth vs that wee ſhall certainely be renued from that confuſion and horrible deformation of the whole world, which cannot be continuall, as it was not at the beginning: But as it had a beginning by the ſinne of man, for whom it was made by the ordinance of God, ſo ſhall it at length be reſtored with the elect.

[z] That they ſhould obey the Creatours commandement, whom it pleaſed to ſhew by their fickle eſtate, how greatly he was diſpleaſed with man.

[a] God would not make the world ſubiect to euerlaſting curſe, for the ſinne of man, but gaue it hope that it ſhould be reſtored.

[b] From the corruption which they are now ſubiect to, they ſhall be deliuered and changed into that bleſſed ſtate of incorruption, which ſhall be reuealed when the ſonnes of God ſhall be aduanced to glory.

[c] By this word is meant, not onely exceeding ſorow, but alſo the fruit that followeth of it.

[22] Fiftely, if the reſt of the world looke for a reſtoring, groning as it were for it, and that not in vaine, let it not grieue vs alſo to ſigh, yea, let vs be more certainely perſwaded of our redemption to come, foraſmuch as we haue the firſt fruits of the Spirit.

[23] Sixtly, hope is neceſſarily ioyned with faith: ſeeing then that we beleeue thoſe things, which we are not yet in poſſeſſion of, and hope reſpected not the thing that is preſent, we muſt therefore hope and patiently wait for that which we beleeue ſhall come to paſſe.

[24] Seuenthly, There is no cauſe why we ſhould faint vnder the burden of afflictions, ſeeing that prayers miniſter vnto vs a moſt ſure helpe, which cannot be fruſtrate, ſeeing they proceed from the ſpirit of God, which dwelleth in vs.

[g] Beareth our burden, as it were that we faint not vnder it.

[h] Prouoketh vs to prayers, and telleth vs as it were within, what we ſhall ſay, and how we ſhall grone.

[k] Becauſe he teacheth the godly to pray according to Gods will.

[25] Eightly, we are not afflicted, either by chance or to our harme, but by Gods prouidence for our great profit, who as he choſe vs from the beginning, ſo hath hee predeſtinate vs to be made like to the image of his Sonne: and therefore will bring vs in his time, being called and iuſtified, to glory, by the croſſe.

[m] He calleth that, Purpoſe, which God hath from euerlaſting appointed with himſelfe according to his good will and pleaſure.

[n] He vſeth the time paſt, for the time preſent, as the Hebrewe vſe, who ſometime ſet downe the thing that is to come, by the time that is paſt, to ſignifie the certeinty of it: and he hath alſo a regard to Gods continuall working.

[26] Ninthly, wee haue no cauſe to feare that the Lord will not giue vs whatſoeuer is profitable for vs, ſeeing that hee hath not ſpared his owne Sonne to ſaue vs.

[27] A moſt glorious and comfortable concluſion of the whole ſecond part of this Epiſtle, that is, of the treatiſe of iuſtification. There are no accuſers that wee haue neede to be afraid of before God, ſeeing that God himſelfe abſolueth vs as iuſt: and therefore much leſſe neede wee to feare damnation, ſeeing that we reſt vpon the death and reſurrection, the almightie power and defence of Ieſus Chriſt. Therefore what can there be ſo weightie in this life, or of ſo great force and power, that might feare vs, as though we might fall from the loue of God, wherewith he loueth vs in Chriſt: Surely nothing. Seeing that it is in it ſelfe moſt conſtant and ſure, and alſo in vs being confirmed by ſtedfaſt faith.

[r] We are not onely not ouercome with ſo great and many miſeries and calamities, but alſo more then conquerours in all of them.

[1] The third part of the Epiſtle, euen to the twelfth Chapter, wherein Paul aſcendeth to the heigher cauſes of faith: and firſt of all becauſe he purpoſed to ſpeake much of the caſting off of the Iewes, he vſeth an inſinuation, declaring by a double or triple oathe, and by witneſſing of his great deſire towards their ſaluation, his ſingular loue towards them, and therewithall granting vnto them all their prerogatiues.

[a] The Apoſtle loued his brethren ſo entirely, that if it haue bene poſſible, he would haue bene ready to haue redeemed the caſting away of the Iſraelites, with the loſſe of his owne ſoule for euer: for this word ſeparate, betokeneth as much in this place.

[c] The arke of the couenant, which was a token of Gods preſence. ✠ Chap.2,17. ephe.2,12. [d] The tables of the couenant: and this is ſpoken by the figure Metonymia. [e] Of the iudiciall Lawe. [f] The ceremoniall Lawe. [g] Which were made to Abraham and to his poſteritie. [2] A moſt manifeſt teſtimonie of the Godhead and diuinitie of Chriſt. ✠ Chap.2,28. [3] He entreth into the handling of predeſtination by a kind of preuenting an obiection: How may it be, that Iſrael is caſt off, but that therewithall wee muſt alſo make the couenant which God made with Abraham and his ſeede, fruſtrate and voyd? Hee anſwereth therefore, that Gods word is true, although that Iſrael be caſt off: for the election of the people of Iſrael is ſo generall and common, that notwithſtanding the ſame, God chuſeth by his ſecret counſell, ſuch as it pleaſeth him. So then this is the propoſition and ſtate of this Treatiſe: The grace of ſaluation is offered generally in ſuch ſort, that notwithſtanding it, the efficacie thereof perteineth onely to the elect. [h] Iſrael in the firſt place, it taken for Iaakob: and in the ſecond, for the Iſraelites. ✱ Gen.21,12. hebr.11,18. [4] The firſt proofe is taken from the example of Abrahams owne houſe, wherein Iſaac onely was counted the ſonne, and that by Gods ordinance: although that Iſmael alſo was borne of Abraham, and circumciſed before Iſaac. [i] Iſaac ſhall be thy true and naturall ſonne, and therefore heire of thy bleſſing. [5] A generall application of the former proofe or example. [k] Which are borne of Abraham by the courſe of nature. ✱ Gal.4,28. [l] Which are borne by vertue of the promiſe. [6] A reaſon of that application: Becauſe that Iſaac was borne by the vertue of the promiſe, and therefore hee was not choſen, nay hee was not at all, but by the free will of God: whereby it followeth that the promiſe, is the fountaine of predeſtination, and not the fleſh from which promiſe the particular election proceedeth: that is, that the elect be borne elect: and not that they be firſt borne and then afterward elected in reſpect of God who doeth predeſtinate. ✱ Gene.18,10. [7] Another forcible proofe, taken from the example of Eſau and Iacob, which were both borne of the ſame Iſaac, which was the ſonne of the promiſe, of one mother, and at one birth, and not at diuers as Iſmael and Iſaac were: and yet notwithſtanding, Eſau being caſt off, onely Iacob was choſen: and that before their birth, that neither any goodneſſe of Iacobs might be thought to be the cauſe of his election, neither any wickednes of Eſaus, of his caſting away. * Gen.25,21. [m] Gods decree, which proceedeth of his meere good will, whereby it pleaſed him to chuſe one, and refuſe the other. [8] Paul ſaith not, might be made, but being made, might remaine. Therefore they are deceiued which make forſeene faith the cauſe of election, and foreknowen infidelitie, the cauſe of reprobation. [9] He proueth the caſting away of Eſau by that, that hee was made ſeruant to his brother: and prooueth the chuſing of Iaacob by that that hee was made Lord of his brother, although his brother were the firſt begotten. And leaſt that any man might take this ſaying of God, and referre it to externall things, the Apoſtle ſheweth out of Malachi, who is a good interpreter of Moſes, that the ſeruitude of Eſau was ioyned with the hatred of God, and the Lordſhip of Iacob with the loue of God. ✠ Gen.25,23.

[10] The firſt obiection: If God doth loue or hate vpon no conſideration of worthines or vnworthines, then he vniuſt, becauſe he may loue them which are vnworthy, and hate them that are worthy. The Apoſtle deteſteth this blaſphemie, an afterward anſwereth it ſeuerally, point by point.

[11] He anſwereth firſt touching them which are choſen to ſaluation in chuſing of whom, he denieth that God may ſeeme vniuſt, although he chuſe and predeſtinate to ſaluation, them that are not yet borne, without any reſpect of worthineſſe: becauſe he bringeth not the choſen to the appointed end, but by the meanes of his mercie, which is a cauſe next vnder predeſtination. Now mercy preſuppoſeth miſerie, and againe miſerie preſuppoſeth ſinne or voluntarie corruption of mankind, and corruption preſuppoſeth a pure and perfect creation. Moreouer mercy is ſhewed by her degrees: to wit, by calling, by faith, by iuſtification and ſanctification, ſo that at length we come to glorification, as the Apoſtle will ſhew afterward. Now all theſe things, orderly following the purpoſe of God, doe clearely prooue that he can by no meanes ſeeme vniuſt in louing and ſauing his. ✠ Exod.33,19. [o] I will be mercifull and fauourable to whom I liſt to be fauourable. [p] I will haue compaſſion on whomſoeuer I liſt to haue compaſſion. [12] The concluſion of the anſwere: Therefore God is not iniuſt in chuſing and ſauing of his free goodnes, ſuch as it pleaſeth him, as he alſo anſwered Moſes, when he prayed for all the people. [q] By will, he meaneth the thought and endeuour of heart, and by running, good works: to neither of which he giueth the prayſe, but onely to the mercy of God.

[13] Now hee anſwereth concerning the reprobate or them whom God hateth being not yet borne, and hath appointed to deſtruction, without any reſpect of vnworthines. And firſt of all hee prooueth this to be true, by alleadging the teſtimonie of God himſelfe touching Pharao, whom he ſtirred vp to this purpoſe, that he might be glorified in his hardning and iuſt puniſhing. [r] God ſo ſpeaketh vnto Pharao in the Scripture, or, the Scripture bringeth in God, ſo ſpeaking to Pharao, Exod.9,16. [s] Brought thee into this world. [14] Secondly, he bringeth the end of Gods counſell, to ſhewe that there is no vnrighteouſnes in him. Now this chiefeſt end, is not properly and ſimply the deſtruction of the wicked, but Gods glory which appeareth in their rightfull puniſhment.

[15] A concluſion of the full anſwere to the firſt obiection: therefore ſeeing God doth not ſaue them whom hee freely choſe according to his good will and pleaſure, but by iuſtifying and ſanctifying them by his grace, his councell in ſauing them cannot ſeeme vniuſt. And againe, there is no vniuſtice in the euerlaſting counſell of God touching the deſtruction of them whom he liſteth to deſtroy, for that he hardeneth before he deſtroyeth: Therefore the third anſwere for the maintenance of Gods iuſtice is the euerlaſting counſell of reprobation, conſiſteth in this word Hardening: which notwithſtanding he concealed in the former verſe, becauſe the Hiſtory of Pharao was wel knowen. But the force of the word is great: for Hardning, which is ſet againſt Mercy, preſuppoſeth the ſame things that mercy did, to wit, a voluntary corruption, wherein the reprobate are hardened: and againe corruption preſuppoſeth a perfit ſtate of creation. Moreouer, this hardning alſo is voluntary, for God ſo hardneth being offended with corruption, that he vſeth their owne will whom he hardeneth, to the executing of that iudgement. Then follow the fruits of Hardening, to wit, vnbeliefe and ſinne, which are the true and proper cauſes of the condemnation of the reprobate. Why doeth he then appoint to deſtruction? becauſe he will: why doeth hee harden? becauſe they are corrupt: why doeth he condemne? becauſe they are ſinners. Where is then vnrighteouſneſſe? Nay, if hee ſhould deſtroy all after this ſame ſort, to whom ſhould he doe iniurie? [t] Whom it pleaſed him to appoint, to ſhew his fauour vpon. [16] An other obiection but onely for the reprobate, riſing vpon the former anſwere. If God doe appoint to euerlaſting deſtruction, ſuch as hee liſteth, and if that cannot be hindred notwithſtanded that he hath once decreed, how doth he iuſtly condemne them, which periſh by his will?

[17] The Apoſtle doeth not anſwere that it is not Gods will, or that God doth not either reiect or elect according to his pleaſure, which thing the wicked call blaſphemie, but he rather granteth, his aduerſarie both the antecedents, to wit, that it is Gods will, and that it muſt of neceſſitie ſo fall out, yet he denieth that God is therefore to be thought an vniuſt reuenger of the wicked: for ſeeing it appeareth by manifeſt proofe that this is the will of God and his doing, what impudencie is it for man, which is but duſt and aſhes to diſpute with God, and as it were to call him into iudgement? Now if any man ſay that the doubt is not ſo diſſolued and anſwered, I anſwere, that there is no ſurer demonſtration in any matter, becauſe it is grounded vpon this principle, That the will of God is the rule of righteouſneſſe. [18] An amplification of the former anſwere, taken from a compariſon, whereby alſo it appeareth that Gods determine counſell is ſet of Paul the hieſt of all cauſes, ſo that it dependeth not vpon any reſpect of ſecond cauſes, but doth rather frame and direct them. ✱ Eſai.45,9. [u] This ſimilitude agreeth very fitly in the firſt creation of mankinde.

him that formed it, Why haſt thou made mee thus?

22 [22] What and if God would, to ſhewe his wrath, and to make his power knowen, ſuffer with long patience the [y] veſſels of wrath, prepared to [23] deſtruction?

23 And that hee might declare the [z] riches of his glory vpon the veſſels of mercie, which he hath prepared vnto glory?

24 [24] Euen vs whom he hath called, not of the [a] Iewes onely, but alſo of the Gentiles.

25 [25] As he ſaith alſo in Oſee, ✠ I will call them, My people, which were not my people: and her, Beloued, which was not beloued.

26 And it ſhall be in the place where it was ſaide vnto them, * Yee are not my people, that there they ſhall be called, The children of the liuing God.

27 [26] Alſo Eſaias cryeth concerning Iſrael, * Though the number of the children of Iſrael were as the ſand of the ſea, yet ſhall but a remnant be ſaued.

28 For hee wil make his account, and gather it into a [b] ſhort ſumme with righteouſneſſe: for the Lord will make a ſhort count in the earth.

29 * And as Eſaias ſaid before, Except the Lord of [c] hoaſtes had left vs a [d] ſeede, we had bene made as Sodome, and had bene like to Gomorrha.

30 [27] What ſhall wee ſay then? That the Gentiles which followed [e] not righteouſneſſe, haue attained vnto righteouſneſſe, euen the righteouſneſſe which is of faith.

31 [28] But Iſrael which followed the Lawe of righteouſneſſe, could not attaine vnto the Law of righteouſneſſe.

32 Wherefore? Becauſe they ſought it not by faith, but as it vvere by the [f] workes of the Lawe: for they haue ſtumbled at the ſtumbling ſtone, 33 As it is written, ✠ Beholde, I lay in Sion a ſtumbling ſtone, and a rocke to make men fall: and euery one that beleeueth in him, ſhall not be aſhamed.

CHAP. X.

1 He handleth the effects of election, 3 that ſome refuſe, and ſome embrace. 4 Chriſt, who is the end of the Lawe. 15 Hee ſheweth that Moſes foretolde the calling of the Gentiles, 20 and Eſaias the hardening of the Iewes.

Brethren, [1] mine hearts deſire and prayer to God for Iſrael is, that they might be ſaued.

2 For I beare them record that they haue the zeale of God, but not according to knowledge.

3 [2] For they, [a] being ignorant of the righteouſneſſe of God, and going about to [b] ſtabliſh their owne righteouſneſſe, haue not ſubmitted themſelues to the righteouſneſſe of God.

4 ✠ [3] For Chriſt is the [c] ende of the Lawe for righteouſneſſe vnto [d] euery one that beleeueth.

5 [4] For Moſes thus deſcribeth the righteouſnes which is of the Lawe, * That the man which doeth theſe things, ſhall liue thereby.

6 But the righteouſnes which is of faith, ſpeaketh on this wiſe, * [e] Say not in thine heart, Who ſhall aſcend into heauen? (that is to bring Chriſt from aboue.)

7 Or, Who ſhall deſcend into the deepe? (that is to bring Chriſt againe from the dead.)

8 [5] But what ſaith it? * The [f] worde is neere thee, euen in thy mouthe, and in thine heart. This is the word of faith which we preach.

9 [6] For if thou ſhalt [g] confeſſe with thy mouth the Lord Ieſus, and ſhalt beleeue in thine heart, that [h] God raiſed him vp from the dead, thou ſhalt be ſaued:

10 For with the heart man [i] beleeueth vnto righteouſneſſe, and with the mouth man confeſſeth to ſaluation.

11 [7] For the Scripture ſaith, * Whoſoeuer [k] beleeueth in him, ſhall not be aſhamed.

12 For there is no difference betweene the Iew and the Grecian: for he that is Lord ouer all, is rich vnto all that call on him.

13 ✠ [8] For whoſoeuer ſhall call vpon the Name of the Lord, ſhall be ſaued.

19 Alluding to the creation of Adam, he compareth mankinde not yet made (but in the Creators minde) to a lumpe of clay: whereof afterward God made and doeth dayly make, according as he purpoſed from euerlaſting both ſuch as ſhould be elect, and ſuch as ſhould be reprobate, as alſo this word, making, declareth.

20 Whereas in the obiection propounded, mention was onely made of veſſels to diſhonour: yet he ſpeaketh of the other alſo in this anſwere, for that he proueth the Creator to be iuſt in either of them, as the rule of contraries doeth require.

21 Seeing then, that in the name of diſhonour, the ignominie of euerlaſting death is ſignified, they ſpeake with Paul, which ſay, that ſome are made of God to moſt iuſt deſtruction: and they are offended with this kind of ſpeech bewray their owne folly.

22 The ſecond anſwere is this, that God, moreouer and beſides that he doeth iuſtly decree whatſoeuer he doeth decree, vſeth that moderation in executing of his decrees, as declareth his ſingular lenitie euen in the reprobate in that, that he ſuffreth them a long time, and permitteth them to enioy many and ſingular benefits, vntill at length hee iuſtly condemne them: and that to good end and purpoſe, to wit, to ſhewe himſelfe to be an enemie and reuenger of wickedneſſe, that it may appeare what power hee is of by theſe ſeuere iudgements, and finally by compariſon of contraries to ſet foorth indeede, how great his mercie is towards the elect.

23 Therefore againe, wee may ſay with Paul that ſome men are made of God the Creator to deſtruction.

z The vnmeaſurable and marueilous greatneſſe.

24 Hauing eſtabliſhed the doctrine of the eternall predeſtination of God on both parts: that is, as well of the reprobate, as of the elect: hee commeth now to ſhewe the vſe of it, teaching vs that wee ought not to ſeeke the teſtimonie of it in the ſecret counſell of God, but by the vocation which is made manifeſt and ſet foorth in the Church, propounding vnto vs the example of the Iewes and Gentiles, that the doctrine may be better perceiued.

a Hee ſaith not that all and euery one of the Iewes are called, but ſome of the Iewes, and ſome of the Gentiles.

25 Our vocation or calling is free and of grace, euen as our predeſtination is: and therefore there is no cauſe why either our owne vnworthineſſe, or the vnworthineſſe of our anceſters ſhould cauſe vs to thinke that wee are not the elect and choſen of God, if we be called of him, and ſo embrace through faith the ſaluation that is offered vs.

✠ Hoſ.2,23. 1.peter 2,10. * Hoſ.1,10.

26 Contrarywiſe, Neither any outwarde generall calling, neither any worthineſſe of our anceſters is a ſufficient witneſſe of election, vnleſſe by faith and beliefe wee anſwere Gods calling: which thing come to paſſe in the Iewes, as the Lord had forewarned.

* Iſai.10,21.

b God purpoſeth to bring the vnkinde and vnthankefull people to an extreme fewneſſe.

* Iſai.1,9.

c Armies, by which word the chiefeſt power that is, is giuen to God.

d Euen a very fewe.

27 The declaration and manifeſtation of our election, is our calling apprehended by faith, as it came to paſſe in the Gentiles.

e So then, the Gentiles had no workes to prepare and procure Gods mercies before hande: and as for that, that the Gentiles attained to that which they ſought not for, the mercie of God is to be thanked for it: and in that the Iewes attained not to that which they ſought after, they can thanke none for it but themſelues, becauſe they ſought it not aright.

28 The pride of men is the cauſe that they contemne vocation, ſo that the cauſe of their damnation neede not to be ſought for any other where but in themſelues.

f Seeking to come by righteouſneſſe, they followed the Lawe of righteouſneſſe.

1 Purpoſing to ſet foorth in the Iewes an example of marueilous obſtinacie, he vſeth an inſinuation.

2 The firſt entrance into the vocation vnto ſaluation, is to renounce our owne righteouſneſſe: the next is, to embrace that righteouſneſſe by faith, which God freely offereth vs in the Goſpel.

a The ignorance of the Law which wee ought to know, excuſeth none before God, eſpecially it excuſeth not them that are of his houſhold.

3 The proofe: The Law it ſelfe hath reſpect vnto Chriſt, that ſuch as beleeue in him ſhould be ſaued. Therefore the calling to ſaluation by the workes of the law is vaine and fooliſh, but Chriſt is offered for ſaluation to euery beleeuer.

c The end of the Law is to iuſtifie them that keepe the Law: but ſeeing we do not obſerue the Law through the fault of our fleſh, wee attaine not vnto this ende: but Chriſt ſalueth this diſeaſe, for hee fulfilled the Law for vs.

d Not onely to the Iewes, but alſo to the Gentiles.

4 That the Law regardeth and tendeth to Chriſt, that is a manifeſt proofe, for that is propoundeth ſuch a condition, as can be and is fulfilled of none but of Chriſt onely: which being imputed vnto vs by faith, our conſcience is quieted, ſo that now no man can aske, Who can aſcend vp into heauen, or bring vs from hell, ſeeing the Goſpell teacheth that both of theſe is done by Chriſt, and that for their ſakes, which with true faith embrace him which calleth them.

* Leuit.18,5. ezek.20,11. gal.3,12. ✠ Deut.30,12.

e Thinke not with thy ſelfe, as men that are ſtaggering vſe to doe.

5 Vocation commeth by the worde preached.

f By the word, Moſes vnderſtoode the Law which the Lord publiſhed with his owne voyce: and Paul applied it to the preaching of the Goſpell which was the perfection of the Lawe.

6 That is indeede true faith which is ſetled not onely in the head, but alſo in the heart of man, whereof alſo wee giue teſtimonie, by our outward life, and which tendeth to Chriſt as to our alone and onely Sauiour, euen as hee ſetteth foorth himſelfe in his word.

g If thou profeſſe plainely, ſincerely, and openly, that thou takeſt Ieſus onely to be thy Lord and Sauiour.

h The Father, who is ſaide to haue raiſed the Sonne from the dead: and this is not ſpoken to ſhut out the diuinitie of the Sonne, but to ſet foorth the Fathers counſell touching our redemption in the reſurrection of the Sonne.

i Faith is ſaide to iuſtifie, and furthermore ſeeing the confeſſion of the mouth is an effect of faith, and confeſſion is the way to come to ſaluation, it followeth that faith is alſo ſaide to ſaue.

7 Now hee prooueth the other part which hee propounded afore in the fourth verſe, to wit, that Chriſt calleth whomſoeuer hee liſteth without any difference, and this hee confirmeth by a double teſtimonie.

* Iſai.28,16.

k To beleeue in God is to yeelde and conſent to God his promiſe of our ſaluation by Chriſt, and that not onely in generall, but when wee know that the promiſes perteine to vs where vpon riſeth a ſure truſt.

✠ Ioel 2,32.

8 True calling vpon the Name of God is the teſtimonie of true faith, and true faith of true vocation or calling, and true calling, of true election.

14 But howe ſhall they call on him, in whom they haue not beleeued? [9]and how ſhall they beleeue in him, of whom they haue not heard? and how ſhall they heare without a preacher?

15 And how ſhall they preach, except they be ſent? as it is written, ✤ How beautifull are the feete of them which bring glad tidings of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things!

16 [10] But they haue not [l] all obeyed the Goſpell: for Eſaias ſaith, ✤ Lord, who hath beleeued our report?

17 [11] Then faith is by hearing, and hearing by the [m] word of God.

18 [12] But I demaund, Haue they not heard? * No doubt their ſound went out through all the earth, and their wordes into the endes of the world.

19 [13] But I demaund, Did not Iſrael know God? Firſt Moſes ſaith, * I will prouoke you to enuie by a [n] nation that is not my nation, and by a fooliſh nation I will anger you.

20 * And Eſaias is [o] bolde, and ſaith, I was found of them that ſought mee not, and haue bene made manifeſt to them that asked not after mee.

21 And vnto Iſrael hee ſaith, * All the day long haue I ſtretched foorth mine hand vnto a diſobedient, and gaineſaying people.

[9] That is, true faith which ſeeketh God in his word, and that preached according as God hath appointed in the Church.

✤ Iſa.52,7. nahum.1,15.

[10] Whereſoeuer faith is, there is alſo the word, but not contrary wiſe, whereſoeuer the word is, there is faith alſo: for many refuſe and reiect the word.

[11] A concluſion of the former gradation: we muſt aſcend from faith, to our vocation, as by our vocation we came to the teſtimonie of our election.

[m] By Gods Commandement.

[12] An obiection: If calling be a teſtimonie of election, were not the Iewes called? why ſhould I not graunt that, ſaith the Apoſtle, ſeeing that there is no nation which hath not bene called? much leſſe can I ſay, that the Iewes were not called. ✤ Pſal.19,3. [13] The defender and mainteiner of the Iewes cauſe, goeth on ſtill to aske, whether the Iewes alſo knew not God which called them. Eſay (ſaith the Apoſtle) denieth it, and witneſſeth that the Goſpell was tranſlated from them to the Gentiles, becauſe the Iewes neglected it. And therewithall the Apoſtle teacheth, that that outward and vniuerſall calling, which is ſet foorth by the creation of the world, ſufficeth not to the knowledge of God: yea, and that the particular alſo which is by the word of God, is of it ſelfe of ſmall or no efficacie, vnleſſe it be apprehended or layd holde on by faith, by the gift of God: otherwiſe by vnbeleefe it is made vnprofitable, and that by the onely fault of man, who can pretend no ignorance. ✤ Deuter.32,21. [n] He calleth all prophane people, a nation that is no nation, that they are not ſaide to liue but to die, which are appointed for euerlaſting condemnation. * Iſa.65,1. [o] Speaketh without feare.

CHAP. XI.

1 Leaſt the caſting off of the Iewes ſhould be limitted according to the outward appearance, 4 hee ſheweth that Elias was in times paſt deceiued: 16 and that, ſeeing they haue an holy roote, 23 many of them likewiſe ſhall be holy. 18, 24 Hee exhorteth the Gentiles to be humble, 33 and crieth out, that Gods iudgements are vnſearcheable.

I Demaund then, [1] Hath God caſt away his people? God forbid: for [2] I alſo am an Iſraelite, of the ſeed of Abraham, of the tribe of Beniamin.

2 [3] God hath not caſt away his people which he [a] knew before. [4] Know yee not what the Scripture ſaith of Elias, how hee communeth with God againſt Iſrael, ſaying,

3 ✤ Lord, they haue killed thy Prophets, and digged downe thine Altars: and I am left alone, and they ſeeke my life?

4 But what ſaith the anſwere of God to him? ✤ I haue [b] reſerued vnto my ſelfe ſeuen thouſand men, which haue not bowed the knee to [c] Baal.

5 Euen ſo then, at this preſent time is there a remnant according to the [d] election of grace.

6 [5] And if it be of grace, it is [e] no more of workes: or els were grace no more grace: but if it be of works, it is no more grace: or els were worke no more worke.

7 What then? Iſrael hath not obteined that he ſought: but the election hath obteined it, and the reſt haue bene [f] hardened,

8 [6] According as it is written, ✤ God hath giuen them the ſpirit of [g] ſlumber: eyes that they [h] ſhould not ſee, and eares that they ſhould not heare vnto this day.

9 And Dauid ſaith, * [i] Let their table be made a ſnare, and a net, and a ſtumbling blocke, euen for a recompenſe vnto them.

10 Let their eyes be darkened that they ſee not, and bow downe their backe alwayes.

11 [7] I demaund then, Haue they ſtumbled, that they ſhould fall? God forbid: but through their fall, ſaluation commeth vnto the Gentiles, to prouoke them to follow them.

12 Wherefore if the fall of them be the [k] riches of the world, and the diminiſhing of them the riches of the Gentiles, how much more ſhall their [l] aboundance be?

13 [8] For in that I ſpeake to you Gentiles, in as much as I am the Apoſtle of the Gentiles, I [m] magnifie mine office, 14 To try if by any meanes I might prouoke them of my fleſh to follow them, and might ſaue ſome of them.

15 For if the caſting away of them be the reconciling of the world, what ſhall the receiuing be, [n] but life from the dead?

16 [9] For if the [o] firſt fruites be holy, ſo is the whole lumpe: and if the [p] roote be holy, ſo are the branches.

[1] Now the Apoſtle ſheweth how this doctrine is to be applied to others, abiding ſtill in his propounded cauſe. Therefore hee teacheth vs that all the Iewes in particular are not caſt away, and therefore we ought not to pronounce raſhly of priuate perſons, whether they be of the number of the elect or not. [2] The firſt proofe, I am a Iew, and yet elected, therefore wee may and ought fully reſolue vpon our election, as hath bene before ſaide: but of another mans we cannot be ſo certainely reſolued: and yet ours may cauſe vs to hope well of others. [3] The ſecond proofe: Becauſe that God is faithfull in his league or Couenant, although men be vnfaithfull: So then ſeeing that God hath ſaid, that hee will be the God of his vnto a thouſand generations, wee muſt take heede, that wee thinke not that the whole race and offſpring is caſt off, by reaſon of the vnbeliefe of a few, but rather, that wee hope well of euery member of the Church, becauſe of Gods league and Couenant. [a] Which he loued and choſe from euerlaſting. [4] The thirde proofe, taken from the anſwere that was made to Elias: euen then alſo, when there appeared openly to the face of the world no elect, yet God knewe his elect and choſen, and of them alſo good ſtore and number. Whereupon this alſo is concluded, that wee ought not raſhly to pronounce of any man as of a reprobate, ſeeing that the Church is oftentimes brought to that ſtate, that euen the moſt watchfull and ſharpe ſighted paſtours thinke it to be cleane extinct and put out. ✤ 1.King.19,10.

[b] He ſpeaketh of remnants and reſerued people which were choſen from euerlaſting, and not of remnants that ſhould be choſen afterward: for they are not choſen, becauſe they were not idolaters, but therefore they were not idolaters, becauſe they were choſen and elect.

[c] Baal ſignifieth as much as Maſter or patrone, or one in whoſe power an other is, which name the idolaters at this day giue their idoles, naming them patrones and patroneſſes or Ladies.

[d] The election of grace, is not whereby men choſe grace: but whereby God choſe vs of his grace and goodneſſe.

[5] Although that all be not elect and choſen, yet let them that are elected, remember that they are freely choſen, and let them that ſtubburnly refuſe the grace and free mercie of God, impute it vnto themſelues.

[e] This ſaying beateth downe flat to the ground all the doctrine of all kindes and maner of workes, whereby our iuſtifiers of themſelues doe teach, that workes are either wholly or partly the cauſe of our iuſtification. [f] Looke Marke 3,5. [6] And yet this hardneſſe of heart commeth not but by Gods iuſt decree and iudgement, and yet without fault, whom as hee ſo puniſheth the vnthankefull by taking from them all ſenſe and perceiuerance, and by doubling their darkeneſſe, that the benefites of God which are offered vnto them, doe redound to their iuſt deſtruction. ✤ Iſai.6,9. and 29,10. matth.13,14. Iohn.12,40. act.28,26. [g] A very dead ſleepe which taketh away all ſenſe. [h] That is, eyes vniuſt to ſee. * Pſal.69,23. [i] As vnhappy birdes are intiſed to death by that which is their ſuſtenance, ſo did that onely thing turne to the Iewes deſtruction, out of which they ſought life, to wit, the Law of God, for the prepoſterous zeale whereof they refuſed the Goſpel. [7] God appointed this caſting out of the Iewes, that it might be an occaſion to call the Gentiles: and againe might turne this calling of the Gentiles, to be an occaſion to reſtore the Iewes, to wit, that they being inflamed and prouoked by emulation of the Gentiles, might themſelues at length embrace the Goſpel. And hereby we may learne, that the ſeueritie of God ſerueth aſwell to the ſetting foorth of his glory as his mercie doeth, and alſo that God prepare himſelfe a way to mercie, by his ſeueritie, ſo that we ought not raſhly to deſpaire of any man, nor proudly triumph ouer other men, but rather prouoke them to an holy emulation, that God may be glorified in them alſo. [k] By riches he meaneth the knowledge of the Goſpell to euerlaſting life: and by the world, all nations diſperſed thorowout the whole world. [l] Of the Iewes, when the whole nation without exception ſhall come to Chriſt. [8] Hee witneſſeth by his owne example, that hee goeth before all other in this behalfe. [m] I make noble and famous. [n] It ſhall come to paſſe that when the Iewes come to the Goſpel, the world ſhall as it were quicken againe, and riſe vp from death to life. [9] The nation of the Iewes being conſidered in their ſtocke and roote, that is, in Abraham, is holy, although that many of the branches be cut off. Therefore in iudging of our brethren, wee muſt not ſticke in their vnworthineſſe, to thinke that they are at once all caſt off, but wee ought to conſider the roote of the Couenant, and rather goe backe to their anceſters which were faithfull, that wee may know that the bleſſing of the Couenant reſteth in ſome of their poſteritie, as we alſo finde proofe hereof in our ſelues. [o] Hee alludeth to the firſt fruits of the loaues by the offring whereof all the whole croppe of corne was ſanctified, and they might vſe the reſt of the yeere following with good conſcience. [p] Abraham.

10 There is no cauſe why the Gentiles which haue obtained mercy, ſhould triumph ouer the Iewes which contemne the grace of God, ſeeing they are graffed into the Iewes anceſters. But let them rather take heed that that alſo be not found in them which is worthily condemned in the Iewes. And hereof alſo this generall doctrine may be gathered and taken, that wee ought to be ſtudious of Gods glory, euen in reſpect of our neighbours: ſo far ought we to be from bragging and glorying, for that, that we are preferred before other by a ſingular grace.

[r] It is againſt the common courſe of husbandry, that the barren iuice of the ympe is changed with the iuice of the good tree.

[ſ] We may reioyce in the Lord; but ſo that we deſpiſe not the Iewes, whom we ought rather to prouoke to that good ſtriuing with vs.

17 ✣ [10] And though ſome of the branches be broken off, and thou being a wilde Oliue tree, waſt graft in [q] for them, and made [r] partaker of the root and fatneſſe of the Oliue tree:

18 [ſ] Boaſt not thy ſelfe againſt the branches: and if thou boaſt thy ſelfe, thou beareſt not the roote, but the roote thee.

19 Thou wilt ſay then, The branches are broken off, that I might be graft in.

20 Well: through vnbeliefe they are broken off, and thou ſtandeſt by faith: be not high minded, but [t] feare.

21 For if God ſpared not the [u] naturall branches, take heede, leaſt he alſo ſpare not thee.

22 [11] Behold therefore the [x] bountifulneſſe, and ſeueritie of God: toward them which haue fallen, ſeueritie: but toward thee, bountifulneſſe, if thou continue in his [y] bountifulneſſe, or els thou ſhalt alſo be cut off.

23 [12] And they alſo, if they abide not ſtill in vnbeliefe, ſhallbe graffed in: for God is able to graffe them in againe.

24 For if thou waſt cut out of the Oliue tree, which was wilde by [z] nature, and waſt graffed contrary to nature in a [a] right Oliue tree, howe much more ſhall they that are by nature, be graffed in their owne Oliue tree?

25 [13] For I would not, brethren, that ye ſhould be ignorant of this ſecret (leaſt yee ſhould be arrogant in your [b] ſelues) that partly obſtinacie is come to Iſrael, vntill the fulneſſe of the Gentiles be [c] come in.

26 And ſo all Iſrael ſhall be ſaued, as it is written, ✤ The deliuerer ſhall come out of Sion, and ſhall turne away the vngodlineſſe from Iacob.

27 And this is my couenant to them, ✣ When I ſhall take away their ſinnes.

28 [14] As concerning the [d] Goſpel, they are enemies for your ſakes: but as touching the [e] election, they are beloued for the fathers ſakes.

29 [15] For the gifts and calling of God are without repentance.

[t] See that thou ſtand in awe of God modeſtly and carefully. [u] He calleth them naturall, not becauſe they had any holineſſe of nature, but becauſe they were borne of them, whom the Lord ſet apart for himſelfe from other nations, by his league and couenant which he freely made with them. 11 Seeing the matter it ſelfe declareth that election commeth not by inheritance (although the fault be in men, and not in God, why the bleſſing of God is not perpetuall) wee muſt take good heede, that that be not found in our ſelues, which wee thinke blame worthy in others; for the election is ſure, but they that are truely elect and engraffed, are not proud in themſelues with contempt of other, but with due reuerence to God, and loue toward their neighbour, runne to the marke which is ſet before them. [x] The tender and louing heart. [y] In that ſtate which God his bountifulneſſe hath aduanced thee vnto: and wee muſt marke here, that hee ſpeaketh not of the election of euery priuate man which remaineth ſtedfaſt for euer, but of the election of the whole nation. 12 Many are now for a ſeaſon cut off, that is, are without the roote, which in their time ſhallbe graffed in: and againe there are a great ſort, which after a ſort, and touching the outward ſhewe, ſeeme to be ingraffed, which notwithſtanding through their owne fault afterward are cut off and cleane caſt away: which thing is eſpecially to be conſidered in nations and peoples, as in the Gentiles and Iewes. [z] Vnderſtand nature, not as it was firſt made, but as it was corrupted in Adam, and ſo deriued from him to his poſteritie. [a] Into the people of the Iewes which God had ſanctified of his meere grace: and he ſpeaketh of the whole nation, not of euery one part. 13 The blindeneſſe of the Iewes is neither ſo vniuerſall that the Lord hath no elect in that nation, neither ſhall it be continuall; for there ſhallbe a time wherein they alſo (as the Prophets haue forewarned) ſhall effectually imbrace that which they doe now ſo ſtubburnly for the moſt part reiect and refuſe. [b] That yee be not proud within your ſelues. [c] Into the Church. ✤ Eſai. 59,20. ✣ Eſai. 27,9. 14 Againe, that he may ioyne the Iewes and Gentiles together as it were in one body, and eſpecially may teach what duety the Gentiles owe to the Iewes, hee beateth this into their heads; that the nation of the Iewes is not vtterly caſt off without hope of recouery. [d] Foraſmuch as they receiued it not. [e] In that, that God reſpecteth not what they deſerue, but what he promiſed to Abraham. 15 The reaſon or proofe: becauſe the couenant made with that nation of life euerlaſting, cannot be fruſtrate and vaine.

30 [16] For euen as yee in times paſt haue not beleeued God, yet haue nowe obteined mercy through their vnbeliefe:

31 Euen ſo now haue they not beleeued by the mercy ſhevved vnto you, that they alſo may obtaine mercy.

32 For God hath ſhut vp [f] all in vnbeliefe, that he might haue mercy on all.

33 [17] O the deepeneſſe of the riches, both of the wiſedome, and knowledge of God! how vnſearchable are his [g] iudgements, and his [h] wayes paſt finding out!

34 ✣ [18] For who hath knowen the mind of the Lord? or who was his counſeller?

35 Or who hath giuen vnto him [i] firſt, and hee ſhallbe recompenſed?

36 For of him, and through him, and for [k] him are all things: to him be glory for euer. Amen.

16 Another reaſon, becauſe that although that they which are hardened, are worthily puniſhed, yet hath not this ſtubborneſſe of the Iewes ſo come to paſſe properly for an hatred to that nation, but that an entrie might as it were be opened to bring in the Gentiles, and afterward the Iewes being inflamed with emulation of this mercie which is ſhewed to the Gentiles, might themſelues alſo be partakers of the ſame benefit, and ſo it might appeare that both Iewes and Gentiles are ſaued, onely by the free mercy and grace of God, which could not haue beene ſo manifeſt, if at the beginning, God had brought all together into the Church, or if he had ſaued the nation of the Iewes without this interruption. [f] Both Iewes and Gentiles. 17 The Apoſtle crieth not as aſtoniſhed with this wonderfull wiſedome of God, which hee teacheth vs, ought to be religiouſly reuerenced; and not curiouſly and prophanely to be ſearched beyond the compaſſe of that that God hath reuealed vnto vs. [g] The courſe that hee holdeth in gouerning all things both generally and particularly. [h] The order of his counſels and doings. ✣ Iob 41,2. Eſai. 40,13. 1. Corinth. 2,16. 18 Hee bridleth three maner of wayes, the wicked boldneſſe of man: Firſt, becauſe that God is aboue all, moſt wiſe, and therefore it is very abſurd, and plainely godleſſe to meaſure him by our folly. Moreouer, becauſe he is debtor to no man, and therefore no man can complaine of iniurie done vnto him. Thirdly, becauſe all things are made for his glory, and therefore we muſt referre all things to his glory, much leſſe may wee contend and debate the matter with him. [i] This ſaying ouerthroweth the doctrine of foreſeene workes and merits. [k] To wit, for God, to whoſe glory all things are referred, not onely things that were made, but eſpecially his new workes which hee worketh in his elect.

CHAP. XII.

1 Hee exhorteth 2 to that worſhip which is acceptable to God, 9 to loue vnfained, 14, 20 euen towards our enemies.

I Beſeech [1] you therefore brethren, [a] by the mercies of God, that yee [b] giue vp your [c] bodies a [d] liuing ſacrifice, holy, acceptable vnto God, which is your [e] reaſonable ſeruing of God.

2 [2] And faſhion not your ſelues like vnto this world, but be yee changed by the renewing of your [f] minde, that yee may ✤ prooue what that good, and acceptable and perfect will of God is.

3 [3] For I [g] ſay through the grace that is giuen vnto me, to euery one that is among you, that no man [h] preſume to vnderſtand aboue that which is meete to vnderſtand, but that he vnderſtand according to [i] ſobrietie, as God hath dealt to euery man the ✣ meaſure of [k] faith.

1 The fourth part of this Epiſtle, which after the finiſhing of the chiefe points of Chriſtian doctrine, conſiſteth in declaring of precepts of Chriſtian life. And firſt of all he giueth generall precepts and grounds: the chiefeſt whereof is this that euery man conſecrate himſelfe wholly to the ſpirituall ſeruice of God, and doe as it were ſacrifice himſelfe; truſting to the grace of God. [a] By this preface hee ſheweth that Gods glory is the vtmoſt ende of all our doings. [b] In times paſt the ſacrifices were preſented before the altar, but now the altar is euery where. [c] Your ſelues: in times paſt, other bodies then our owne, now our owne muſt be offered. [d] In time paſt, dead ſacrifices were offered, but now we muſt offer ſuch as haue the ſpirit of life in them. [e] Spirituall. 2 The ſecond precept is this, That we take not other mens opinions or maners for a rule of life, but that we wholly renouncing this world, ſet before vs as our marke, the will of God, as it is manifeſted and opened vnto vs in his word. [f] Why then there is no place left for reaſon, which the heathen Philoſophers place as a Queene in a Caſtell, nor for mans free will, which the Popiſh Schoolemen dreame on, if the minde muſt be renued. Looke Epheſians 1,18. and 2,5. and 4,17. and Coloſſians 1,21. ✤ Epheſians 5,17. 1. [g] I charge. [h] That he pleaſe not himſelfe too much, as they doe, which perſwade themſelues they know more then indeede they doe. [i] We ſhall be ſober, if we take not that vpon vs, which we haue not, and if we bragge not of that we haue. ✣ 1 Corin. 12,11. epheſ. 4,7. [k] By faith he meaneth the knowledge of God in Chriſt, and the gifts which the holy Ghoſt powreth vpon the faithfull.

4 [4] For as wee haue many members in one body, and all members haue not one office,

5 So wee being many, are one body in Chriſt, and euery one, one anothers members.

6 ✠ [5] Seeing then that wee haue gifts that are diuers, according to the grace that is giuen vnto vs, whether vve haue prophecie, let vs prophecie according to the [l] portion of faith.

[4] There is a double reaſon of the precept going afore: the one is becauſe God hath not committed euery thing to be done of euery man: and therefore, he doeth backwardly, and not onely vnprofitably, but alſo to the great diſprofit of others, wearieth himſelfe and others, which paſſeth the bounds of his vocation: the other is, for that this diuerſitie and inequalitie of vocations and gifts, redoundeth to our commodity ſeeing that the ſame is therefore inſtituted and appointed, that we ſhould be bound one to another. Whereupon it followeth that no man ought to be grieued thereat, ſeeing that the vſe of euery priuate gift is common.

✠ 1.Pet.4.10.

[5] That which he ſpake before in generall, he applieth particularly to the holy functions wherein men offend with greater danger. And he diuideth them into two ſorts, to wit, into Prophets, and Deacons, and againe he deuideth the Prophets into doctours, and Paſtours, And of Deacons hee maketh three ſorts: to wit, the one to be ſuch as are (as it were) treaſurers of the Church coſers, whom hee calleth properly Deacons: the other to be the gouernours of diſcipline, who are called Seniors or Elders: the third to be ſuch as properly ſerued in the helpe of the poore, of which ſort the company of widowes were. CHAP. XIII.

1 Hee willeth that we ſubmit our ſelues to Magiſtrates: 8 To loue our neighbour: 13 To loue vprightly, 14 and to put on Chriſt.

Let ✠ [1] euery [a] ſoule be ſubiect vnto the higher [2] powers: [3] for there is no power but of God: and the powers that be, are [b] ordained of God.

2 Whoſoeuer therefore reſiſteth the power, reſiſteth the ordinance of God: and they that reſiſt, ſhall receiue to themſelues condemnation.

3 [4] For magiſtrates are not to be feared for good workes, but for euill. [5] Wilt thou then be without feare of the power? doe well: ſo ſhalt thou haue praiſe of the ſame:

4 For he is the miniſter of God for thy wealth: [6] but if thou doe euill, feare: for he beareth not the ſword for nought: for he is the miniſter of God to [c] take vengeance on him that doeth euill.

5 [7] Wherefore we muſt be ſubiect, not becauſe of wrath onely, but [d] alſo for conſcience ſake.

6 [8] For, for this cauſe ye pay alſo tribute: for they are Gods miniſters, applying themſelues for the ſame thing.

7 ✠ Giue to all men therefore their duety, tribute, to whom ye ovve tribute: cuſtome, to whom cuſtome: feare, to whom [e] feare; honour, to whom ye ovve [f] honour.

8 [9] Owe nothing to any man, but to loue one another: [10] for hee that loueth another, hath fulfilled the [g] Law.

9 For this, * Thou ſhalt not commit adultery, Thou ſhalt not kill, Thou ſhalt not ſteale, Thou ſhalt not bare falſe witnes, Thou ſhalt not couet: and if there be any other commandement, it is [h] briefly comprehended in this ſaying, euen in this, ✠ Thou ſhalt loue thy neighbour as thy ſelfe.

10 Loue doth not euill to his neighbour: therefore is loue the ✠ fulfilling of the Law.

11 [11] And that, conſidering the ſeaſon, that it is now time that we ſhould ariſe from ſleepe: for now is our ſaluation neerer, then when wee beleeued it.

12 The night is paſt, and the day is [i] at hand, let vs therefore caſt away the workes [k] of darkeneſſe, and let vs put on the armour of light,

13 So that we walke honeſtly, as in the day: not in * gluttonie, and drunkenneſſe, neither in ✠ Titus 3,1. 1.Pet.2,13.

[1] Now he ſheweth ſeuerally, what ſubiects owe to their Magiſtrates, to wit, obedience: From which hee ſheweth, that no man is free: and in ſuch ſort that it is not onely due to the higheſt Magiſtrate himſelfe, but alſo euen to the baſeſt, which hath any office vnder him.

[a] Yea, though an Apoſtle, though an Euangeliſt, though a Prophet: Chryſoſtome. Therefore the tyranny of the Pope ouer all kingdomes muſt downe to the ground.

[2] A reaſon taken of the nature of the thing it ſelfe: For to what purpoſe are they placed in higher degree, but that the inferiour ſhould be ſubiect vnto them.

[3] Another argument of great force: Becauſe God is author of this order: ſo that ſuch as are rebels, ought to know, that they make warre with God himſelfe: wherefore they cannot but purchaſe to themſelues great miſerie and calamity.

[4] The third argument taken from the end wherefore they were made, which is moſt profitable: for that God by this meanes preſerueth the good and bridleth the wicked: by which words the Magiſtrates themſelues are put in minde of that duetie which they owe to their ſubiects. [5] An excellent way to beare this yoke, not onely without griefe, but alſo with great profit. [6] God hath armed the Magiſtrate euen with a reuenging ſworde. [c] By whom God reuengeth the wicked. [7] The concluſion: Wee muſt obey the Magiſtrate, not onely for feare of puniſhment, but much more becauſe that (although the Magiſtrate haue no power ouer the conſcience of man, yet ſeeing hee is Gods miniſter) hee cannot be reſiſteth by any good conſcience. [d] So farre as lawfully we may: for if vnlawfull things be commanded vs, we muſt anſwere as Peter teacheth vs, It is better to obey God then men. [8] Hee reckoneth vp the chiefeſt things wherein conſiſteth the obedience of ſubiects. ✠ Mat.22,21. [e] Obedience, and that from the heart. [f] Reuerence, (which as reaſon is) we muſt giue to the Magiſtrate. [9] He ſheweth how very fewe iudgements need to be executed, to wit, if we ſo order our life, as no man may iuſtly require any thing of vs, beſides that onely that we owe one to another, by the perpetuall law of charity. [g] He hath not onely done one commandement, but performed generally that which the Law commandeth. * Exod.20,14. deut.5,18. [h] *For the whole Law commandeth nothing els, but that we loue God and our neighbour. CHAP. XIV.

1 Hee willeth that we ſo deale with the weake in faith, 15 that through our fault they be not offended. 10 And on the other ſide he commandeth them not raſhly to iudge of the ſtronger: 19 That within the bounds of edification 20 and charitie. 22 Chriſtian liberty may conſiſt.

1 Now he ſheweth how we ought to behaue our ſelues toward our brethren in matters and things indifferent, offending in the vſe of them, not of malice, or damnable ſuperſtition, but for lacke of knowledge of the benefit of Chriſt. And thus he teacheth that they are to be inſtructed gently and patiently: and ſo that we apply our ſelues to their ignorance in ſuch matters according to the rule of charitie.

HIm [1] that is weake in the faith, [a] receiue vnto you, but not for [b] controuerſies of diſputations.

2 [2] One [c] beleeueth that hee may eate of all things: and another, which is weake, eateth herbs.

3 [3] Let not him that eateth, deſpiſe him that eateth not: and let not him which eateth not, condemne him that eateth: for [4] God hath receiued him.

4 ✝ [5] Who art thou that condemneſt another mans ſeruant? he ſtandeth or falleth to his owne maſter: yea, he ſhall be eſtabliſhed: for God is able to make him ſtand.

5 [6] This man eſteemeth one day aboue another day, and another man counteth euery day alike: [7] let [d] euery man be fully perſwaded in his minde.

6 [8] He that [e] obſerueth the day, obſerueth it to the Lord: and hee that obſerueth not the day, obſerueth it not to the [f] Lord. He that [g] eateth, eateth to the Lord: [9] for he giueth God thankes: and he that eateth [h] not, eateth not to the Lord, and giueth God thanks.

7 [10] For none of vs liueth to [i] himſelfe, neither doeth any die to himſelfe.

8 For whether wee liue, wee liue vnto the Lord; or whether we die, wee die vnto the Lord: whether wee liue therefore, or die, wee are the Lords.

9 For Chriſt therefore died and roſe againe, and reuiued, that hee might be Lord both of the dead and the quicke.

10 [11] But why doeſt thou condemne thy brother? or why doeſt thou deſpiſe thy brother? ♣ for we ſhall all appeare before the iudgement ſeat of Chriſt.

11 For it is written, ✝ I [k] liue, ſaith the Lord, and euery knee ſhall bowe to me, and all tongues ſhall [l] confeſſe vnto God.

12 So then euery one of vs ſhall giue accounts of himſelfe to God.

13 [12] Let vs not therefore iudge one another any more: but vſe your iudgement rather in [m] this that no man put an occaſion to fall, or a ſtumbling blocke before his brother.

14 [13] I knowe, and am perſwaded through the [n] Lord Ieſus, that there is nothing vncleane of it [o] ſelfe: but vnto him that iudgeth any thing to be vncleane, to him it is vncleane.

15 But if thy brother be grieued for the meat, nowe walkeſt thou not charitably: * [14] deſtroy not him with thy meete, for whom [15] Chriſt died.

16 [16] Cauſe not your commoditie to be euill ſpoken of.

17 [17] For the kingdome of God, is not meate nor drinke, but righteouſneſſe, and peace, and ioy in the holy Ghoſt.

18 For whoſoeuer in [p] theſe things ſerueth Chriſt, is acceptable vnto God, and is approoued of men.

19 [18] Let vs then followe thoſe things which concerne peace, and wherewith one may edifie another.

h He that toucheth not meates which he taketh to be vncleane by the Law.

10 We muſt not ſticke, ſaith he, in the meate it ſelfe, but in the vſe of the meate, ſo that he is iuſtly to be reprehended that liueth ſo, that he caſteth not his eyes vpon God. For both our life and our death is dedicated to him, and for this cauſe Chriſt hath properly died, and not ſimply, that we might eate this meate or that.

i Hath reſpect to himſelfe onely, which the Hebrues vtter after this ſort, Doeth well to his owne ſoule.

a Doe not for a matter or thing that is indifferent, and ſuch as you may doe or not doe, ſhun his company, but take him to you. b To make him by your doubtfull and vncertaine diſputations goe away more in doubt then he came, or ſtart backe with a troubled conſcience. 2 He propoundeth for an example, the difference of meates, which ſome thought was neceſſarily to be obſerued as a thing preſcribed by the Law (not knowing that it was taken away) whereas on the contrary ſide, ſuch as had profited in the knowledge of the Goſpel, knew well that this ſchoolemaſterſhip of the Law was aboliſhed. c Knoweth by faith. 3 In ſuch a matter, ſaith the Apoſtle, Let neither them which know their libertie, proudly deſpiſe their weake brother, neither let the vnlearned crabbedly or frowardly condemne that, that they vnderſtand not.
4 The firſt reaſon: Becauſe that ſeeing both he that eateth and he that eateth not, is notwithſtanding the member of Chriſt, neither he which eateth not, can iuſtly be contemned, neither he which eateth be iuſtly condemned: Now the firſt propoſition is declared in the ſixth verſe following. ✝ Iam. 4, 12. 5 Another reaſon which hangeth vpon the former: why the ruder and more vnlearned ought not to be condemned of the more ſkilfull, as men without hope of ſaluation: Becauſe, ſaith the Apoſtle, he that is ignorant to day, may be indued to morow with further knowledge, ſo that he alſo may ſtand ſure. Therefore it belongeth to God, and not vnto man, to pronounce the ſentence of condemnation. 6 Another example of the difference of dayes according to the law. 7 He ſetteth againſt this contempt, and haſtie or raſh iudgements, a continuall deſire to profite, that the ſtrong may be certainely perſwaded of their libertie, of what maner and ſort it is, and how they ought to vſe it: and againe the weake may daily profit, leaſt either they abuſe the gift of God, or theſe pleaſe themſelues in their infirmitie. d That he may ſay in his conſcience, that he knoweth and is perſwaded by Ieſus Chriſt, that nothing is vncleane of it ſelfe, and this perſwaſion muſt be grounded vpon the word of God. 8 A reaſon taken from the nature of indifferent things, which a man may with good conſcience do and omit: for ſeeing that the difference of dayes and meates was appointed by God, how could they, which as yet vnderſtood not the abrogating of the Law, and yet otherwiſe acknowledged Chriſt as their Sauiour, with good conſcience neglect that which they knew was commanded of God? And on the contrary ſide, they that knew the benefit of Chriſt in this behalfe, did with good conſcience neither obſerue dayes nor meates. Therefore ſaith the Apoſtle, verſe 10. Let not the ſtrong condemne the weake for theſe things, ſeeing that the weake brethren are brethren notwithſtanding. Now if any man would draw this doctrine to theſe our times and ages, let them knowe that the Apoſtle ſpeaketh of ſuch things indifferent, as they which thought them not to be indifferent, had a ground in the Law, and were deceiued by ſimple ignorance: and not of malice (for to ſuch the Apoſtles yeelded not, no not for a moment) nor ſuſpition, but of a religious feare of God. e Obſerueth preciſely. f God ſhall iudge whether he doe well or no: And therefore you ſhould rather ſtriue about this, how euery one of you may be allowed of God, then to thinke vpon other mens doings. g He that maketh no difference of meates. 9 So the Apoſtle ſheweth that he ſpeaketh of the faithfull, both ſtrong and weake. But what if we haue to doe with infidels? Then muſt we here take heed of two things, as alſo is declared in the Epiſtle to the Corinthians. The one is, that we count not their ſuperſtitions among things indifferent, as they did which ſate downe to meate in Idols Temples: the other is, that then alſo when the matter is indifferent (as to buy a thing offered to idoles, in the butchers ſhambles, and to eate it at home in a priuate banquet) we wound not the conſcience of our weake brother.

11 The concluſion: wee muſt leaue to God his right: and therefore in matters, which according as the conſcience is affected, are either good or euill, the ſtrong muſt not deſpiſe their weake brethren, much leſſe condemne them. But this conſequent cannot be taken of equall force in the contrary, to wit, that the weake ſhould not iudge the ſtrong, becauſe the weake doe not knowe, that they which doe not obſerue a day, and eate, obſerue it not to the Lord, and eate to the Lord, as the ſtrong men knowe, that the weake which obſerue a day and eate not, obſerue the day to the Lord, and eate not to the Lord. ♣ 2. Cor. 5, 10. ✝ Iſa. 45, 23. Philip. 2, 10. k This is a forme of an oathe, proper to God onely, for he and none but he liueth, and hath his being of himſelfe. l Shall acknowledge mee from God. 12 After that hee hath concluded what is not to be done, he ſheweth what is to be done: to wit, wee muſt take heede that we doe not vtterly caſt downe with abuſing our libertie, our brother which is not yet ſtrong. m Hee rebuketh by the way, theſe malicious iudgers of others, which occupie their heads about nothing, but to finde fault with their brethrens life, whereas they ſhould rather beſtowe their wits vpon this, that they doe not with their diſdainefulneſſe either caſt their brethren cleane downe, or giue them ſome offence. 13 The preuenting of an obiection: It is true that the ſchoolemaſterſhip of the Law is taken away by the benefite of Chriſt, to ſuch as know it, but yet notwithſtanding wee haue to conſider in the vſe of this libertie, what is expedient, that wee may haue regard of our weake brother, ſeeing that our libertie is not loſt thereby. n By the Spirit of the Lord Ieſus, or by the Lord Ieſus, who I am ſure brake downe the wall at his comming. o By nature. * 1. Cor. 8, 11. 14 It is the part of a cruell minde to make more account of meate, then of our brothers ſaluation. Which thing they doe, that preſume to eate with the offence of any brother, and ſo giue him occaſion to goe backe from the Goſpel.
15 Another argument: We muſt followe Chriſtes example: who was ſo farre from deſtroying the weake with meate, that hee gaue his life for them. 16 Another argument: for that by this meanes the libertie of the Goſpell is euill ſpoken of, as though it openeth the way to attempt any thing whatſoeuer, and boldeneth vs to all things. 17 A generall reaſon, and the ground of all the other arguments: The kingdome of heauen conſiſteth not in theſe outwarde thinges, but in the ſtudie of righteouſneſſe, and peace, and comfort of the holy Ghoſt. p He that liueth peaceably, and doeth righteouſly through the holy Ghoſt. 18 A generall concluſion: The vſe of this libertie, yea and our whole life, ought to be referred to the edifying of one another, in ſo much that wee eſteeme that thing vnlawfull by reaſon of the offence of our brother, which is of it ſelfe pure and lawfull.

17 [9] I haue therefore whereof I may reioyce in Chriſt Ieſus in thoſe things which pertaine to God.

18 For I dare not ſpeake of any thing, which [n] Chriſt hath not wrought by mee, to make the Gentiles obedient in word and deede, 19 With the [o] power of ſignes and wonders, by the power of the ſpirit of God: ſo that from Hieruſalem, and round about vnto Illyricum, I haue cauſed to abound the Goſpel of Chriſt.

25 But now goe I to Hieruſalem, to [p] miniſter vnto the Saints.

n Chriſt was ſo with me in all things, and by all meanes, that if I would neuer ſo faine, yet I cannot ſay, what he hath done by me to bring the Gentiles to obey the Goſpel.

26 For it hath pleaſed them of Macedonia and Achaia, to make a certaine diſtribution vnto the poore Saints which are at Hieruſalem.

27 [11] For it hath pleaſed them, and their detters are they, ✠ for if the Gentiles be made partakers of their ſpirituall things, their duetie is alſo to [q] miniſter vnto them in carnall things.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Hee commendeth Phebe. 3 Hee ſendeth greeting to many. 17 And warneth to beware of them which are the cauſes of diuiſion.

I [1] Commende vnto you Phœbe our ſiſter, which is a ſeruant of the Church of Cenchrea:

2 That yee receiue her in the [a] Lord, as it becommeth Saintes, and that yee aſsiſt her in whatſoeuer buſineſſe ſhee needeth of your ayde: for ſhee hath giuen hoſpitalitie vnto many, and to me alſo.

3 Greete ✤ Priſcilla, and Aquila, my fellowe helpers in Chriſt Ieſus.

4 (Which haue for my life layde downe their owne necke. Vnto whom not I onely giue thankes, but alſo all the Churches of the Gentiles.)

5 Likewiſe greete the [b] Church that is in their houſe. Salute my beloued Epenetus, which is the [c] firſt fruites of Achaia in Chriſt.

6 Greete Marie which beſtowed much labour on vs.

7 Salute Andronicus and Iunia my couſins and fellow priſoners, which are notable among the Apoſtles, and were in [d] Chriſt before me.

8 Greete Amplias my beloued in the Lord.

9 Salute Vrbanus our fellowe helper in Chriſt, and Stachys my beloued.

10 Salute Apelles approoued in Chriſt. Salute them which are of Ariſtobulus friends.

11 Salute Herodion my kinſman. Greete them which are of the friends of Narciſſus which are in the Lord.

12 Salute Tryphena and Tryphoſa, which vvomen labour in the Lord. Salute the beloued Perſis, which vvoman hath laboured much in the Lord.

13 Salute Rufus choſen in the Lord, and his mother and mine.

14 Greete Aſyncritus, Phlegon, Hermas, Patrobas, Mercurius, and the brethren which are with them.

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAVL TO THE CORINTHIANS.

CHAP. I.

After the ſalutation, 10 which in effect is an exhortation. 12 He reprehendeth the Corinthians ſectes and diuiſions, 17 and calleth them from pride to humilitie: 20 For ouerthrowing all worldly wiſedome. 23, 25 he aduanceth onely the preaching of the croſſe.

PAul [1] called to be an [2] Apoſtle of Ieſus Chriſt, through the will of God, and our brother [3] Soſthenes,

2 [4] Vnto the Church of God, which is at Corinthus, to them that are ✣ [5] ſanctified in [a] Chriſt Ieſus, ✣ Saintes by [b] calling, ✣ with all that [c] call on the Name of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt in euery place, both their Lord, and ours:

3 [6] Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

4 [7] I thanke my God alwayes on your behalfe for the grace of God, which is giuen you in Ieſus Chriſt.

5 That in all things ye are made rich in him [8] in [d] all kinde of ſpeach, and in all knowledge:

6 [9] As the teſtimonie of Ieſus Chriſt hath bene [e] confirmed in you:

7 So that yee are not deſtitute of any gifte: ✣ [10] wayting for the [f] appearing of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

8 ☆ [11] Who ſhall alſo confirme you vnto the ende, that ye may be [g] blameleſſe in the day of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

9 * God is [h] faithfull, by whom ye are called vnto the fellowſhip of his ſonne Ieſus Chriſt our Lord.

10 [12] Now I beſeech you, brethren, by the Name of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, that [13] yee all ſpeake one thing, and that there be no diſſentions among you: but be yee [i] knit together in one minde, and in one iudgement.

11 [14] For it hath bene declared vnto mee, my brethren, of you by them that are of the houſe of Cloe, that there are contentions among you.

12 Now [k] this I ſay, that euery one of you ſaith, I am Pauls, and I am ✣ Apollos, and I am Cephas, and I am Chriſts.

13 [15] Is Chriſt diuided? was [16] Paul crucified for you? either were ye [17] baptized into the name of Paul?

14 [18] I thanke God, that I baptized none of you, but ✣ Criſpus, and Gaius, 15 Leaſt any ſhould ſay, that I had baptized into mine owne name.

16 I baptized alſo the houſhold of Stephanas: furthermore know I not, whether I baptized any other.

17 [19] For CHRIST ſent me not to baptize, but to preach the Goſpel, [20] not with ∵ [l] wiſedome of words, leaſt the [21] croſſe of Chriſt ſhould be made of none effect.

[1] The inſcription of the Epiſtle, wherein he chiefely goeth about to procure the good will of the Corinthians towards him, yet notwithſtanding ſo, that alwayes he letteth them to wit, that he is the ſeruant of God, and not of men.

[2] If he be an Apoſtle, then hee muſt be heard, although he ſometimes reprehend them ſharpely, ſeeing hee hath not his owne cauſe in hand, but is a meſſenger that bringeth the commandements of Chriſt.

[3] He ioyneth Soſthenes with himſelfe, that this doctrine might be confirmed by two witneſſes.

[4] It is a Church of God, although it hath great faults in it, ſo that it obey them which admoniſh it. ✣ Actes 15, 9. 1. Theſſ. 4, 7.

[5] A true definition of the Catholique Church, which is one. [a] The father ſanctifieth vs, that is to ſay, ſeparateth vs from the wicked, in giuing vs to his Sonne, that hee may be in vs, and we in him. ✣ Rom. 1, 7. epheſ. 1, 1. coloſſ. 1, 22. 2. Tim. 1, 9. Titus 2, 3. [b] Whom God of his gracious goodnes and meere loue hath ſeparated for himſelfe: or whom God hath called to holineſſe: the firſt of theſe two expoſitions ſheweth from whence our ſanctification commeth, and the ſecond ſheweth to what ende it tendeth. ✣ 2. Tim. 1, 21. [c] He is ſaid properly to call on God, who crieth vnto the Lord when hee is in danger, and craueth helpe at his handes: and by the figure Synecdoche it is taken for all the ſeruice of God: and therefore to call vpon Chriſtes Name, is to acknowledge and take him for very God. [6] The foundation and the life of the Church, is Chriſt Ieſus giuen of the Father. [7] Going about to condemne many vices, hee beginneth with a true commendation of their vertues, leaſt hee might ſeeme after to deſcend to chiding being mooued with malice or enuie: yet ſo, that hee referreth all to God as the authour of them, and that in Chriſt. That the Corinthians might be more aſhamed to prophane and abuſe the holy gifts of God. [8] He toucheth that by name, which they moſt abuſed. [d] Seeing that whiles wee liue here, wee knowe but in part and prophecie in part, this worde (All) muſt be reſtrained to the preſent ſtate of the faithfull: but by ſpeach hee meaneth not a vaine kinde of babbling, but the gift of holy eloquence, which the Corinthians abuſed. [9] He ſheweth that the true vſe of theſe giftes conſiſteth herein that the mightie power of Chriſt might thereby be ſet forth in them, that hereafter it might euidently appeare how wickedly they abuſed them to glory and ambition. [e] By thoſe excellent gifts of the holy Ghoſt. ✣ Titus 2, 11. Philip. 3, 20. [10] He ſayeth by the way, that there is no cauſe why they ſhould pleaſe themſelues ſo much in thoſe giftes which they had receiued, ſeeing that thoſe were nothing in compariſon of them which are to bee looked for. [f] Hee ſpeaketh of the laſt comming of Chriſt. ☆ 1. Theſ. 3, 13. and 5, 23. [11] Hee teſtifieth that he hopeth well of them hereafter, that they may more patiently abide his reprehenſion afterwarde. And yet together therewithall ſheweth, that as well the beginning as the accompliſhing of our ſaluation is onely the worke of God. [g] He calleth them blameleſſe, not whome man neuer found fault with, but with whome no man can iuſtly finde fault, that is to ſay, them which are in Chriſt Ieſus, in whome there is no condemnation. See Luke 1, 6. * 1. Theſ. 5, 24. [h] True and conſtant, who doeth not onely call vs, but giueth vs the gift of perſeuerance alſo. [12] Hauing made an end of the preface, hee commeth to the matter it ſelfe, beginning with a moſt graue obteſtation, as though they ſhould heare Chriſt himſelfe ſpeaking and not Paul.

[13] The firſt part of this Epiſtle, wherein his purpoſe is to call back the Corinthians to brotherly concord, and to take away all occaſion of diſcord. So then this firſt part concerneth the taking away of ſchiſmes. Now a ſchiſme is when men which otherwiſe agree and conſent together in doctrine, doe yet ſeparate themſelues one from another. [i] Knit together, as a bodie that conſiſteth of all his partes fitly knit together.

[14] He beginneth his reprehenſion and chiding by taking away of an obiection: for that he vnderſtood by good witneſſes, that there were many factions among them. And therewithall he openeth the cauſe of diſſentions, becauſe that ſome did hang on one doctor, ſome on another, and ſome were ſo addicted to themſelues, that they neglected all doctours and teachers, calling themſelues the diſciples of Chriſt onely, ſhutting forth their teachers. [k] The matter I would ſay to you, is this. ✣ Acts 18, 24. [15] The firſt reaſon why ſchiſmes ought to be eſchewed: becauſe Chriſt ſeemeth by that meanes, to be deuided and torne in pieces, who cannot be the head of two diuers and diſagreeing bodies, beeing himſelfe one. [16] Another reaſon: Becauſe they cannot without great iniurie to God ſo hang of men as of Chriſt: which thing no doubt they doe, which allow whatſoeuer ſome man ſpeaketh, euen for his perſons ſake: as theſe men allowed one ſelfe ſame Goſpell beeing vttered of one man, and did loathe it being vttered of another man. So that theſe factions were called by the names of their teachers. Now Paul ſetteth downe his owne name not onely to grieue no man, but alſo to ſhewe that he pleadeth not his owne cauſe. [17] The third reaſon taken of the forme and end of Baptiſme, wherein we make a promiſe to Chriſt, calling on alſo the Name of the Father and the holy Ghoſt. Therefore although a man doe not fall from the doctrine of Chriſt, yet if hee hang vpon ſome certaine teachers, and diſpiſe others, he forſaketh Chriſt: for if hee hold Chriſt his onely maſter, hee woulde heare him, teaching by whomſoeuer. [18] Hee proteſteth that hee ſpeaketh ſo much the more boldly of theſe things, becauſe that through Gods prouidence hee is void of all ſuſpition of chalenging diſciples vnto himſelfe, and taking them from others. Whereby wee may vnderſtand that not the ſchollers onely, but the teachers alſo are heere reprehended, which gathered themſelues flockes apart. ✣ Acts 18, 8. [19] The taking away of an obiection: that hee gaue not himſelfe to baptize many amongſt them: not for the contempt of Baptiſme, but becauſe hee was chiefly occupied in deliuering the doctrine, and committed them that receiued his doctrine to others to be baptized, whereof he had ſtore. And ſo hee declared ſufficiently how farre hee was from all ambition: whereas on the other ſide they whome hee reprehendeth, as though they gathered diſciples vnto themſelues and not vnto Chriſt, bragged moſt ambitiouſly of numbers, which they had baptized. [20] Now hee turneth himſelfe to the doctours themſelues, which pleaſed themſelues in braue and ambitious eloquence, to the ende that they might drawe more diſciples after them. Hee confeſſeth plainely that hee was vnlike vnto them, oppoſing grauely as it became an Apoſtle, his example againſt their peruerſe iudgements: So that this is another place of this Epiſtle, touching the obſeruing of a godly ſimplicitie, both in wordes and ſentence in teaching of the Goſpell. ∵ Chap. 2, 13. 2. Pet. 1, 16. [l] With eloquence: which Paul caſteth off from him not only, as not neceſſarie, but alſo as flat contrarie to the office of his Apoſtleſhip: and yet had Paul his kind of eloquence, but it was heauenly, not of man, and voide of painted wordes. [21] The reaſon why hee vſed not the pompe of words, and painted ſpeach: becauſe it was Gods will to bring the worlde to his obedience by that way, whereby the moſt idiots amongſt men might vnderſtand, that this worke was done of God himſelfe without the arte of man. Therefore as ſaluation is ſet foorth vnto vs in the Goſpell by the croſſe of Chriſt, then which nothing is more contemptible, and more farre from life, ſo God would haue the manner of the preaching of the croſſe moſt different from thoſe meanes, with which men doe vſe to drawe and entiſe other, either to heare or beleeue: therefore it pleaſed him by a certaine kind of moſt wiſe folly, to triumph ouer the moſt fooliſh wiſdome of the world, as he had ſaid before by Eſay: that he would. And hereby we may gather, that both thoſe doctours which were puffed vp with ambitious eloquence, and alſo their hearers ſtrayed farre away from the end and marke of their vocation.

18 For that [m] preaching of the croſſe is to them that periſh, fooliſhneſſe: but vnto vs, which are ſaued, it is the ✠ [n] power of God.

19 [22] For it is written, ✠ I will deſtroy the wiſedome of the wiſe, and will caſt away the vnderſtanding of the prudent.

20 Where is the wiſe? where is the [o] Scribe? where is the [p] diſputer of this world? hath not God made the wiſedome of this world fooliſhneſſe?

21 [23] For ſeeing the [q] worlde by wiſedome knew not God in the [r] wiſedome of GOD, [24] it pleaſed God by the [ſ] fooliſhneſſe of preaching to ſaue them that beleeue:

22 ✱ [25] Seeing alſo that the Iewes require a ſigne, and the Grecians ſeeke after wiſedome.

23 But wee preach Chriſt crucified: vnto the Iewes, euen a ſtumbling blocke, and vnto the Grecians, fooliſhneſſe:

24 But vnto them which are called, both of the Iewes and Grecians, we preach Chriſt, the power of God, and the wiſedome of God.

25 For the fooliſhneſſe of God is wiſer then men, and the weakeneſſe of God is ſtronger then men.

26 [26] For brethren, you ſee your [t] calling, how that not many wiſe men [u] after the fleſh, not many mightie, not many noble are called.

27 But God hath choſen the fooliſh things of the world to confound the wiſe, and God hath choſen the weake things of the world, to confound the mighty things, 28 And vile things of the world, and things which are deſpiſed, hath God choſen, and things which [x] are not, to bring to [y] nought things that are.

m The preaching of Chriſt crucified, or the kinde of ſpeach which we vſe.

n It is that wherein he declareth his marueilous power in ſauing his elect, which would not ſo euidently appeare, if it hanged vpon any helpe of man: for ſo man might attribute that to himſelfe, which is proper onely to the croſſe of Chriſt.

22 The Apoſtle prooueth that this ought not onely not to ſeeme ſtrange, ſeeing that it was foretold ſo long before, but declareth further, that God is wont to puniſh the pride of the world in ſuch ſort, which ſo pleaſeth it ſelfe in it owne wiſedome: and therefore that that is vaine, yea a thing of nothing, and ſuch as God reiecteth as vnprofitable, which they ſo carefully laboured for, and made ſo great account of.

o Where art thou, O thou learned fellow, and thou that ſpendeſt thy dayes in turning thy bookes?

p Thou that ſpendeſt all thy time in ſeeking out the ſecret things of this world, and in expounding all hard queſtions: and thus triumpheth hee againſt all the men of this world, for there was not one of them that could ſo much as dreame vpon this ſecret and hidden myſterie.

23 He ſheweth that the pride of men was worthily puniſhed of GOD, becauſe they would not behold God, as meete was they ſhould, in the moſt cleare glaſſe of the wiſedome of the worlde, which is the workemanſhip of the worlde.

q By the world hee meaneth all men which are not borne anewe, but remaine as they were, when they were firſt borne.

r In the workemanſhip of this world, which hath the marueilous wiſedome of God ingraued in it, ſo that euery man may beholde it.

24 The goodneſſe of God is wonderfull, for while hee goeth about to puniſh the pride of the world, he is very prouident and carefull, for the ſaluation of it, and teacheth men to become fooles, that they may be wiſe to God.

ſ So calleth the preaching of the Goſpel as the enemies ſuppoſed it: but in the meane ſeaſon he taunteth them very ſharpely, who had rather charge God with folly, then acknowledge their owne and craue pardon for it.

25 A declaration of that which he ſaid that the preaching of the Goſpel, is fooliſh. It is fooliſh, ſaith he, to them whom God had not indued with new light, that is to ſay, to all men, being conſidered in themſelues: for the Iewes require miracles, and the Grecians arguments, which they may comprehend by their wit and wiſedome: and therefore they doe not onely not beleeue the Goſpel, but alſo they mocke at it. Notwithſtanding in this fooliſh preaching, there is the great vertue and wiſedome of God, but ſuch as thoſe onely which are called, doe perceiue. God ſhewing moſt plainely, that euen then when madde men thinke him moſt fooliſh, he is farre wiſer then they are: and that he ſurmounteth all their might and power, when he vſeth moſt vile and abiect things, as it hath appeared in the fruite of the preaching of the Goſpell.

26 A confirmation taken of thoſe things which came to paſſe at Corinth, where the Church eſpecially conſiſted of the baſeſt and common people, inſomuch that the philoſophers of Greece were driuen to ſhame, when they ſaue that they could doe nothing with their wiſedome and eloquence, in compariſon of the Apoſtles, whom notwithſtanding they called Idiots and vnlearned. And herewithall doeth hee beate downe their pride, for God did not preferre them before thoſe noble and wiſe men becauſe they ſhould be proud, but that they might be conſtrained euen whether they would or not, to reioyce in the Lorde, by whoſe mercie, although they were the moſt abiects of all, they had obtained in Chriſt, both this wiſedome, and all things neceſſarie to ſaluation.

t What way the Lorde hath taken in calling you.

u After that kind of wiſedome which men make account of, as though there were none elſe: who becauſe they are carnall, know not ſpirituall wiſedome.

x Which in mans iudgement are almoſt nothing.

y To ſhew that they are vaine and vnprofitable, and nothing worth, See Romanes 3, 31.

29 That no [z] fleſh ſhould reioyce in his preſence.

30 But ye are [a] of him in Chriſt Ieſus, [27] who of God is made vnto vs wiſedome and righteouſneſſe, and ſanctification, and redemption.

31 That, according as it is written, ✠ [b] He that reioyceth, let him reioyce in the Lord.

z Fleſh is oft as we ſee, taken for the whole man: and he vſeth this word fleſh, very fitly, to ſet the weake and miſerable condition of man and the maieſtie of God, one againſt the other.

a Whom hee caſt downe before, now he lifteth vp, yea, higher then all men: yet ſo, that he ſheweth them that all their worthineſſe is without themſelues, that is, ſtandeth in Chriſt, and that of God.

27 He teacheth that eſpecially and aboue all things, the Goſpel ought not to be contemned, ſeeing it conteineth the chiefeſt things that are to be deſired, to wit, true wiſedome, the true way to obtaine righteouſneſſe, the true way to liue honeſtly and godly, the true deliuerance from all miſeries and calamities.

b Let him yeeld all to God and giue him thankes: and ſo by this place is mans free will beaten downe, which the Papiſt ſo dreame of.

CHAP. II.

1 He ſetteth downe a platforme of his preaching, 4 which was baſe in reſpect of mans wiſedome, 7, 13 but noble in reſpect of the ſpirituall power and efficacie. 14 And ſo concludeth that fleſh and blood cannot rightly iudge thereof.

AND [1] I, brethren, when I came to you, came not with ✠ excellencie of wordes, or of wiſedome, ſhewing vnto you the [a] teſtimonie of God.

2 For I [b] eſteemed not to knowe any thing among you, ſaue Ieſus Chriſt, and him crucified.

3 ✱ And I was among you in [c] weakeneſſe, and in feare, and in much trembling.

4 Neither ſtood my worde, and my preaching in the ✱ entiſing ſpeech of mans wiſedome, [2] but in plaine [d] euidence of the Spirit and of power.

5 [3] That your faith ſhould not be in the wiſdome of men, but in the power of God.

6 [4] And wee ſpeake wiſedome among them that are [e] perfect: not the wiſedome of this world, neither of the [f] princes of this world, which come to nought.

7 [5] But we ſpeake the wiſedome of God in a [g] myſterie, euen the hid wiſedome, [6] which God had determined before the worlde, vnto our glory.

8 [7] Which none of the princes of this world hath knowen: for had they knowen it, they would not haue crucified the [h] Lord of glory.

1 He returneth to the 17. verſe of the former Chapter, that is to ſay, to his owne example: confeſſing that he vſed not amongſt them either excellencie of words, or entiſing ſpeech of mans wiſdome, but with great ſimplicitie of ſpeech, both knew and preached Ieſus Chriſt crucified, humble and abiect, as touching the fleſh.

b I purpoſed not to profeſſe any other knowledge, but the knowledge of Chriſt and him crucified.

c He ſetteth weakeneſſe, againſt excellencie of wordes, and therefore ioyneth with it feare and trembling, which are the companions of true modeſtie, not ſuch feare and trembling as terrifie the conſcience, but ſuch as are contrary to vanitie and pride.

✱ Chap. 1. 17. 2. Pet. 1, 16.

2 He turneth that now to the commendation of his miniſtery, which he had granted to his aduerſaries: for his vertue and power which they knewe well enough, was ſo much the more excellent, becauſe it had no worldly helpe ioyned with it.

d By playne euidence he meaneth ſuch a proofe, as is made by certaine and neceſſary reaſons.

3 And he telleth the Corinthians, that he did it for their great profite, becauſe they might thereby knowe manifeſtly, that the Goſpell was from heauen. Therefore hee priuily rebuketh them, becauſe that in ſeeking vaine oſtentation, they willingly depriued themſelues of the greateſt helpe of their faith.

4 An other argument taken of the nature of the thing, that is, of the Goſpell, which is true wiſedome, but knowen to them onely which are deſirous of perfection: and is vnſauerie to them which otherwiſe excell in the worlde, but yet vainely and frailly.

e Thoſe are called perfect here, not which had gotten perfection alreadie, but ſuch as tend to it, as Phil. 3, 15. ſo that perfect, is ſet againſt weake.

f They that are wiſer, richer, or mightier then other men are.

5 Hee ſheweth the cauſe why this wiſedome cannot be perceiued of thoſe excellent worldly wittes: to wit, becauſe indeed it is ſo deepe, that they cannot attaine vnto it.

g Which men could not ſo much as dreame of.

6 He taketh away an obiection: if it be ſo harde, when and how is it knowen? God, ſayeth hee, determined with himſelfe from the beginning, that which his purpoſe was to bring foorth at this time out of his ſecretes for the ſaluation of men.

7 He taketh away another obiection: why then, how commeth it to paſſe, that this wiſedome was ſo reiected of men of higheſt authority, that they crucified Chriſt himſelfe? Paul anſwereth, becauſe they knew not Chriſt ſuch as hee was.

h That mightie God, full of true maieſtie and glorie: Now this place hath in it a moſt euident proofe of the diuinitie of Chriſt, and of his ioyning of the two natures in one, which hath this in it, that that which is proper to the manhoode alone, is vouched of the Godhead ioyned with the manhood: which kind of ſpeech is called of the old fathers, a making common of things belonging to ſome one, with other to whom they doe not belong.

9 [8] But as it is written, ✤ The things which eye hath not ſeene, neither eare hath heard, neither came into [i] mans heart, are, which God hath prepared for them that loue him.

10 [9] But God hath reuealed them vnto vs by his Spirit: for the ſpirit [k] ſearcheth all things, yea, the deepe things of God.

11 [10] For what man knoweth the things of a man, ſaue the [l] ſpirit of a man, which is in him? euen ſo the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God.

12 Now wee haue receiueth not the [m] ſpirit of the world, but the Spirit, which is of God, [11] that wee might [n] know the things that are giuen to vs of God.

13 [12] Which things alſo we ſpeake, not in the ✤ wordes which mans wiſedome teacheth, but which the holy Ghoſt teacheth, [o] comparing ſpirituall things with ſpirituall things.

14 [13] But the [p] naturall man perceiueth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are fooliſhneſſe vnto him, neither can hee know them, becauſe they are [q] ſpiritually diſcerned.

15 [14] But he that is ſpirituall, [r] diſcerneth all things: yet [15] he himſelfe is iudged of [ſ] no man.

16 ∵ [16] For who hath knowen the minde of the Lord, that he might [t] inſtruct him? But wee haue the [u] minde of Christ.

8 Another obiection: But how could it be that thoſe wittie men could not perceiue this wiſdome? Paul anſwereth: Becauſe we preach thoſe things which paſſe all mans vnderſtanding.

i Man can not ſo much as thinke of them, much leſſe conceiue them with his ſenſes.

9 A queſtion: if it ſurmount the capacitie of men, how can it be vnderſtood of any man, or how can you declare and preach it? by a peculiar lightning by Gods ſpirit, wherewith whoſoeuer is inſpired, he can enter euen to the very ſecrets of God.

k There is nothing ſo ſecret and hidden in God, but the Spirit of God peareeth into it.

10 He ſetteth that forth by a ſimilitude, which hee ſpake of the inſpiration of the Spirit. As the force of mans wit ſearcheth out things pertaining to man, ſo doeth our mind by that power of the holy Ghoſt, vnderſtand heauenly things. l The minde of man, which is indued with ableneſſe to vnderſtand and iudge. m The Spirit which we haue receiued, doth not teach vs things of this world, but lifteth vs vp to God: and this place teacheth vs againſt the Papiſts, what faith is, from whence it commeth, and what force it is of. 11 That which he ſpake generally, he reſtraineth now to thoſe things which God hath opened vnto vs of our ſaluation in Chriſt: leaſt that any man ſhould ſeparate the Spirit from the preaching of the word and Chriſt: or ſhould thinke that thoſe fantaſticall men are gouerned by the Spirit of God, which wandring beſides the worde, thruſt vpon vs their vaine imaginations for the ſecrets of God. n This word (know) is taken here in his proper ſenſe, for true knowledge, which the Spirit of God worketh in vs. 12 Now he returneth to his purpoſe, and concludeth the argument which hee began verſ 6. and it is thus: the words muſt be applyed to the matter, and the matter muſt be ſet forth with words which are meete and conuenient for it: now this wiſedome is ſpirituall and not of man, and therefore it muſt be deliuered by a ſpirituall kinde of teaching, and not by entiſing wordes of mans eloquence, that the ſimple, and yet wonderfull maieſtie of the holy Ghoſt may therein appeare. ✤ Chap. 1,17. 2. pet. 1,16. o Applying the words vnto the matter, to wit, that as wee teach ſpirituall things, ſo moſt our kinde of teaching be ſpirituall. 13 Againe he preuenteth an offence or ſtumbling blocke: how commeth it to paſſe that ſo fewe allow theſe things? This is not to be marueiled at, ſayeth the Apoſtle, ſeeing that men in their naturall powers (as they termed them) are not indued with that facultie, whereby ſpirituall things are diſcerned (which facultie commeth another way) and therefore they accompt ſpirituall wiſedome as folly: and it is as if he ſhould ſay, It is no maruaile that blinde men cannot iudge of colours, ſeeing that they lacke the light of their eyes, and therefore light is to them as darkeneſſe. p The man that hath no further light of vnderſtanding then that which he brought with him, euen from his mothers wombe, as Iude defineth it, Iude 19. q By the vertue of the holy Ghoſt. 14 He amplifieth the matter by contraries. r Vnderſtandeth and diſcerneth. 15 The wiſedome of the fleſh, ſaith Paul, determined nothing certainely, no not in it owne affaires, much leſſe can it diſcerne ſtrange, that is ſpirituall things. But the Spirit of God, wherewith ſpirituall men are indued, can be deceiued by no meanes, and therefore be reprooued of no man. ſ Of no man: for when the Prophets are iudged of the Prophets, it is the Spirit that iudgeth, and not the man. ∵ Eſa. 40,13. rom. 11,34. 16 A reaſon of the former ſaying: for he is called ſpirituall: which hath learned that by the vertue of the Spirit, which Chriſt hath taught vs. Now if that which we haue learned of that Maſter, could be reprooued of any man, hee muſt needes be wiſer then God: whereupon it followeth, that they are not onely fooliſh, but alſo wicked, which thinke that they can deuiſe ſome thing that is either more perfect, or that they can teach the wiſedome of God a better way then they knewe or taught, which vndoubtedly, were indued with Gods Spirit. t Lay his head to his, and teach him what he ſhould doe. u We are indued with the Spirit of Chriſt, who openeth vnto vs thoſe ſecrets, which by all other meanes are vnſearchable, and alſo all trueth whatſoeuer.

CHAP. III.

1 He yeeldeth a reaſon why hee preached ſmall matters vnto them: 4 He ſheweth how they ought to eſteeme of Miniſters: 6 The miniſters office. 10 A true forme of edifying. 16 He warneth the Corinthians, that they be not drawen away to prophane things, 18 through the proud wiſdome of the fleſh.

AND [1] I could not ſpeake vnto you, brethren, as vnto ſpirituall men, but as vnto a carnall, euen as vnto babes in Chriſt.

2 I gaue you milke to drinke, and not [b] meate: for ye were not yet [c] able to beare it, neither yet now are ye able.

3 For ye are yet carnall; for whereas there is among you enuying, and ſtrife, and diuiſions, are ye not carnall, and walke as [d] men?

4 For when one ſaith, I am Pauls, and another, I am Apollos, are ye not carnall?

5 [2] Who is Paul then? and who is Apollos, but the miniſters by whom yee beleeued, and as the Lord gaue to euery man?

6 [3] I haue planted, Apollos watred, but God gaue the increaſe.

7 So then, neither is hee that planteth any thing, neither he that watreth, but God that giueth the increaſe.

8 And he that planteth, and hee that watreth, are one, ✤ and euery man ſhall receiue his wages, according to his labour.

9 For we together are Gods [e] labourers: yee are Gods husbandry, and Gods building.

10 According to the grace of God giuen to mee, as a skilfull maſter builder, I haue layd the foundation, and another buildeth thereon: [4] but let euery man take heede howe hee buildeth vpon it.

11 [5] For other foundation can no man lay, then that which is laid, which is Ieſus Chriſt

12 [6] And if any man builde on this founda-

1 Hauing declared the worthineſſe of heauenly wiſdom, and of the Goſpel, and hauing generally condemned ỳ blindnes of mans mind, now at length he applieth it particularly to the Corinthians, calling them carnall, that is, ſuch in whom as yet the fleſh preuaileth againſt the Spirit. And he bringeth a double teſtimony of it: firſt, for that he had prooued them to be ſuch, in ſo much that he dealt with them no otherwiſe then with ignorant men, and ſuch as are almoſt babes in the doctrine of godlines: and ſecondly, becauſe they ſhewed indeed by theſe diſſenſions, which ſprang vp by reaſon of the ignorance of the vertue of the Spirit, and heauenly wiſdome, that they had profited very little or nothing.

a He calleth them carnall, which are as yet ignorant: and therefore to expreſſe it the better, he tearmeth them babes. b Subſtantiall meate, or ſtrong meate. c To be fed by me with ſubſtantiall meat: therefore as the Corinthians grew vp in age, ſo the Apoſtle nouriſhed them by teaching, firſt with milke, then with ſtrong meat, which difference was onely but in the manner of teaching. d By the ſquare and compaſſe of mans wit and iudgement. 2 After that hee hath ſufficiently reprehended ambitious teachers, and their fooliſh eſteemers, now hee ſheweth how the true miniſters are to be eſteemed, that wee attribute not vnto them, more or leſſe then wee ought to doe. Therefore hee teacheth vs, that they are they by whome we are brought to faith and ſaluation, but yet as the miniſters of God, and ſuch as doe nothing of themſelues, but God ſo working by them as it pleaſeth him to furniſh them with his gifts. Therefore wee haue not to marke or conſider what miniſter it is that ſpeaketh, but what is ſpoken: and wee muſt depend onely vpon him which ſpeaketh by his ſeruants. 3 He beautifieth the former ſentence, with two ſimilitudes: firſt comparing the companie of the faithfull, to a fielde which God maketh fruitfull, when it is ſowed and watered through the labour of his ſeruants: next, by comparing it to an houſe, which in deede the Lord buildeth, but by the hands of his workemen, ſome of whome, hee vſeth in laying the foundation, others in building of it vp. Now, both theſe ſimilitudes tend to this purpoſe, to ſhewe that all things are wholly accompliſhed by Gods onely authoritie and might, ſo that wee muſt onely haue an eye to him. Moreouer, although that God vſeth ſome in the better part of the worke, we muſt not therefore contemne other, in reſpect of them, and much leſſe may wee diuide, or ſet them apart, (as theſe factious men did) ſeeing that all of them labour in Gods buſineſſe, and in ſuch ſort, that they ſerue to finiſh one ſelfe ſame worke, although by a diuers manner of working, inſomuch that they neede one anothers helpe. ✤ Pſal. 62,12. Galat. 6,5. e Seruing vnder him: Nowe they which ſerue vnder another, doe nothing of their owne ſtrength, but as it is giuen them by grace, which grace maketh them fit to that ſeruice. Looke chap. 15,10. and 2. Cor. 3,6. and all the increaſe that commeth by their labour, doth ſo proceed from God, that no part of the praiſe of it may be giuen to the vnder ſeruant. 4 Now hee ſpeaketh to the teachers themſelues, which ſucceeded him in the Church of Corinth, and in their perſon, to all that were after or ſhall be Paſtours of Congregations, ſeeing that they ſucceed into the labour of the Apoſtles, which were planters and chiefe builders. Therefore hee warneth them firſt, that they perſwade not themſelues that they may build after their owne fantaſie, that is, that they may propound and ſet foorth any thing in the Church, either in matter, or in kinde of teaching, different from the Apoſtles which were the chiefe builders. 5 Moreouer be ſheweth what this foundation is, to wit, Chriſt Ieſus, from which they may not turne away one iote in the building vp of his building. 6 Thirdly, he ſheweth that they muſt take heed that the vpper part of the building be anſwerable to the foundation, that is, that admonitions, exhortations, and whatſoeuer pertaineth to the edifying of the flocke, be anſwerable to the doctrine of Chriſt, as well in matter as in forme: which doctrine is compared to golde, ſiluer, and precious ſtones: of which matter, Eſaias alſo and Iohn in the Reuelation build the heauenly citie. And to theſe are oppoſite, wood, hay, ſtubble, that is to ſay, curious and vaine queſtions or decrees: and beſides to be ſhort, all that kinde of teaching which ſerueth to oſtentation. For falſe doctrines, whereof he ſpeaketh not here, are not ſaid properly to be built vpon this foundation, vnleſſe peraduenture in ſhew onely.

tion, golde, ſiluer, precious ſtones, timber, hay, or ſtubble,

13 7 Euery mans worke ſhallbe made manifeſt: for the day ſhall declare it, becauſe it ſhallbe reuealed by the fire: and the fire ſhall trie euery mans worke of what ſort it is.

14 If any mans worke, that he hath built vpon, abide, he ſhall receiue wages.

15 If any mans worke burne, he ſhall loſe, but 8 he ſhallbe ſaued himſelfe: neuertheleſſe yet as it were by the fire.

16 ✣ 9 Know yee not that yee are the Temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?

17 If any man [f] deſtroy the Temple of God, him ſhall God deſtroy: for the Temple of God is holy, which ye are.

18 10 Let no man deceiue himſelfe: If any man among you ſeeme to be wiſe in this world, let him be a foole, that he may be wiſe.

19 For the wiſedome of this world is fooliſhneſſe with God: for it is written, ♣ He [g] catcheth the wiſe in their owne craftineſſe.

20 ❦ And againe, The Lord knoweth that the thoughts of the wiſe be vaine.

21 11 Therefore let no man [h] reioyce in men: for all things are [i] yours.

22 Whether it be Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or the 12 world, or life, or death, whether they be things preſent, or things to come, euen all are yours, 23 And ye Chriſts, and Chriſt Gods.

7 He teſtifieth, as indeed the trueth is, that all are not good builders, no not ſome of them which ſtand vpon this one and onely foundation: but howſoeuer this worke of euill builders, ſayth he, ſtand for a ſeaſon, yet ſhall it not alwayes deceiue, becauſe that the light of the trueth appearing at length, as day ſhall diſſolue this darknes, and ſhew what it is. And as that ſtuffe is tried by the fire, whether it be good or not, ſo will God in his time by the touch of his Spirit and word, trie all buildings, and ſo ſhall it come to paſſe, that ſuch as be found pure and ſound, ſhall ſtill continue ſo, to the praiſe of the workeman; but they that are otherwiſe, ſhallbe conſumed, and vaniſh away, and ſo ſhall the workman be fruſtrate of the hope of his labour, which pleaſed himſelfe in a thing of nought. 8 He taketh not away hope of ſaluation from the vnskilfull and fooliſh builders, which holde faſt the foundation, of which ſort were thoſe Rethoricians rather then paſtours of Corinth: but he addeth an exception, that they muſt notwithſtanding ſuffer this triall of their worke, and alſo abide the loſſe of their vaine labours. ✣ Chap. 6, 19. 2. Cor. 6, 16. 9 Continuing ſtill in the metaphore of a building, he teacheth vs that this ambition is not onely vaine, but alſo ſacrilegious: For he ſayth that the Church is as it were the Temple of God, which God hath as it were conſecrated vnto himſelfe by his Spirit. Then turning himſelfe to theſe ambitious men: he ſheweth that they profane the Temple of God, becauſe thoſe vaine artes wherein they pleaſe themſelues ſo much, are as he teacheth, ſo many pollutions of the holy doctrine of God, and the puritie of the Church. Which wickedneſſe ſhall not be ſuffered vnpuniſhed. f Defileth it, and maketh it vncleane, being holy: and ſurely they do defile it, by Paul his iudgement, which by fleſhly eloquence defile the puritie of the Goſpel. 10 He concludeth by the contrary, that they profeſſe pure wiſedome in the Church of God, which refuſe and caſt away all thoſe vanities of men, and if they be mocked of the world, it is ſufficient for them that they be wiſe according to the wiſedome of God, and as he will haue them to be wiſe. ♣ Iob 5, 13. g Be they neuer ſo craftie, yet the Lord will take them when he ſhall diſcouer their treacherie. ❦ Pſal. 44, 11. 11 He returneth to the propoſition of the 2 verſe, firſt warning the hearers, that henceforward they eſteeme not as lords, thoſe whom God hath appointed to be miniſters, and not lords of their ſaluation, which thing they doe, that depend vpon men, and not vpon God, that ſpeaketh by them. h Pleaſe himſelfe. i Helps, appointeth for your benefit. 12 He paſſeth from the perſons to the things themſelues, that his argument may be more forcible, yea, hee aſcendeth from Chriſt to the Father, to ſhew vs that wee reſt our ſelues no not in Chriſt himſelfe, in that that he is man, but becauſe he carieth vs vp euen to the Father, as Chriſt witneſſeth of himſelfe euery where, that hee was ſent of his Father, that by this band we may be all knit with God himſelfe.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Bringing in the definition of a true Apoſtle, 7 he ſheweth that humilitie ought rather to be an honour then a ſhame vnto him. 9 Hee bringeth in proofe, whereby it may euidently appeare, 10 that hee neither had care of glory, 11 nor of his bellie. 17 He commendeth Timothie.

LEt 1 a [a] man ſo thinke of vs, as of the miniſters of Chriſt, and diſpoſers of the ſecrets of God:

2 2 And as for the reſt, it is required of the diſpoſers, that euery man be found faithfull.

3 3 As touching me, I paſſe very little to be iudged of you, 4 or of mans [b] iudgement: no, 5 I iudge not mine owne ſelfe.

4 For I know nothing by my ſelfe, yet am I not thereby iuſtified: but he that iudgeth me, is the [c] Lord.

5 6 Therefore ✣ iudge nothing before the time, vntill the Lord come, who will lighten things that are hid in darkeneſſe, and make the counſels of the hearts manifeſt: and then ſhall euery man haue [d] praiſe of God.

6 7 Now theſe things, brethren, I haue figuratiuely applied vnto mine owne ſelfe and Apollos, for your ſakes, that ye might learne [e] by vs, that no man preſume aboue that which is written, that one ſwell not againſt another for any mans cauſe.

7 8 For who ſeparateth thee? and what haſt thou, that thou haſt not receiued? if thou haſt receiued it, why reioyceſt thou, as though [f] thou hadſt not receiued it?

8 9 Now ye are full: now yee are made rich: ye reigne as kings without vs, and would to God ye did reigne, that we alſo might reigne with you.

9 For I thinke that God hath ſet foorth vs the laſt Apoſtles, as men appointed to death, for we are made a [g] gaſing ſtocke vnto the world, and to the Angels, and to men.

10 We are fooles for Chriſtes ſake, and ye are wiſe in Chriſt: we are weake, and ye are ſtrong: ye are honourable, and we are deſpiſed.

11 Vnto this houre we both hunger, and thirſt, and are naked, and are buffeted, and haue no certaine dwelling place.

12 ♣ And labour, working with our owne hands: we are reuiled, and yet we bleſſe: we are perſecuted, and ſuffer it.

13 ❦ We are euill ſpoken of, and we pray: we are made as the [h] filth of the world, the offskowring of all things, vnto this time.

14 10 I write not theſe things to ſhame you, but as my beloued children I admoniſh you.

15 For though ye haue tenne thouſand inſtru-

1 He concludeth the duetie of the hearers towards their miniſters, that they eſteeme them not as lords: and yet notwithſtanding, that they giue eare vnto them, as to them that are ſent from Chriſt, ſent I ſay to this end and purpoſe, that they may receiue as it were at their hands, the treaſure of ſaluation which is drawen out of the ſecrets of God. a Euery man. 2 Laſt of all, he warneth the miniſters that they alſo behaue themſelues not as lords, but as faithfull ſeruants, becauſe they muſt render an account of their ſtewardſhip vnto God.

3 Becauſe in reprehending others, he ſet himſelfe for an example, he vſeth a preoccupation or preuenting of an obiection, and vſing the grauity of an Apoſtle, he ſheweth that he careth not for the contrary iudgements that they haue of him, in that they eſteemed him as a vile perſon, becauſe he did not ſet forth himſelfe as they did. And hee bringeth good reaſons why hee was nothing mooued with the iudgements which they had of him. 4 Firſt, becauſe that that which men iudge in theſe caſes of their owne braines, is no more to be accounted of, then when the vnlearned doe iudge of wiſedome. b Word for word, Day, after the maner of ſpeech of the Cilicians. 5 Secondly, ſayth he, how can you iudge how much or how little I am to be accounted of, ſeeing that I my ſelfe which knowe my ſelfe better then you doe, and which dare profeſſe that I haue walked in my vocation with a good conſcience, dare not yet notwithſtanding chalenge any thing to my ſelfe? for I know that I am not vnblameable, all this notwithſtanding: much leſſe therefore ſhould I pleaſe my ſelfe as you doe. c I permit my ſelfe to the Lordes iudgement. 6 A third reaſon proceeding of a concluſion as it were, out of the former reaſons. It is Gods office, to eſteeme euery man according to his value, becauſe hee knoweth the ſecrets of the heart, which men for the moſt part are ignorant of. Therefore this iudgement perteineth not to you. ✣ Matth. 7, 1. d One could not be praiſed aboue the reſt, but the other ſhould be blamed: and he mentioneth praiſe rather then diſpraiſe, for that the beginning of this ſore was this, that they gaue more to ſome men then meet was. 7 Hauing reiected their iudgement, he ſetteth foorth himſelfe againe as a ſingular example of modeſtie, as one which concealing in this Epiſtle thoſe factious teachers names, doubted not to p downe his owne name and Apollos in their place, and tooke vpon him, as it were, their ſhame: ſo farre was hee from preferring himſelfe to any. e By our example, which choſe rather to take other mens faults vpon vs, then to carpe any by name. 8 Hee ſheweth a good meanes to bridle pride: firſt, if thou conſider how rightly thou exempteſt thy ſelfe out of the number of others, ſeeing thou art a man thy ſelfe: againe, if thou conſider that although thou haue ſome thing more then other men haue, yet thou haſt it not but by Gods bountifulneſſe. And what wiſe man is he that will bragge of anothers goodneſſe, and that againſt God? f There is nothing then in vs of nature, that is worthy of commendation: but all that we haue, we haue it of grace, which the Pelagians and halfe Pelagians will not confeſſe. 9 Hee deſcendeth to a moſt graue mocke, to cauſe theſe ambitious men to bluſh euen againſt their willes. g Hee that will take a right view how like Paul and the Pope are, who lyingly boaſteth that hee is his ſucceſſour, let him compare the delicates of the Popiſh court with Saint Pauls ſtate, as wee ſee it heere. ♣ Actes 20, 34. 1. theſſ. 2, 9. 2. theſſ. 3, 8. ❦ Matth. 5, 44. luke 23, 34. actes 7, 60. h Such as by ſweeping is gathered together. 10 Moderating the ſharpeneſſe of his mocke, hee puteth them in minde to remember of whome they were begotten in Chriſt, and that they ſhould not doubt to followe him for an example, although hee ſeeme vile according to the outward ſhew, in reſpect of others, yet mightie by the efficacie of Gods Spirit, as they had had triall thereof in themſelues.

ctours in Chriſt, yet haue yee not many fathers : for in Chriſt Ieſus I haue begotten you through the Goſpel.

16 Wherefore, I pray you, be followers of mee.

17 For this cauſe haue I ſent vnto you Timotheus, which is my beloued ſonne, and faithfull in the Lord, which ſhall put you in remembrance of my [i] wayes in Chriſt, as I teach euery where in euery Church.

18 [11] Some are puffed vp as though I would not come vnto you.

19 But I will come to you ſhortly, ♣ if the Lord will, and I will know, not the [k] words of them which are puffed vp, but the power.

20 For the kingdome of God is not in word, but in power.

21 [12] What will ye? ſhall I come vnto you with a rod, or in loue, and in the [l] ſpirit of meekneſſe?

CHAP. V.

1 That they haue wincked at him who committed inceſt with his mother in law, 2, 6 hee ſheweth ſhould cauſe them rather to be aſhamed, then to reioyce: 10 Such kinde of wickedneſſe is to be puniſhed with excommunication, 12 leaſt other be infected with it.

IT [1] is heard certeinly that there is fornication among you: and ſuch fornication as is not once named among the Gentiles, that one ſhould haue his fathers wife.

2 [2] And ye are puffed vp, and haue not rather ſorowed, that he which hath done this deed, might be put from among you.

3 [3] For I verely as abſent in bodie, but preſent in [a] ſpirit, haue determined already as though I were preſent, that hee that hath thus done this thing,

4 When yee are gathered together, and my ſpirit, in the [b] Name of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, that ſuch one, I ſay, [4] by the power of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt,

5 [5] Be [c] deliuered vnto Satan, for the [6] deſtruction of the fleſh, that the ſpirit may be ſaued in the day of the Lord Ieſus.

6 [7] Your reioycing [d] is not good: know ye not that a litle leauen leaueneth the whole lumpe?

7 [8] Purge out therefore the olde leauen, that ye may be a new [e] lumpe, as ye are vnleauened: for Chriſt our [f] Paſſeouer is ſacrificed for vs.

8 Therefore let vs keepe the [g] feaſt, not with olde leauen, neither in the leauen of maliciouſneſſe and wickedneſſe: but with the vnleauened bread of ſinceritie and trueth.

9 [9] I wrote vnto you in an Epiſtle, that yee ſhould not company together with fornicatours,

10 And not [h] altogether with the fornicatours of this world, or with the couetous, or with extortioners, or with idolaters: for then ye muſt goe out of the world.

11 But now I haue written vnto you, that yee company not together: if any that is called a brother, be a fornicatour, or couetous, or an idolater, or a railer, or a drunkard, or an extortioner, with ſuch one eat not.

12 [10] For what haue I to doe to iudge them alſo which are without? doe ye not iudge them that are within?

13 But God iudgeth them that are without. Put away therefore from among your ſelues that wicked man.

[1] They are greatly to be reprehended which by ſuffering of wickedneſſe, ſet forth the Church of God to be mocked and ſcorned af the infidels.

[2] There are none more proud, then they that leaſt know themſelues.

[3] Excommunication ought not to be committed to one mans power, but muſt be done by the authoritie of the whole Congregation, after that the matter is diligently examined.

[a] In mind, thought and will.

[b] Calling vpon Chriſt his Name.

[4] There is no doubt but that iudgement is ratified in heauen, wherein Chriſt himſelfe ſitteth as Iudge.

[5] The excommunicate is deliuered to the power of Satan, in that, that he is caſt out of the houſe of God.

[c] What it is to be deliuered to Satan, the Lord himſelfe declareth when he ſaith, Let him be vnto thee as an Heathen and Publican, Matth. 18, 17. that is to ſay, to be diſfranchiſed, and put out of the right and libertie of the citie of Chriſt, which is the Church, without which Satan is lord and maſter.

[6] The end of excommunication is not to caſt away the excommunicate, that he ſhould vtterly periſh, but that hee may be ſaued, to wit, that by this meanes his fleſh may be tamed, that he may learne to liue to the Spirit.

[7] Another end of excommunication is, that other be not infected, and therefore it muſt of neceſſitie be retained in the Church, that the one be not infected by the other.

[d] Is naught, and not grounded vpon good reaſon, as though you were excellent, and yet there is ſuch wickedneſſe found amongſt you.

[8] By alluding to the ceremonie of the Paſſeouer, hee exhorteth them to caſt out that vncleane perſon from amongſt them. In times paſt, ſayeth hee, it was not lawfull for them which did celebrate the Paſſeouer, to eate leauened bread: inſomuch that hee was holden as vncleane and vnwoorthie to eat the Paſſeouer, whoſoeuer had but taſted of leauen. Nowe our whole life muſt be as it were the feaſt of vnleauened bread, wherein all they that are partakers of that immaculate Lambe which is ſlaine, muſt caſt out both of themſelues, and alſo out of their houſes and Congregations all impuritie.

[e] By lumpe he meaneth the whole body of the Church, euery member whereof muſt be vnleauened bread, that is, be renewed in ſpirit, by plucking away the olde corruption.

[f] The Lambe of our Paſſeouer.

[g] Let vs leade our whole life, as it were a continuall feaſt, honeſtly and vprightly.

[9] Now he ſpeaketh more generally; and that which hee ſpake before of the inceſtuous perſon, he ſheweth that it perteineth to others, which are knowen to be wicked, and ſuch as through their naughtie life are a ſlander to the Church, which ought alſo by lawfull order be caſt out of the communitie of the Church. And making mention of eating of meat, either he meaneth thoſe feaſts of loue whereat the Supper of the Lord was receiued, or els their common vſage and maner of life which is rightly to be taken, leaſt any man ſhould thinke that either matrimonie were broken by excommunication, or ſuch dueties hindered and cut off thereby, as wee owe one to another: children to their parents, ſubiects to their rulers, ſeruants to their maſters, and neighbour to neighbour, to win one another to God.

[h] If you ſhould vtterly abſteine from ſuch mens company, you ſhould goe out of the world: therefore I ſpeake of them which are in the very boſome of the Church, which muſt be called home by diſcipline, and not of them which are without, with whom you muſt labour by all meanes poſſible, to bring them to Chriſt.

[10] Such as are falſe brethren, ought to be caſt out of the Congregation: as for them which are without, they muſt be left to the iudgement of God.

CHAP. VI.

1 He inueigheth againſt their contention in law matters, 6 wherewith they vexed one another vnder iudges that were infidels, to the reproach of the Goſpel, 9 and then ſharpely threatneth fornicatours.

DAre [1] [a] any of you, hauing buſineſſe againſt another, be iudged [b] vnder the vniuſt, [2] and not vnder the Saints?

2 [3] Doe yee not know that the Saints ſhall iudge the world? If the world then ſhallbe iudged by you, are yee vnworthie to iudge the ſmalleſt matters?

3 Know ye not that we ſhall iudge the Angels? how much more things that perteine to this life?

4 [4] If then yee haue [c] iudgements of things perteining to this life, ſet them vp which are [d] leaſt eſteemed in the Church.

5 [5] I ſpeake it to your ſhame. Is it ſo that there is not a wiſe man among you? no, not one, that can iudge betweene his brethren?

6 But a brother goeth to law with a brother, and that vnder the infidels.

7 [6] Nowe therefore there is altogether

[1] The third queſtion is of ciuill iudgements: Whether it be lawfull for one faithfull to draw another faithfull before the iudgement ſeat of an infidell? He anſwereth that it is not lawfull, for offence ſake, for it is not euill of it ſelfe.

[a] As if hee ſayd, Are ye become ſo impudent, that you are not aſhamed to make the Goſpel a laughing ſtocke to profane men?

[2] He addeth that hee doeth not forbid that one neighbour may goe to law with another, if need ſo require, but yet vnder holy iudges.

[3] Hee gathereth by a compariſon that the faithfull can not ſeeke to infidels to be iudged, without great iniurie done to the Saints, ſeeing that God himſelfe will make the Saints iudges of the world, and of the deuils, with his Sonne Chriſt: much more ought they to iudge theſe light and ſmall cauſes: which may be by equitie, and good conſcience, determineth.

[4] The concluſion, wherein he preſcribeth a remedie for this miſchiefe: to wit, if they end their priuate affaires betwixt themſelues by choſen arbiters out of the Church: for which matter and purpoſe, the leaſt of you, ſayth he, is ſufficient. Therefore he condemneth not iudgement ſeats, but ſheweth what is expedient for the circumſtance of the time, and that without any diminiſhing of the right of the magiſtrate: for hee ſpeaketh not of iudgements which are practiſed betweene the faithfull and the infidels, neither of publique iudgements, but of controuerſies which may be ended by priuate arbiters.

[d] Euen the moſt abiect among you.

[5] He applieth the generall propoſition to a particular, alwayes calling them backe to this, to take away from them that falſe opinion of their owne excellencie, from whence all theſe miſchiefs ſprang.

[6] Now hee goeth further alſo, and although by granting them priuate arbiters out of the Congregation of the faithfull, he doth not ſimply condemne, but rather eſtabliſh priuate iudgements, ſo that they be excerciſed without offence, yet he ſheweth that if they were ſuch as they ought to be, and as it were to be wiſhed, they ſhould not need to vſe that remedie neither.

[e] infirmitie in you, that yee goe to law one with another: [7] ✤ why rather ſuffer ye not wrong? why rather ſuſtaine ye not harme?

8 ✤ Nay, ye your ſelues doe wrong, and doe harme, and that to your brethren.

9 Know ye not that the vnrighteous ſhall not inherite the kingdome of God? [8] Be not deceiued: neither fornicatours, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor wantons, nor buggerers,

10 Nor theeues, nor couetous, nor drunkards, nor railers, nor extortioners ſhall inherit the kingdome of God.

11 And ſuch were ⁖ ſome of you: but yee are waſhed, but ye are ſanctified, but yee are iuſtified, in the [f] Name of the Lord Ieſus, and by the Spirit of our God.

12 ¶ * [9] [g] All things are lawfull vnto me, but all things are not profitable. I may doe all things, but I will not be brought vnder the [h] power of any thing.

13 [10] Meates are ordeined for the bellie, and the bellie for the meates: but God ſhall deſtroy both it, and them. Now the body is not for fornication, but for the Lord, and the Lord for the body.

14 And God hath alſo raiſed vp the Lord, and * ſhall raiſe vs vp by his power.

15 [11] Know yee not, that your bodies are the members of Chriſt? ſhall I then take the members of Chriſt, and make them the members of an harlot? God forbid.

16 [12] Doe yee not know, that he which coupleth himſelfe with an harlot, is one body? * for [i] two, ſaith he, ſhallbe one fleſh.

17 But he that is ioyned vnto the Lord, is one ſpirit.

e A weakeneſſe of mind which is ſaid to be in them that ſuffer themſelues to be ouercome of their luſts, and it is a fault that ſquarueth greatly from temperancie and moderation, ſo that he nippeth them which could not put vp an iniurie done vnto them.

7 This partaineth chiefly to the other part of the reprehenſion, to wit, that they went to law euen vnder infidels, whereas they ſhould rather haue ſuffered any loſſe, then to haue giuen that offence. But yet this is generally true, that we ought rather depart from our right, then trie the vttermoſt of the Law haſtily, and vpon an affection to reuenge an iniurie But the Corinthians cared for neither, and therefore he ſaith that they muſt repent, vnleſſe they will be ſhut out of the inheritance of God.

✤ Matth. 5, 39. luke 6, 29. rom. 12, 19.

✤ 1. Theſſ. 4, 6.

8 Now he prepareth himſelfe to paſſe ouer to the fourth treatiſe of this Epiſtle, which concerneth matters indifferent: debating this matter firſt, how men may well vſe women or not: which queſtion hath three branches fornication, matrimonie, and a ſingle life. As for fornication, he vtterly condemneth it. And marriage he commandeth to ſome, as a good and neceſſary remedy for them, to other hee leaueth it free: And other ſome he diſſwadeth from it, not as vnlawfull, but as diſcommodious, and that not without exception. As for ſingleneſſe of life (vnder which alſo I comprehend virginitie) he inioyneth it to no man: yet he perſwadeth men vnto it, but not for it ſelfe, but for another reſpect, neither all men nor without exception. And being about to ſpeake againſt fornication, he beginneth with a generall reprehenſion of thoſe vices, wherewith that rich and riotous citie moſt abounded: warning and teaching them earneſtly, that repentance is vnſeparably ioyned with forgiueneſſe of ſinnes, and ſanctification with iuſtification. ⁖ Tit. 3, 3. f In Ieſus. * Chap. 10, 23 9 Secondly, hee ſheweth that the Corinthians doe ſimply offend in matters indifferent. Firſt, becauſe they abuſed them: next, becauſe they vſed indifferent things, without any diſcretion, ſeeing the vſe of them ought to be brought to the rule of charitie: and that he doeth not vſe them aright, which immoderately abuſeth them, and ſo becommeth a ſlaue vnto them. g Whatſoeuer: but this generall word muſt be reſtrained to things that are indifferent. h Hee is in ſubiection to things that are indifferent, whatſoeuer he be that thinketh he may not be without them, which is a flattering kinde of ſlauery vnder a colour of libertie, which ſealeth vpon ſuch men. 10 Secondarily, becauſe they counted many things for indifferent which were of themſelues vnlawfull, as fornication, which they numbred amongſt meere naturall and lawfull deſires, as well as meate and drinke: Therefore the Apoſtle ſheweth, that they are vtterly vnlike: for meates, ſaith hee, were made for the neceſſary vſe of mans life, which is not perpetuall. For both meates, and all this maner of nouriſhing are quickely aboliſhed. But we muſt not ſo thinke of the vncleanneſſe of fornication, for which the body is not made, but on the contrary ſide is ordeined to pureneſſe, as appeareth by this, that it is conſecrated to Chriſt, euen as Chriſt alſo is giuen vs of his Father, to quicken our bodies with that vertue wherewith hee alſo roſe againe. * Rom. 6, 5. 11 A declaration of the former argument by contraries, and the applying of it. 12 A proofe of the ſame argument: A harlot and Chriſt are cleane contrary, ſo are the fleſh and the Spirit: therefore hee that is one with an harlot, (which is done by carnall copulation of their bodies) cannot be one with Chriſt, which vnitie is pure and ſpirituall. * Gen. 2, 24. mat. 19, 5. mar. 10, 8. epheſ. 5, 31. i Moſes doeth not ſpeake theſe words of fornication, but of marriage: but ſeeing that fornication is the corrupting of marriage, and both of them is a carnall and fleſhly copulation, we cannot ſay that the Apoſtle abuſeth his teſtimony. Againe, Moſes hath not this word (Two) but it is very well expreſſeth both here and in Matthew 19, 5. becauſe he ſpeaketh onely but of man and wife: wherevpon the opinion of them that vouch it to be lawfull to haue many wiues, is beaten downe: for he that companieth with many, is ſundred as it were into many parts

18 [13] Flee fornication: euery ſinne that a man doeth, is without the body: but hee that committeth fornication ſinneth againſt his owne body.

19 [14] Knowe yee not, that ✤ your body is the temple of the holy Ghoſt, which is in you, whom ye haue of God? and [15] ye are not your owne.

20 ✤ For yee are bought for a price: therefore glorifie God in your body, and in your ſpirit: for they are Gods.

13 Another argument why fornication is to be eſchewed, becauſe it defileth the body with a peculiar kinde of filthines.

14 The thirde argument: Becauſe a fornicatour is ſacrilegious, for that our bodies are conſecrate to God. ✤ Chap. 3, 17. 2. Cor. 6, 16. 15 The fourth argument: Becauſe we are not our owne men, to giue our ſelues to any other, much leſſe to Satan and the fleſh, ſeeing that God himſelfe hath bought vs, and that with a great price, to the ende that both in body and ſoule, wee ſhould ſerue to his glory. ✤ Chap. 7, 13. 1. pet. 1, 18.

CHAP. VII.

Intreating here of marriage, 4 which is a remedie againſt fornication, 10 and may not be broken, 18, 20 he willeth euery man to liue contented with his lot. 25 He ſheweth what the ende of virginitie ſhould be, 35 and who ought to marry.

NOwe [1] concerning the things [a] whereof yee wrote vnto me, It were [b] good for a man not to touch a woman.

2 Neuertheleſſe, to auoyd fornication, let euery man haue his wife, and let euery woman haue her owne husband.

3 ⁖ [2] Let the husband giue vnto the wife [c] due beneuolence, and likewiſe alſo the wife vnto the husband.

4 [3] The wife hath not the power of her owne body, but the husband: & likewiſe alſo the husband hath not the power of his owne body, but the wife.

5 Defraud not one another, [4] except it be with conſent for a time, that yee may [d] giue your ſelues to faſting and prayer, and againe come together, that Satan tempt you not for your incontinencie.

6 [5] But I ſpeake this by permiſſion, not by commandement.

7 For I [e] would that all men were euen as I my ſelfe am: but euery man hath his proper gift of God, one after this maner, and another after that.

8 [6] Therefore I ſay vnto the [f] vnmaried, and vnto the widowes, It is good for them if they abide euen as I doe.

9 But if they can not abſtaine, let them marrie: for it is better to marrie then to [g] burne.

10 * [7] And vnto the maried I cōmand, not I, but the Lord, Let not the wife depart from her husband.

11 But and if ſhe depart, let her remaine vnmaried, or be reconciled vnto her husband, and let not the husband put away his wife.

12 [8] But to the remnant I ſpeake, and not the Lord, If any brother haue a wife that beleeueth not, if ſhe be content to dwell with him, let him not forſake her.

13 And the woman which hath an husband that beleeueth not, if he be content to dwell with her, let her not forſake him.

1 Hee teacheth concerning marriage, that although a ſingle life hath his commodities, which he will declare afterwards, yet that marriage is neceſſarie for the auoiding of fornication: but ſo that neither one man may haue many wiues, or any wife many husbands.

a Touching thoſe matters whereof you wrote vnto me.

b Commodious, and (as we ſay) expedient. For marriage bringeth many griefs with it, and that by reaſon of the corruption of our firſt eſtate.

⁖ 1. Pet. 3, 7.

2 Secondly, hee ſheweth that the parties married, muſt with ſingular affection entirely loue one the other.

c This word (due) conteineth all kind of beneuolence, though he ſpeake more of one ſort then of the other, in that that followeth.

3 Thirdly, he warneth them that they are each in others power, as touching the body, ſo that they may not defraud one another. 5 Hee addeth an exception, vnleſſe the one abſtaine from the other by mutuall conſent, that they may the better giue themſelues to prayer, wherein notwithſtanding, hee warneth them to conſider what is expedient, leaſt by this long breaking off as it were from marriage, they be ſtirred vp to incontinencie. d Do nothing els. 5 Fiftly, he teacheth that marriage is not ſimply neceſſary for all men, but for them which haue not the gift of continency, and this gift is by a peculiar grace of God. e I wiſh. 6 Sixtly, he giueth the ſelfe ſame admonition touching the ſecond marriage, to wit, that a ſingle life is to be allowed, but for ſuch as haue the gift of continencie: otherwiſe they ought to marrie againe, that their conſcience may be at peace. f This whole place is flat againſt them which condemne ſecond mariages. g So to burne with luſt, that either the will yeeldeth to the temptation, or els we cannot call vpon God with a quiet conſcience. * Mat. 5, 32. and 19, 9. mar. 10, 11, 12. luke 16, 18. 7 Seuently, he forbiddeth contentions and publiſhing of diuorces (for he ſpeaketh not heere of the fault of whoredome, which was then death euen by the law of the Romans alſo) whereby hee affirmeth that the hand of marriage is not diſſolued, and that from Chriſt his mouth. 8 Eightly, he affirmeth that thoſe marriages which are already contracted betweene a faithfull, and an vnfaithfull or infidell, are firme, ſo that the faithfull may not forſake the vnfaithfull, 14 [9] For the vnbeleeuing husband is [h] ſanctified to the [i] wife, and the vnbeleeuing wife is ſanctified to the [k] husband, elſe were your children vncleane: but now are they [l] holy.

15 [10] But if the vnbeleeuing depart, let him depart: a brother or a ſiſter is not in ſubiection in [m] ſuch things: [11] but God hath calleth vs in peace.

16 For what knoweſt thou, O wife, whether thou ſhalt ſaue thine husband? Or what knoweſt thou, O man, whether thou ſhalt ſaue thy wife?

17 [12] But as God hath diſtributeth to euery man, as the Lord [n] hath called euery one, ſo let him walke: and ſo ordaine I in all Churches.

18 [13] Is any man called being circumciſed? let him not [o] gather his vncircumciſion: is any called vncircumciſed? let him not be circumciſed.

19 Circumciſion is nothing, and vncircumciſion is nothing, but the keeping of the commandements of God.

20 ✣ Let euery man abide in the ſame vocation wherein he was called.

21 Art thou called being a ſeruant? [p] care not for it: but if yet thou mayeſt be free, vſe it rather.

22 For he that is called in the [q] Lord, being a ſeruant, is the Lords freeman: likewiſe alſo he that is called being free, is Chriſtes ſeruant.

23 ‡ [14] Yee are bought with a price: be not the ſeruants of men.

24 [15] Brethren, let euery man, wherein he was called, therein abide with [r] God.

25 [16] Now concerning virgins, I haue no commandement of the Lord: but I giue mine [s] aduiſe, as [t] one that hath obtained mercie of the Lord to be faithfull.

26 I ſuppoſe then [u] this to be good for the [x] preſent neceſſitie: I meane that it is good for a man ſo to be.

9 He anſwereth an obiection: But the faithfull is defiled by the ſocietie of the vnfaithfull. The Apoſtle denieth that, and prooueth that the faithfull man with good conſcience may vſe the veſſel of his vnfaithfull wife, by this that their children which are borne of them, are accounted holy (that is, conteined within the promiſe) for it is ſaid to all the faithfull, I will be thy God, and the God of thy ſeed.

h The godlineſſe of the wife is of more force, to cauſe their coupling together to be accounted holy, then the infidelitie of the husband is, to prophane the marriage.

i The infidell is not ſanctified or made holy in his owne perſon, but in reſpect of his wife, hee is ſanctified to her.

k To the faithfull husband.

l This place deſtroyeth the opinion of them that would not haue children to be baptized, and their opinion alſo, that make baptiſme the very cauſe of ſaluation. For the children of the faithfull are holy, by vertue of the couenant, euen before Baptiſme, and baptiſme is added as the ſeale of that holineſſe. 10 He anſwereth to a queſtion: what if the vnfaithfull forſake the faithfull? then is the faithfull free, ſayth he, becauſe he is forſaken of the vnfaithfull. m When any ſuch thing falleth out. 11 Leaſt any man vpon pretence of this libertie ſhould giue occaſion to the vnfaithfull to depart, hee giueth to vnderſtand, that marriage contracted with an infidel, ought peaceably to be kept, that if it be poſſible the infidel may be wonne to the faith. 12 Taking occaſion by that which he ſayd of the bondage and libertie of matrimonie, he digreſſeth to a generall doctrine concerning the outward ſtate and condition of mans life, as Circumciſion and vncircumciſion, ſeruitude and libertie: warning euery man generally to liue with a contented minde in the Lord, what ſtate or condition ſoeuer hee be in, becauſe that thoſe outward things, as to be circumciſed or vncircumciſed, to be bond or free, are not of the ſubſtance (as they terme it) of the kingdome of heauen. n Hath bound him to a certaine kinde of life. 13 Notwithſtanding hee giueth vs to vnderſtand, that in theſe examples all are not of like ſort: becauſe that circumciſion is not ſimply of it ſelfe to be deſired, but ſuch as are bound may deſire to be free. Therefore herein onely they are equall, that the kingdome of God conſiſteth not in them, and therefore theſe are no hinderance to obey God. o *He is ſaid to gather his vncircumciſion, who by the helpe of a Chirurgian recouereth an vpper skinne: which is done by the drawing the skinne with an inſtrument, to make it to couer the nut. 27 Art thou bound vnto a wife? ſeeke not to be looſed: art thou looſed from a wife? ſeeke not a wife.

28 But if thou takeſt a wife, thou ſinneſt not: and if a virgine marrie, ſhe ſinneth not: neuertheleſſe, ſuch ſhall haue trouble in the [y] fleſh: but I [z] ſpare you.

29 And this I ſay, brethren, becauſe the time is [a] ſhort, hereafter that both they which haue wiues, be as though they had none:

30 And they that [b] weepe, as though they wept not: and they that reioyce, as though they reioyced not: and they that buy, as though they poſſeſſed not:

31 And they that vſe this [c] world, as though they vſed it not: for the [d] faſhion of this world goeth away.

33 But hee that is married, [e] careth for the things of the worlde, howe hee may pleaſe his wife.

34 There is difference alſo betweene a virgine and a wife: the vnmarried woman careth for the things of the Lord, that ſhe may be holy, both in body and in [f] ſpirit: but ſhe that is married, careth for the things of the world, how ſhe may pleaſe her husband.

35 And this I ſpeake for your owne [g] commoditie, not to tangle you in a ſnare, but that ye follow that which is honeſt, and that ye may cleaue faſt vnto the Lord without ſeparation.

CHAP. VIII.

1 From this place vnto the end of the tenth Chapter, hee willeth them not to be at the Gentiles profane bankets. 18 He reſtraineth the abuſe of Chriſtian libertie, 11 and ſheweth that knowledge muſt be tempered with charitie.

AND as [1] touching things sacrificed vnto idols, wee know that wee [a] all haue knowledge: knowledge [b] puffeth vp, but loue [c] edifieth.

2 Now, if any man thinke that hee knoweth any thing, he knoweth nothing, yet as he ought to know.

3 But if any man loue God, the same is knowen of him.

4 [2] Concerning therefore the eating of things sacrificed vnto [d] idoles, we knowe that an idole is [e] nothing in the world, and that there is none other God but one.

5 For though there be that are called gods, whether in heauen, or in earth (as there be many gods, and many lords.)

6 Yet vnto vs there is but one God, which is that Father, [f] of whom are all things, and we [g] in him, and ✤ [h] one Lord Iesus Christ, [i] by whom are all things, and we by him.

7 [3] But euery man hath not that knowledge: for [4] many hauing [k] conscience of the idole, vntill this houre, eate as a thing sacrificed vnto the idole, and so their conscience being weake, is defiled.

8 [5] But meate maketh vs not acceptable to God, for neither if we eate, haue we the more: neither if we eate not, haue we the lesse.

9 But take heede least by any meanes this power of yours be an occasion of falling, to them that are weake.

10 [6] For if any man see thee which hast knowledge, sit at table in the idoles temple, shall not the conscience of him which is weake, be boldened, to eat those things which are sacrificed to idoles?

1 Hee entreth to entreate of an other kind of things indifferent, to wit, of things offered to idoles, or the vse or flesh so offered and sacrificed. And first of all hee remoueth all those things which the Corinthians pretended in vsing things offered to idoles without any respect. First of all they affirmed that this difference of meates was for vnskilfull men, but as for them, they knew well enough the benefit of Christ, which causeth all these things to be cleane to them that are cleane. Be it so saith Paul: be it that we are all sufficiently instructed in the knowledge of Christ. I say notwithstanding that we must non simplie rest in this knowledge. The reason is that vnlesse our knowledge be tempered with charitie, it doeth not onely not auaile, but also doeth much hurt, because it is the mystreise of pride: nay it doeth not so much as deserue the name of godly knowledge, if it be separate from the loue of God and therefore from the loue of our neighbour. a This generall worde is to be abridged as appeareth verse 7 for there is a kinde of taunt in it, as wee may perceiue by the next verse. b Ministreth occasion of vanitie and pride: because it is voyde of charitie. c Instructed our neighbour.

2 The application of that answere to things offered to idoles: I graunt, sayeth hee that an idole is in deede a vaine imagination, and that there is but one God and Lord. herefore that meate cannot be made holy or prophane by the idole: but it followeth not therefore that a man may without respect vse those meates as any other. d This worde (Idole) in this place is taken for an image which is made to represent some godhead, that worship might be giuen vnto it: whereupon came the worde (idolatrie) that is to say, Image seruice. e It is a vaine dreame. f When the Father is distinguished from the Sonne, Hee is named the beginning of all things. g Wee haue our being in him. ✤ Iohn 13, 13. chapter 12, 3. h But as the Father is called Lord, so is the Sonne, God: therefore this worde (One) doeth not respect the persons, but the natures. i This worde (By) doeth not signifie the instrumentall cause, but the efficient: For the Father and the Sonne worke together, which is not so to be taken, that wee make two causes, seeing they haue both but one nature though they be distinct persons.

3 The reason why that followeth not, is this: because there are many men which doe not know that which you know. Now the iudgements of outward things depend not onely vpon your conscience, but vpon the conscience of them that behold you, and therefore your actions must be applied not onely to your knowledge, but also to the ignorance of your brethren. 4 An applying of the reason, There are many which cannot eate of things offered to idoles, but with a wauering conscience, because they thinke them to be vncleane: therefore if by thy example they enterprise to doe that which inwardly they thinketh displeaseth God, their conscience is defiled with this eating, and thou hast bene the occasion of this mischiefe. k By conscience of the idole, hee meaneth the secret iudgement that they had within themselues, whereby they thought all things vncleane, that were offered to idoles, and therefore they could not vse them with good conscience. For this force hath conscience, that if it be good, it maketh things indifferent good, and if it be euill, it maketh them euill. 5 A preuenting of an obiection: Why then, shall we therefore be depriued of our libertie? Nay saith the Apostle, you shall lose no part of Christianitie although you absteine for your brethrens sake, as also if you receiue the meate, it maketh you no whit the more holy, for our commendation before God consisteth not in meates: but to vse our libertie with offence of our brethren, is an abuse of libertie, the true vse whereof is cleane contrary, to wit, so to vse it, as in vsing of it wee haue consideration of our weake brethren. 6 An other plainer explication of the same reason, propounding the example of the sitting downe at the table in the idoles temple, which thing the Corinthians did euill accompt of among things indifferent, because it is simply forbidden for the circumstance of the place, although offence doe cease, as it shall be declared in his place.

11 [7] And through thy knowledge shall the ✤ weake brother perish, for whom Christ died.

12 [8] Now when yee sinne so against the brethren, and wound their weake conscience, yee sinne against Christ.

13 ✤ [9] Wherefore if meate offende my brother, I will eate no flesh while the world standeth, that I may not offend my brother.

7 An amplification of the argument taken both of comparison and contraries: Thou wretched man, saith he, pleasing thy selfe with thy knowledge which indeede is none (for if thou haddest true knowledge, thou wouldest not sitte downe to meate in idoles temple) wilt thou destroy thy brother, hardning his weake conscience by this example to doe euill, for whose saluation Christ himselfe hath dyed? ✤ Rom. 14, 15. 8 An other amplification: Such offending of our weake brethren redoundeth vnto Christ, and therefore let not these men thinke that they haue to doe onely with their brethren. ✤ Rom. 14, 21. 9 The conclusion, which Paul conceiueth in his owne person, that he might not seeme to exact that of other, which hee will not be first subiect vnto himselfe. I had rather (saith hee) absteine for euer from all kinde of flesh, then giue occasion of sinne to any of my brethren, much lesse would I refuse in any certaine place or time for my brothers sake not to eate flesh offered to idoles.

CHAP. IX.

1 He declareth, that from the libertie which the Lord gaue him, 15 he willingly absteined, 18, 22 least in things indifferent hee should offend any. 24 He sheweth that our life is like vnto a race.

AM [1] I not an Apostle? am I not free? [a] haue I not seene Iesus Christ our Lord? are ye not my worke [a] in the Lord?

2 If I be not an Apostle vnto other, yet doubtlesse I am vnto you: for ye are the [b] seale of mine Apostleship in the Lord.

3 [3] My defence to him that [c] examine mee, is this,

4 [4] Haue we not power to [d] eate and to drink?

5 Or haue we not power to lead about a wife being a [e] sister, as well as the rest of the Apostles, and as the brethren of the Lord, and Cephas?

6 Or I onely and Barnabas, haue not we power [f] not to worke?

7 [5] Who [g] goeth a warfare any time at his owne cost? who planteth a vineyarde, and eateth not of the fruit thereof? or who feedeth a flocke, and eateth not of the milke of the flocke?

8 [6] Say I these things [h] according to man? saith not the Law the same also?

9 For it is written in the Lawe of Moses, ✤ Thou shalt not mussell the mouth of the oxe that treadeth out the corne: doeth God take care for [i] oxen?

10 Either sayeth hee it not altogether for our sakes? For our sakes no doubt it is written, that he which eareth, should eare in hope, and that hee that thresheth in hope, should be partaker of his hope.

1 Before he proceedeth any further in his proposed matter of things offered to idoles he would shew the cause of all this mischiefe, and also take it away: to wit, that the Corinthians thought themselues not bound to depart from a iote of their libertie for any mans pleasure. Therefore he propoundeth himselfe for an example and that in a matter almost necessarie. And yet he speaketh seuerally of both, but first of his owne person. If (saith he) you alleadge for your selues that you are free, and therefore will vse your libertie, am I not also free, seeing I am an Apostle?

3 He prooueth his Apostleship by the effectes, in that that he was appointed of Christ himselfe, and the authoritie of his function was sufficiently confirmed to him amongst them by their conuersion. And all these things he setteth before their eyes, to make them ashamed for that they would not in the least wise that might be, debase themselues for the weakes sake, whereas the Apostle himselfe did all that hee could to winne them to God when they were vtterly reprobate and without God. a By the Lord. b As a seale whereby it appeareth sufficiently that God is the authour of my Apostleship. 3 Hee addeth this by the way, as if he would say, So far it is off, that you may doubt of my Apostleship, that I vse to refute them which call it into controuersie, by opposing those things which the Lord hath done by me amongst you. c Which like Iudges examine mee and my doings. 4 Now touching the matter it selfe, he saith, Seeing that I am free, and truely an Apostle, why may not I (I say not, eate of all things offered to idoles) but be maintained by my labours, yea and keepe my wife also, as the residue of the Apostles lawfully doe, as by name, Iohn and Iames, the Lords cousins, and Peter himselfe? d Vpon the expense of the Church? e One that is a Christian and a true beleeuer? f Not to liue by the worke of our hands? 5 That hee may not seeme to burden the Apostles, hee sheweth that it is iust that they doe, by an argument of comparison, seeing that souldiers liue by their wages, and husbandmen by the fruites of their labours, and shepheards by that that commeth of their flockes. g Vseth to goe a warfare? 6 Secondly hee bringeth foorth the authoritie of Gods institution by an argument of comparison. h Haue I no better ground then the common custome of men? ✤ Deut. 25, 4. 1.Tim. 5, 18. i Was it Gods proper drift to prouide for oxen, when he made this Law? for otherwise there is not the smallest thing in the world, but God hath a care of it.

11 ♣ [7] If wee haue ſowen vnto you ſpirituall things, is it a great thing if wee reape your carnall things?

12 [8] If others with you be partakers of this [k] power, are not we rather? neuertheleſſe, we haue not vſed this power: but ſuffer all things, that we ſhould not hinder the Goſpell of Chriſt.

13 [9] Doe ye not knowe, that they which miniſter about the ‡ holy things, eate of the [l] things of the Temple? and they which waite at the altar, are [m] partakers with the altar?

14 So alſo hath the Lord ordeined, that they which preach the Goſpel, ſhould liue [n] of yͤ Goſpel.

15 But I haue vſed none of theſe things: [10] neither wrote I theſe things, that it ſhould be ſo done vnto me: for it were better for me to die, then that any man ſhould make my reioycing vaine.

16 For though I preach the Goſpel, I haue nothing to reioyce of: for neceſſitie is laid vpon me, and woe is vnto me, if I preach not the Goſpel.

17 For if I doe it willingly, I haue a reward, but if I doe it againſt my will, notvvithſtanding the diſpenſation is committed vnto me.

18 What is my reward then? verely that when I preach the Goſpel, I make the Goſpel of Chriſt [o] free, that I abuſe not mine authority in yͤ Goſpel.

19 For though I be free from all men, yet haue I made my ſelfe ſeruant vnto all men, that I may winne the moe.

20 ✠ And vnto the Iewes, I become as a Iewe, that I may winne the Iewes: to them that are vnder the [p] Law, as though I vvere vnder the Lawe, that I may winne them that are vnder the Lawe:

21 To them that are without Lawe, as though I vvere without Lawe, (when I am not without Lawe as pertaining to God, but am in the Lawe through Chriſt) that I may winne them that are without Lawe:

22 To the weake I become as weake, that I may winne the weake: I am made all things to [q] all men, that I might by all meanes ſaue ſome.

23 And this I doe for the Goſpels ſake, that I might be partaker thereof with [r] you.

24 [11] Knowe ye not, that they which runne in a race, runne all, yet one receiueth the price? ſo runne that ye may obtaine.

25 And euery man that prooueth maſteries, [ſ] abſtaineth from all things: and they doe it to obtaine a corruptible crowne: but we for an vncorruptible.

26 I therefore ſo runne, not as vncertainly: ſo fight I, not as one that beateth the ayre.

27 But I beate downe my [t] body, and bring it into ſubiection, leaſt by any meanes after that I haue preached to other, I my ſelfe ſhould be [u] reprooued.

♣ Rom. 15, 27.

7 An aſſumption of the argument with an amplification, for neither in ſo doing do we require a reward meete for our deſerts.

8 Another argument of great force other are nouriſhed amongſt you, therefore it was lawfull for me, yea rather for me then any other: and yet I refuſed it, and had rather ſtill ſuffer any diſcommoditie, then the Goſpel of Chriſt ſhould be hindered.

Nowe, moreouer and beſides that theſe things are fitly ſpoken againſt them which frequented idoles feaſtes, the ſame alſo ſeeme to be alleaged to this ende and purpoſe, becauſe many men are thus minded, that thoſe things are not of ſuch great weight, that God will be angry with them if they vſe them, ſo that they frequent Chriſtian aſſemblies and be baptized, and receiue the Communion, and confeſſe Chriſt.

10 He taketh away occaſion of ſuſpition by the way, that it might not be thought that he wrote this as though he challenged his wages that was not payed him. Nay ſayth hee, I had rather die, then not continue in this purpoſe to preach the Goſpel freely. For I am bound to preach the Goſpel, ſeeing that the Lord hath inioyned me this office: but vnleſſe I doe it willingly and for the loue of God, nothing is to be allowed that I doe. If I had rather that the Goſpel ſhould be euill ſpoken of, then that I ſhould not require my wages, then would it appeare that I tooke theſe paines not ſo much for the Goſpels ſake, as for my gaines and aduantages. But I ſay, this were not to vſe, but abuſe my right and libertie. Therefore not onely in this thing, but alſo in all other (as much as I could) I am made all things to all men, that I might winne them to Chriſt, and might together with them be wonne to Chriſt. o By taking nothing of them to whom I preach it. ✠ Acts 16, 3. gala. 2, 3. p The word (Law) in this place, muſt be reſtrained to the ceremoniall Law. q In matters that are indifferent, which may be done or not done with a good conſcience: as if he ſayd, I changed my ſelfe into all faſhions, that by all meanes, I might ſaue ſome. r That both I and they to whom I preach the Goſpel, may receiue fruit by the Goſpel. 11 He bringeth in another cauſe of this miſchiefe, to wit, that they were giuen to gluttonie, for there were ſolemne bankets of ſacrifices, and the riote of the Prieſts was alwayes too much celebrated and kept. Therefore it was hard for them which were accuſtomed to righteouſneſſe, eſpecially when they pretended the libertie of the Goſpel, to be reſtrained from theſe bankets: but contrariwiſe, the Apoſtle calleth them by a pleaſant ſimilitude, and alſo by his owne example, to ſobrietie and mortification of the fleſh, ſhewing that they cannot be fit to runne or wreſtle (as then the games of Olimpies were) which pamper vp their bodies, and therefore affirming that they can haue no reward, vnleſſe they take another courſe and trade of life. ſ Vſeth a moſt exquiſite diet.

14 Wherefore my beloued, flee from idolatrie.

15 [5] I ſpeake as vnto them which haue vnderſtanding: iudge ye what I ſay.

16 The cup of [n] bleſſing which wee bleſſe, is it not the [o] communion of the blood of Chriſt? The bread which wee breake, is it not the communion of the body of Chriſt?

17 For wee that are many, are one bread and one body, becauſe wee all are partakers of one bread.

18 Beholde Iſrael, which is after the [p] fleſh: are not they which eate of the ſacrifices [q] partakers of the Altar?

19 What ſay I then? that the idole is any thing? or that that which is ſacrificed to idoles, is any thing?

20 Nay, but that the things which the Gentiles ſacrifice, they ſacrifice to deuils, and not vnto God: and I would not that ye ſhould haue [r] fellowſhip with the deuils.

21 Yee cannot drinke the cup of the Lord, and the [ſ] cup of the deuils. Ye cannot be partakers of the Lords table, and of the table of the deuils.

22 Do we prouoke the Lord to anger? are we ſtronger then he?

23 ✠ [6] [t] All things are lawfull for mee, but all things are not expedient: all things are lawfull for me, but all things edifie not.

24 Let no man ſeeke his owne, but euery man anothers wealth.

25 [7] Whatſoeuer is ſolde in the [u] ſhambles, eate ye, and asked no queſtion for conſcience ſake.

26 ✠ For the earth is the Lords, and [x] all that therein is.

27 If any of them which beleeue not, call you to a feaſt, and if ye will go, whatſoeuer is ſet before you, eate, asking no queſtion for conſcience ſake.

28 But if any man ſay vnto you, This is ſacrificed vnto idoles, eate it not, becauſe of him that ſhewed it, and for the conſcience (for the earth is the Lords, and all that therein is.)

29 And the conſcience, I ſay, not thine, but of that other: [8] for why ſhould my libertie be condemned of another mans conſcience?

30 For if I through Gods [y] benefit be partaker, why am I euill ſpoken of, for that wherefore I giue thankes?

31 ✠ [9] Whether therefore ye eate, or drinke, or whatſoeuer ye doe, do all to the glory of God.

32 Giue none offence, neither to the Iewes, nor to the Grecians, nor to the Church of God:

33 Euen as I pleaſe all men in all things, not ſeeking mine owne profite, but the profit of many, that they might be ſaued.

[m] He that would haue you tempted for your profites ſake, will giue you an iſſue to eſcape out of the tentation.

[5] Now returning to thoſe idoles feaſtes, that he may not ſeeme to dally at all, firſt he promiſeth that hee will vſe no other reaſons then ſuch as they knew very well themſelues. And he vſeth an induction borowed of the agreement that is in the things themſelues. The holy bankets of the Chriſtians are pledges, firſt of all of the communitie that they haue with Chriſt, and next, one with another. The Iſraelites alſo do ratifie in their ſacrifices, their mutuall coniunction in one ſelfe ſame religion: therefore ſo doe the idolaters alſo ioyne themſelues with their idoles or deuils rather (for idoles are nothing) in thoſe ſolemne bankets, whereupon it followeth, that that table is a table of deuils, and therefore you muſt eſchew it: For you can not be partakers of the Lord and of idoles together, much leſſe may ſuch bankets be accounted for things indifferent. Will yee then ſtriue with God? and if you doe, thinke you that you ſhall get the vpperhand?

[n] Of thankeſgiuing: whereupon, that holy banket was called Euchariſt, that is, a thankeſgiuing.

[o] A moſt effectuall pledge and note of our knitting together with Chriſt, and ingraffing to him.

[p] That is, as yet obſerue their ceremonie.

[q] Are conſenting and guiltie, both of that worſhip and ſacrifice.

[r] Haue any thing to doe with the deuils, or enter into that ſocietie which is begunne on the deuils name.

[ſ] The heathen and prophane people were wont to ſhut vp and make an ende of their feaſtes which they kept to the honour of their gods, in offering meate offerings and drinke offerings to them, with bankets and feaſtings.

✠ Chap. 6, 12.

[6] Comming to another kinde of things offered to idoles, hee repeateth that generall rule, that in the vſe of things indifferent we ought to haue conſideration not of our ſelues onely, but of our neighbours, and therefore there are many things which of themſelues are lawfull, which may be euill done of vs, becauſe of offence to our neighbour.

[t] Looke afore, Chap. 6, 13.

[7] An applying of the rule to the preſent matter: Whatſoeuer is ſolde in the ſhambles, you may indifferently buy it as it were at the Lords hand, and eate it either at home with the faithfull, or being called home to the vnfaithfull, to wit, in a priuate banket: but yet with this exception, vnleſſe any man be preſent which is weake, whoſe conſcience may be offended, by ſetting meates offered to idoles before them: for then you ought to haue conſideration of their weakeneſſe.

[u] The fleſh that was ſacrificed, was vſed to be ſolde in the ſhambles, and the price returned to the prieſts.

[8] A reaſon: for we muſt take heed that our libertie be not euill ſpoken of, and that the benefit of God which we ought to vſe with thankeſgiuing be not changed into impietie, and that through our fault, if wee chuſe rather to offend the conſcience of the weake, then to yeeld a little of our libertie in a matter of no importance, and ſo giue occaſion to the weake to iudge in ſuch ſort of vs, and of Chriſtian libertie. And the Apoſtle taketh theſe things vpon his owne perſon, that the Corinthians may haue ſo much the leſſe occaſion to oppoſe any thing againſt him.

[y] If I may through Gods benefite eate this meate, or that meate, why ſhould I through my fault, cauſe that benefite of God to turne to my blame?

[9] The concluſion: We muſt order our liues in ſuch ſort, that we ſeeke not our ſelues, but Gods glory, and ſo the ſaluation of as many as wee may: wherein the Apoſtle ſticketh not to propound himſelfe to the Corinthians (euen his owne flocke) as an example, but ſo that hee calleth them backe to Chriſt, vnto whom he himſelfe hath regard.

CHAP. XI.

1 He blameth the Corinthians for that in their holy aſſemblies, 4 men doe pray hauing their heads couered, 6 and women bareheaded, and becauſe their meetings tended to euill, 21 who mingled prophane bankets with the holy Supper of the Lord, 23 which he required to be celebrated according to Chriſtes inſtitution.

BE ✠ yee followers of mee, euen as I am of Chriſt:

2 [1] Now brethren, I commend you, that ye remember all my things, and keepe the ordinances, as I deliuered them to you.

3 [2] But I will that yee know, that Chriſt is the ✠ head of euery man: and the man is the womans head: and God is [a] Chriſtes head.

4 [3] Euery [b] man praying or prophecying hauing any thing on his head, diſhonoureth his head.

5 [4] But euery woman that prayeth or prophecieth bareheaded, diſhonoureth her head: [5] for it is euen one very thing, as though ſhe were ſhauen.

6 Therefore if the woman be not couered, let her alſo be ſhorne: and if it be ſhame for a woman to be ſhorne or ſhauen, let her be couered.

7 [6] For a man ought not to couer his head: forasmuch as he is the * image and glory of God: but the woman is the glory of the man.

8 [7] For the man is not of the woman, but the woman of the man.

9 ✠ [8] For the man was not created for the womans ſake: but the woman for the mans ſake.

10 [9] Therefore ought the woman to haue [c] power on her head, becauſe of the [10] Angels.

✠ 2. Theſſ. 3, 9.

[1] The fifth treatiſe of this epiſtle concerning the right ordering of publike aſſemblies conteining three points, to wit, of the comely apparell of men and women, of the order of the Lords Supper, and of the right vſe of ſpirituall gifts. But going about to reprehend certeine things, he beginneth notwithſtanding with a generall praiſe of them, calling thoſe particular lawes of comelines and honeſtie, which belong to the eccleſiaſticall policie, traditions: which afterward they called Canons.

[2] Hee ſetteth downe God, in Chriſt our mediatour, for the ende and marke not onely of doctrine, but alſo of eccleſiaſticall comelineſſe. Then applying it to the queſtion purpoſed touching the comely apparell both of men and women in publike aſſemblies, he declareth that the woman is one degree beneath the man by the ordinance of God, and that the man is ſo ſubiect to Chriſt, that the glory of God ought to appeare in him for the preeminences of the ſexe.

[3] Hereof he gathereth that if men doe either pray or preach in publike aſſemblies hauing their heads couered, (which was then a ſigne of ſubiection) they did as it were ſpoile themſelues of their dignitie, againſt Gods ordinance.

[b] It appeareth that this was a politike law ſeruing onely for the circumſtances of the time that Paul liued in, by this reaſon, becauſe in theſe our dayes for a man to ſpeake bareheaded in an aſſembly, is a ſigne of ſubiection.

[4] And in like ſort he concludeth, that women which ſhew themſelues in publike and eccleſiaſticall aſſemblies without the ſigne and token of their ſubiection, that is to ſay, vncouered, ſhame themſelues.

[5] The firſt argument taken from the common ſence of man, forſomuch as nature teacheth women, that it is diſhoneſt for them to come abroad bareheaded, ſeeing that ſhe hath giuen them thicke and long haire, which they do ſo diligently trimme and decke, that they can in no wiſe abide to haue it ſhauen.

[6] The taking away of an obiection: Haue not men alſo haire giuen them? I grant, ſaith the Apoſtle, but there is another matter in it: For man was made to this ende and purpoſe, that the glory of God ſhould appeare in his rule and authoritie: but the woman was made, that by profeſſion of her obedience, ſhee might more honour her husband.

* Gen. 1. 26. and 5. 1. and 9, 6. coloſ. 3, 10.

[7] He prooueth the inequalitie of the woman, by that that the man is the matter whereof woman was firſt made.

✠ Gene. 2. 22.

[8] Secondly, by that, that the woman was made for man, and not the man for the womans ſake.

[9] The concluſion: Woman muſt be couered, to ſhew by this externall ſigne their ſubiection.

[c] A couering which is a token of ſubiection.

[10] What this meaneth, I doe not yet vnderſtand.

11 [11] Neuertheleſſe, neither is the man without the woman, neither the woman without the man [d] in the Lord.

12 For as the woman is of the man, ſo is the man alſo by the woman: but all things are of God.

13 [12] Iudge in your ſelues, Is it comely that a woman pray vnto God vncouered?

14 Doeth not nature it ſelfe teach you, that if a man haue long haire, it is a ſhame vnto him?

15 But if a woman haue long haire, it is a praiſe vnto her: for her haire is giuen her for a [e] couering.

16 [13] But if any man luſt to be contentious, we haue no ſuch cuſtome, neither the Churches of God.

17 ¶ [14] Now in this that I declare, I prayſe you not, that yee come together, not with profite, but with hurt.

18 [15] For firſt of all, when yee come together in the Church, I heare that there are diſſentions among you: and I beleeue it to be true in ſome part.

19 [16] For there muſt be hereſies euen among you, that they which are [f] approoued among you, might be knowen.

20 When ye come together therefore into one place, this is [g] not to eate the Lords Supper.

21 For euery man when they ſhould eate, taketh his owne ſupper [h] afore, and one is hungry, and another is drunken.

22 [17] Haue ye not houſes to eate and to drinke in? deſpiſe ye the Church of God, and ſhame them that haue not? what ſhall I ſay to you? ſhall I praiſe you in this? I praiſe you not.

23 [18] For I haue receiued of the Lord that which I alſo haue deliuered vnto you, to wit, That the Lord Ieſus in the night when he was betrayed, tooke bread.

24 ✠ And when he had giuen thankes, he brake it, and ſaid, Take, eate: this is my body, which is [i] broken for you: this doe yee in remembrance of me.

25 After the ſame maner alſo he tooke the cup, when he had ſupped, ſaying, This cup is the Newe Teſtament in my blood: this do as oft as ye drinke it, in remembrance of me.

26 For as often as yee ſhall eate this bread, and drinke this cuppe, yee ſhew the Lords death till he come.

27 [19] Wherefore, whoſoeuer ſhall eate this bread, and drinke the cuppe of the Lord [k] vnworthily, ſhall be guiltie of the body and blood of the Lord.

28 ✠ [20] Let [l] euery man therefore examine himſelfe, and ſo let them eate of this bread, and drinke of this cup.

29 For hee that eateth and drinketh vnworthily, eateth and drinketh his owne damnation, becauſe he [m] diſcerneth not the Lords body.

30 [21] For this cauſe many are weake, and ſicke among you, and many ſleepe.

31 For if wee would [n] iudge our ſelues, wee ſhould not be iudged.

32 But when wee are iudged, we are chaſtened of the Lord, becauſe we ſhould not be condemned with the world.

33 [22] Wherefore, my brethren, when yee come together to eate, tary one for another.

34 [23] And if any man be hungry, let him eate at home, that ye come not together vnto condemnation. [24] Other things will I ſet in order when I come.

CHAP. XII.

1 To drawe away the Corinthians from contention and pride, hee ſheweth that ſpirituall gifts are therefore diuerſly beſtowed, 7 that the ſame being joyntly to ech other imployed, 12 wee may grow vp together into one body of Chriſt in ſuch equall proportion and meaſure, 20 as the members of mans body doe.

NOw [1] concerning ſpiritual gifts, brethren, I would not haue you [a] ignorant.

2 [2] Yee knowe that yee were [b] Gentiles, and were caried away vnto the dumbe idoles, as yee were led

3 [3] Wherefore I declare vnto you, that no man ‡ ſpeaking by the ſpirit of God, calleth Ieſus * [c] execrable: alſo no man can ſay that Ieſus is the Lord, but by the holy Ghoſt.

4 [4] Now there are diuerſities of gifts, but the [d] ſame Spirit.

5 And there are diuerſities of adminiſtrations, but the ſame Lord.

6 And there are diuerſities of [e] operations, but

---

[11] A digreſſion which the Apoſtle vſeth, leaſt that which he ſpake of the ſuperior tie of men, and lower degrees of women in conſideration of the policie of the Church, ſhould be ſo taken as though there were no meaſure of this inequalitie. Therefore he teacheth that men haue in ſuch ſort the preeminence, that God made them not alone, but women alſo: and woman was ſo made of man, that men alſo are borne by the meanes of women, and this ought to put them in minde to obſerue the degree of euery ſexe, in ſuch ſort, that mutuall coniunction may be cheriſhed.

[d] By the Lord.

[12] He vrgeth the argument taken from the common ſenſe of nature.

[e] To be a couering for her, and ſuch a couering as ſhould procure another.

[13] Againſt ſuch as are ſtubburnly contentious we haue to oppoſe this, that the Churches of God are not contentious.

[14] Hee paſſeth now to the next treatiſe concerning the right adminiſtration of the Lords ſupper. And the Apoſtle vſeth this ſharper preface that the Corinthians might vnderſtand, that whereas they obſerued generally the Apoſtles commandements, yet they foully neglected them in a matter of greateſt importance.

[15] To celebrate the Lords Supper aright, it is requiſite that there be not onely conſent of doctrine, but alſo of affections, that it be not praphaned.

[16] Although that ſchiſmes and hereſies proceed from the deuill, and are euill, and yet they come not by chance, nor without cauſe, and they turne to the profite of the elect.

[f] Whom experience hath taught to be of ſound Religion and godlineſſe.

[g] This is an vſuall kinde of ſpeech, whereby the Apoſtle denieth that flatly, which many did not well.

[h] Eateth his meate and tarieth not till other come.

[17] The Apoſtle thinketh it good to take away the loue feaſtes, for their abuſe, although they had bene a long time, and with commendation vſed in Churches, and were appointed and inſtituted by the Apoſtles.

[18] Wee muſt take a true forme of keeping the Lords Supper, out of the inſtitution of it, the parts whereof are theſe, touching the Paſtours, to ſhewe foorth the Lords death, by preaching his word: to bleſſe the bread and the wine by calling vpon the name of God, and together with prayers to declare the inſtitution thereof, and finally to deliuer the bread broken to be eaten, and the cuppe receiued to be drunke with thankeſgiuing. And touching the flocke, that euery man examine himſelfe, that is to ſay, to prooue both his knowledge, and alſo faith and repentance: to ſhewe foorth the Lords death, that is, in true faith to yeeld vnto his word and inſtitution: and laſt of all, to take the bread at the Miniſters hand, and to eate it, and to drinke the wine, and giue God thankes: This was Pauls and the Apoſtles manner of miniſtring.

[i] This word (Broken) noteth out vnto vs Chriſt his manner of death, for although his legges were not broken, as the theeues legges were, yet was his body very ſore tormented, and torne, and bruiſed.

[19] Whoſoeuer contemne the holy Sacraments, that is, vſe them not aright, are guiltie not of the bread and wine, but of the thing it ſelfe, that is of Chriſt, and ſhall be grieuouſly puniſhed for it.

✠ 2. Cor. 13,5.

[20] The examination of a mans ſelfe, is of neceſſitie required in the Supper and therefore they ought not to be admitted vnto it, which can not examine themſelues: as children, furious and madde men alſo ſuch as either haue no knowledge of Chriſt, or not ſufficient, although they profeſſe Chriſtians Religion: and others ſuch like.

[m] Hee is ſaid to diſcerne the Lords body, that hath conſideration of the worthineſſe of it, and therefore commeth to eate of this meate with great reuerence.

[21] The prophaning of the body and blood of the Lord in his myſteries, is ſharpely puniſhed of him, and therefore ſuch a miſchiefe ought diligently to be preuented by iudging and correcting of a mans ſelfe.

[n] Try and examine our ſelues, by faith and repentance, ſeparating your ſelues from the wicked.

[22] The Supper of the Lord is a common action of the whole Church, and therefore there is no place, for priuate ſuppers.

[23] The Supper of the Lord was inſtituted not to feed the belly but to feede the ſoule with the communion of Chriſt, and therefore it ought to be ſeparate from common banquets.

[24] Such things as perteine to order, as place, time, forme of prayers, and other ſuch like, the Apoſtle tooke order for in Congregations, according to the conſideration of times, places and perſons.

[1] Now he entreth into the third part of this treatiſe, touching the right vſe of ſpirituall gifts, wherein he giueth the Corinthians plainly to vnderſtand that they abuſed them: for they that excelled, bragged ambiciouſly of them, and ſo robbed God of the praiſe of his gifts: and hauing no conſideration of their brethren abuſed to a vaine oſtentation, and ſo robbed the Church of the vſe of thoſe gifts. On the other ſide, the inferiour ſort enuied the better, and went about to make a departure, ſo that all that body was as it were ſcattered and rent in pieces. So then hee going about to remedie theſe abuſes, willeth them firſt to conſider diligently, that they haue not theſe gifts of themſelues, but from the free grace and liberalitie of God, to whoſe glory they ought to beſtow them all.

[2] He proueth the ſame by comparing their former ſtate with that wherein they were at this time indued with thoſe excellent gifts.

[b] As touching Gods ſeruice and the Couenant, meere ſtrangers.

[3] The concluſion: Know you therefore, that you cannot ſo much as moue your lippes to honour Chriſt withall, but by the grace of the holy Ghoſt.

* Iohn 13,13. chap. 8,6. phil. 2,11.

[c] [illegible] curſe him, or by any meanes whatſoeuer diminiſh his glory.

[4] In the ſecond place, hee layeth another foundation; to wit, that theſe gifts are diuers, as the functions alſo are diuers, and their offices diuers, but that one ſelfe ſame Spirit, Lord and God is the giuer of all theſe gifts, and that to one end, to wit, for the profit of all.

[d] The Spirit is plainely diſtinguiſhed from the gifts.

[e] So Paul calleth that inward force which commeth from the holy Ghoſt, and maketh men fit to wonderfull things.

God is the ſame which worketh all in all.

7 But the manifeſtation of the Spirit is [f] giuen to euery man, to [g] profit withall.

8 [5] For to one is giuen by the Spirit the word of [h] wiſedome: and to another the word of knowledge, by the ſame Spirit:

9 And to another is giuen faith by the ſame Spirit: and to another the gifts of healing, by the ſame Spirit:

10 And to another the [i] operations of great workes: and to another, [k] prophecie: and to another, the [l] diſcerning of ſpirits: and to another, diuerſities of tongues: and to another, the interpretation of tongues.

11 ✤ And all theſe things worketh one and the ſelfe ſame Spirit, diſtributing to euery man ſeuerally [6] as he will.

12 [7] For as the bodie is one, and hath many members, and all the members of the bodie, which is one, though they be many, yet are but one body: [8] euen ſo is [m] Chriſt.

13 For by one Spirit are wee all baptized into [n] one body, whether vve be Iewes, or Grecians, whether vve be bond, or free, and haue bene all made to [o] drinke into one Spirit.

14 [9] For the body alſo is not one member, but many.

15 [10] If the foote would ſay, Becauſe I am not the hand, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?

16 And if the eare would ſay, Becauſe I am not the eye, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?

17 [11] If the whole body vvere an eye, where vvere the hearing? If the whole vvere hearing, where vvere the ſmelling?

18 But nowe hath God diſpoſed the members euery one of them in the body at his owne pleaſure.

19 For if they were all one member, where vvere the bodie?

20 But now are there many members, yet but one body.

21 [12] And the eye cannot ſay vnto the hand, I haue no neede of thee: nor the head againe to the feete, I haue no neede of you.

22 Yea, much rather thoſe members of the bodie, which ſeeme to be [p] more feeble, are neceſſary.

23 And vpon thoſe members of the bodie, which wee thinke moſt vnhoneſt, put wee more [q] honeſtie on: and our vncomely parts haue more comelineſſe on.

24 For our comely parts neede it not: but God hath tempered the body together: and hath giuen the more honour to that part which lacked,

25 Leaſt there ſhould be any diuiſion in the bodie: but that the members ſhould haue the ſame [r] care one for another.

26 [13] Therefore if one member ſuffer, all ſuffer with it: if one member be had in honour, all the members reioyce with it.

27 Now ye are the bodie of Chriſt, and members for your [ſ] part.

28 ✤ And God hath ordained ſome in the Church: as firſt Apoſtles, ſecondly Prophets, thirdly teachers, then them that doe miracles: after that, the gifts of healing, [t] helpers, [u] gouernours, diuerſitie of tongues.

29 Are all Apoſtles? are all Prophets? are all teachers?

30 Are all doers of miracles? haue all the gifts of healing? doe all ſpeake with tongues? doe all interpret?

31 [14] But deſire you the beſt gifts, and I will yet ſhew you a more excellent way.

[f] The holy Ghoſt openeth and ſheweth himſelfe freely in giuing of theſe gifts.

[g] To the vſe and benefit of the Church.

[5] He declareth this manifold diuerſitie, and reckoneth vp the chiefeſt gifts, beating that into their heads, which he ſayd before, to wit, that all theſe things proceeded from one ſelfe ſame Spirit.

[h] Wiſedome is a moſt excellent gift, very requiſite, not onely for them which teach, but alſo for them that exhort and comfort, which thing is proper to the Paſtours office, as the word of knowledge agreeth to the Doctours.

[i] By operation hee meaneth thoſe great workings of Gods mighty power, which paſſe and excell amongſt his miracles, as the deliuery of his people Iſrael by the hand of Moſes: that which hee did by Elias againſt the Prieſts of Baal, in ſendingh downe fire from heauen to conſume his ſacrifice: and that which hee did by Peter in the matter of Ananias and Saphira.

✤ Rom. 12, 3. epheſ. 4, 7.

[6] Hee addeth moreouer ſome thing elſe, to wit, that although theſe gifts are vnequall, yet they are moſt wiſely diuided, becauſe the will of the Spirit of God is the rule of this diſtribution.

[7] He ſetteth foorth his former ſaying by a ſimilitude taken from the body: This ſayeth hee, is manifeſtly ſeene in the bodie, whoſe members are diuers, but yet ſo knit together, that they make but one body.

[8] The applying of the ſimilitude. So muſt wee alſo thinke, ſayeth hee, of the myſticall body of Chriſt: for all wee that beleeue, whether wee be Iewes or Gentiles, are by one ſelfe ſame Baptiſme ioyned together with our head, that by that meanes, there may be framed one body compact of many members: and wee haue drunke one ſelfe ſame ſpirit, that is to ſay, a ſpirituall feeling, perceiuerance and motion common to vs all, out of one cuppe.

[9] Hee amplifieth that which followed of the ſimilitudes, as if hee ſhould ſay, The vnitie of the body is not onely not left by this diuerſitie of members, but alſo it could not be a body, if it did not conſiſt of many, and thoſe were diuers members.

[10] Nowe hee buildeth his doctrine vpon the foundations which hee had layed: and firſt of all hee continueth in his purpoſed ſimilitude, and afterward hee goeth to the matter barely and ſimply. And firſt of all hee ſpeaketh vnto them which would haue ſeparated themſelues from thoſe whome they enuied, becauſe they had not ſuch excellent gifts as they: nowe this is, ſayeth hee, as if the foote ſhould ſay it were not of the body, becauſe it is not the hand: or the eare, becauſe it is not the eye. Therefore all partes ought rather to defend the vnitie of the body, being coupled together to ſerue one the other.

[11] Againe, ſpeaking to them, hee ſheweth them that if that ſhould come to paſſe which they deſire, to wit, that all ſhould be equall one to another, there would followe a deſtruction of the whole body, yea, and of themſelues: for it could not be a body, vnleſſe it were made of many members knit together, and diuers one from the other. And that no man might finde fault with this diuiſion as vnequall, hee addeth that God himſelfe hath coupled all theſe together. Therefore all muſt remaine coupled together, that the body may remaine in ſafety.

[12] Nowe on the other ſide, hee ſpeaketh vnto them which were indued with more excellent gifts, willing them not to deſpiſe the inferiours as vnprofitable, and as though they ſerued to no vſe: for God, ſayeth hee, hath in ſuch ſort tempered this inequalitie, that the more excellent and beautifull members can in no wiſe lacke the more abiect and ſuch as we are aſhamed of, and that they ſhould haue more care to ſee vnto them, and to couer them: that by this meanes the neceſſitie which is on both parts, might keepe the whole body in peace and concord: that although if ech part be conſidered apart, they are of diuers degrees and conditions, yet becauſe that are ioyned together, they haue a communitie both in commodities and diſcommodities.

[q] Wee more carefully couer them.

[r] Should beſtow their operations and offices to the profit and preſeruation of the whole body.

[13] Nowe hee applieth the ſame doctrine to the Corinthians without any allegorie, warning them that ſeeing there are diuers functions and diuers gifts, it is their duetie, not to offend one againſt another, either by enuie or ambition, but rather that they being ioyned together in loue and charitie one with another, euery one of them beſtow to the profit of all, that which hee hath receiued, according as his miniſtery doeth require.

[u] He ſetteth foorth the order of Elders, which were the maintainers of the Churches diſcipline.

[14] Hee teacheth them that are ambitious and enuious, a certaine holy ambition and enuie, to wit, if they giue themſelues to the beſt gifts, & ſuch as are moſt profitable to the Church, and ſo if they contend to excell one another in loue, which ſurpaſſeth all other gifts.

CHAP. XIII.

1 He ſheweth that there are gifts ſo excellent, which in Gods ſight are not corrupt, if Charitie be away: 4 and therefore he digreſſeth vnto the commendation of it.

Though [1] I ſpeake with the tongues of men and [a] Angels, and haue not loue, I am as ſounding braſſe, or a [b] tinkling cymbal.

2 And though I had the gift of prophecie, and knew all ſecrets and all knowledge, yea, if I had all [c] faith, ſo that I could remooue ‡ mountaines, and had not loue, I were nothing.

3 And though I feede the poore with all my goods, and though I giue my body, that I be burned, and haue not loue, it profiteth me nothing.

[1] Hee reaſoneth firſt of Charitie, the excellencie whereof he firſt ſheweth by this, that without it, all other gifts are as nothing before God, which thing he proueth partly by an induction, and partly alſo by an argument taken of the end, wherefore thoſe gifts are giuen. For to what purpoſe are thoſe giftes, but to Gods glory, and the profite of the Church, as is before proued? ſo that thoſe gifts without Charitie, haue no right vſe.

[a] A very earneſt kind of amplifying a matter, as if hee ſayd, If there were any tongues of Angels, and I had them, and did not vſe them to the benefit of my neighbour, it were nothing els but a vaine and pratling kind of babbling.

[b] That giueth a rude and no certaine ſound.

[c] By faith, he meaneth the gift of doing miracles, and not that faith which iuſtified, which cannot be void of Charitie as the other may.

4 [2] Loue [d] ſuffreth long: it is bountifull: loue enuieth not: loue doth not boaſt it ſelfe: it is not puffed vp:

5 It doth [e] no vncomely thing: it ſeeketh not her owne thing: it is not prouoked to anger: it thinketh no euill:

6 It reioyceth not in iniquitie, but [f] reioyceth in the trueth:

7 It ſuffreth all things: it beleeueth all things: it hopeth all things: it endureth all things.

8 [3] Loue doeth neuer fall away, though that prophecyings be aboliſhed, or the tongues ceaſe, or [g] knowledge vaniſh away.

9 [4] For we know in [h] part, and wee prophecie in part.

10 But when that which is perfect, is come, then that which is in part ſhallbe aboliſhed.

11 [5] When I was a childe, I ſpake as a childe: I vnderſtoode as a childe, I thought as a childe: but when I became a man, I put away childiſh things.

12 [6] For [i] nowe we ſee thorow a glaſſe darkely: but then ſhall vvee ſee face to face. Nowe I know in part: but then ſhall I knowe euen as I am knowen.

13 [7] And now abideth faith, hope and loue, euen theſe three: but the chiefeſt of theſe is loue.

2 He deſcribeth the force and nature of charity, partly by a compariſon of contraries, and partly by the effects of it ſelfe: whereby the Corinthians may vnderſtand, both how profitable it is in the Church, and how neceſſary and alſo how farre they are from it: and therefore how vainely and without cauſe they are proud.

d Word for word deferreth wrath.

e It is not contumelious.

f Reioyce that righteouſnes in the righteous. For the Hebrewes meane by truth, righteouſnes.

3 Againe he commendeth the excellencie of charitie, in that that it ſhall neuer be aboliſhed in the Saints, whereas the other gifts which are neceſſary for the building vp of the Church, ſo long as we liue here, ſhall haue no place in the world to come. g The way to get knowledge by prophecying. 4 The reaſon: Becauſe we are now in that ſtate, that wee haue neede to learne dayly, and therefore we haue neede of thoſe helpes, to wit, of the gift of tongues, and knowledge, and alſo of them that teach them. But to what purpoſe ſerue they then, when wee haue obtained and gotten the full knowledge of God, which ſerue now but for them which are imperfit, and goe by degrees to perfection? h We learne imperfectly. 5 He ſetteth foorth that that he ſayd, by an excellent ſimilitude, comparing this life to our infancie or childhood, wherein we ſtagger and ſtammer rather then ſpeake, and thinke and vnderſtand but childiſh things, and therefore haue neede of ſuch things as may forme and frame our tongue and minde: But when we become men, to what purpoſe ſhould wee deſire that ſtammering, thoſe childiſh toyes, and ſuch like things, whereby our childhood is framed by little and little? 6 The applying of the ſimilitude of our childhood to this preſent life, wherein wee darkely behold heauenly things, according to the ſmall meaſure of light which is giuen vs, through the vnderſtanding of tongues, and hearing the teachers and miniſters of the Church: of our mans age and ſtrength, to that heauenly and eternall life, wherein when we behold God himſelfe preſent, and are lightned with his full and perfect light, to what purpoſe ſhould we deſire the voice of man, and thoſe worldly things which are moſt imperfect? But yet then, ſhall all the Saints be knit both with God, and betweene themſelues with muſt feruant loue, and therefore charitie ſhall not be aboliſhed, but perfected, although it ſhall not be ſheweth foorth and entertained by ſuch maner of dueties as peculiarly and onely belong to the infirmitie of this life. i All this muſt be vnderſtood by compariſon. 7 The concluſion: As if the Apoſtle ſhould ſay, Such therefore ſhall be our condition then: but now we haue three things, and they remaine ſure if wee be Chriſtes as without which true religion cannot conſiſt, to wit, faith, hope, and charitie. And among theſe, charitie is the chiefeſt, becauſe it ceaſeth not in the life to come as the reſt doe, but is perfected and accompliſhed. For ſeeing that faith and hope tend to things which are promiſed, and are to come, when wee haue preſently gotten them, to what purpoſe ſhould wee haue faith and hope? but yet there at length ſhall wee truely and perfectly loue both God, and one another.

CHAP. XIV.

1 Hee commendeth the gifts of prophecying: 7 and by a ſimilitude taken of muſicall inſtruments, 12 he teacheth the true vſe of interpreting the Scriptures: 17 hee taketh away the abuſe: 34 And forbiddeth women to ſpeake in the Congregation.

Followe [1] after loue, and couet ſpirituall gifts, and rather that ye may [a] prophecie.

2 [2] For hee that ſpeaketh a ſtrange [b] tongue, ſpeaketh not vnto men, but vnto God: for no man heareth him: howbeit in the [c] ſpirit he ſpeaketh ſecret things.

3 But he that prophecieth, ſpeaketh vnto men to [d] edifying, and to exhortation, and to comfort.

4 He that ſpeaketh ſtrange language, edifieth himſelfe: but hee that prophecieth, edifieth the [e] Church.

5 I would that ye all ſpake ſtrange languages, but rather that yee prophecied: for greater is hee that prophecieth, then hee that ſpeaketh diuers tongues, except hee expound it, that the Church may receiue edification.

6 And now, brethren, if I come vnto you ſpeaking diuers tongues, what ſhall I profit you, except I ſpeake to you, either by reuelation, or by knowledge, or by prophecying, or by doctrine?

7 [3] Moreouer things without life which giue a ſound, whether it be a pipe or an harpe, except they make a diſtinction in the ſounds, how ſhall it be knowen what is piped or harped?

8 And alſo if the trumpet giue an vncertaine ſound, who ſhall prepare himſelfe to battell?

9 So likewiſe you, by the tongue, except yee vtter words that haue [f] ſignification, how ſhall it be vnderſtood what is ſpoken? for ye ſhall ſpeake in the ayre.

10 [4] There are ſo many kinds of voyces (as it commeth to paſſe) in the world, and none of them is dumbe.

11 Except I know then the power of the voice, I ſhalbe vnto him that ſpeaketh a Barbarian, and he that [g] ſpeaketh, ſhalbe a Barbarian vnto me.

12 [5] Euen ſo, foraſmuch as yee couet ſpirituall gifts, ſeeke that ye may excell vnto the edifying of the Church.

13 Wherefore, let him that ſpeaketh a ſtrange tongue, [h] pray that he may interpret.

14 [6] For [i] if I pray in a ſtrange tongue, my [k] ſpirit prayeth: but mine vnderſtanding is [l] without fruit, 15 What is it then? I will pray with the ſpirit, but I will pray with the [m] vnderſtanding alſo: I will ſing with the ſpirit: but I will ſing with the vnderſtanding alſo.

1 a He inferreth now of that, that he ſpake before: Therefore ſeeing charitie is the chiefeſt of all, before all things ſet it before you as chiefe and principall: and ſo eſteeme thoſe things as moſt excellent: which profit the greater part of men: (as prophecie that is to ſay, the gifts of teaching and applying the doctrine, which was contemned in reſpect of other gifts, although it be the chiefeſt and moſt neceſſary for the Church) and not thoſe which for a ſhew ſeeme to be maruellous as the gifts of tongues, when a man was ſuddenly indued with the knowledge of many tongues, which made men greatly amazed, and yet of it ſelfe was not greatly to any vſe, vnleſſe there were an interpreter. a What prophecie is, he ſheweth in the third verſe.

2 He reprehendeth their peruerſe iudgement touching the gift of tongues. For why was it giuen? to wit, to the intent that the myſteries of God might be the better knowen to a great ſort. Thereby it is euident that Prophecie, whereunto the gift of tongues ought to ſerue, is better then this: and therefore the Corinthians did iudge amiſſe, in that they made more account of the gifts of tongues, then of prophecying: becauſe forſouth the gift of tongues was a thing more to be bragged of. And hereupon followed another abuſe of the gift of tongues, in that the Corinthians vſed tongues in the Congregation, without an interpreter. Which thing although it might be done to ſome profit of him, that ſpake them, yet he corrupted the right vſe of that gift, becauſe there came thereby no profit to the hearers: and common aſſemblies were inſtituted and appointed not for any priuate mans commodity, but for the profit of the whole company.

b A ſtrange language, which no man can vnderſtand without an interpreter.

c By that inſpiration which he had receiued of the Spirit, which notwithſtanding he abuſeth, when he ſpeaketh myſteries which none of the company can vnderſtand. d Which may further men in the ſtudie of godlineſſe. e The company. 3 He ſetteth foorth that which he ſaid, by a ſimilitude, which he boroweth and taketh from inſtruments of muſicke, which although they ſpeake not perfectly, yet they are diſtinguiſhed by their ſounds, that they may be the better vſed. f That doe fitly vtter the matter it ſelfe. 4 He proueth that interpretation is neceſſarily to be ioyned with the gift of tongues, by the manifold variety of languages, inſomuch that if one ſpeake to another without an interpreter, it is as if he ſpake not. g As the Papiſts in all their ſermons and they that ambitiouſly powre out ſome Hebrew or Greeke words in the Pulpit before the vnlearned people, thereby to get them a name of vaine learning. 5 The concluſion: if they will excell in thoſe ſpirituall gifts, as it is meet, they muſt ſeeke the profit of the Church, and therefore they muſt not vſe gift of tongues, vnleſſe there be an interpreter to expound the ſtrange and vnknowen tongue, whether it be himſelfe that ſpeaketh, or another interpreter. h Pray for the gift of interpretation. 6 A reaſon: Becauſe it is not ſufficient for vs to ſpeake ſo in the Congregation, that wee our ſelues doe worſhip God in ſpirit, that is, according to the gift that we haue receiued, but we muſt alſo be vnderſtood of the company, leſt that be vnprofitable to other which we haue ſpoken. i If I pray, when the Church is aſſembled together, in a ſtrange tongue. k The gift and inſpiration which the ſpirit giueth me, doth his part, but onely to my ſelfe. l No fruit commeth to the Church by my prayers. m So that I may be vnderſtood of other, and may inſtruct other. 7 An other reaſon: Seeing that the whole Congregation muſt agree to him that ſpeaketh, and alſo witneſſe his agreement, how ſhall they giue their aſſent or agreement which know not what is ſpoken? n Onely without all conſideration of the hearers. o He that ſitteth as a priuate man. p So then one vttered the prayers, and all the company anſwered, Amen.

17 For thou verely giueſt thankes well,but the other is not edified.

18 [8] I thanke my God,I ſpeake languages more then ye all.

19 Yet had I rather in the Church to ſpeake [q] fiue words with mine vnderſtanding,that I might alſo inſtruct others , then ten thouſand words in a ſtrange tongue.

20 [9] Brethren, be not ✤ children in vnderſtanding , but as concerning maliciouſnes be children, but in vnderſtanding be of a ripe age.

21 In the [r] Law it is written, ♣ By men of other tongues,and by other languages will I ſpeake vnto this people : yet ſo ſhall they not heare mee , ſaith the Lord.

22 [10] Wherefore ſtrange tongues are for a ſigne, not to them that beleeue , but to them that beleeue not : but prophecying ſerueth not for them that beleeue not,but for them which beleeue.

23 [11] If therefore , when the whole Church is come together in one , and all ſpeake ſtrange tongues , there come in they that are [s] vnlearned, or they which beleeue not , will they not ſay, that ye are out of your wits ?

24 But if all prophecie , and there come in one that beleeueth not, or one vnlearned, he is rebuked of all men,and is iudged of all,

25 And ſo are the ſecrets of his heart made manifeſt,& ſo he will fall downe on his face and worſhip God,and ſay plainely that God is in you in deede.

26 [12] What is to be done then, brethren ? when ye come together , according as euery one of you hath a Pſalme , or hath doctrine , or hath a tongue, or hath reuelation , or hath interpretation , let all things be done vnto edifying.

27 [13] If any man ſpeake a ſtrange tongue , let it be by two , or at the moſt , by three , and that by courſe,and let one interpret.

28 But if there be no interpreter, let him keepe ſilence in the Church , vvhich ſpeaketh languages, and let him ſpeake to himſelfe,and to God.

29 [14] Let the Prophets ſpeake , two or three, and let the other iudge.

30 And if any thing be reuealed to another that ſitteth by,let the firſt hold his peace.

31 For ye may all prophecie one by one,that all may learne,and all may haue comfort.

32 And the [t] ſpirits of the Prophets are ſubiect to the Prophets.

33 For God is not the authour of confuſion, but of peace , as vve ſee in all the Churches of the Saints.

34 [15] * Let your women keepe ſilence in the Churches : for it is not permitted vnto them to ſpeake : but they ought to be ſubiect , as alſo ✱ the Law ſaith.

35 And if they will learne any thing, let them aske their husbands at home : for it is a ſhame for women to ſpeake in the Church.

36 [16] Came the worde of God out from you ? either came it vnto you onely ?

37 If any man thinke himſelfe to be a Prophet, or [u] ſpirituall, let him acknowledge,that the things that I write vnto you , are the commandements of the Lord.

38 [17] And if any man be ignorant , let him be ignorant.

39 [18] Wherefore , brethren, couet to prophecie,and forbid not to ſpeake languages.

40 Let all things be done honeſtly , and by order.

MOreouer , [1] ♣ brethren , I declare vnto you the Goſpell which I preached vnto you, which yee haue alſo receiued , and wherein yee [a] continue,

2 And whereby yee are ſaued , if yee keepe in memory , after what maner I preached it vnto you, [b] except ye haue beleeued in vaine.

3 For firſt of all , I deliuered vnto you that which I receiued , how that Chriſt died for our ſinnes,according to the ♣ Scriptures,

4 And that he was buried,and that he aroſe the third day according to the * Scriptures,

5 ✱ And that he was ſeene of Cephas , then of the [c] twelue.

6 After that , he was ſeene of more then fiue hundreth brethren at [d] once : whereof many remaine vnto this preſent , and ſome alſo are aſleepe.

7 After that,he was ſeene of Iames : then of all the Apoſtles.

8 ✲ [2] And laſt of all he was ſeene alſo of me, as of one borne out of due time.

9 * For I am the leaſt of the Apoſtles , which am not meete to be called an Apoſtle , becauſe I perſecuted the Church of God.

10 ✤ But by the grace of God I am that I am : and his grace which is in me,was not in vaine : but I laboured more aboundantly then they all: yet not I,but the grace of God which is with me.

11 Wherefore,whether it were I,or they, ſo we preach,and ſo haue ye beleeued.

12 ¶ [3] Now if it be preached,that Chriſt is riſen

---

[8] He propoundeth himſelfe for an example,both that they may be aſhamed of their fooliſh ambition,and alſo that he may eſchew all ſuſpition of enuie.

[q] A very few words.

[9] Now he reproueth them freely for their childiſh folly,which ſee not how this gifts of tongues which was giuen to the profite of the Church, is turned by their ambition into an inſtrument of curſing ſeeing that this ſame alſo is conteined amongſt the puniſhments wherewith God puniſhed the ſtubburnnes of the people, that he diſperſed them amongſt ſtrangers whoſe language they vnderſtood not.

[r] By the Law he vnderſtandeth all the whole Scripture.

♣ Iſai.18,11,

[10] The concluſion: Therefore the gift of tongues ſerueth to puniſh the vnfaithfull and vnbeleeuers, vnleſſe it be referred to prophecie (that is to ſay,to the interpretation of Scripture) and that that which is ſpoken,be by that meanes vnderſtood of the hearers.

[11] Another argument : The gift of tongues without prophecie is not onely vnprofitable to the faithfull : but alſo doth very much hurt as well to them as to the vnfaithfull which ſhould be wonne in the publike aſſemblies. For by this meanes it commeth to paſſe , that the faithfull ſeeme to other to be madde, much leſſe can the vnfaithfull be inſtructed thereby.

[13] The maner how to vſe the gift of tongues. It may be lawfull for one or two , or at the moſt for three, to vſe the gift of tongues, one after another in an aſſembly , ſo that there be ſome to expound the ſame : but if there be none to expound, let him that hath that gift, ſpeake to himſelfe alone.

[14] The manner of prophecying : Let two or three propound , and let the other iudge of that that is propoundeth , whether it be agreeable to the word of God or no : If in this examination the Lord giue any man nought to ſpeake , let them giue him leaue to ſpeake. Let euery man be admitted to prophecie , ſeuerally and in his order , ſo farre foorth as it is requiſite for the edifying of the Church. Let them be content to be ſubiect ech to others iudgement.

[u] Skilfull in knowing and iudging ſpirituall things.

[17] The Church ought not to care for ſuch as be ſtubburnely ignorant, and will not abide to be taught, but to go forward notwithſtanding in thoſe things which are right.

[18] Prophecie ought ſimply to be retained and kept in Congregations , the gift of tongues is not to be forbidden , but all things muſt be done orderly.

[1] The ſixth treatiſe of this Epiſtle, concerning the reſurrection : and he vſeth a tranſition, or paſſing ouer from one matter to another,ſhewing firſt that he bringeth no new thing,to the end that the Corinthians might vnderſtande that they had begun to ſwarue from the right courſe : and next that he goeth not about to entreate of a trifling matter, but of another chiefe point of the Goſpel,which if it be taken away,their faith muſt needes come to nought. And ſo at the length he beginneth this treatiſe at Chriſts reſurrection,which is the ground and foundation of ours,and confirmeth it firſt by the teſtimonie of the Scriptures,and by the witneſſe of the Apoſtles, and of more then fiue hundreth brethren,and laſt of all by his owne.

* Epheſ.3,8. Epheſ.3,7.

[3] The firſt argument to prooue that there is a reſurrection from the dead : Chriſt is riſen againe, therefore the dead ſhall riſe againe.

from the dead, how ſay ſome among you, that there is no reſurrection of the dead?

13 [4] For if there be no reſurrection of the dead, then is Chriſt not riſen:

14 [5] And if Chriſt be not riſen, then is our preaching vaine, and your faith is alſo vaine.

15 And wee are found alſo falſe witneſſes of God: for wee haue teſtified of God, that he hath raiſed vp Chriſt: whom he hath not raiſed vp, if ſo be the dead be not raiſed.

16 [6] For if the dead be not raiſed, then is Chriſt not raiſed.

17 And if Chriſt be not raiſed, your faith is vaine: [7] ye are [e] yet in your ſinnes.

18 [8] And ſo they which are aſleepe in Chriſt, are periſhed.

19 [9] If in this life onely we haue hope in Chriſt, we are of all men the moſt miſerable.

20 [10] But now is Chriſt riſen from the dead, [11] and was made the ✣ [f] firſt fruites of them that ſlept.

21 [12] For ſince by man came death, by man came alſo the reſurrection of the dead.

22 For as in Adam all die, euen ſo in Chriſt ſhall all be [g] made aliue.

23 [13] But euery man in his ⸸ owne order: the firſt fruites is Chriſt, afterwarde, they that are of Chriſt, at his comming ſhall riſe againe.

24 [14] Then ſhallbe the [h] end, when he hath deliuered vp the kingdome to God, euen the Father, when he hath put downe [i] all rule, and all authoritie and power.

25 For he muſt reigne * till he hath put all his enemies [k] vnder his feete.

26 The [l] laſt enemie that ſhall be deſtroyed, is death.

27 ✣ For he hath put downe all things vnder his feete. (And when he ſaith that all things are ſubdued to him, it is manifeſt that he is excepted, which did put downe all things vnder him.)

28 And when all things ſhall be ſubdued vnto him, [m] then ſhall the Sonne alſo himſelfe be ſubiect vnto him, that did ſubdue all things vnder him, that [n] God may be all in all.

29 [15] Els what ſhall they do which are baptized [o] for dead? if the dead riſe not at all, why are they then baptized for dead?

30 [16] Why are wee alſo in ieopardie euery houre?

31 By our [p] reioycing which I haue in Chriſt Ieſus our Lord, I die daily.

32 [17] If I haue fought with beaſtes at Epheſus [q] after the maner of men, what aduantageth it me, if the dead be not raiſed vp? ⸸ [18] let vs [r] eate and drinke: for to morow we ſhall die.

33 [19] Be not deceiued: euill ſpeakings corrupt good maners.

34 Awake to liue righteouſly, and ſinne not: for ſome haue not the knowledge of God, I ſpeake this to your ſhame.

35 [20] But ſome man will ſay, How are the dead raiſed vp? and with what body come they foorth?

36 [21] O foole, that which thou ſoweſt, is not quickened, except it die.

37 And that which thou ſoweſt, thou ſoweſt not that bodie that ſhall bee, but bare corne as it falleth, of wheat, or of ſome other.

38 [22] But God giueth it a body at his pleaſure,

[4] The ſecond by an abſurditie. If there be no reſurrection of the dead, then is not Chriſt riſen againe.

[5] The proofe of that abſurditie by other abſurdities: If Chriſt be not riſen againe, the preaching of the Goſpel is in vaine, and the credite that you gaue vnto it is vaine, and we are liars.

[6] He repeateth the ſame argument taken of an abſurditie, purpoſing to ſhew how faith is in vaine if the reſurrection of Chriſt be taken away.

[7] Firſt, ſeeing death is the puniſhment of ſinne, in vaine ſhould we beleeue that our ſinnes were forgiuen vs, if they remaine: but they doe remaine, if Chriſt roſe not from death.

[e] They are yet in their ſinnes, which are not ſanctified, nor haue obtained remiſsion of their ſinnes.

[8] Secondly, vnleſſe that this be certaine that Chriſt roſe againe, all they which died in Chriſt, are periſhed. So then what profit commeth of faith?

[9] The third argument, which is alſo taken from an abſurditie: for vnleſſe there be another life, wherein ſuch as truſt and beleeue in Chriſt ſhall be bleſſed, they were the moſt miſerable of all creatures, becauſe in this life they are the moſt miſerable.

[10] A concluſion of the former argument: Therefore Chriſt is riſen againe.

[11] Hee putteth the laſt concluſion for the firſt propoſition of the argument that followeth. Chriſt is riſen againe, Therefore ſhall wee the faithfull (for of them he ſpeaketh) riſe againe: Then followeth the firſt reaſon of this conſequent: for Chriſt is ſet foorth vnto vs, to be conſidered of, not as a priuate man apart and by himſelfe, but as the firſt fruites: And he taketh that which was knowen to all men, to wit, that the whole heape is ſanctified in the firſt fruites. ✣ Coloſ.1,18. reuela.1,5.

[f] Hee alludeth to the firſt fruites of corne, the offering whereof ſanctified the reſt of the fruits.

Another confirmation of the ſame conſequent: for Chriſt is to be conſidered as oppoſite to Adam, that as from one man Adam, ſinne came ouer all, ſo from one man Chriſt, life commeth vnto all: that is to ſay, that all the faithfull, as they die, becauſe by nature they were borne of Adam, ſo becauſe in Chriſt they are made the children of God by grace, they are quickened and reſtored to life by him.

[13] Hee doeth two things together: for he ſheweth that the reſurrection is in ſuch ſort common to Chriſt with all his members, that notwithſtanding he farre paſſeth them, both in time (for he was the firſt that roſe againe from the dead) and alſo in honour, becauſe that from him and in him is all our life and glorie. Then by this occaſion hee paſſeth in the next argument. ⸸ 1.Theſ.4,13.

[14] The fourth argument, wherewith alſo he confirmeth the other, hath a moſt ſure ground, to wit, becauſe that God muſt reigne. And this is the maner of his reigne, that the Father will be ſhewed to be King in his Sonne who was made man, to whom all things are made ſubiect (the promiſer onely except) to the end that the Father may afterwardes triumph in his Sonne the conquerour. And he maketh two parts of this reigne and dominion of the Sonne, wherein the Fathers glorie conſiſteth: to wit, the ouercomming of his enemies (whereof ſome moſt be depriued of all power, as Satan and all the wicked, be they neuer ſo proud and mightie, and other muſt be vtterly aboliſhed as death) and a plaine and full deliuery of the godly from all enemies, that by this meanes God may fully ſet foorth the body of the Church, cleauing faſt vnto their head Chriſt, his kingdome and glory as a king in his ſubiects. Moreouer, he putteth the firſt degree of this kingdome in the reſurrection of the Sonne, who is the head: and the perfection, in the full coniunction of the members with the head, which ſhall be in the latter day. Now all theſe tende to this purpoſe, to ſhewe that vnleſſe the dead doe riſe againe, neither the Father can be King aboue all, neither Chriſt be Lord of all: for neither ſhould the power of Satan and death be ouercome, nor the glory of God be full in his Sonne, nor his Sonnes in his members.

* Pſal.110,1. Actes 2,34. hebr.1,13. and 10,13.

[k] Chriſt is conſidered here, as he appeared in the forme of a ſeruant, in which reſpect he ruleth the Church as head, and that becauſe this power was giuen him of his Father.

[l] The ſhutting vp of the argument, which is taken from the whole to the part: for if all his enemies ſhall be put vnder his feet, then muſt it needes be that death alſo ſhall be ſubdued vnder him.

✣ Pſal.8,6. Heb.2,8.

[m] Not becauſe the Sonne was not ſubiect to his Father before, but becauſe his body, that is to ſay, the Church which is here in diſtreſſe, and not yet wholly partaker of his glory, is not yet fully perfect, and alſo becauſe the bodies of the Saints which bee in the graues ſhall not be glorified vntill the reſurrection: but Chriſt as he is God, hath vs ſubiect to him as his Father hath, but as he is Prieſt, hee is ſubiect to his father together with vs. Auguſt. booke 1. chap. 8. of the Trinitie.

[n] By this high kinde of ſpeech, is ſet foorth an incomprehenſible glorie which floweth from God, and ſhall fill all of vs, as we are ioyned together with our head, but yet ſo, that our head ſhall alwayes reſerue his preeminence.

[15] The fifth argument taken of the end of Baptiſme, to wit, becauſe that they which are baptized, are baptized for dead, that is to ſay, that they may haue a remedy againſt death becauſe that Baptiſme is a token of regeneration.

[o] They that are baptized, to this end and purpoſe, that death may be put out in them, or to riſe againe from the dead, whereof baptiſme is a ſeale.

[16] The ſixth argument: Vnleſſe there be a reſurrection of the dead, why ſhould the Apoſtles ſo dayly caſt themſelues into danger of ſo many deaths?

[p] As though he ſaid, I die dayly, as all the miſeries I ſuffer can well witneſſe, which I may truely boaſt of, that I haue ſuffered amongſt you.

[17] The taking away of an obiection: but thou Paul didſt ambitiouſly, as commonly men are woont to doe, when thou diddeſt fight with beaſts at Epheſus: That is very like, ſaith Paul, for what could that aduantage mee, were it not for the glory of eternall life which I hope for?

[q] Not vpon any godly motion, nor caſting mine eyes vpon God, but caried away with vaine glory, or a certaine headineſſe. ⸸ Iſai.22,13.

[18] The ſeuenth argument which dependeth vpon the laſt: if there be no reſurrection of the dead, why do we giue our ſelues to any thing els, ſaue to eating and drinking?

[r] Theſe are ſpeeches that Epicures vſe.

[19] The concluſion with a ſharpe exhortation, that they take heede of the naughtie companie of certaine: from whence hee ſheweth that this miſchiefe ſprang: warning them to bee wiſe with ſobrietie vnto righteouſneſſe.

[20] Now that he hath prooued the reſurrection, he diſcouereth their doltiſhneſſe, in that they ſcoffingly demaunded, how it could be that the dead ſhould riſe againe, and if they did riſe againe, they asked mockingly, what manner of bodies they ſhould haue. Therefore he ſendeth theſe fellowes which ſeemed to themſelues to be marueilous wiſe and wittie, to be inſtructed of poore rude husbandmen.

[21] Thou mighteſt haue learned either of theſe, ſaith Paul, by daily experience: for ſeedes are ſowen, and rotte, and yet notwithſtanding ſo farre it is off, that they periſh. that contrariwiſe they grow up farre more beautifull: and whereas they are ſowen naked and drie, they ſpring vp greene from death by the vertue of God: and doth it ſeeme incredible to thee that our bodies ſhould riſe from corruption, and that indued with a farre more excellent qualitie?

[12] Wee ſee a diuerſitie both in one and the ſelfe ſame thing which hath now one forme and then another, and yet keepeth it owne kinde, at it is euident in a graine which is ſowen bare, but ſpringeth vp farre after another ſort: and alſo in diuers kindes of one ſelfe ſame ſort, as amongſt beaſts: and alſo among things of diuers ſortes, as the heauenly bodies and the earthly bodies: which alſo differ very much one from another. Therefore there is no cauſe why we ſhould reiect either the reſurrection of the bodies, or changing of them into a better ſtate, as a thing impoſſible, or ſtrange.

39 All fleſh is not the ſame fleſh, but there is one fleſh of men, and another fleſh of beaſts, and another of fiſhes, and another of birds:

40 There are alſo heauenly bodies, and earthly bodies: but the glorie of the heauenly is one, and the glorie of the earthly is another.

41 There is another glorie of the ſunne, and another glorie of the moone, and another glorie of the ſtarres: for one ſtarre differeth from another ſtarre in glorie.

42 [23] So alſo is the reſurrection of the dead. The bodie is [ſ] ſowen in corruption, and is raiſed in incorruption.

43 It is ſowen in [t] diſhonour, and is raiſed in glorie: it is ſowen in weakeneſſe, and is raiſed in [u] power.

44 [24] It is ſowen a naturall bodie, and is raiſed a ſpirituall bodie: there is a naturall body, and there is a ſpirituall bodie.

45 [25] As it is alſo written, The [x] firſt man ✠ Adam was made a liuing ſoule: and the laſt Adam vvas made a [y] quickening ſpirit.

46 [26] Howbeit that vvas not firſt which is ſpirituall: but that vvhich is naturall, and afterward that vvhich is ſpirituall.

47 The firſt man is of the earth, [z] earthly: the ſecond man is the Lord from [a] heauen.

48 [27] As is the earthly, ſuch are they that are earthly: and as is the heauenly, ſuch are they alſo that are heauenly.

49 And as wee haue borne the [b] image of the earthly, ſo ſhall we beare the image of ẏ heauenly.

50 [28] This ſay I, brethren, that [c] fleſh and blood cannot inherit the kingdome of God, neither doth corruption inherite incorruption.

51 [29] Behold, I ſhew you a [d] ſecret thing, Wee ſhall not all ſleepe, but we ſhall all be changed, 52 In [e] a moment, in the twinkling of an eye at the laſt ✠ trumpet: for the trumpet ſhall blowe, and the dead ſhall be raiſed vp incorruptible, and we ſhall be changed.

53 For this corruptible muſt put on incorruption: and this mortall muſt put on immortalitie.

23 Hee maketh three manner of qualities of the bodies being raiſed: Incorruption, to wit, becauſe they ſhallbe found, and altogether of a nature that can not be corrupt: Glory, becauſe they ſhallbe adorned with beautie and honour: Power, becauſe they ſhall continue euerlaſting without meat, drinke, and all others helpes, without which this fraile life cannot keepe it ſelfe from corruption.

ſ Is buried, and man is hid as ſeed in the ground.

t Void of honour, void of glorie, and beautie.

u Freed from the former weakeneſſe, whereas it is ſubiect to ſuch alteration and change, that it cannot maintaine it ſelfe without meat and drinke, and ſuch otherlike helpes.

24 He ſheweth perfitly in one word, this change of the qualitie of the bodie by the reſurrection, when he ſaith, that of a naturall bodie, it ſhall become a ſpirituall body, which two qualities being cleane different, the one from the other, hee ſtraightway expoundeth and ſetteth, foorth diligently. 25 That is called a naturall bodie, which is quickened and maintained by a liuing ſoule onely, ſuch as Adam was, of whome all wee are borne naturally: and that is ſaid to be a ſpirituall, which together with the ſoule is quickened with a farre more excellent vertue: to wit, with the Spirit of God, which deſcendeth from Chriſt the ſecond Adam into vs. x Adam is called the firſt man, becauſe hee is the roote as it were from whence wee ſpring: and Chriſt is the latter man: becauſe hee is the beginning of all them that are ſpirituall, and in him wee are all comprehended. ✠ Gen. 2,7. y Chriſt is called a Spirit, by reaſon of that moſt excellent nature, that is to ſay, God who dwelleth in him bodily, as Adam is called a liuing ſoule, by reaſon of the ſoule which is the beſt part in him. 26 Secondly he willeth the order of this double ſtate or qualitie to be obſerued, that the naturall was firſt, Adam beeing created of the clay of the earth: and the ſpirituall followed and came vpon it, to wit, when as the Lord beeing ſent from heauen, endued our fleſh which was prepared and made fit for him, with the fulnes of the Godhead. z Wallowing in durt, and wholly giuen to an earthly nature. a The Lord is ſaid to come downe from heauen by that kinde of ſpeech, whereby that which is proper to one is vouched of another. 27 He applyeth both the earthly naturalneſſe of Adam (if I may ſo ſay) to our bodies, ſo long as they are naturally conuerſant on earth, to wit, in this life, and in the graue: and alſo the ſpiritualtie of Chriſt to the ſame our bodies, after that they are riſen againe: and hee ſaith, that that goeth before and this ſhall followe. b Not a vaine and falſe image, but ſuch an one as had the trueth with it indeede. 28 The concluſion: We cannot be partakers of the glorie of God, vnleſſe we put off all that groſſe and filthie nature of our bodies ſubiect to corruption, that the ſame bodie may be adorned with incorruptible glorie. c Fleſh and blood are taken here for a liuing bodie, which cannot attaine to incorruption, vnleſſe it put off corruption. 29 He goeth further, declaring that it ſhall come to paſſe that they which ſhall be found aliue in the latter day, ſhall not deſcend into that corruption of the graue, but ſhall be renued with a ſudden change, which change is verie requiſitie: and that the certaine enioying of the benefite and victorie of Chriſt, is deferred vnto that latter time. d A thing that hath bene hid, and neuer knowen hitherto, and therefore worthie that you giue good eare vnto it. e Hee ſheweth vs that the time ſhall be verie ſhort. ✠ Mat. 24,31. 1. theſſ. 4,16.

54 So when this corriptible hath put on incorruption, and this mortall hath put on immortalitie, then ſhall be brought to paſſe the ſaying, that is written, ✠ Death is ſwallowed vp into victorie.

55 O death where is thy ſting? O graue where is thy victorie?

56 The ſting of death is ſinne: and the ſtrength of ſinne is the Law.

57 ✠ But thankes be vnto God, which hath giuen vs victorie through our Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

58 [30] Therefore my beloued brethren, be yee ſtedfaſt, vnmooueable, aboundant alwayes in the worke of the Lord, foraſmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vaine in the [f] Lord.

✠ Oſe 13,14. Ebr. 2,4.

30 An exhortation taken of the profit that enſueth, that ſeeing they vnderſtand that the glorie of the other life is laid vp for faithfull workemen, they continue and ſtand faſt in the trueth of the doctrine of the reſurrection of the dead.

f Through the Lords helpe and goodnes working in vs.

CHAP. XVI.

1 He exhorteth them to helpe the poore brethren of Hieruſalem: 10 Then he commendeth Timotheus, 13 and ſo with a friendly exhortation, 19 and commendations, endeth the Epiſtle.

Concerning [1] the gathering for the Saintes, as I haue ordained in the Churches of Galatia, ſo doe ye alſo.

2 Euery [a] firſt day of the weeke, let euery one of you put aſide by himſelfe, and lay vp as God hath [b] proſpered him, that then there be no gatherings when I come.

3 And when I am come, whomſoeuer ye ſhall allow by [c] letters, them will I ſend to bring your liberalitie vnto Hieruſalem.

7 For I will not ſee you now in my paſſage, but I truſt to abide a while with you, if the Lord permit.

8 And I will tarie at Epheſus vntill Pentecoſt.

11 Let no man therefore deſpiſe him: but conuey him foorth [f] in peace, that hee may come vnto me: for I looked for him with the brethren.

12 As touching our brother Apollos, I greatly deſired him to come vnto you with the brethren: but his minde was not at all to come at this time: howbeit he will come when he ſhall haue conuenient time.

14 Let all your things be done in loue.

15 Now brethren, I beſeech you (ye know the houſe of [g] Stephanas, that it is the firſt fruits of Achaia, and that they [h] giuen themſelues to miniſter vnto the Saints.)

16 That yee be [i] obedient euen vnto ſuch, and to all that helpe with vs and labour.

17 I am glad of the comming of Stephanas, and Fortunatus, and Achaicus: for they haue ſupplied the want of you.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAVL TO THE CORINTHIANS.

CHAP. I.

1 He beginneth with the praiſe of afflictions, 8 declaring what he hath ſuffered in Aſia, 10 and how happely God aſſiſted him. 17 He ſaith it was not vpon any lightneſſe, that he came not: according to his promiſe

1 See the declaration of ſuch ſalutations in the former Epiſtles.

PAVL [1] an Apoſtle of IESVS Chriſt, by the will of God, and our brother Timotheus, to the Church of God, which is at Corinthus, with all the Saints, which are in all Achaia:

2 Grace be with you, and peace from God, our Father, and from the Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

3 ✣ [2] [a] Bleſſed be God, euen the Father of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, the Father of [b] mercies, and the God of all comfort,

4 Which comforteth vs in all our tribulation, [3] that wee may be able to comfort them which are in any affliction by the comfort wherewith we our ſelues are comforted of God.

5 For as the [c] ſufferings of Chriſt abound in vs, ſo our conſolation aboundeth through Chriſt.

6 [4] And whether we be afflicted, it is for your conſolation and ſaluation, which is [d] wrought in the enduring of the ſame ſufferings, which we alſo ſuffer: or whether we be comforted, it is for your conſolation and ſaluation.

7 And our hope is ſtedfaſt concerning you, in as much as wee knowe, that as ye are partakers of the ſufferings, ſo ſhall yee be alſo of the conſolation.

8 [5] For brethren, we would not haue you ignorant of our affliction, which came vnto vs in Aſia, how we were preſſed out of meaſure paſſing ſtrength, ſo that we altogether [e] doubted euen of life.

9 Yea, wee receiued the ſentence of death in [f] our ſelues, becauſe wee ſhould not reſt in our ſelues, but in God, which raiſed the dead.

2 He beginneth after his maner with thankeſgiuing, which notwithſtanding (otherwiſe then he was wont) he applyeth to himſelfe: beginning his Epiſtle with the ſetting forth of the dignitie of his Apoſtleſhip, conſtrained (as it ſhould ſeeme) by their importunitie, which tooke an occaſion to deſpiſe him by reaſon of his miſeries. But he anſwereth that he is not ſo afflicted, but that his comforts doe exceed his afflictions, ſhewing the ground of them, euen the mercie of God the Father in Ieſus Chriſt.

10 Who deliuered vs from ſo [g] great a death, and doeth deliuer vs: in whom we truſt, that yet hereafter he will deliuer vs.

11 ✣ [6] So that yee labour together in prayer for vs, [7] that for the gift beſtowed vpon vs for manie, thankes may be giuen by many perſons for vs.

12 [8] For our reioycing is this, the teſtimonie of our conſcience, that in ſimplicitie & godly [h] pureneſſe, and not in fleſhly wiſdome, but by the [i] grace of God we haue had our conuerſation in the world, and moſt of all to youwards.

13 For we write [k] none other things vnto you, then that ye read or els that ye acknowledge, and I truſt ye ſhall acknowledge vnto the [l] end.

14 Euen as yee haue acknowledge vs partly, that wee are your [m] reioycing, euen as ye are ours, in the [n] day of our Lord Ieſus.

15 And in this confidence was I minded firſt to come vnto you, that ye might haue had a [o] double grace,

16 And to paſſe by you into Macedonia, and to come againe out of Macedonia, vnto you, and to be led forth toward Iudea of you.

17 [9] When I therefore was thus minded, did I vſe lightneſſe? or mind I thoſe things which I mind, according to the [p] fleſh, that with mee ſhould be, [q] Yea, yea, and Nay, nay?

18 [10] Yea, God is [r] faithfull, that our word toward you, was not Yea, and Nay?

19 [11] For the Sonne of God Ieſus Chriſt, who was preached among you by vs, that is, by me, and Siluanus, and Timotheus, [ſ] was not Yea, and Nay: but in [t] him it was Yea.

20 [12] For all the promiſes of God in him are Yea, and are in [u] him Amen, vnto the glory of God through [x] vs.

g From theſe great dangers.

✣ Rom. 15, 30.

6 That he may not ſeeme to boaſt himſelfe, he attributeth all to God, and therewith alſo confeſſeth that he attributeth much to the prayers of the faithfull.

7 The end of the afflictions of the Saints, is the glory of God, and therefore they ought to be precious vnto vs.

8 Secondly he putteth away an other ſlaunder, to wit, that he was a light man, and ſuch a one as was not lightly to be credited, ſeeing that he promiſed to come vnto them, and came not. And firſt he ſpeaketh of the ſimplicitie of his mind, and ſinceritie, which they know both by his voice when he was preſent, and they ought to acknowledge it alſo in his letters, being abſent: and moreouer hee proteſteth that he will neuer be otherwiſe.

a To him be praiſe and glorie giuen. b Moſt mercifull. 3 The Lord doth comfort vs to this ende and purpoſe, that wee may ſo much the more ſurely comfort others. c The miſeries which wee ſuffer for Chriſt, or which Chriſt ſuffereth in vs. 4 Hee denyeth that either his afflictions wherewith hee was often afflicted, or the conſolations which hee receiued of God, may iuſtly be deſpiſed, ſeeing that the Corinthians both might and ought to take great occaſion to be confirmed by either of them.

d Although ſaluation be giuen vs freely, yet becauſe there is a way appointed vs wherewith wee muſt come to it, which is the race of an innocent and vpright life, which wee muſt runne, therefore wee are ſayde to worke our ſaluation, Philippians 2, 12. And becauſe it it God onely that of his free good will worketh all things in vs, therefore is hee ſaide to worke the ſaluation in vs by thoſe ſelfe ſame things by which wee muſt paſſe to euerlaſting life, after that wee haue once ouercome all incombrances. 5 Hee witneſſeth that hee is not onely not aſhamed of his afflictions, but that he deſireth alſo to haue all men know the greatneſſe of them, and alſo his deliuerie from them, although it be not yet perfite. e I know not at all what to doe, neither did I ſee by mans helpe which way to ſaue my life. f I was reſolued within my ſelfe to die.

h With cleereneſ, and holy and true plainneſſe of minde, as God himſelfe can witneſſe. i Truſting to that very wiſedome, which God of his free goodneſſe hath giuen me from heauen. k He ſayeth he writeth barely and ſimply: for he that writeth in coloured ſort, is rightly ſaid to write otherwiſe then wee reade: and this hee ſaieth the Corinthians ſhall knowe and like of very well. l Perfitely. m Pauls reioycing in the Lord was, that hee had wonne the Corinthians: and they themſelues reioyced that ſuch an Apoſtle was their inſtructour, and taught them ſo purely and ſincerely. n When he ſhall ſit as iudge. o Another benefit. 9 He putteth away their ſlander and falſe report by denying it, and firſt of all in that that diuers went about to perſwade the Corinthians, that in the preaching of the Goſpell, Paul agreed not to himſelfe: for this was the matter and the caſe. p As men doe, which will raſhly promiſe any thing, and change their purpoſe at euery turning of an hand. q That I ſhould ſay and vnſay a thing? 10 He calleth God to witneſſe, and for iudge of his conſtancie in preaching and teaching one ſelfe ſame Goſpell. r True, and of whoſe faithfulneſſe it where horrible wickedneſſe to doubt. 11 He ioyneth alſo with himſelfe his fellowes as witneſſes, with whome hee fully conſented in teaching one ſelfe ſame thing, to wit, one ſelfe ſame Chriſt. ſ Was not diuers and wauering. t That is in God. 12 Laſt of all he declareth the ſumme of his doctrine, to wit, that all the promiſes of ſaluation are ſure and ratified in Chriſt. u Chriſt is ſet foorth to exhibite and fulfill them all moſt aſſuredly, and without all doubt. x Through our miniſterie.

21 [13] And it is God which ſtabliſhed vs with you in Chriſt, and hath anointed vs.

22 Who hath alſo ſealed vs, and hath giuen the [y] earneſt of the Spirit in our hearts.

23 [14] Nowe, I call God for a record vnto my [z] ſoule, that to ſpare you, I came not as yet vnto Corinthus.

24 [15] Not that wee haue dominion ouer your faith, but wee are helpers of your [a] ioy: for by faith ye ſtand.

[13] He attributeth the praiſe of this conſtancie, onely to the grace of God, through the holy Ghoſt, and therewithall concludeth that they cannot doubt of his faith, and his fellowes, without doing iniurie to the Spirit of God, ſeeing that they themſelues doe know all this to be true. [y] An earneſt, is, whatſoeuer is giuen to confirme a promiſe. [14] Now comming to the matter, he ſweareth, that he did not onely, not lightly alter his purpoſe of comming to them, but rather that he came not vnto them for this cauſe, that hee might not be conſtrained to deale more ſharpely, with them being preſent, then he would. [z] Againſt my ſelfe and to the danger of mine owne life. [15] He remooueth all ſuſpition of arrogancie, declaring that hee ſpeaketh not as a Lord vnto them, but as a ſeruant, appointed of God to comfort them. [a] Hee ſetteth the ioy and peace of conſcience, which God is authour of, againſt tyrannous feare, and therewithall ſheweth the end of the Goſpell.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee excuſeth his not comming vnto them, 2 and priuily reprehendeth them: 4 Hee ſheweth that ſuch is his affection towards them, 5 that he neuer reioyceth but when they are merie. 6 Perceiuing the adulterer (whom he commanded to be deliuered vp to Satan) to repent, hee requeſteth that they forgiue him. 31 Hee mentioneth his going into Macedonia.

BVt I determined thus in my ſelfe, that I would not come againe to you in [a] heauineſſe.

2 For if I make you ſorie, who is he then that ſhould make me glad, but the ſame which is made ſorie by me?

3 And I wrote this ſame thing vnto you, leaſt when I came, I ſhould take heauineſſe of them of whom I ought to reioyce: this [b] confidence haue I in you all, that my ioy is the ioy of you all.

4 For in great affliction, and anguiſh of heart I wrote vnto you with many teares: not that yee ſhould be made ſory, but that ye might perceiue the loue which I haue, ſpecially vnto you.

5 [1] And if any hath cauſed ſorowe, the ſame hath not made [c] me ſory, but [d] partly (leaſt I ſhould more [e] charge him) you all.

6 It is ſufficient vnto the ſame man, that he was rebuked of many.

7 So that nowe contrariwiſe yee ought rather to [f] forgiue him, and comfort him, leaſt the ſame ſhould be ſwallowed vp with ouermuch heauineſſe.

8 Wherefore, I pray you, that you would [g] confirme your loue towards him.

9 For this cauſe alſo did I write: that I might know the proofe of you, whether yee would be obedient in all things.

10 To whom yee forgiue any thing, I forgiue alſo: for verely if I forgaue any thing, to whom I forgaue it, for your ſakes forgaue I it in the [h] ſight of Chriſt.

11 Leaſt Satan ſhould circumuent vs: for we are not ignorant of his [i] enterpriſes.

12 ¶ [2] Furthermore, when I came to Troas to preach Chriſts Goſpel, and a doore was opened vnto me of the Lord.

13 I had no reſt in my ſpirit, becauſe I found not Titus my brother, but tooke my leaue of them, and went away into Macedonia.

14 Now thankes be vnto God, which alwayes maketh vs to triumph in Chriſt, and maketh manifeſt the [k] ſauour of his knowledge by vs in euery place.

15 [3] For we are vnto God the ſweete ſauour of Chriſt, in them that are ſaued, and in them which periſh.

16 To the one vve are the ſauour of death, vnto death, and to the other the ſauour of life, vnto life: [4] and who is ſufficient for theſe things?

17 ✣ For we are not as many, which make [l] marchandiſe of the word of God: but as of ſinceritie, but as of God in the ſight of God ſpeake we in Chriſt.

[a] Cauſing griefe amongſt you, which hee ſhould haue done if he had come to them before they had repented them.

[b] For I truſted that you would take that out of the way foorthwith, which you knew I was diſcontented with, conſidering how you are perſwaded that my ioy is your ioy.

[1] He paſſeth to another part of this Epiſtle: which notwithſtanding is put amongſt the firſt, whereunto he returneth afterward, and he handleth the releaſing and vnlooſing of the inceſtuous perſon, becauſe he ſeemed to haue giuen ſufficient teſtimonie of his repentance: ſhewing the true vſe of excommunication, to wit, that it proceed not of hatred, but of loue, and ſo ends leaſt if we keepe no meaſure, we ſerue Satan the deuill.

[c] As if he ſayd, All that ſorrow is ſo cleane wiped away, as though he had neuer felt it. [d] As for me (ſaith Paul) I haue no more to doe with him. [e] Leaſt I ſhould ouercharge him, who is burdened enough of himſelfe, which I would be glad were taken from him. [f] That whereas before you puniſhed him ſharply, you would now forgiue him. [g] That at my entreatie, you would declare by the conſent of the whole Church, that you take him againe for a brother. [h] Truely and from the heart. [i] Of his miſchieuous counſell and deuiliſh will. [2] He returneth to the confirmation of his Apoſtleſhip, and bringeth forth the teſtimonies, both of his labour, and alſo of Gods bleſſing.

[3] He denieth that ought ſhould be taken away from the dignitie of his Apoſtleſhip, becauſe they ſawe euidently that it was not receiued with like ſucceſſe in euery place, nay rather very many reiected and deteſted him, ſeeing that he preacheth Chriſt, not onely as a Sauiour of them that beleeue, but alſo as a Iudge of them that contemne him. [4] Againe, he putteth away all ſuſpition of arrogancie, attributing all things that he did, to the vertue of God, whom he ſerueth ſincerely, and without all diſhoneſt affection: whereof he maketh them witneſſes euen to the 6. verſe of the next chapter.

✣ Chap. 4, 2. [l] We doe not handle it craftily and couetouſly, or leſſe ſincerely then we ought: and he vſeth a metaphore which is taken from huckſters, which vſe to play the falſe harlots with whatſoeuer commeth into their hands.

CHAP. III.

1 He deſireth no other commendation, 3 then their continuing in the faith. 6 He is a miniſter not of the letter, but of the Spirit. 8 He ſheweth the difference of the Law, and the Goſpell, 13 that the brightneſſe of the Law doth rather dimme the ſight then lighten it: 18 But the Goſpell doeth make manifeſt Gods countenance vnto vs.

DOe wee beginne to praiſe our ſelues againe? or need we as ſome other, Epiſtles of recommendation vnto you, or letters of recommendation from you?

2 Ye are our epiſtle, written in our hearts, which is vnderſtood and read of all men.

3 In that ye are [a] manifeſt, to be the Epiſtle of Chriſt, [b] miniſtred by vs, and written, not with yncke, but with the Spirit of the [c] liuing God, [1] not in tables of ſtone, but in fleſhly tables of the heart.

4 And ſuch [d] truſt haue we through Chriſt to God:

5 Not that wee are ſufficient of our ſelues, to thinke any thing, as of our ſelues: but our [e] ſufficiencie is of God,

6 [2] Who alſo hath made vs able miniſters of the Newe Teſtament, not of the [f] letter, but of the Spirite: for the letter killeth, but the Spirit giueth life.

7 If then the miniſtration of death vvritten with letters [g] and ingrauen in ſtones, was [h] glorious, ſo that the children of Iſrael coulde not beholde the face of Moſes, for the glorie of his

[a] The Apoſtle frameth his ſpeech wiſely, that by little and little he may come from the commendation of the perſon, to the matter it ſelfe.

[b] Which I tooke paines to write as it were.

[c] By the way he ſetteth the vertue of God, againſt the yncke wherewith Epiſtles are commonly written, to ſhew that it was wrought by God.

[1] He alludeth by the way, to the compariſon of the outward miniſterie of the Prieſthood of Leui, with the miniſterie of the Goſpell, and the Apoſtolical miniſterie, which he handleth afterwad more fully. [d] This boldneſſe we ſhew, and thus glorioſly may we boaſts of the worthineſſe and fruit of our miniſterie. [e] In that we are fit and meet to make other men partakers of ſo great a grace. [2] Hee amplifieth his miniſterie and his fellowes: that is to ſay, the miniſterie of the Goſpell, comparing it with the miniſterie of the Law, which hee conſidereth in the perſon of Moſes, by whom the Law was giuen: againſt whome he ſetteth Chriſt the authour of the Goſpell. Now this compariſon is taken from the verie ſubſtance of the miniſterie. The Law is as it were a writing of it ſelfe dead, and without efficacie: but the Goſpel, or new couenant, is as it were the very vertue of God it ſelfe, in renewing, iuſtifying, and ſauing of men. The Law propoundeth death, accuſing all men of vnrighteouſneſſe: The Goſpell offereth and giueth righteouſneſſe and life. The gouernance of the Law ſerued for a time to the promiſe: The Goſpell remaineth to the end of the world. Therefore what is the glorie of that in compariſon of the maieſtie of this? [f] Not of the Law, but of the Goſpell. [g] Imprinted and ingrauen: ſo that by this place we may plainly perceiue, that the Apoſtle ſpeaketh not of the ceremonies of the Law, but euen of the ten commandements. [h] This word Glory, betokeneth a brightneſſe, and a maieſtie, which was bodily in Moſes, but ſpiritually in Chriſt.

countenance (which glory is gone away.)

8 How ſhall not the [i] miniſtration of the Spirit be more glorious?

9 For if the miniſtery of condemnation vvas glorious, much more doeth the miniſtration of [k] righteouſneſſe exceede in glory.

10 For euen that which was glorified, was not glorified in this point, that is, as touching the exceeding glory.

11 For if that they ſhould be [l] aboliſhed, vvas glorious, much more ſhall that which remaineth be glorious.

12 [3] Seeing then that we haue ſuch truſt, we vſe great boldneſſe of ſpeech.

13 ✠ [4] And vve are not as Moſes, vvhich put a vaile vpon his face, that the children of Iſrael ſhould not looke vnto the [m] ende of that which ſhould be aboliſhed.

14 Therefore their mindes are hardened: for vntill this day remaineth the ſame couering vntaken away in the reading of the olde Teſtament, which vaile in Chriſt is put away.

15 But euen vnto this day, when Moſes is read, the vaile is layd ouer their hearts.

16 Neuertheleſſe when their heart ſhall be turned to the Lord, the vaile ſhall be taken away.

17 Now the [n] Lord is the ♣ Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty.

18 [5] But we all behold as in a mirrour the glorie of the Lord with open face, and are changed into the ſame image, from glory to glory, as by the Spirit of the Lord.

[i] Whereby God offereth, yea and giueth the Spirit, not as a dead thing, but a quickning Spirit, working life.

[k] To wit, of Chriſt, which being imputed to vs as our owne, we are not onely not condemned, but alſo we are crowned as righteous.

[l] The Law, yea, and the ten commandements themſelues, together with Moſes, is aboliſhed, if we conſider the miniſterie of Moſes a part by it ſelfe.

[3] Hee ſheweth wherein ſtandeth this glory of the preaching of the Goſpel, to wit, in that that it ſetteth foorth plainly and euidently, that which the Lawe ſhewed darkely, for it ſent them that heard it to be healed of Chriſt, which was to come, after it had wounded them.

✠ Exod. 34, 34.

[4] He expoundeth by the way the alleglorie of Moſes his couering, which was a token of the darkeneſſe and weakeneſſe that is in men, which were rather dulled by the bright ſhining of the Lawe, then lightned, which couering was taken away by the comming of Chriſt, who lightneth the hearts, and turneth them to the Lord, that wee may be brought from the ſlauerie of this blindneſſe, and ſet in the liberty of the light, by the vertue of Chriſts Spirit.

[m] Into the very bottome of Moſes his miniſterie.

[n] Chriſt is that ſpirit which taketh away that couering, by working in our hearts, wherevnto alſo the Law it ſelfe called vs, though in vaine, becauſe it ſpeaketh to dead men, vntill the ſpirit quickneth vs.

♣ Ioh. 4, 14.

[5] Going forwards in the allegory of the couering, he compareth the Goſpel to a glaſſe, which although it be moſt bright and ſparkeling, yet doeth it not onely not dazel their eyes, which looke in it, as the law doth, but alſo transformeth them with its beames, ſo that they alſo be partakers of the glory and ſhining of it, to lighten others: as Chriſt ſayd vnto his, You are the light of the world, whereas he himſelfe was the onely light. We are alſo commanded in another place, to ſhine as candles before the world, becauſe we are partakers of Gods Spirit. But Paul ſpeaketh here properly, of the miniſters of the Goſpel, as it appeareth both by that that goeth before, and that that commeth after, and that, ſetting them his owne example and his fellowes.

CHAP. IIII.

1 He ſheweth that he hath ſo laboured in preaching the Goſpel, 4 That ſuch are euen blinded of Satan, who doe not perceiue the brightneſſe thereof, 7 that the ſame is caried in earthen veſſels, 10 who are ſubiect to many miſeries: 16 and therefore hee exhorteth them by his owne example, to be couragious, 17 and contemne this preſent life.

THerefore, [1] ſeeing that wee haue this miniſterie, as we haue receiued mercie, we [a] faint not:

2 But haue caſt from vs the [b] cloakes of ſhame, and walke not in craftineſſe, neither handle wee the word of God [c] deceitfully: but in declaration of the trueth we approue our ſelues to euery mans conſcience in the ſight of God.

3 [2] If the Goſpel be then hid, it is hid to them that are loſt.

[1] Now he plainly witneſſeth that both he and his fellowes (through the mercy of God) do their vocation and duetie vprightly and ſincerely, neglecting all dangers.

[a] Though we are broken in pieces with miſeries and calamities, yet we yeelde not.

[b] Subtilitie, and all kinde of deceite, which men hunt after, as it were dennes and lurking holes, to couer their ſhameleſſe dealings withall.

[c] This is it that in the former Chapter he called, making marchandiſe of the word of God.

[2] An obiection: Many heare the Goſpel, and yet are no more lightened thereby then by the preaching of the Law. Hee anſwereth, The fault is in the men themſelues, whoſe eyes Satan plucketh out, who ruleth in this world. And yet notwithſtanding doth he and his fellowes ſet foorth the moſt cleare light of the Goſpel to be ſeene and beholden, ſeeing that Chriſt whom onely they preach, is he in whom only God will be knowen, and as it were ſeene.

4 In whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds, that is, of the infidels, that the [d] light of the glorious Goſpel of Chriſt, which is the [e] image of God, ſhould not ſhine vnto them.

5 [3] For we preach not our ſelues, but Chriſt Ieſus the Lord, and our ſelues your ſeruants for [f] Ieſus ſake.

6 For God ✠ [g] that commaunded the light to ſhine out of darkeneſſe, is he which hath ſhined in our hearts, to giue the [h] light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Ieſus Chriſt.

7 [4] But we haue this treaſure in earthen veſſels, [5] that the excellencie of that power might be of God, and not of vs.

8 We are afflicted on euery ſide, yet are vve not in diſtreſſe: we are in doubt, but yet we deſpaire not.

9 Wee are perſecuted, but not forſaken: caſt downe, but we periſh not.

10 [6] Euery where we beare about in our bodie the [i] dying of the Lord Ieſus, that the life of Ieſus might alſo be made manifeſt in our bodies.

11 For we which [k] liue, are alwayes deliuered vnto death for Ieſus ſake, that the life alſo of Ieſus might be made manifeſt in our [l] mortall fleſh.

12 [7] So then death worketh in vs, and life in you.

13 [8] And becauſe we haue the ſame [m] ſpirit of faith, according as it is written, ♣ I beleeued, and therefore haue I ſpoken, wee alſo beleeue, and therefore ſpeake, 14 Knowing that hee which hath raiſed vp the Lord Ieſus, ſhall raiſe vs vp alſo by Ieſus, and ſhall ſet vs with you.

15 [9] For all things are for your ſakes, [n] that that moſt plenteous grace by the thankeſgiuing of many, may redound to the praiſe of God.

16 Therefore wee faint not, [10] but though our outward man periſh, yet the inward man is [o] renewed daily.

17 For our [p] light affliction which is but for a moment, cauſeth vnto vs a farre moſt excellent and an eternall weight of [q] glorie:

18 While we looke not on the things which are ſeene, but on the things which are not ſeene: for the things which are ſeene, are temporall: but the things which are not ſeene, are eternall.

[d] The light of plaine and lightſome preaching, which telleth forth the glory of Chriſt.

[e] In whom the Father ſetteth forth himſelfe to be ſeene and beholden.

[3] He remooueth according to his accuſtomed maner, all ſuſpition of ambition: auouching that he teacheth faithfully, but as a ſeruant, and witneſſing that all this light which he and his fellowes giue to other, proceedeth from the Lord.

[h] That being lightened of God, we ſhould in like ſort giue that light to others.

[4] He taketh away a ſtumbling block, by which was darkened, amongſt ſome, the bright ſhining of the miniſterie of the Goſpell, to wit, becauſe the Apoſtles were the moſt miſerable of all men, Paul anſwereth that he and his fellowes are as it were earthen veſſels, but yet there is in them a moſt precious treaſure.

[5] Hee bringeth marueilous reaſons, why the Lord doth ſo afflict his chiefeſt ſeruants, to the end ſaieth hee that all men may perceiue that they ſtand not by any mans vertue, but by the ſingular vertue of God, in that they die a thouſand times, but neuer periſh.

[6] An amplyfication of the former ſentence, wherein he compareth his afflictions to a daily death, and the vertue of the Spirite of God in Chriſt, to life, which oppreſſeth that death.

[i] So Paul calleth that miſerable eſtate and condition, that the faithfull, but eſpecially the miniſters, are in.

[k] Which liue, that life, to wit, by the ſpirit of Chriſt, amongſt ſo many and ſo great miſeries.

[7] A very cunning concluſion: as if hee would ſay, Therefore to be ſhort, wee die, that you may liue by our death, for that they ventured into all thoſe dangers for the building of the Churches ſake, and they ceaſed not to confirme all the faithfull with the examples of their patience.

[8] He declareth the former ſentence, ſhewing that hee and his fellowes die in a ſort to purchaſe life to others, but yet notwithſtanding they are partakers of the ſame life with them: becauſe they themſelues doe firſt beleeue that, which they propound to others to beleeue, to wit, that they alſo ſhall be ſaued together with them in Chriſt.

[9] Hee ſheweth how this conſtancie is preſerued in them, to wit, becauſe they reſpect Gods glorie, and the ſaluation of the Churches committed vnto them.

[n] When it ſhall pleaſe God to deliuer me, and reſtore me to you, that exceeding benefite which ſhall be powred vpon me, ſhall in like ſort redound to the glory of God, by the thankeſgiuing of many.

[10] He addeth as it were a triumphant ſong, how that he is outwardly afflicted, but inwardly hee profiteth daily: and paſſeth not at all for all the miſeries that may be ſuſtained in this life, in compariſon of that moſt conſtant and eternall glorie.

[o] Gathereth new ſtrength, that the outward man be not ouercome with the miſeries which come freſhly one vpon the necke of another, beeing maintained and vpholden with the ſtrength of the inward man.

[p] Afflictions are not called light, as though they were light of themſelues, but becauſe they paſſe away quickely, when as indeed our whole life is of no great long continuance.

[q] Which remaineth for euer firme and ſtable, and can neuer be ſhaken.

CHAP. V.

1 He continueth in the ſame argument, 6 touching the certaine hope of ſaluation 8 through faith, 12 not to praiſe himſelfe, 14 ſeeing he hath God and his Church before his eyes, 17 and eſteemeth nothing, but newneſſe of life in Chriſt.

FOr [1] we know that if our earthly houſe of this tabernacle be deſtroyed, wee haue a building giuen of God, that is, an houſe not made with hands, but eternall in the heauens.

2 For therefore we ſigh, deſiring to be [a] cloathed with our houſe, which is from [b] heauen.

3 [2] Becauſe that if we be cloathed, we ſhall not be found ♣ naked.

4 For in deed wee that are in this tabernacle, ſigh and are burdened becauſe wee would not be vncloathed, but would be cloathed vpon, that mortalitie might be ſwallowed vp of life.

5 And he that hath [c] created vs for this thing, is God, who alſo hath giuen vnto vs the earneſt of the Spirit.

6 [3] Therefore we are alway [d] bolde, though we know that whiles we are at home in the body, we are abſent from the Lord.

7 (For wee walke by [e] faith, and not by ſight.)

8 Neuertheleſſe, we are [f] bolde, and loue rather to remooue out of the body, and to dwell with the Lord.

9 Wherefore alſo we [g] couet, that both dwelling at home, and remoouing from home, we may be acceptable to him.

10 ♣ [4] For wee muſt all [h] appeare before the iudgement ſeat of Chriſt, that euery man may receiue the things which are done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or euill.

11 [5] Knowing therefore that [i] terrour of the Lord, we perſwade men, and we are made manifeſt vnto God, and I truſt alſo that we are made manifeſt in your conſciences.

12 [6] For wee praiſe not our ſelues againe vnto you, but giue you an occaſion to reioyce of vs, that yee may haue to anſvvere againſt them, which reioyce in the [k] face, and not in the heart.

[1] Taking occaſion by the former compariſon, hee compareth this miſerable body, as it is in this life, to a fraile and brickle tabernacle, againſt which hee ſetteth the heauenly Tabernacle, ſo terming that ſure and euerlaſting condition of this ſame body gloryfied in heauen, inſomuch, ſayth he, that we are not onely not addicted to this tabernacle, but alſo doe with ſobbes and ſighs deſire rather that tabernacle. And ſo this place alſo concerning the glory to come, is put within the treatiſe of the dignitie of the miniſtrie, as the other was, whereof we ſpake in the beginning of the ſecond Chapter.

[a] Hee calleth the glory of immortality, which we ſhall be as it were cloathed with, a garment.

[b] Heauenly, not that the ſubſtance of it is heauenly, but for the glory of it.

[2] An expoſition of the former ſaying: We doe not without cauſe, deſire to be clad with the heauenly houſe, that is, with that euerlaſting and immortall glory as with a garment: for when we depart hence, we ſhall not remaine naked, hauing once caſt off the couering of this bodie, but we ſhall take our bodies againe, which ſhall put on, as it were another garment beſides: and therefore we ſigh not for the wearineſſe of this life, but for the deſire of a better life. Neither is this deſire in vaine, for we are made to that life, the pledge whereof we haue, euen the Spirit of adoption. ♣ Reuel. 16,15. [c] He meaneth that firſt creation, to giue vs to vnderſtand, that our bodies were made to this end, that they ſhould be cloathed with heauenly immortality. [3] Hee inferreth vpon that ſentence which went next before, thus, Therefore, ſeeing that we know by the Spirit, that we are ſtrangers ſo long as we are here, we patiently ſuffer this tariance (for we are now ſo with God, that we beholde him but by faith, and are therefore now abſent from him) but ſo that we aſpire and haue a longing alwayes to him: therefore alſo we behaue our ſelues ſo, that we may be acceptable to him, both while we liue here, and when we goe from hence to him [d] He calleth them (bolde) which are alwayes reſolued with a quiet and ſetled minde to ſuffer what dangers ſoeuer, nothing doubting, but their end ſhall be happy. [e] Faith of thoſe things which we hope for, and not hauing God preſently in our view. [f] And yet we are in ſuch ſort bolde, and doe ſo paſſe on our pelgrimage with a valiant and quiet minde, that yet notwithſtanding, we had rather depart hence to the Lord. [g] And ſeeing it is ſo, we ſtriue to liue ſo, that both in this our pelgrimage here wee may pleaſe him, and that at length wee may be receiued home to him ♣ Rom. 14,10. [4] That no man might thinke it to perteine to all, which he ſpake of that heauenly glory, hee addeth, that euery one ſhall firſt render an account of his pelgrimage, after that hee is departed from hence.

[h] Wee muſt all appeare perſonally, and enquiry ſhall be made of vs, that all may ſee, how wee haue liued. [5] Now hee paſſeth ouer, and taking occaſion of the former ſentence, returneth to the former chapter verſe 16 confirming his own ſinceritie and his fellowes [i] That terrible iudgement. [6] Hee remooueth all ſuſpition of pride, by a new reaſon, becauſe it is behoouable, not for his part, but for theirs, that his Apoſtleſhip be counted ſincere againſt the vaine oſtentation of a few others.

[k] In outward diſguiſings, and that coloured ſhew of mans wiſedome and eloquence, and not in true godlineſſe, which is ſealed in the heart.

13 [7] For whether we be out of our wit, vve are it to God; or whether we be in our right minde, vve are it vnto you.

14 [8] For that loue of Chriſt [l] conſtraineth vs,

15 Becauſe wee thus iudge, that if [m] one be dead for all, then were all dead, and he died for all, that they which liue, ſhould not henceforth [n] liue vnto themſelues, but vnto him which died for them, and roſe againe.

16 [9] Wherefore, henceforth know we no man after the fleſh, [10] yea though wee had knowen Chriſt after the fleſh, yet not henceforth know we him no more.

17 [11] Therefore if any man be in Chriſt, let him be a [o] new creature. ♣ Old things are paſſed away: beholde, all things are become new.

18 [12] And all things are of God, which hath reconciled vs vnto himſelfe by Ieſus Chriſt, and hath giuen vnto vs the miniſterie of reconciliation.

19 For God was in Chriſt, and reconciled the world to himſelfe, not imputing their ſinnes vnto them, and hath [p] committed to vs the word of reconciliation.

20 Now then are we ambaſſadours for Chriſt: as though God did beſeech you through vs, wee pray you in Chriſtes ſtead, that ye be reconciled to God.

21 For he hath made him to be [q] ſinne for vs, which [r] knew no ſinne, that wee ſhould be made the [ſ] righteouſneſſe of God in him.

[7] The meaning is: Euen when I am mad (as ſome men thinke of me) whileſt I ſeeme as a foole to boaſt my ſelfe, I doe it for your profit, no leſſe then when I preach the Goſpel ſimply vnto you.

[8] Hee goeth forward in putting away all ſuſpition of deſire of eſtimation and boaſting: for the loue of Chriſt, ſayth hee, compelleth vs hereunto, that ſeeing he died for vs all, which were dead when as we liued to our ſelues (that is, while we were yet giuen to theſe earthly affections) wee in like ſort ſhould conſecrate our whole life which we haue receiued of him, to him (to wit) being indued with the holy Ghoſt to this end and purpoſe, that wee ſhould meditate vpon nothing but that which is heauenly. [l] Poſſeſſeth vs wholly. [m] Hee ſpeaketh here of ſanctification, whereby it commeth to paſſe that Chriſt liueth in vs. [n] Looke Romans chapter 6. and 7. [9] Hee ſheweth what it is, not to liue to our ſelues, but to Chriſt, to wit, to knowe no man according to the fleſh, that is to ſay, to be ſo conuerſant amongſt men, as not to care for thoſe worldly and carnall things, as they doe which reſpect a mans ſtocke, his countrey, forme, glorie, riches, and ſuch like, wherein men commonly dote, and wearie themſelues. [10] An amplification: This is, ſayeth hee, ſo true, that we doe not now thinke carnally of Chriſt himſelfe, who hath nowe left the world, and therefore muſt be conſidered of vs ſpiritually. [11] An exhortation for euery man which is renewed with the ſpirit of Chriſt, to meditate heauenly things, and not earthly. [12] Hee commendeth the excellencie of the miniſterie of the Goſpell, both by the authoritie of God himſelfe, who is the authour of that miniſterie, and alſo by the excellencie of the doctrine of it: for it announceth attonement with God, by free forgiueneſſe of our ſinnes, and iuſtification offered vnto vs in Chriſt, and that ſo louingly and liberally, that God himſelfe doeth after a ſort pray men by the mouth of his miniſters, to haue conſideration of themſelues, and not to deſpiſe ſo great a benefit. And when hee ſo ſayeth, hee plainely reprehendeth them which falſly challenged to themſelues the name of paſtours. CHAP. VI.

1 He exhorteth them to leade their liues as it becommeth Chriſtians, 5 neither to be diſmayed in tribulations, 9 nor puffed vp with glory: 14 to auoid all vncleanneſſe, 26 conſidering that they are the temples of the liuing God.

SO [1] we therefore as workers together beſeech you, that yee receiue not the grace of God in vaine.

3 [3] Wee giue no occaſion of offence in any thing, that our miniſterie ſhould not be reprehended.

4 But in all things we [b] approoue our ſelues as ✤ the miniſters of God, [4] in much patience, in afflictions, in neceſſities, in diſtreſſes.

5 In ſtripes, in priſons, in [c] tumults, in labours,

6 [5] By watchings, by faſtings, by puritie, by knowledge, by long ſuffering, by kindneſſe, by the holy Ghoſt, by loue vnfained,

7 By the [d] word of trueth, by the [e] power of God, by the [f] armour of righteouſneſſe on the right hand, and on the left,

11 [6] O Corinthians, our mouth is [g] open vnto you, our heart is made large.

12 Ye are not [h] kept ſtrait in vs, but ye are kept ſtrait in your owne [i] bowels.

13 Now for the ſame recompenſe, I ſpeake as to my children, Be you alſo inlarged.

14 ✤ [7] Be not vnequally yoked with the infidels: for ✤ what fellowſhip hath righteouſnes with vnrighteouſneſſe? and what communion hath light with darkneſſe?

15 And what concord hath Chriſt with Belial? or what [k] part hath the beleeuer with the infidel?

16 And what agreement hath the Temple of God with idols? ✤ for yee are the Temple of the [l] liuing God: as God hath ſayd, ✤ I will [m] dwell among them, and walke there: and I will be their God, and they ſhalbe my people.

[3] He ſheweth the Corinthians a paterne of a true miniſter, in his owne example, and Timotheus and Siluanus, to the end, that (as he purpoſed from the beginning) he might procure authoritie to himſelfe and his like.

[b] Declare and ſhew indeed.

✤ 1. Cor. 4, 1.

[g] The opening of the mouth and heart, betokeneth a moſt earneſt affection in him that ſpeaketh, as it fareth commonly with them that are in ſome great ioy.

[h] You are in mine heart, as in an houſe, and that no narrow or ſtrait houſe, for I haue opened my whole heart to you, but you are inwardly ſtrait laced to me ward.

[i] After the maner of the Hebrewes, he calleth thoſe tender affections which reſt in the heart, bowels.

[7] Now he rebuked them boldly, for that they became fellowes with infidels in outward idolatry, as though it were a thing indifferent. And this is the fourth part of this Epiſtle, the concluſion whereof is, that ſuch as the Lord hath vouchſafed the name of his children, muſt keepe themſelues pure, not only in mind, but alſo in body, that they may wholly be holy vnto the Lord.

CHAP. VII.

1 Leſt by ouermuch vrging them he ſhould diſmay their tender minds, 2 he prooueth that all that he ſayd, 4 proceeded of the great good will he bare vnto them: 8 and therefore they ſhould not be offended, that he made them ſory, 10 and brought them to repentance not to be repented of.

Seeing then we haue theſe promiſes, dearely beloued, let vs clenſe our ſelues from all filthineſſe of the [a] fleſh and ſpirit, and finiſh our ſanctification in the feare of God.

2 [1] [b] Receiue vs: we haue done wrong to no man: we haue corrupted no man: we haue defrauded no man.

3 I ſpeake it not to your [c] condemnation: for I haue ſayd before, that ye are in our hearts, to die and liue together.

4 I vſe great boldneſſe of ſpeech toward you: I reioyce greatly in you: I am filled with comfort, and am exceeding ioyous in all our tribulation.

5 For when wee were come into Macedonia, our fleſh had no reſt, but we were troubled on euery ſide, fightings without, and terrours within.

6 But God, that comforteth the [d] abiect, comforted vs at the [e] comming of Titus:

7 And not by his comming onely, but alſo by the conſolation wherewith hee was comforted of you, when he told vs your great deſire, your mourning, your feruent minde to me ward, ſo that I reioyced much more.

8 [2] For though I made you ſory with a letter, I repent not, though I did repent: for I perceiue that the ſame Epiſtle made you ſory, though it vvere but for a ſeaſon.

9 I now reioyce, not that ye were ſory, but that ye ſorowed to [f] repentance: for ye ſorowed godly, ſo that in nothing ye were hurt by vs.

10 For [g] godly ſorow cauſeth repentance vnto ſaluation, not to be repented of: but the worldly ſorow cauſeth death.

11 For beholde, this thing that ye haue beene godly ſory, what great care hath it wrought in you: yea, what clearing of your ſelues: yea, vvhat indignation: yea, vvhat feare: yea, hovv great deſire: yea, vvhat a zeale: yea, vvhat reuenge: in all things yee haue ſhewed your ſelues, that yee are pure in this matter.

12 Wherefore, though I wrote vnto you, I did not it for his cauſe that had done the wrong, neither for his cauſe that had the iniurie, but that our care toward you in the [h] ſight of God might appeare vnto you.

13 Therefore we were comforted, becauſe ye were comforted: but rather wee reioyced much more for the ioy of Titus, becauſe his ſpirit was refreſhed by you all.

14 For if that I haue boaſted any thing to him of you, I haue not bene aſhamed: but as I haue ſpoken vnto you all things in trueth, euen ſo our boaſting vnto Titus was true.

15 And his inward affection is more abundant toward you, when he remembreth the obedience of you all, and how with feare and trembling yee receiued him.

16 I reioyce therefore that I may put my confidence in you in all things.

[a] Both of bodie and ſoule, that by this meanes the ſanctification may be perfect, conſiſting in both the parts thereof.

[1] He returneth againe from that admonition to his owne perſon, oppoſing the teſtimonies both of his faithfulneſſe and alſo of his continuall good will towards them.

[b] Let me haue ſome place amongſt you, that I may teach you.

[c] To condemne you of vnkindnes or treachery.

[d] Whoſe hearts are caſt downe, and are very far ſpent.

[e] With theſe things which Titus tolde me of you at his comming, to wit, how fruitfully you reade ouer my letters, moreouer and beſides that, I am exceedingly refreſhed with his preſence.

[2] An obiection. But thou haſt handled vs roughly: the Apoſtle anſwereth that he vſed not this roughnes without griefe. And hee addeth moreouer, that he is alſo glad now that he draue them to that ſorow, although it was againſt his will, ſince it was ſo profitable vnto them: for there is a ſorow not onelie praiſe worthy, but alſo neceſſary, to wit, whereby repentance groweth by certaine degrees, for the which repentance hee praiſeth them highly. And this is the fift part of this Epiſtle.

[f] Inſomuch that that ſorow did you much good toward the amending of your leadnes and ſinnes.

[g] Godly ſorow is when we are not terrified with the feare of puniſhment, but becauſe we feele we haue offended God our moſt mercifull Father: contrary to this, there is one other ſorow, that onely feareth puniſhment, or when a man is vexed for the loſſe of ſome worldly goods: the fruit of the firſt, is repentance, the fruit of the ſecond, is deſperation, vnleſſe the Lord helpe ſpeedily.

[h] It was not coloured nor counterfeit, but ſuch as I dare ſtand to before God.

CHAP. VIII.

1 He exhorteth them by the example of the Macedonians, 9 and alſo euen of Chriſt himſelfe, 14 to be liberall towards the ſaints: 16 for which purpoſe, he ſheweth that Titus, 18 and another brother came vnto them.

WE [1] doe you alſo to wit, brethren, of the [a] grace of God beſtowed vpon the Churches of Macedonia.

[1] The fixt part of this epiſtle conteining diuers exhortations to ſtir vp the Corinthians to liberality, wherewith the pouerty of the Church of Hieruſalem might be holpen in time conuenient. And firſt of all he ſetteth out before them the example of the Churches of Macedonia, which otherwiſe were brought by great miſerie to extreme pouertie, to the ende that they ſhould follow them.

[a] The benefit that God beſtowed vpon the Churches.

2 Becauſe in [b] great triall of affliction their ioy abounded, and their moſt extreme pouertie abounded vnto their rich liberalitie.

3 For to their power (I beare record) yea, and beyond their power they were [c] willing.

4 And prayed vs with great inſtance that wee would receiue the [d] grace, and fellowſhip of the miniſtring which is toward the Saints:

5 [2] And this they did, not as wee looked for: but gaue their owne ſelues, firſt to the Lord, and after vnto vs by the will of God,

6 That wee ſhould exhort Titus, that as hee had begun, ſo hee would alſo accompliſh the ſame grace among you alſo.

7 Therefore, as ye abound in euery thing, in faith and word, and knowledge, and in all diligence, and in your loue towards vs, euen ſo ſee that ye abound in this grace alſo.

8 [3] This ſay I not by commandement, but becauſe of the [e] diligence of others: therefore prooue I the [f] naturalneſſe of your loue.

9 [4] For yee know the grace of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, that hee being rich, for your ſakes became poore, that yee through his pouertie might be made rich.

10 [5] And I ſhew my minde herein: for this is expedient for you, which haue begun not to doe onely, but alſo to [g] will, a yeere agoe.

11 Now therefore performe to doe it alſo, that as there vvas a readineſſe to will, euen ſo yee may performe it of that which ye haue.

12 [6] For if there be firſt a willing minde, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not.

13 [7] Neither is it that other men ſhould be eaſed and you grieued: But vpon [h] like condition, at this time your abundance ſupplieth their lacke:

14 That alſo their abundance may be for your lacke, that there may be equalitie.

15 As it is written, ✠ Hee that gathered much, had nothing ouer, and he that gathered little, had not the leſſe.

16 [8] And thanks be vnto God, which had put in the heart of Titus the ſame care for you.

17 Becauſe he accepted the exhortation, yea, he was ſo carefull that of his owne accord he went vnto you.

18 And wee haue ſent alſo with him the brother, whoſe praiſe is [i] in the Goſpel thorowout all the Churches.

19 (And not ſo onely, but is alſo choſen of the Churches to be a fellow in our iourney, concerning this [k] grace that is miniſtred by vs vnto the glory of the ſame Lord, and declaration of your prompt minde.)

20 Auoiding this, that no man ſhould blame vs in this [l] aboundance that is miniſtred by vs, 21 ♣ Prouiding for honeſt things, not onely before the Lord, but alſo before men.

22 And wee haue ſent with them our brother, whom wee haue oft times prooued to be diligent in many things, but now much more diligent, for the great confidence, which I haue in you.

23 Whether any do enquire of Titus, he is my fellow and helper to you ward: or of our [m] brethren, they are meſſengers of the Churches, and the [n] glory of Chriſt.

24 Wherefore ſhew towarde them, and before the [o] Churches the proofe of your loue, and of the reioycing that we haue of you.

[b] For thoſe manifolde afflictions wherewith the Lord tried them, did not onely not quaile their ioyfull readineſſe, but alſo made it much more excellent, and famous.

[c] Of their owne accord they were liberall.

[d] He calleth that, Grace, that other men would haue called a burden. And this verſe is to be expounded by the ſixth verſe.

[2] He amplifieth the forwardnes of the Macedonians, in this, that they alſo deſired Paul to ſtirre vp the Corinthians to accompliſh the giuing of almes, by ſending againe of Titus vnto them.

[3] Thirdly he warneth them that they deceiue not their expectation which they haue conceiued of them.

[e] At the requeſt of the Macedonians.

[f] Then appeareth the naturalneſſe of our loue, when as in deede and that frankely and freely we helpe our brethren, euen for Chriſt his ſake.

[4] The fourth argument taken from the example of Chriſt.

[5] He taketh good heede that hee ſeeme not to wreſt it out of them by conſtraint, for vnleſſe it be voluntarie, God doeth not accept it.

[g] Not onely to doe, but alſo to doe willingly: for he noteth out a readie willingnes without any inforcement by any other men, much leſſe came it of ambition and vainglory.

[6] Againſt ſuch as vſe to excuſe themſelues, becauſe they are not rich, as though it were onely proper to rich men to helpe the poore.

[m] Titus his two companions.

[n] By whom the glory of Chriſt is ſet forth.

[o] All Churches ſhall be witneſſes of this your godly dealing, in whoſe preſence you are, for ſo much as you ſee the meſſengers whom they haue choſen by all their conſents, and ſent them vnto you.

---

[7] Chriſtian liberalitie is mutuall, that proportion may be obſerued. [h] That like as now in your abundance you helpe others, which are poore, with ſome part of your goods, ſo ſhould others in like ſort beſtowe ſome of theirs vpon you. ♣ Exod. 16, 18. [8] Hee commendeth Titus and his two companions for many cauſes, both that their credit might not be ſuſpected, as though hee had ſent them ſlily to ſpoyle the Churches, and alſo that they might be ſo much the readier to contribute. [i] In the preaching of the Goſpell. [k] Theſe almes which are beſtowed for the reliefe of the Church of Hieruſalem. [l] In this plentifull liberalitie of the Churches, which is committed to our truſt. ♣ Rom. 12, 17.

CHAP. IX.

1 Why, albeit hee thinke well of their ready willes, 3 yet earneſtly exhorteth them, 4 hee yeeldeth a reaſon: 6 He compareth almes to ſeede ſowing, 10 which God doeth repay with great gaine.

FOr [1] as touching the miniſtring to the Saints, it is ſuperfluous for me to write vnto you.

2 For I know your readines of minde, whereof I boaſt my ſelfe of you vnto them of Macedonia, and ſay, that Achaia was prepared a yeere agoe, and your zeale hath prouoked many.

3 Now haue I ſent the brethren, leaſt our reioycing ouer you ſhould be in vaine in this behalfe, that ye (as I haue ſayd) be ready.

4 Leaſt if they of Macedonia come with mee, and finde you vnprepared, we (that wee may not ſay, you) ſhould be aſhamed in this my [a] conſtant boaſting.

5 Wherefore, I though it neceſſarie to exhort the brethren to come before vnto you, and to finiſh your beneuolence appointed afore, that it might be ready, and come as of beneuolence, and not as of [b] niggardineſſe.

6 [2] This yet remember, that hee which ſoweth ſparingly, ſhall reape alſo ſparingly, and he that ſoweth liberally, ſhall reape alſo liberally.

7 As euery man [c] wiſheth in his heart, ſo let him giue, not ✠ [d] grudgingly, or of [e] neceſſitie: ♣ for God loueth a cheerefull giuer.

8 And God is able to make [f] all grace to abound toward you, that ye alwayes hauing all ſufficiencie in all things, may abound in [g] euery good worke, 9 (✠ As it is written, He hath ſparſed abroad and hath giuen to the poore: his beneuolence remaineth for [h] euer.

11 That on all parts ye may be made rich vnto all liberalitie, which cauſeth through vs thankſgiuing vnto God.

12 [3] For the miniſtration of this ſeruice not onely ſupplieth the neceſſities of the Saints, but alſo abundantly cauſeth many to giue thanks to God,

[1] He wiſely meeteth with the ſuſpition which the Corinthians might conceiue, as though the Apoſtle in vrging them ſo carefully, ſhould doubt of their good will. Therefore he witneſſeth that hee doeth it not to teach them that they ought to helpe the Saints, ſeeing that he had become ſuretie for them to the Macedonians, but onely to ſtirre them vp which were running of themſelues to the ende that all things might both be in a better readineſſe, and alſo be more plentifull.

CHAP. X.

2 Hee ſheweth with what confidence, 4 with what weapons, 6 and with what reuenge he is armed againſt the cauillations of the wicked, 7 and that, when he is preſent, his deedes haue no leſſe power, 11 then his wordes haue force when he is abſent.

13 But we will not reioyce of things, which are not within our [l] meaſure, ✠ but according to the meaſure of the line, whereof God hath diſtributed vnto vs a meaſure to attaine euen vnto you.

14 For wee ſtretch not our ſelues beyond our meaſure, as though we had not attained vnto you: for euen to you alſo haue wee come in preaching the Goſpel of Chriſt.

CHAP. XI.

2 He teſtifieth that for the great loues ſake he beareth to the Corinthians, he is compelled 5 to vtter his owne praiſes: 9 and that he beſtowed his labor on them without any reward, 13 that the falſe apoſtles ſhould not ſurpaſſe him in any thing, 22 whom he farre excelled in thoſe things which are praiſe worthy in deed.

WOuld [a] to God, ye could ſuffer a little my fooliſhneſſe, and in deed, ye ſuffer me.

9 And when I was preſent with you, and had need, ✿ I was not ſlouthfull to the hinderance of any man: for that which was lacking vnto me, the brethren which came from Macedonia,

1 He granteth that after a ſort he playeth the foole in this vaunting of things, but he addeth that he doth it againſt his will, for their profit becauſe hee ſeeth them deceiued by certaine vaine and crafty men, through the craft and ſubtiltie of Satan.

a He ſpeaketh as a wooer, but yet as one that ſeeketh them not for himſelfe, but for God.

b To marrie you together.

1 He returneth to the defence of his Apoſtleſhip, but ſo that he vſeth this authoritie therein: for hee warneth them earneſtly and grauely, vſing alſo terrible threatnings to ſhew themſelues ſuch as are apt to be inſtructed. And he refelleth certaine proud men which made no better accompt of him, then of a bragging Thraſo, in that he vſed to be ſharpe againſt them when he was abſent, becauſe they ſawe no great maieſtie in him after the maner of men, and beſides, had prooued his lenitie, notwithſtanding that in his abſence, he had written to them ſharpely. Therefore firſt of all he profeſſeth that he was gentle and moderate, but after the example of Chriſt: but if they continue, ſtill to deſpiſe his gentleneſſe, he proteſteth vnto them that he will ſhew in deede how farre they are deceiued, which make that accompt of the office of an Apoſtle, that they do of worldly offices, that is, according to the outwarde appearance. a That nature which is inclined to mercie, rather then to rigour of iuſtice. b As though I had no other aide and helpe then that which outwardly I ſeeme to haue: and therefore Paul ſetteth his fleſh, that is, his weake condition and ſtate, againſt his ſpirituall and Apoſtolique dignitie. 2 Secondly he witneſſeth, that although he be like vnto other men, yet hee commeth furniſhed with that ſtrength, which no holdes of man can match, whether they reſiſt by craft and deceit, or by force and might, becauſe he warreth with diuine weapons. c Are not ſuch as men get them authoritie withall one of another, and doe great actes. d Stand vpon that infinite power of God. 3 An amplification of this ſpirituall vertue, which in ſuch ſort conquereth the enemies be they neuer ſo craftie and mightie, that it bringeth ſome of them by repentance vnto Chriſt, and iuſtly reuengeth others, that are ſtubburnly obſtinate, ſeparating them from the other which ſuffer themſelues to be ruled. 4 Hee beateth into their heads that ſame matter, with great weight of wordes and ſentences. e Do ye iudge of things according to the outward ſhew. f Not being told of it by mee. g Hee noteth out ſome one that was the ſeedes man of this ſpeech. 5 Being conſtrained to refell the fooliſh bragges of certaine ambitious men, he witneſſeth, that they are able to bring nothing, but that they falſly perſwade themſelues of themſelues: and as for himſelfe, although hee bragge of excellent things, yet hee will not paſſe the boundes which God hath meaſured him out, according whereunto he came euen vnto them in preaching the Goſpel of Chriſt, and truſteth that hee ſhall goe further, when they haue ſo profited that hee ſhall not need to tary any longer amongſt them to inſtruct them. And hereunto is added an amplification, in that hee neuer ſucceeded other men in their labours. h This is ſpoken after a taunting ſort.

2 He ſheweth that they deceiue themſelues, if they looke to receiue of any other man, either a more excellent Goſpel, or more excellent gifts of the holy Ghoſt. e A more perfect doctrine of Ieſus Chriſt. 3 He refuteth the ſlanders of thoſe Thraſoes. I grant, ſayth he, that I am not ſo eloquent an Oratour, but yet they can not take away the knowledge of the Goſpel from me, whereof you haue had good proofe, and that euery maner of way. f Paul lacked not that kinde of eloquence which is meet for a man, and fit for the Goſpel, but he willingly wanted that painted kinde of ſpeech, which too many now a dayes hunt after and follow. 4 Another ſlander, to wit, that he was a raſcall, and liued by the labour of his owne hands. But herein, ſayth the Apoſtle, what can you lay againſt me, but that I was content to take any paines for your ſakes, and when I lacked, to trauell for my liuing with mine owne handes in part, and partly alſo when pouerty conſtrained mee, I choſe rather otherwiſe to ſeeke my ſuſtenance, then to be any burden to you, although I preached the Goſpel vnto you? ✿ Chap 12,13.

ſupplied, and in all things I kept, [5] and will keepe my ſelfe, that I ſhould not be grieuous vnto you.

10 The [g] trueth of Chriſt is in me, that this reioycing ſhall not be [h] ſhut vp againſt mee in the regions of Achaia.

11 Wherefore? becauſe I loue you not? God knoweth.

12 But what I doe, that will I doe, that I may cut away occaſion from them which deſire occaſion, that they might be found like vnto vs in that wherein they [i] reioyce.

13 [6] For ſuch falſe apoſtles are deceitfull workers, and transforme themſelues into the Apoſtles of Chriſt.

14 And no marueile: for Satan himſelfe is transformed into an Angel of [k] light.

15 Therefore it is no great thing, though his miniſters transforme themſelues, as though they vvere the miniſters of righteouſneſſe, whoſe end ſhallbe according to their workes.

16 [7] I ſay againe, Let no man thinke that I am fooliſh, or elſe take me euen as a foole, that I alſo may boaſt my ſelfe a litle.

17 That I ſpeake, I ſpeake it not after the Lord: but as it vvere fooliſhly, in this my great boaſting.

18 Seeing that many reioyce after he fleſh, I will reioyce alſo.

19 For ye ſuffer fooles gladly, becauſe that yee are wiſe.

20 [8] For ye ſuffer, euen if a man bring you into bondage, if a man deuoure you, if a man take your goods, if a man exalt himſelfe, if a man ſmite you on the face.

21 I ſpeake as concerning the [l] reproach: as though that we had bene [m] weake: but wherein any man is bold (I ſpeake fooliſhly) I am bolde alſo.

22 They are Hebrewes, ✠ ſo am I: they are Iſraelites, ſo am I: they are the ſeede of Abraham, ſo am I.

23 They are the miniſters of Chriſt (I ſpeake as a foole) I am [n] more: in labours more aboundant: in ſtripes aboue meaſure: in priſon more plenteouſly: in [o] death oft.

24 Of the Iewes [p] fiue times receiued I fourtie ſtripes ſaue one.

25 I was [q] thriſe ✣ beaten with roddes: I was * once ſtoned: I ſuffred thriſe ✱ ſhipwracke: night and day haue I beene in the deepe ſea.

26 In iourneying I vvas often, in perils of waters, in perils of robbers, in perils of mine owne nation, in perils among the Gentiles, in perils in the citie, in perils in wilderneſſe, in perils in the ſea, in perils among falſe brethren, 27 In wearineſſe and [r] painefulneſſe, in watching often, in hunger and thirſt, in faſtings often, in colde and in nakedneſſe.

28 [9] Beſide the things which are outward, I am combred dayly, and haue the care of all the Churches.

29 Who is weake, and I am not weake? Who is offended, and I burne not?

30 [10] If I muſt needes reioyce, I will reioyce of mine infirmities.

31 The God, euen the Father of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, which is bleſſed for euermore, knoweth that I lie not.

32 In ✠ Damaſcus the gouernour of the people vnder King Aretas, layde watch in the citie of the Damaſcens, and woulde haue caught mee.

33 But at a window was I let downe in a basket through the wall, and eſcaped his hands.

[5] An amplification: ſo farre is he from being aſhamed of this act, that he hath alſo reſolued with himſelfe to doe no otherwiſe hereafter amongſt them, to the intent that it may alwayes be truely ſayd, that he taught in Achaia for nothing: not that he deſdaineth the Corinthians, but that theſe Thraſoes may neuer finde the occaſion which they haue already ſought for, and he in the meane ſeaſon may ſet ſome thing before them to follow, that at length they may truely ſay, that they are like to Paul.

[g] This is a forme of an oath, as if he ſayd, let me not be thought to haue any trueth in me.

[h] Shalbe alwayes open to me.

[i] Pauls aduerſaries ſought all occaſions they could, to be equall to him. And therefore ſeeing they had rather eate vp the Corinthians, then preach to them for nothing, they ſought another occaſion, to wit, to make Paul to take ſome thing: which thing if he had done, then hoped they by that meanes to be equall to him: for they made ſuch a ſhew of zeale and knowledge, and ſet it forth with ſuch a gloſing kinde of eloquence, that ſome of them euen diſpiſed Paul: but he ſheweth that all this is nothing but colours and painting.

[6] Now at length he painteth out theſe fellowes in their colours, forewarning that it will come to paſſe, that they will at length betray themſelues, what countenance ſoeuer they make of zeale that they haue to Gods glory.

[k] By light is meant the heauenly glory, whereof the Angels are partakers.

[7] Hee goeth forward boldly, and vſing a vehement Ironie of kinde of taunting, deſireth the Corinthians to pardon him, if for a time he contend as a foole before them being wiſe, with thoſe iolly fellowes touching thoſe eternall things, to wit, touching his flocke, his anceſters and valiant acts.

[8] Before he commeth to the matter, he toucheth the Corinthians, who perſwading themſelues to very wiſe men, did not marke in the meane ſeaſon that thoſe falſe apoſtles abuſed their ſimplicitie for aduantage.

[l] As if he ſayd, in reſpect of that reproch which they doe vnto you (I ſpeake it) which ſurely is as euill as if they did beate you.

[m] Paul is called weake, in that he ſeemeth to the Corinthians a vile and abiect man, a beggerly artificer, a moſt wretched and miſerable idiot, whereas notwithſtanding therein Gods mightie power was made manifeſt.

✠ Phil.3,5.

[n] Paul being honourable indeed, defendeth his miniſtery openly, not for his owne ſake, but becauſe he ſawe his doctrine come into hazard.

[o] In danger of preſent death.

[p] He alludeth to that that is written, Deut.25,3. and moreouer this place ſheweth vs, that Paul ſuffred many things which Luke paſſed ouer.

[q] Of the Romane Magiſtrates.

✣ Actes 16,23.

* Actes 14,19.

✱ Actes 27,14.

[r] Panifulnes is a troubleſome ſickues, as when a man is weary and would reſt, he is conſtrained to fall to new labour.

[9] He addeth this in concluſion further, that the Corinthians might be aſhamed to deſpiſe him, vpon whoſe care almoſt all Churches depended, as it was plainely ſeene by experience.

[10] He turneth that againſt the aduerſaries, which they obiected againſt him: as if he ſhould ſay, They alleadge my calamities, to take away my authoritie from me: but if I would boaſt my ſelfe, I would take no better argument: and God himſelfe is my witneſſe that I deuiſe and forge nothing.

CHAP. XII.

1 He doth euen vnwillingly make rehearſall, 3 of the heauenly viſions, 4 that were reuealed vnto him, 6 for which though he might in deede glory, yet he will not, 10 being priuy of his owne infirmities: 11 but they driue him to this kinde of folly, 20 in that they giue eare to certaine vaine glorious perſons, who draw them from Chriſt.

IT [1] is not expedient for me no doubt to reioyce: for I will come to viſions and reuelations of the Lord.

2 I know a man [a] in Chriſt aboue fourteene yeeres agoe, (whether he vvere in the body, I can not tell, or out of the body, I cannot tell: God knoweth) which was taken vp into the [b] third heauen.

3 Aud I knowe ſuch a man (whether in the body, or out of the body, I cannot tell: God knoweth.)

4 How that he was taken vp into [c] Paradiſe, and heard words which [d] cannot be ſpoken, which are not [e] poſſible for man to vtter.

5 [2] Of ſuch a man will I reioyce: of my ſelfe will I not reioyce, except it be of mine infirmities.

6 For though I would reioyce, I ſhould not be a foole, for I will ſay the trueth: but I refraine, leſt any man ſhould thinke of me aboue that hee ſeeth in me, or that he heareth of me.

7 [3] And leaſt I ſhould be exalted out of meaſure through the aboundance of reuelations, there was giuen vnto me a [f] pricke in the fleſh, the meſſenger of [g] Satan to buffet me, becauſe I ſhould not be exalted out of meaſure.

8 For this thing I beſought the Lord [h] thriſe that it might depart from me.

9 And he ſayd vnto me, My grace is ſufficient

[1] He goeth forward in his purpoſe, and becauſe thoſe bragging mates boaſted of reuelations, he reckoneth vp thoſe things which lift him vp aboue the common capacitie of men: but he vſeth a preface, and excuſeth himſelfe aduiſedly.

[a] I ſpeake this in Chriſt, that is, be it ſpoken without vaine glory, for I ſeeke nothing but Chriſt Ieſus onely.

[b] Into the higheſt heauen: for we neede not to diſpute ſubtilly vpon the word (Third) but yet this place is to be marked againſt them which would make heauen to euery where.

[c] So the Grecians name that which we cal a parke, that is to ſay, a place where trees are planted, and wilde beaſts kept, by which name they that tranſlated the olde Teſtament out of the Hebrewe into Greeke, called the garden Eden, whereunto Adam was put ſtraight after his creation, as a muſt delicate and pleaſant place. And hereunto grew it, that that bleſſed ſeate of the glory of God is called by that name.

[d] Which no man is able to vtter.

[e] Which the Saints themſelues are not by any meanes able to expreſſe, becauſe it is God himſelfe. Thus doeth Clemens Alexandrinus expound this place, Strom. 5.

[2] To remooue all ſuſpicion of ambition hee witneſſeth that hee braggeth not of thoſe things as of his owne, but as out of himſelfe, and yet notwithſtanding faineth nothing, leaſt by this occaſion other men ſhould attribute more vnto him then in deede hee is: and therefore he had rather glory in his miſeries.

[3] An excellent doctrine: why God will haue euen his beſt ſeruants to be vexed of Satan and by all kinde of temptations, to wit, leaſt they ſhould be too much puffed vp, and alſo that they may be made perfite by that continuall exerciſe.

[f] He meaneth concupiſcence, that ſticketh faſt in vs, as it were a pricke, in ſo much that it conſtrained Paul himſelfe being regenerate, to cry out, I doe not that good that I would, &c. And he calleth it a pricke, by a borrowed kinde of ſpeach taken from thornes, or ſtumpe, which are very dangerous and hurtfull for the feete, if a man walke through woods that are cut downe.

[g] Which ſetteth thoſe luſts on fire,

for thee: for my power is made perfect through weakeneſſe. [4] Very gladly therefore will I reioyce rather in mine infirmities, that the power of Chriſt may [i] dwell in me.

10 Therefore I take [k] pleaſure in infirmities, in reproaches, in neceſſities, in perſecutions, in anguiſh for Chriſtes ſake: for when I am weake, then am I ſtrong.

11 I was a foole to boaſt my ſelfe: yee haue compelled me: [5] for I ought to haue bene commended of you: for in nothing was I inferiour vnto the very chiefe Apoſtles, though I be nothing.

12 The [l] ſigne of an Apoſtle were wrought among you with all patience, with ſignes, and wonders and great works.

13 For what is it, wherein yee were inferiours vnto other Churches, ✤ except that I haue not bene [m] ſlouthfull to your hinderance? forgiue mee this wrong.

14 Behold, the third time I am ready to come vnto you, and yet will I not be ſlouthfull to your hinderance: for I ſeeke not yours, but you: for the children ought not to lay vp for the fathers, but the fathers for the children.

15 And I will moſt gladly beſtow, and will be beſtowed for your ſoules: though the more I loue you, the leſſe I am loued.

16 [6] But be it that I charged you not: yet for as much as I was craftie, I tooke you with guile.

17 Did I pill you by any of them whom I ſent vnto you?

18 I haue deſired Titus, and with him I haue ſent a brother: did Titus pill you of any thing? walked we not in the ſelfe ſame ſpirit? vvalked vve not in the ſame ſteps?

19 [7] Againe, thinke yee that wee excuſe our ſelues vnto you? we ſpeake before God in [n] Chriſt. But vve doe all things, dearely beloued, for your edifying.

20 [8] For I feare leaſt when I come, I ſhall not find you ſuch as I would: and that I ſhallbe found vnto you ſuch as ye would not: and leaſt there be ſtrife, enuying, wrath, contentions, backbitings, whiſperings, ſwellings, and diſcord.

21 I feare leaſt when I come againe, my God abaſe me among you, and I ſhall bewaile many of them which haue ſinned already, and haue not repented of the vncleanneſſe, and fornication, and wantonneſſe which they haue committed.

4 He concludeth, that hee will onely ſee his miſeries againſt the vaine bragges of the falſe apoſtles, and therewith alſo excuſeth himſelfe, for that by their importunitie, he was conſtrained to ſpeake ſo much of theſe things as he did: to wit, becauſe that if his Apoſtleſhip were ſubuerted his doctrine muſt needes fall.

i That I might feele the vertue of Chriſt more and more: For the weaker that our tabernacles are, the more doeth Chriſts vertue appeare in them.

k I doe not onely take them patiently and with a good heart, but alſo I take great pleaſure in them.

5 Againe he maketh the Corinthians witneſſes of thoſe things whereby God had ſealed his Apoſtleſhippe amongſt them, and againe he deſireth by certaine arguments, how farre hee is from all courtouſneſſe, and alſo how he is affectioned towards them.

l The arguments whereby it may well appeare, that I am indeede an Apoſtle of Ieſus Chriſt.

✤ Chap. 11,9.

m I was not ſlouthfull in getting my liuing with mine owne hands, that I might not be burdenſome to you. 6 He putteth away another moſt grieuous ſlaunder, to wit, that he did ſubtilly and by others, make his gaine and profite of them. 7 Hee concludeth, that hee writeth not theſe things vnto them, as though hee needed to defend himſelfe, for hee is guiltie of nothing: but becauſe it is behoueable for them to doubt nothing of his fidelitie who inſtructed them. n As it becommeth him to ſpeake truely and ſincerely, that profeſſeth himſelfe to be in Chriſt, that is to ſay, to be a Chriſtian. 8 Hauing confirmed his authoritie vnto them, he rebuketh them ſharpely, and threatneth them alſo like an Apoſtle, ſhewing that he will not ſpare them hereafter, vnleſſe they repent, ſeeing that this is the third time that he hath warned them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Comming the third time, 2 he denounceth the ſharper vengeance toward them, 5 who haue a perfect triall of the power of Chriſt in his Apoſtleſhip: 10 At length hee prayeth for their repentance, 11 And wiſheth them proſperitie.

LO this is the third time that I come vnto you. ✤ In the mouth of two or three witneſſes ſhall euery word ſtand.

2 I told you before, and tell you before: as though I had bene preſent the ſecond time, ſo write I now being abſent to them, which heretofore haue ſinned, and to all others, that if I come againe, I will not ſpare,

3 [1] Seeing that yee ſeeke experience of Chriſt, that ſpeaketh in mee, which towarde you is not weake, but is [a] mightie in you.

4 For though hee was crucified concerning [b] his infirmitie, yet liueth hee through the power of God. And we no doubt are weake in him, but we ſhall liue with him, through the power of God toward you.

5 ✤ [2] Prooue your ſelues whether ye are in the faith: examine your ſelues: knowe yee not your owne ſelues, how that Ieſus Chriſt is in you, except ye be reprobates?

6 [3] But I truſt that yee ſhall knowe that wee are not reprobates.

7 Nowe I pray vnto God that yee doe none euill, not that we ſhould ſeeme approoued, but that yee ſhould doe that which is honeſt: though wee be as [c] reprobates.

8 For wee can not doe any thing againſt the trueth, but for the trueth.

9 For wee are glad when we are weake, and that ye are ſtrong: this alſo we wiſh for, euen your [d] perfection.

10 Therefore write I theſe things being abſent, leaſt when I am preſent, I ſhould vſe ſharpneſſe, according to the power which the Lord hath giuen mee, to edification, and not to deſtruction.

11 [4] Finally brethren, fare ye well: be perfect: be of good comfort: be of one minde: liue in peace, and the God of loue and peace ſhall be with you.

12 [5] Greet one another with an * holy kiſſe. All the Saints ſalute you.

13 The grace of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, and the loue of God, and the communion of the holy Ghoſt be with you all, Amen.

✤ Deut. 19,17. mat. 18,16. Iohn. 8.17. hebr. 10,28.

1 A moſt ſharpe reprehenſion, for that, while they deſpiſe the Apoſtles admonitions, they tempt Chriſtes owne patience: and alſo while they contemne him as wretched and miſerable, they lay nothing herein againſt him, which is not common to him with Chriſt.

a And will be moſt mightie to be reuenged of you, when neede ſhalbe.

b As touching that baſe forme of a ſeruant which he tooke vpon him when he abaſed himſelfe.

✤ 1. Cor. 11,28.

2 He confirmeth that which he ſpake of the vertue of God appearing in his miniſterie, and he gathereth by the mutuall relation betweene the peoples faith and the miniſters preaching, that they muſt either reuerence his Apoſtleſhip, vpon whoſe doctrine their faith is grounded, or they muſt condemne themſelues of infidelitie, and muſt confeſſe themſelues not to be of Chriſtes body. 3 He mitigateth that ſharpeneſſe, truſting that they will ſhew themſelues towards their faithfull Apoſtle, apt and willingly to be taught: adding this moreouer, that he paſſeth not for his owne fame and eſtimation, ſo that hee may ſerue to their ſaluation, which is the onely marke that he ſhooteth at. c In mens iudgement. d That all things may be in good order amongſt you, and the members of the Church reſtored into their place, which haue bene ſhaken and out of place. 4 A briefe exhortation, but yet ſuch an one as comprehendeth all the partes of a Chriſtian mans life. 5 He ſaluteth them familiarly, and in concluſion wiſheth well vnto them. * 1. THE EPISTLE OF THE APOSTLE PAVL TO THE GALATIANS.

CHAP. I.

[1] Straight after the ſalutation, 6 He reprehendeth the Galatians for reuolting, 9 from his Goſpel, 15 which he receiued from God, 17 before he had communicated with any of the Apoſtles.

PAVL [1] an Apoſtle (not [a] of men, neither by [b] man, ✤ but by [c] Ieſus Chriſt, and God the Father which hath raiſed him from the dead.)

2 And all the brethren which are with me vnto the Churches of Galatia:

3 Grace be with you, and peace from God the Father, and from our Lord Ieſus Chriſt,

4 [2] Which gaue himſelfe for our ſinnes, that he might deliuer vs ✤ from this preſent euil [d] world according to the will of God euen our Father,

5 To whom be glory for euer and euer, Amen.

6 [3] I marueile that ye are ſo ſoone [e] remooued away vnto another Goſpel, from him that had called you in the grace of Chriſt.

7 [4] Which is not another Goſpel, ſaue that there be ſome which trouble you, and intend to [f] peruert the Goſpel of Chriſt.

8 But though that we, or an Angel from heauen preach vnto you otherwiſe then that which we haue preached vnto you, let him be [g] accurſed.

9 As we ſaid before, ſo ſay I now againe, If any man preach vnto you otherwiſe, then that yee haue receiued, let him be accurſed.

10 [5] For now preach I [h] mans doctrine, or Gods? or goe I about to pleaſe men? for if I ſhould yet pleaſe men, I were not the ſeruant of Chriſt.

11 * [6] Now I certifie you, brethren, that the Goſpel which was preached of me, was not after man.

12 For neither receiued I it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the [i] reuelation of Ieſus Chriſt.

13 [7] For ye haue heard of my conuerſation in time paſt, in the Iewiſh religion, how that ✤ I perſecuted the Church of God extremely, and waſted it,

14 And profited in the Iewiſh religion aboue many of my companions of mine owne nation, and was much more zealous of the [k] traditions of my fathers.

15 But when it pleaſed God (which had [l] ſeparated me from my mothers wombe, and called me by his grace.)

16 To reueale his Sonne [m] in mee, that I ſhould preach him ✤ among the Gentiles immediatly, [8] I communicated not with [n] fleſh and blood:

17 Neither came I againe to Hieruſalem to them which were Apoſtles before me, but I went into Arabia, and turned againe vnto Damaſcus

18 Then after three yeeres I came againe to Hieruſalem, to viſite Peter, and aboade with him fifteene dayes.

19 And none other of the Apoſtles ſaw I, ſaue Iames the Lords brother.

20 Now the things which I write vnto you, behold, I vvitneſſe [o] before God, that I lie not.

21 After that, I went into the coaſtes of Syria and Cilicia: for I was vnknowen by face vnto the Churches of Iudea which were in Chriſt.

22 But they had heard onely ſome ſay, He which perſecuted vs in time paſt, nowe preacheth the [p] faith which before he deſtroyed.

23 And they glorified God for me.

[1] A ſalutation comprehending in few words, the ſumme of the Apoſtles doctrine, and alſo beſides ſtraightway from the beginning, ſhewing the grauitie meete for the authoritie of an Apoſtle, which he had to maintaine againſt the falſe apoſtles.

[a] He ſheweth who is the authour of the miniſter generally: for herein the whole miniſtery agreeth, that whether they be Apoſtles, or Shepheards, or Doctours, they are appointed of God.

[b] He toucheth the inſtrumental cauſe: for this is a peculiar prerogatiue to the Apoſtles, to be called immediatly from Chriſt.

[c] Chriſt no doubt is man, but hee is God alſo, and head of the Church, and in this reſpect to be exempted out of the number of men.

[2] The ſumme of the true Goſpel is this, that Chriſt by his onely offering, ſaueth vs being choſen out from the world, by the free decree of God the Father. ✤ Luke 1,74. [d] Out of that muſt corrupt ſtate which is without Chriſt.

[3] The firſt part of the Epiſtle wherein he witneſſeth that he is an Apoſtle, nothing inferiour to thoſe chiefe diſciples of Chriſt, and wholly agreeing with them, whoſe names the falſe apoſtles did abuſe. And he beginneth with chiding, reprouing them of lightneſſe for that they haue eare ſo eaſily vnto them which peruerted them and drew them away to a new Goſpel. [e] He vſeth the paſſiue voyce, to caſt the fault vpon the falſe apoſtles, and he vſeth the time that now is, to giue them to vnderſtand, that it was not already done, but in doing. [4] He warneth them in time to remember that there are not many Goſpels, and therefore whatſoeuer theſe falſe apoſtles pretend which had the Law, Moſes and the Fathers in their mouthes, yet they are in deede ſo many corruptions of the true Goſpel, inſomuch, that hee himſelfe, yea, and the very Angels themſelues, (and therefore much more theſe falſe apoſtles) ought to be holden accurſed, if they goe about to change the leaſt iote that may be in the Goſpel, that hee deliuered to them before. [f] For there is nothing more contrary to faith or free iuſtification, then iuſtification by the Law, or by our deſeruing. [g] Looke Rom. 9.3. [5] A confirmation taken both from the nature of the doctrine it ſelfe, and alſo from that maner which he vſeth in teaching: for neither ſaith hee, did I teach thoſe things which pleaſed men as theſe men doe which put part of ſaluation in externall things, and workes of the Law, neither went I about to procure any mans fauour. And therefore the matter it ſelfe ſheweth that that doctrine which I deliuered vnto you, is heauenly. [h] Hee toucheth the falſe apoſtles who had nothing but men in their mouthes, and he, though hee would derogate nothing from the Apoſtles, preacheth God and not men. * 1.Cor.15,1. [6] A ſecond argument to prooue that this doctrine is heauenly, becauſe hee had it from heauen, from Ieſus Chriſt himſelfe, without any mans helpe, wherein hee excelleth them whom Chriſt taught here on earth after the maner of men. [i] This place is to be vnderſtood of an extraordinary reuelation, for otherwiſe the Sonne alone reuealed his Goſpel by his Spirit, although by the miniſtery of men, which Paul ſhutteth out here. [7] Hee prooueth that hee was extraordinarily taught of Chriſt himſelfe, by the hiſtory of his former life, which the Galatians themſelues know well ynough: for ſaith hee, it is well knowen in what ſchoole I was brought vp, euen from a childe, to wit, amongſt the deadly enemies of the Goſpel. And that no man may cauill and ſay that I was a ſcholler of the Phariſes in name onely and not in deede, no man is ignorant, how that I excelled in Phariſaiſme, and was ſuddenly made of a Phariſe, an Apoſtle of the Gentiles, ſo that I had no ſpace to be inſtructed of men.

[k] Hee calleth them the traditions of his Fathers, becauſe he was not only a Phariſe himſelfe, but alſo had a Phariſe to his father.

[l] He ſpeaketh of Gods euerlaſting predeſtination, whereby he appointed him to be an Apoſtle, whereof he maketh three degrees, the euerlaſting counſaile of God, his appointing from his mothers wombe, and his calling: here is no mention at all, we ſee, of workes forſeene.

[m] To me, and this is a kinde of ſpeech which the Hebrues vſe, whereby this is giuen vs to vnderſtand, that this gift commeth from God.

✤ Epheſ.3,8.

[8] Becauſe it might be obiected, that indeede he was called of Chriſt in the way, but afterwards was inſtructed of the Apoſtles and others, whoſe names (as I ſaid before) the falſe apoſtles abuſed to deſtroy his Apoſtleſhip, as though he deliuered another Goſpel then the true Apoſtles did, and as though hee were not of their number, which are to be credited without exception: therefore Paul anſwereth, that he began ſtraightway after his calling to preach the Goſpel at Damaſcus and in Arabia, and was not from that time in Hieruſalem but onely fifteene dayes, where hee ſaw onely Peter and Iames, and afterwards, he began to teach in Syria and Cilicia, with the conſent and approbation of the Churches of the Iewes, which knew him onely by name, ſo farre off was it, that he was there inſtructed of men. [n] With any man in the world. [o] This is a kinde of oathe. [p] The doctrine of faith.

CHAP. II.

[1] That the Apoſtles did nothing diſagree from his Goſpel, 3 he declareth by the example of Titus being vncircumciſed, 11 and alſo by his auouching the ſame againſt Peters diſſimulation. 17 And ſo he paſſeth to the handling of our free iuſtification by Chriſt, &c.

THen [1] fourteene yeeres after, I went vp againe to Hieruſalem with Barnabas, and tooke with me Titus alſo.

2 And I went vp by reuelation, and declared vnto them that Goſpel which I preach among the Gentiles, but particularly to them that were the chiefe, leaſt by any meanes I ſhould runne, or had runne [a] in vaine:

3 But neither yet Titus which was with mee, though he were a Grecian, was compelled to be circumciſed,

4 To wit, for the [b] falſe brethren which were craftily ſent in, and crept in priuily to ſpie out our liberty which we haue in Chriſt Ieſus, that they might bring vs into bondage.

5 To whom we gaue not place by [c] ſubiection for an houre, that the [d] trueth of the Goſpel might continue with [e] you.

6 But by them which ſeemed to be great, I vvas not taught (whatſoeuer they were in time paſſed, I am nothing the better: ✠ God accepteth no mans perſon) for they that are the chiefe, did adde nothing to me aboue that I had.

7 But contrarywiſe, when they ſawe that the Goſpel ouer the [f] vncircumciſion was committed vnto mee, as the Goſpel ouer the circumciſion was vnto Peter:

8 (For hee that was mighty by Peter in the Apoſtleſhip ouer the circumciſion, was alſo mighty by me toward the Gentiles.)

9 And when Iames, and Cephas, and Iohn, knew of the grace that was giuen vnto mee, which are [g] counted to be pillars, they gaue to me and to Barnabas the right [h] hands of fellowſhip, that wee ſhould preach vnto the Gentiles, and they vnto the circumciſion,

10 Warning onely that wee ſhould remember the poore: which thing alſo I was diligent to doe.

11 ¶ And when Peter was come to Antiochia, I withſtood him to his [i] face: for he was to be condemned.

12 [2] For before that certaine came from Iames, hee ate with the Gentiles: but when they were come, he withdrew and ſeparated himſelfe, fearing them which were of the circumciſion.

13 And the other Iewes played the hypocrites likewiſe with him, in ſo much that Barnabas was [k] led away with them by that their hypocriſie.

14 But when I ſaw, that they went not the [l] right way to the [m] trueth of the Goſpel, I ſaide vnto Peter before all men, If thou being a Iew, liueſt as the Gentiles, and not like the Iewes, why [n] conſtraineſt thou the Gentiles to doe like the Iewes?

15 [3] We vvhich are Iewes [o] by nature, and not [p] ſinners of the Gentiles, 16 Knowe that a man is not iuſtified by the works of the Law, but by the faith [q] of Ieſus Chriſt, euen we, I ſay, haue beleeued in Ieſus Chriſt, that we might be iuſtified by the faith of Chriſt, and not by the workes of the Lawe, becauſe that by the workes of the Law, [r] no fleſh ſhalbe iuſtified.

17 ✠ [4] If then while [ſ] we ſeeke to be made righteous by Chriſt, wee our ſelues are found ſinners, is Chriſt therefore the miniſter of ſinne? God forbid.

18 For if I builde againe the things that I haue deſtroyed, I make my ſelfe a treſpaſſer.

19 For I through the Law am dead to the [t] Law, that I might liue vnto God.

20 I am crucified with Chriſt, but I liue, yet not [u] I any more, but Chriſt liueth in mee: and in that that I nowe liue in the [x] fleſh, I liue by the faith in the Sonne of God, who hath loued me, and giuen himſelfe for me.

21 [5] I doe not abrogate the grace of God: for if righteouſneſſe be by the Lawe, then Chriſt died without a [y] cauſe.

CHAP. III.

1 He rebuketh them, for ſuffering themſelues to be drawen from the grace of free iuſtification in Chriſt, moſt liuely ſet out vnto them. 6 Hee bringeth in Abrahams example, 10 declaring the effects, 21 and cauſes of the giuing of the Law.

O [1] Fooliſh Galatians, who hath bewitched you, that ye ſhould not obey the trueth, to whom Ieſus Chriſt before was deſcribed in your [a] ſight, and among you crucified?

2 This onely would I learne of you, Receiued ye the [b] Spirit by the workes of the Law, or by the hearing of [c] faith preached?

3 [2] Are ye ſo fooliſh, that after ye haue begun in the Spirit, ye would now be made perfect by the [d] fleſh?

4 [3] Haue yee ſuffered ſo many things in vaine? if ſo be it be euen in vaine.

5 [4] Hee therefore that miniſtreth to you the Spirit, and worketh miracles among you, doeth hee it through the workes of the Lawe, or by the hearing of faith preached?

6 [5] Yea rather as [e] Abraham beleeued God, and it was ✠ imputed to him for righteouſneſſe.

7 [6] Know ye therefore, that they which are of faith, the ſame are the children of Abraham.

8 [7] For the Scripture foreſeeing, that God would iuſtifie the Gentiles through faith, preached before the Goſpel vnto Abraham, ſaying, ✠ [8] In thee ſhall all the Gentiles be [f] bleſſed.

9 [9] So then they which be of faith, are bleſſed [g] with faithfull Abraham.

---

[c] By ſubmitting our ſelues to them, and betraying our owne libertie.

[d] The true and ſincere doctrine of the Goſpel, which remained ſafe from being corrupt with any of theſe mens falſe doctrines.

[e] Vnder the Galatians name, he vnderſtandeth all nations.

✠ Deuter. 10,17. 2. chron. 19,7. iob 34,19. actes 10,34. rom. 2,11. epheſ. 6. 9. col. 3,25. 1. pet. 1,17.

[f] Among the Gentiles, as Peter had to preach it among the Iewes.

[g] Whom alone and onely, theſe men count for pillars of the Church, and whoſe name they abuſe to deceiue you.

[h] They gaue vs their hand in token that we agreed wholly to the doctrine of the Goſpel.

[i] Before all men.

[2] Another moſt vehement proofe of his Apoſtleſhip, and alſo of that doctrine, which he had deliuered concerning free iuſtification by faith onely becauſe that for this thing onely he reprehended Peter at Antioch, who offended herein, in that for a few Iewes ſakes which came from Hieruſalem he played the Iew, and offended the Gentiles which had beleeued.

[k] By example rather then by iudgement.

[l] Word for word, with a right foote: which he ſetteth againſt halting and diſſembling which is backward.

[m] He calleth the trueth of the Goſpel both the doctrine it ſelfe, and alſo the vſe of doctrine, which wee call the practiſe.

[n] Hee ſaith they were conſtrained, which played the Iewes by Peters example.

[3] The ſecond part of this Epiſtle, the ſtate whereof is this: we are iuſtified by faith in Chriſt Ieſus without the workes of the Law: which thing he propoundeth in ſuch ſort, that firſt of all hee meeteth with an obiection, (for I alſo ſaith hee am a Iew, that no man may ſay againſt mee, that I am an enemie to the Law) and afterward, he confirmeth it by the expreſſe witneſſe of Dauid.

[o] Although we be Iewes, yet we preach iuſtification by faith becauſe we know vndoubtedly, that no man can be iuſtified by the Law.

[p] So the Iewes called the Gentiles, becauſe they were ſtrangers from Gods couenant.

[q] In Ieſus Chriſt.

[r] No man, and in this word (fleſh) there is a great vehemencie, whereby is meant that the nature of man is vtterly corrupt.

✠ Rom. 3,19.

[4] Before he goeth any further, he meeteth with their obiection, which abhorred this doctrine of free iuſtification by faith, becauſe ſay they, men are by this meanes withdrawen from the ſtudy of good workes. And in this ſort is the obiection, If ſinners ſhould be iuſtified through Chriſt by faith without the Law Chriſt ſhould approue ſinners, and ſhould as it were exhort them therevnto by his miniſterie. Paul anſwereth that this conſequence is falſe, becauſe that Chriſt deſtroyeth ſinne in the beleeuers: For ſo ſaith hee, doe men flee vnto Chriſt, through the terrour and feare of the Law, that being quit from the curſe of the Law and iuſtified, they may be ſaued by him, that together therewithall, he beginneth in them by little and little, that ſtrength and power of his which deſtroyeth ſinne: to the end that this old man being aboliſhed by the vertue of Chriſt crucified, Chriſt may liue in them, and they may conſecrate themſelues to God. Therefore if any man giue himſelfe to ſinne after he hath receiued the Goſpel, let him not accuſe Chriſt nor the Goſpel, but himſelfe, for that he deſtroyeth the worke of God in himſelfe.

[ſ] He goeth from iuſtification to ſanctification, which is another benefit we receiue by Chriſt, if we lay hold on him by faith.

[t] The Law that terrifieth the conſcience, bringeth vs to Chriſt, and he onely cauſeth vs to die to the Law in deede, becauſe that by making vs righteous, he taketh away from vs the terrour of conſcience, and by ſanctifying vs, cauſeth through the mortifying of luſt in vs, that it cannot take ſuch occaſion to ſinne by the reſtraint which the Law maketh, as it did before, Rom. 7,10,11.

[u] The ſame that I was before.

[x] In this mortall body.

[5] The ſecond argument taken of an abſurditie: If men may be iuſtified by the Law, then was it not neceſſary for Chriſt to die.

[y] For there was no cauſe why he ſhould do ſo.

[1] The third reaſon or argument taken of thoſe gifts of the holy Ghoſt, wherewith they were indued from heauen after they had heard and beleeued the Goſpel by Pauls miniſterie: which ſeeing they were ſo euident to all mens eyes, that they were as it were liuely images, wherein they might behold the trueth of the doctrine of the Goſpel, no leſſe then if they had behold with their eyes Chriſt himſelfe crucified, in whoſe onely death they ought to haue their truſt, he marueileth how it could be that they could be ſo bewitched by the falſe apoſtles.

[a] Chriſt was laid before you, ſo notably and ſo plainely, that you had his liuely image as it were repreſented before your eyes, as if he had bene crucified before you.

[b] Thoſe ſpirituall graces and gifts, which were a ſeale as it were to the Galatians, that the Goſpel which was preached to them was true.

[c] Of the doctrine of faith.

[2] The fourth argument mixed with the former and it is double, If the Law be to be ioyned with faith, this were not to goe forward, but backward, ſeeing that thoſe ſpirituall gifts which were beſtowed vpon you, are more excellent then any that could proceed from your ſelues. And moreouer, it ſhould folow, that the Law is better then Chriſt, becauſe it ſhould perfite and bring to end that, which Chriſt began onely.

[d] By the (fleſh) he meaneth the ceremonies of the Law, againſt which he ſetteth the Spirit, that is, the ſpirituall working of the Goſpell.

[3] An exhortation by maner of vpbraiding, that they doe not in vaine ſuffer ſo many conflicts.

[4] He repeateth the third argument which was taken of the effects, becauſe hee had interlaced certaine other arguments by the way.

[5] The firſt argument which is of great force, and hath three grounds, The firſt, That Abraham was iuſtified by faith, to wit, by free imputation of righteouſneſſe according to the promiſe apprehended by faith, as Moſes doeth moſt plainely witneſſe.

[e] Looke Rom. 4.

✠ Gen. 15,6. rom. 4,3. iames 2,23.

[6] The ſecond, that the ſonnes of Abraham muſt be eſteemed and accounted of by faith.

[7] The third, that all people that beleeue, are without exception, comprehended in the promiſe of the bleſſing.

✠ Gene. 12,3. actes 3,25.

[8] A proofe of the firſt and ſecond grounds, out of the worde of Moſes.

[f] Bleſſing in this place, ſignifieth the free promiſe by faith

[9] The concluſion of the fifth argument: Therefore as Abraham is bleſſed by faith, ſo are all his children (that is to ſay, all the Gentiles that beleeue) bleſſed, that is to ſay, freely iuſtified.

[g] With faithfull Abraham, and not by faithfull Abraham, to giue vs to vnderſtand that the bleſſing commeth not from Abraham, but from him, by whom Arbaham and all his poſteritie is bleſſed.

10 [10] For as many as are of the works of the Lawe, are vnder the curſe: [11] For it is written, ♣ Curſed is euery man that continueth not in all things, which are written in the booke of the Law, to doe them.

11 [12] And that no man is iuſtified by the Law in the ſight of God, it is euident: ♣ for the iuſt ſhall liue by faith.

12 [13] And the Law is not of faith: but * the man that ſhall doe theſe things, ſhall liue in them.

13 [14] Chriſt hath redeemed vs from the curſe of the Law, made a curſe for vs, ([15] for it is written, ✱ [h] Curſed is euery one that hangeth on tree.)

14 [16] That the bleſſing of Abraham might come on the Gentiles through Chriſt Ieſus, that wee might receiue the promiſe of the Spirit through faith.

15 [17] Brethren, I ſpeake as [i] men doe: ✱ though it be but a mans couenant, when it is [k] confirmed, yet no man doth abrogate it, or addeth any thing thereto,

16 Now to Abraham and his ſeede were the promiſes made. He ſaith not, and to the ſeedes, as ſpeaking of many: but, And to thy ſeede, as of one, [18] which is [l] Chriſt.

17 [19] And this I ſay, that the couenant that was confirmed afore of God [m] in reſpect of Chriſt, the [20] Law which was foure hundreth and thirty yeeres after, cannot diſanull, that it ſhould make the promiſe of none effect.

18 [21] For if the [n] inheritance be of the Lawe, it is no more by the promiſe, but God gaue it freely vnto Abraham by promiſe.

19 [22] Wherefore then ſerueth the Law? It was added becauſe of the [o] tranſgreſsions, [p] till the ſeed came, vnto the which the promiſe was made: [23] & it was [q] ordained by [r] Angels in the hand of a Mediatour.

20 Nowe a Mediatour is not a Mediatour of one: [24] but God is one.

21 [25] Is the Lawe then againſt the promiſes of God? God forbid: For if there had beene a Lawe giuen which could haue giuen life, ſurely righteouſneſſe ſhould haue bene by the Lawe.

22 But the [ſ] Scripture hath ♣ concluded [t] all vnder ſinne, that the [u] promiſe by the faith of Ieſus Chriſt ſhould be giuen unto them that beleeue.

23 [26] But before faith came, we were kept vnder the Law, as vnder a gariſon, and ſhut vp vnto [x] that faith, which ſhould afterward be reuealed.

24 Wherefore the Law was our ſchoolemaſter to bring vs to Chriſt, that we might be made righteous by faith.

25 But after that faith is come, we are no longer vnder a ſchoolemaſter.

26 [27] For ye are all the ſonnes of God by faith, in Chriſt Ieſus.

27 [28] For all ye that are [y] baptized into Chriſt, haue [z] put on Chriſt.

28 There is neither Iew nor Grecian: there is neither bond nor free: there is neither male nor female: for ye are all [a] one in Chriſt Ieſus.

29 And if ye be Chriſtes, then are ye Abrahams ſeede, and heires by promiſe.

10 The ſixth argument, the concluſion whereof is alſo in the former verſe taken of contraries, thus, They are accurſed which are of the workes of the Law, that is to ſay, which value their righteous by the performance of the Law. Therefore they are bleſſed which are of faith, that is, they which haue righteouſneſſe by faith. 11 A proofe of the former ſentence or propoſition: and the propoſition of this argument is this: Curſed is hee that fulfilleth not the whole Law. ♣ Deut.27,26. 12 The ſecond propoſition with the concluſion: But no man fulfilleth the Law. Therefore no man is iuſtified by the Law, or els, which ſeeke righteouſneſſe by the workes of the Law. And there is annexed alſo this maner of proofe of the ſecond propoſition, to wit, Righteouſneſſe, and life are attributed to faith, Therefore no man fulfilleth the Law. ♣ Hab.2,4. rom.1,17. heb.10,10. 13 Here is a reaſon ſhewed of the former conſequence: Becauſe the Lawe promiſeth life to all that keepe it, and therefore if it be kept, it iuſtifieth and giueth life. But the Scripture attributing righteouſneſſe and life to faith, taketh it from the Lawe, ſeeing that faith iuſtifieth by imputation, and the Law by the performing of the worke. * Leuit.18,5. 14 A preuenting of an obiection: How then can they be bleſſed, whom the Law pronounceth to be accurſed? Becauſe Chriſt ſuſteined the curſe which the Law laid vpon vs, that we might be quit from it. 15 A proofe of the anſwere by the teſtimonie of Moſes.. ✱ Leut.21,13. h Chriſt was accurſed for vs, becauſe he bare the curſe that was due to vs, to make vs partakers of his righteouſneſſe. 16 A concluſion of all that was ſayd before in the handling of the fifth and ſixth reaſons, to wit, that both the Gentiles are made partakers of the free bleſſing of Abraham in Chriſt, and alſo that the Iewes themſelues, of whoſe number the Apoſtle counteth himſelfe to bee, cannot obtaine that promiſed grace of the Goſpel, which he calleth the Spirit, but onely by faith. And the Apoſtle doth ſeuerally apply the concluſion, both to the one and the other, preparing himſelfe a way, to the next argument, whereby he declareth, that that one onely ſeed of Abraham, which is made of all peoples can no otherwiſe be ioyned and growe vp together, but by faith in Chriſt. 17 He putteth forth two generall rulers before the next argument, which is the ſeuenth in order: That one is, that it is not lawfull to breake couenants and contracts which are iuſtly made and according to Law amongſt men, neither may any thing be added vnto them: The other is, that God did ſo make a couenant with Abraham, that hee would gather together his children which conſiſt both of Iewes and Gentiles into one body (as appeareth by that which hath bene ſaid before.) For he did not ſay, that he would be the God of Abraham and of his ſeedes, (which things notwithſtanding ſhould haue bene ſayd, if he had many and diuers ſeedes, as the Gentiles apart and the Iewes apart,) but that he would be the God of Abraham, and of his ſeede, as of one. i I will vſe an example which is common among you, that you may be aſhamed you giue not ſo much to Gods couenants, as you doe to mans. ✱ Heb,9,17, k Authenticall, as we call it. 18 He putteth forth the ſumme of the ſeuenth argument, to wit, that both the Iewes and Gentiles growe together into one body of the ſeede of Abraham, in Chriſt onely, ſo that all are one in Chriſt, as it is afterward declared, verſ.21. l Paul ſpeaketh not of Chriſts perſon, but of two peoples, which grew together in one, in Chriſt. 19 The eight argument taken of compariſon, thus: If a mans couenant (being authenticall) be firme and ſtrong, much more Gods couenant. Therefore the Law was not giuen to abrogate the promiſe made to Abraham, which had reſpect to Chriſt, that is to ſay, the end whereof did hang of Chriſt. m Which tendeth to Chriſt 20 An enlarging of that argument, thus: Moreouer and beſides that the promiſe is of it ſelfe firme and ſtrong, it was alſo confirmed with the preſcription of long time, to wit, of 430. yeeres, ſo that it could in no wiſe be broken. 21 An obiection: We grant that the promiſe was not abrogated by the couenant of the Law, and therefore we ioyne the Law with the promiſe. Nay, ſaith the Apoſtle, theſe two cannot ſtand together, to wit, that the inheritance ſhould both be giuen by the Law and alſo by promiſe, for the promiſe is free: whereby it followeth, that the Law was not giuen to iuſtifie, for by that meane the promiſe ſhould be broken. n By this word (inheritance) is meant the right of the ſeed, which is, that God ſhould be our God, that is to ſay, that by vertue of the couenant that was made with faithfull Abraham, we that be faithfull, might by that meanes be bleſſed of God as well as he.

22 An obiection which riſeth of the former anſwere: If the inheritance be not by the Law (at the leaſt in part) then why was the Law giuen, after that the promiſe was made? Therefore ſaith the Apoſtle, to reproue men of ſinne, and ſo teach them to looke vnto Chriſt; in whom at length that promiſe of ſauing all people together ſhould be fulfilled, and not that the Law was giuen to iuſtifie men. o That men might vnderſtand, by diſcouering of their ſinnes, by the onely grace of God, which he reuealed to Abraham, and that in Chriſt. p Vntill the partition wall was broken downe, and that full ſeede ſprang vp, framed of two peoples, both of Iewes and Gentiles: for by this word Seede, we may not vnderſtand, Chriſt alone by himſelfe, but coupled and ioyned together with his bodie. 23 A confirmation of the former anſwere taken from the maner and forme of giuing the Law: for it was giuen by Angels, ſtriking a great terrour into all, and by Moſes a Mediatour comming betweene. Now they that are one, neede no Mediatour, but they that are twaine at the leaſt, and that are at variance one with another. Therefore the Law it ſelfe and the Mediatour, were witneſſes of the wrath of God, and not that God would by this meanes reconcile men to himſelfe, and aboliſh the promiſe, or adde the Law vnto the promiſe. q Commanded and giuen, or proclaimed. r By the ſeruice and miniſterie. 24 A taking away of an obiection, leaſt any man might ſay, that ſometimes by conſent of the parties which haue made a couenant, ſomething is added to the couenant, or the former couenants are broken. This, ſayth the Apoſtle, commeth to paſſe in God, who is alwayes one, and the ſelfe ſame, and like himſelfe. 25 The concluſion vttered by a maner of asking a queſtion, and it is the ſame that was vttered before, verſe 17. but proceeding of another rule: ſo that the argument is new, and is this: God is alwayes like vnto himſelfe: Therefore the Law was not giuen to aboliſh the promiſes. But it ſhould aboliſh them if it gaue life, for by that meanes it ſhould iuſtifie, and therefore it ſhould aboliſh that iuſtification which was promiſed to Abraham and to his ſeede by faith. Nay it was rather giuen to bring to light the guiltineſſe of all men, to the end that all beleeuers fleeing to Chriſt promiſed, might be freely iuſtified in him. ſ By this word, Scripture, he meaneth the Law. ♣ Rom.3,9. t All men, and whatſoeuer commeth from man. u In euery one of theſe wordes, there lyeth an argument againſt the merites of workes, for all theſe words, promiſe, faith, Chriſt, might be giuen, to beleeuers, are againſt merites, and not one of them can ſtand with deſeruing workes. 26 Now there followeth another handling of the ſecond part of this Epiſtle: the ſtate whereof is this: Although the Law (that is, the whole gouernement of Gods houſe according to the Lawe) doe not iuſtifie, is it therefore to be aboliſhed, ſeeing that Abraham himſelfe was circumciſed, and his poſteritie held ſtill the vſe of Moſes Law? Paul affirmeth that it ought to be aboliſhed, becauſe it was inſtituted for that end and purpoſe, that it ſhould be as it were a ſchoolemaſter and keeper to the people of God, vntill the promiſe appeared in deede, that is to ſay, Chriſt, and the Goſpel manifeſtly publiſhed with great efficacie of the Spirit. x The cauſe why wee were kept vnder the Law, is ſet downe here. 27 Becauſe age changeth not the condition of ſeruants, hee addeth that wee are free by condition, and therefore, ſeeing wee are out of our childehoode, wee haue no more neede of a keeper and Schoolemaſter. 28 Vſing a generall particle, leaſt the Iewes at the leaſt ſhould not thinke themſelues bound with the band of the Law, hee pronounceth that Baptiſme is common to all beleeuers, becauſe it is a pledge of our deliuerie in Chriſt, as well to the Iewes as to the Grecians, that by this meanes all may be truely one in Chriſt, that is to ſay, that promiſed ſeede to Abraeam and inheritours of euerlaſting life. y He ſetteth Baptiſme ſecretly againſt circumciſion, which the falſe apoſtles ſo much bragged of. z The Church muſt put on Chriſt, as it were a garment, and be couered with him, that it may be throughly holy, and without blame. a You are all as one: and ſo in this great knot and coniunction ſignified.

CHAP. IV.

1 Being deliuered from the bondage of the Lawe, 4 by Chriſtes comming, who is the end thereof, 9 it is very abſurd to ſlide backe to beggerly ceremonies: 13 Hee calleth them againe therefore to the puritie of the doctrine of the Goſpel, 21 confirming his diſcourſe with a fine allegorie.

THen [1] I ſay, that the heire as long is hee is a child, differeth nothing from a ſeruant, though he be Lord of all,

2 But is vnder tutors and gouernours, [a] vntill the time appointed of the Father.

3 Euen ſo we, when we were children, were in bondage vnder the [b] rudiments of the world.

4 [2] But when the [c] fulneſſe of time was come, God ſent forth his Sonne made of a [d] woman, and made vnder the Lawe,

5 That hee might redeeme them which were vnder the Law, that we ✣ might receiue the [e] adoption of the ſonnes.

6 [3] And becauſe ye are ſonnes, God hath [f] ſent foorth the [g] Spirit of his Sonne into your hearts, which crieth, Abba, Father.

7 Wherefore, thou art no more a [h] ſeruant, but a ſonne: now if thou be a ſonne, thou art alſo the [i] heire of God through Chriſt.

8 [4] But euen then, when yee knewe not God, yee did ſeruice vnto them, which by nature are not gods:

9 But nowe ſeeing ye know God, yea, rather are knowen of God, howe turne yee againe vnto impotent and [k] beggerly rudiments, whereunto as from the beginning ye will be in bondage [l] againe?

10 Yee obſerue dayes, and moneths, and times, and yeeres.

11 I am in feare of you, leaſt I haue beſtowed on you labour in vaine.

12 [5] Be ye as I (for I am euen as you) brethren, I beſeech you: ye haue not hurt me at all.

13 And ye know, how through [m] infirmitie of the fleſh, I preached the Goſpel vnto you at the firſt.

14 And the [n] trial of me which was in my fleſh, ye deſpiſed not, neither abhorred: but ye receiued me as an Angel of God, yea, as [o] Chriſt Ieſus.

15 [p] What whas then your felicitie? for I beare you record, that if it had bene poſſible, yee would haue plucked out your owne eyes, and haue giuen them vnto me.

16 Am I therefore become your enemie, becauſe I tell you the trueth?

17 They are ielous ouer you [q] amiſſe: yea, they would exclude you, [r] that yee ſhould altogether loue them.

18 But it is a good thing to loue [ſ] earneſtly alwayes in a good thing, and not onely when I am preſent with you.

19 My little children, of whom I trauaile in birth againe, vntill Chriſt be formed in you.

20 And I would I were with you now, that I might [t] chance my voice: for I am in doubt of you.

21 [6] Tell me, ye that [u] will be vnder the Law, doe ye not heare the Law?

22 For it is written, that Abraham had two ſonnes, ✣ one by a ſeruant, and § one by a free woman.

23 But he which was of the ſeruant, was borne after the [x] fleſh: and he which was of the free woman, vvas borne by [y] promiſe.

24 By the which things another thing is meant: for [z] theſe mothers are the [a] two Teſtaments, the one which is Agar of mount [b] Sina, which gendreth vnto bondage.

25 (For Agar or Sina is a mountaine in Arabia, and it [c] anſwered to Hieruſalem which nowe is) and [d] ſhe is in bondage with her children.

26 But Hieruſalem, which is [e] aboue, is free: which is the mother of vs all.

27 [7] For it is written, * Reioyce thou barren that beareſt no children: breake foorth, & cry, thou that trauaileſt not: for the [f] deſolate hath many moe children, then ſhe which hath an huſband.

28 * Therefore, brethren, wee are after the [g] maner of Iſaac, children of the [h] promiſe.

29 But as then hee that was borne after the [i] fleſh, perſecuted him that vvas borne after the [k] Spirit, euen ſo it is now.

---

[1] Hee declareth that by another double ſimilitude, which he ſayd before concerning the keeper and ſcholemaſter For hee ſaith, that the Law, (that is, the whole gouernement of Gods houſe according to the Law) was as it were a tutour or ouerſeer appointed for a time, vntill ſuch time as that protection and ouerſeeing which was but for a time, being ended, we ſhould at length come to be at our owne libertie, and ſhould liue as children, and not as ſeruants. Moreouer, hee ſheweth by the way, that that gouernance of the Law, was as it were an A B C, and as certaine principles in compariſon of the doctrine of the Goſpel.

[a] This is added, becauſe he that is alwayes vnder a tutor and gouernour, may hardly be counted a freeman.

[b] The Law is called rudiments, becauſe that by the Law God inſtructed his Church as it were by rudimẽts, and afterward powred out his holy Spirit moſt plentifully in the time of the Goſpel.

[2] He vttereth and declareth many things at once, to wit, that this tutorſhip was ended at his time, that curious men may leaue to aske, why that ſcholemaſterſhip laſted ſo long. And moreouer, that wee are not ſonnes by nature, but by adoption, and that in that Sonne of God, who therefore tooke vpon him our fleſh, that we might be made his brethren.

[c] The time is ſayd to be full, when all parts of it are paſt and ended, and therefore Chriſt could not haue come either ſooner of later.

[d] Hee calleth Marie a woman, in reſpect of the ſexe, and not as the word is vſed in a contrary ſenſe to a virgine ſtill.

✣ Rom. 8, 15.

[e] The adoption of the ſonnes of God, is from euerlaſting, but is reuealed and ſhewed in the time appointed for it.

[3] He ſheweth that we are in ſuch ſort free and ſet at libertie, that in the meane ſeaſon we muſt be gouerned by the Spirit of Chriſt, which reigning in our hearts, may teach vs the true ſeruice of the Father. But this is not to ſerue, but rather to enioy true liberalitie, as it commeth ſonnes and heires.

[f] By that that followeth he gathereth that that went before: for if wee haue his Spirit, we are his ſonnes, and if we are his ſonnes, then are we free.

[g] The holy Ghoſt, who is both of the Father and of the Sonne: but there is a peculiar reaſon why he is called the Spirit of the Sonne, to wit, becauſe the holy Ghoſt ſealeth vp our adoption in Chriſt, and maketh vs a full aſſurance of it.

[h] The word, ſeruant, is not taken here for one that liueth in ſinne, which is proper to the infidels, but for one that is yet vnder the ceremonies of the Law, which is proper to the Iewes.

[i] Partaker of this bleſsings.

[4] He applieth the former doctrine to the Galatians, with a peculiar reprehenſion: for in compariſon of them, the Iewes might haue predended ſome excuſe as men that were borne and brought vp in that ſeruice of the Law. But ſeeing the Galatians were taken and called out of idolatrie to Chriſtian liberty: what pretence might they haue to go backe to thoſe impotent and beggerly rudiments?

[k] They are called impotent and beggerly ceremonies, being conſidered apart by themſelues without Chriſt: and againe, for that by that meanes they gaue good teſtimonie that they were beggers in Chriſt, when as notwithſtanding, for men, to fall backe from Chriſt to ceremonies, is nothing els, but to caſt away riches, and to follow beggerly.

[5] He mitigateth and qualifieth thoſe things wherein he might haue ſeemed to haue ſpoken ſome what ſharply, very artificiouſly and diuinely, declaring his good will towards them in ſuch ſort, that the Galatians could not but either be vtterly deſperate when they reade theſe things, or acknowledge their owne lightnes with teares and deſire pardon

[m] Many afflictions.

[n] Thoſe dayly troubles wherewith the Lord tried me amongſt you.

[o] For my miniſteries ſake.

[p] What a talke was there abroade in the world amongſt men, how happie you were?

[q] For they are ielous ouer you for their owne commoditie.

[r] That they may conuey all your loue from me to themſelues.

[ſ] He ſetteth his owne true and good loue, which was earneſtly bent towards them, againſt the naughtie vicious loue of the falſe apoſtles.

[t] Vſe other words among you.

[6] Becauſe the falſe apoſtles alwayes vrged this, that vnleſſe the Gentiles were circumciſed, Chriſt could profite them nothing at all, and this diſſenſion of them which beleeued of the circumciſion, againſt them which beleeued of the vncircumciſion, was full of offence: the Apoſtle, after diuers arguments whereby he hath refuted their errour, bringeth foorth an allegorie, wherein hee ſayeth the holy Ghoſt did ſhadow not vnto vs, all theſe myſteries: to wit, that it ſhould come to paſſe, that two ſorts of ſonnes ſhould haue Abraham a father common to them both, but not with like ſucceſſe: for as Abraham begate Iſmael, by the common courſe of nature, of Agar his bondmaide and a ſtranger and begate Iſaac of Sara a free woman by the vertue of the promiſe and by grace onely, and the firſt was not onely not heire, but alſo perſecuted the heire: So there are two couenants, and as it were two ſonnes borne to Abraham of thoſe two couenants, as it were of two mothers. The one was made in Sina, without the land of promiſe according to which couenant Abrahams children according to the fleſh were begotten: to wit, the Iewes which ſeeke righteouſnes by that couenant, that is, by the Law: but they are not heires, nay they ſhall at length bee caſt out of the houſe, as they that perſecute the true heires. The other was made in that high Hieruſalem or in Sion, (to wit, by the ſacrifice of Chriſt) which begetteth children of promiſe, to wit, beleeuers by the vertue of the holy Ghoſt which children (as Abraham) do reſt themſelues in the free promiſe, and they onely by the right of children ſhall be partakers of the fathers inheritance, and thoſe ſeruants ſhalbe ſhut out.

[x] As all men are, and by the common courſe of nature.

[y] By vertue of the promiſe, which Abraham layd hold on for himſelfe and his true ſeed, for otherwiſe Abraham and Sara were paſt begetting and bearing children.

[z] Theſe doe repreſent and ſhadowe foorth.

[a] They are called two couenants, one of the old Teſtament, and an other of the New: which were not two in deede, but in reſpect of the times, and the diuerſitie of the gouernement.

[b] He maketh mention of Sina, becauſe that couenant was made in that mountaine, of which mountaine Agar was a ſhadow.

[c] Looke how the caſe ſtandeth betwixt Agar and her children, euen ſo ſtandeth it betweene Ieruſalem and hers.

[e] Which is excellent, and of great account.

Hee ſheweth that in this allegorie, hee hath followed the ſteppes of Eſay, who foretold that the Church ſhould bee made and conſiſt of the children of barren Sara, that is to ſay, of them which onely ſpiritually ſhould be made Abrahams children by faith, rather then of fruitfull Agar euen then foreſhewing the caſting off of the Iewes, & calling of the Gentiles.

[g] After the maner of Iſaac who is the firſt begotten of the heauenly Hieruſalem, as Iſmael is of the ſlauiſh Synagogue.

[h] That ſeede, vnto which the promiſe belongeth.

[i] By the common courſe of nature.

[k] By the vertue of Gods promiſe and after a ſpirituall maner.

30 But what ſaith the Scripture? ✣ Put out the ſeruant and her ſonne: for the ſonne of the ſeruant ſhall not be heire with the ſonne of the free woman.

31 [8] Then brethren, we are not children of the ſeruant, but of the free woman.

✣ Gene.21,10.

8 The concluſion of the former allegory, that we by no meanes procure and call backe againe the ſlauery of the Law, ſeeing that the children of the bondmaide ſhall not be heires.

CHAP. V.

1 Hauing declared that we came of the free woman, hee ſheweth the price of that freedome, 13 and how wee ſhould vſe the ſame, 16 that we may obey the Spirit, 19 and reſiſt the fleſh.

Stand faſt therefore in the libertie wherewith Chriſt hath made vs free, and be not intangled againe with the yoke of bondage.

2 [1] ✣ Beholde, I Paul ſay vnto you, that if yee be [a] circumciſed, Chriſt ſhall profit you nothing.

3 For I teſtifie againe to euery man, which is circumciſed, that he is bound to keepe the whole Law.

4 Ye are * [b] aboliſhed from Chriſt: whoſoeuer are [c] iuſtified by the Law, ye are fallen from grace.

5 [9] For wee through the [d] Spirit waite for the hope of righteouſneſſe through faith.

6 [3] For in Ieſus Chriſt neither circumciſion auaileth any thing, neither [4] vncircumciſion, [5] but [e] faith which worketh by loue.

7 [6] Ye did runne well: who did let you, that ye did not obey the trueth?

8 [7] It is not the perſwaſion of [f] him that calleth you.

9 * [8] A little leauen doeth leauen the whole lumpe.

10 [9] I haue truſt in you through the Lord, that ye will be none otherwiſe minded: but hee that troubleth you, ſhall beare his condemnation, whoſoeuer he be.

11 [10] And brethren, if I yet preach circumciſion, why doe I yet ſuffer perſecution? Then is the ſlander of the croſſe aboliſhed.

12 [11] Would to God they were euen cut off which doe [g] diſquiet you.

13 For brethren, ye haue bene called vnto libertie: [12] onely vſe not your libertie as an occaſion vnto the fleſh, but by loue ſerue one another.

14 [13] For [h] all the Law is fulfilled in one word, which is this, ✣ Thou ſhalt loue thy neighbour as thy ſelfe.

15 [14] If ye bite and deuoure one another, take heede leaſt ye be conſumed one of another.

16 [15] Then I ſay, ✣ Walke in the Spirit, and ye ſhall not fulfill the luſts of the fleſh.

17 For the [i] fleſh luſteth againſt the Spirit, and the Spirit againſt the fleſh: and theſe are contrarie one to another, ſo that yee cannot doe the ſame things that ye would.

18 And if ye be led by the Spirit, ye are not vnder the Law.

19 [16] Moreouer the works of the fleſh are manifeſt, which are adulterie, fornication, vncleannes, wantonneſſe,

20 Idolatrie, witchcraft, hatred, debate, emulations, wrath, contentions, ſeditions, hereſies,

21 Enuie, murthers, drunkenneſſe, gluttonie, and ſuch like, whereof I tell you before, as I alſo haue tolde you before, that they which doe ſuch things, ſhall not inherite the kingdome of God.

22 But the [k] fruite of the Spirit is loue, ioy, peace, long ſuffering, gentleneſſe, goodneſſe, faith, 23 Meekenes, temperancie: [17] againſt ſuch there is no law.

24 For they that are Chriſts, haue crucified the fleſh with the affections and the luſtes.

25 If we [l] liue in the Spirit, let vs alſo walke in the Spirit.

26 [18] Let vs not be deſirous of vaine glorie, prouoking one another, enuying one another.

1 An other obteſtation wherein he plainely witneſſeth that iuſtification of workes, and iuſtification of faith cannot ſtand together, becauſe no man can be iuſtified by the Law, but he that doeth fully and perfectly fulfill it. And he taketh the example of circumciſion, becauſe it was the ground of all the ſeruice of the Law, and was chiefly vrged of the falſe Apoſtles.

a Circumciſion is in other places called the ſeale of righteouſneſſe, but here we muſt haue conſideration of the circumſtance of the Baptiſme come in the place of circumciſion. And moreouer Paul reaſoneth according to the opinion that his enemies had of it, which made circumciſion a piece of their ſaluation. * 1.Cor.1,17. b That is, as he himſelfe expoundeth it afterwards, ye are fallen from grace. c That is, ſeeke to be iuſtified by the Law, for in deede no man is iuſtified by the Law. 2 He priuily compareth the new people with the old: for it is certaine that they alſo did ground all their hope of iuſtification and life in faith and not in circumciſion, but ſo, that their faith was wrapped in the externall and ceremoniall worſhip: but our faith is bare and content with ſpirituall worſhip. d Through the Spirit, which ingendreth faith. 3 He addeth a reaſon, for that now circumciſion is aboliſhed, ſeeing that Chriſt is exhibited vnto vs with full plentie of ſpirituall circumciſion. 4 He maketh mention alſo of vncircumciſion, leaſt the Gentiles ſhould pleaſe themſelues in it, as the Iewes doe in circumciſion. 5 The taking away of an obiection: If all that worſhip of the Lawe be taken away, wherein then ſhall we exerciſe our ſelues? In charitie, ſayeth Paul: for faith, whereof we ſpeake, cannot be idle, nay it bringeth forth daily fruits of charitie. e So is true faith diſtinguiſhed from counterfeit faith: for charitie is not ioyned to faith as a fellow cauſe, to helpe forward our iuſtification with faith. 6 Againe he chideth the Galatians, but with an admiration, and therewithall a praiſe of their former race, to the end that he may make them more aſhamed. 7 He playeth the part of an Apoſtle with them, and vſeth his authoritie, denying that that doctrine can come from God which is contrary to his. f Of God. * 1.Corinth.5,6. 8 Hee addeth this, that he may not ſeeme to contend vpon a trifle, warning them diligently (by a ſimilitude which he boroweth of leauen, as Chriſt himſelfe alſo did) not to ſuffer the purity of the Apoſtolicall doctrine, to be infected with the leaſt corruption that may be. 9 He mitigateth the former reprehenſion, caſting the fault vpon the falſe Apoſtles, againſt whom he denounceth the horrible iudgement of God. 10 Hee willeth them to conſider how that he ſeeketh not his owne profit in this matter, ſeeing that he could eſchewe the hatred of men, if he would ioyne Iudaiſme with Chriſtianitie. 11 An example of a true Paſtour inflamed with the zeale of Gods glorie and loue of his flocke. g For they that preach the Law, cauſe mens conſciences alwayes to tremble.

12 The third part of this Epiſtle, ſhewing that the right vſe of Chriſtian libertie conſiſteth in this, that being deliuered from the ſlauery of ſinne and the fleſh, and being obedient to the Spirit, we ſhould ſerue vnto one an others ſaluation through loue.

13 He propoundeth the loue of our neighbour, as a marke whereunto all Chriſtians ought to referre all their actions, and thereunto he citeth the teſtimonie of the Law.

h This particle (All) muſt be reſtrained to the ſecond table.

14 An exhortation to the duties of charitie by the profite that enſueth thereof, becauſe that no men prouide worſe for themſelues, then they that hate one another.

15 He acknowledgeth the great weakeneſſe of the godly, for that they are but in part regenerate: but he willeth them to remember that they are indued with the Spirit of God, which hath deliuered them from the ſlauery of ſinne, and ſo of the Law ſo farre forth as it is the vertue of ſinne, that they ſhould not giue themſelues to luſtes. ✣ Rom.13,14. 1.pet.2,11. i For the fleſh dwelleth euen in the regenerate man, but the Spirit reigneth although not without great ſtrife, as is largely ſet foorth, Rom.7. 16 He ſetteth out that particularly, which he ſpake generally, reckoning vp ſome chiefe effects of the fleſh, and oppoſing them to the fruites of the Spirit, that no man may pretend ignorance. k Therefore, they are not the fruits of free will, but ſo farre forth as our will is made free by grace. 17 Leaſt that any man ſhould obiect, that Paul plaied the Sophiſter, as one who vrging the Spirit, vrgeth nothing but that which the Law commaundeth, he ſheweth that he requireth not that liberall and outward obedience, but ſpirituall, which proceedeth not from the Law, but from the Spirit of Chriſt, which doeth beget vs againe, and muſt and ought to be the ruler and guider of our life. l If we be indeede endued with the quickening Spirit, which cauſeth vs to die to ſinne, and liue to God, let vs ſhew it in our deedes, that is, by holineſſe of life. 18 He addeth peculiar exhortations according as he knewe the Galatians ſubiect to diuers vices: and firſt of all he warneth them to take heede of ambition, which vice hath two fellowes, backbiting and enuie, out of which two it cannot be but many contentions muſt needes ariſe.

CHAP. VI.

1 Nowe he entreateth particularly of charitie towards ſuch as offende, 6 toward the Miniſters of the word, 10 and thoſe that are of the houſholde of faith: 12 Not like vnto ſuch who haue a conterfeit zeale of the Law, 13 glorying in the mangling of the fleſh, 14 and not in the croſſe of Chriſt.

Brethren, [1] If a man be [a] ſuddenly taken in any offence, ye which are [b] ſpirituall, [c] reſtore ſuch one with the [d] ſpirit of meekeneſſe, [2] conſidering thy ſelfe, leaſt thou alſo be tempted.

1 He condemneth importunate rigour, becauſe that brotherly reprehenſions ought to be moderated and tempered by the ſpirit of meekeneſſe. a Through the malice of the fleſh and the deuill. b Which are vpholden by the vertue of Gods Spirit. c Labour to fill vp that that is wanting in him. d That is a kind of ſpeech which the Hebrewes vſe, giuing to vnderſtand thereby, that all good giftes come from God 2 He toucheth the ſore: for they commonly are moſt ſeuere iudges, which forget their owne infirmities.

2 3 Beare yee one anothers burden, and ſo fulfill the e Law of Chriſt.

3 For if any man ſeeme to himſelfe, that he is ſomewhat, when he is nothing, he deceiueth himſelfe in his imagination.

4 But let every man prooue his owne worke: and then ſhall he haue reioycing in himſelfe onely and not in another.

5 ✣ 4 For euery man ſhall beare his owne burden.

6 5 Let him that is taught in the worde, make him that hath taught him, partaker of f all his ♣ goods.

7 6 Bee not deceiued: God is not mocked: for whatſoeuer a man ſoweth, that ſhall he alſo reape.

8 For hee that ſoweth to his g fleſh, ſhall of the fleſh reape corruption: but he that ſoweth to the ſpirit, ſhall of the ſpirit reape life euerlaſting.

9 ∵ 7 Let vs not therefore be wearie of well doing: for in due ſeaſon we ſhall reape, if wee faint not.

10 8 While we haue therefore time, let vs doe good vnto all men, but eſpecially vnto them, which are of the houſhold of faith.

11 ¶ 9 Ye ſee how large a letter I haue written vnto you with mine owne hand.

12 As many as deſire to make a h faire ſhew in i the fleſh, they conſtraine you to be circumciſed, onely becauſe they would not ſuffer perſecution for the k croſſe of Chriſt.

13 For they themſelues which are circumciſed keepe not the Law, but deſire to haue you circumciſed, that they might reioyce in l your fleſh.

14 10 But God forbid that I ſhould m reioyce, but in the croſſe of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, whereby the world is crucified vnto me, and I vnto the world.

15 For in Chriſt Ieſus neither circumciſion auaileth any thing, nor vncircumciſion, but a newe creature.

16 And as many as walke according to this rule, peace ſhallbe vpon them, and mercy, and vpon the n Iſrael of God.

17 11 From hencefoorth let no man put me to buſineſſe: for I beare, in my bodie the o markes of the p Lord Ieſus.

THE EPISTLE OF PAVL TO THE EPHESIANS.

CHAP. I.

1 After the ſalutation, 4 hee entreateth of the free election of God, 5 and adoption, 7, 13 from whence mans ſaluation floweth, as from the true and naturall fountaine: and becauſe ſo high a myſterie cannot be vnderſtood, 16 he prayeth that the full, 20 knowledge of Chriſt, may by God be reuealed vnto the Epheſians.

PAul 1 an Apoſtle of Ieſus Chriſt by the will of God, to the ✣ Saints, which are at Epheſus, and to the a faithfull in Chriſt Ieſus:

3 ♣ 2 Bleſſed be God, 3 and the Father of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, 4 which hath bleſſed vs, with b all ſpirituall bleſſing in c heauenly things in 5 Chriſt,

1 The inſcription, and ſalutation, whereof we haue ſpoken in the former Epiſtles.

✣ 1. Cor. 1, 2.

a This is the definition of the Saints, ſhewing what they are.

♣ 1. Cor. 1, 3. 1. pet. 1, 3.

2 The firſt part of the Epiſtle, wherein he handleth all the partes of our ſaluation, after his maner with thankeſgiuing.

3 The efficient cauſe of our ſaluation is God, not conſidered confuſedly and generally, but as the father of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

4 The next finall cauſe, and in reſpect of vs, is our ſaluation, all things being beſtowed vpon vs which are neceſſarie to our ſaluation, which kinde of bleſſings is heauenly and proper to the elect.

b With all kinde of gracious and bountifull goodneſſe which is heauenly indeede, and from God onely.

c Which God our Father gaue vs from his high throne from aboue: or becauſe the Saints haue thoſe gifts beſtowed on them, which belong properly to the citizens of heauen.

5 The matter of our ſaluation is Chriſt, in whom only wee are indued with ſpirituall bleſſing and vnto ſaluation.

6 He declareth the efficient cauſe, or by what meanes God the Father ſaueth vs in his Sonne: Becauſe ſaith he, he choſe vs from euerlaſting in his Sonne.

d To be adopted in him.

7 He expoundeth the next finall cauſe, which he maketh double, to wit, ſanctification and iuſtification, whereof he will ſpeake hereafter. And hereby alſo two things are to be noted, to wit, that holineſſe of life cannot be ſeparated from the grace of election: and againe what pureneſſe ſoeuer is in vs, is the gift of God, who hath freely of his mercie choſen vs.

e Then God did not chuſe vs, becauſe we were, or otherwiſe ſhould haue beene holy, but to the end we ſhould be holy.

f Being cloathed with Chriſts righteouſneſſe.

g Truely, and ſincerely.

8 Another plainer expoſition of the efficient cauſe, and alſo of eternall election, whereby God is ſaith to haue choſen vs in Chriſt, to wit, becauſe it pleaſed him to appoint vs out when we were not yet borne, whom he would make to be his children by Ieſus Chriſt: ſo that there is no reaſon here of our election to be ſought, but in the free mercie of God, neither is faith which God foreſaw, the cauſe of predeſtination, but the effect.

h God reſpecteth nothing, either that preſent is, or that is to come, but himſelfe onely.

9 The vttermoſt and chiefeſt finall cauſe is the glory of God the Father, who ſaueh vs freely in his Sonne.

i That as his bountifull goodneſſe deſerueth all praiſe, ſo alſo it ſhould be ſet foorth and publiſhed.

10 Another finall cauſe moore neere, is our iuſtification, while that he freely accounteth vs for iuſt in his Sonne.

11 An expounding of the materiall cauſe, how we are made acceptable to God in Chriſt, for it is he onely, whoſe ſacrifice by the mercy of God is imputed vnto vs, for forgiueneſſe of ſinne.

ding to his rich grace :

8 [12] [k] Whereby he hath bene abundant toward vs in [l] all wiſedome and vnderſtanding.

9 And hath opened vnto vs the [m] myſterie of his will [13] according to his good pleaſure, which he hath purpoſed in him,

10 [14] That in the diſpenſation of the fulneſſe of the times, hee might [n] gather together in one all things, both which are in heauen, and which are in earth, euen in Chriſt:

11 [15] In whome alſo wee are choſen when wee were predeſtinate according to the purpoſe of him, which worketh [o] all things after the counſell of his owne will,

12 That we, which [p] firſt truſted in Chriſt, ſhould be vnto the praiſe of his glorie:

13 [16] In whom alſo ye haue truſted, after that yee heard the [q] worde of trueth, euen the Goſpel of your ſaluation, wherein alſo after that yee beleeued, yee were [r] ſealed with the holy [ſ] Spirit of promiſe.

14 Which is the earneſt of our inheritance, for the [t] redemption of that libertie purchaſed vnto the praiſe of his glorie.

15 [17] Therefore alſo after that I heard of the faith, which ye haue in the Lord Ieſus, and loue toward all the Saints,

16 I ceaſe not to giue thankes for you, making mention of you in my prayers,

17 [18] That the God of our Lorde Ieſus Chriſt, that Father of [u] glorie, might giue vnto you the Spirit of wiſedome, and reuelation through the [x] acknowledge of him,

18 That the eyes of your vnderſtanding may be lightened, that ye may know what the [y] hope is of his calling, and what the riches of his glorious inheritance is in the Saints,

19 [19] And what is the exceeding greatneſſe of his power toward vs, which beleeue, ✣ according to the working of his mightie power,

20 [20] Which hee wrought in Chriſt, when hee raiſed him from the dead, and ſet him at his [z] right hand in the heauenly places,

21 Farre aboue all principalitie, and power, and might, and domination, and euery [a] Name, that is named, not in this world onely, but alſo in that that is to come,

22 [21] And hath made all things ſubiect vnder his feet, and hath giuen him ouer all things to be the [b] head to the Church,

23 Which is his body, euen the [c] fulneſſe of him that filleth all in all things.

CHAP. II.

1 The better to ſet out the grace of Chriſt, he vſeth a compariſon, calling them to mind, 5 that they were altogether caſtawayes and aliants, 8 that they are ſaued by grace, 13 and brought neere, 16 by reconciliation through Chriſt, 17 publiſhed by the Goſpel.

And [1] ✣ you hath he quickened, that were [a] dead in [2] treſpaſſes and ſinnes,

2 [3] Wherein, in times paſt ye walked, [4] according to the courſe of this worlde, and [b] after the prince that ruleth in the aire, euen the ſpirit, that now [5] worketh in the [c] children of diſobedience,

3 [6] Among whome we alſo had our conuerſation in time paſt in the luſtes of our [d] fleſh, in fulfilling the will of the fleſh, and of the minde, and [7] were by nature the [e] children of wrath, as well as [f] others.

4 [8] But God which is rich in mercie, through his great loue wherewith he loued vs,

5 Euen when wee were deade by ſinnes, hath quickened vs together in Chriſt, by whoſe grace ye are ſaued,

6 And hath raiſed vs vp [g] together, and made vs ſit together in the heauenly places in Chriſt Ieſus,

---

[12] Now he commeth at length to the formall cauſe, that is to ſay, to vocation or preaching of the Goſpel, whereby God executeth that eternall counſell of our free reconciliation and ſaluation in Chriſt. And putting in place of the Goſpel all wiſedome and vnderſtanding, he ſheweth how excellent it is.

[k] By which gracious goodneſſe and bountifulneſſe.

[l] In perfect and ſound wiſedome.

[m] For vnleſſe the Lord had opened vnto vs that myſterie, we could neuer haue ſo much as dreamed of it our ſelues.

[13] Not onely the election, but alſo the vocation proceedeth of meere grace.

[14] The Father exhibiteth and gaue Chriſt, who is the head of all the elect vnto the world, at that time which was conuenient, according as he moſt wiſely diſpoſed all times from euerlaſting. And Chriſt is he in whome all the elect from the beginning of the worlde, (otherwiſe wandering and ſeparated from God) are gathered together: of which ſome were then in heauen when hee came into the earth, (to wit, ſuch as by faith in him to come, were gathered together) and other beeing founde vpon the earth, were gathered together of him, and the reſt are dayly gathered together.

[n] The faithfull are ſayd to be gathered together in Chriſt, becauſe they are ioyned together with him through faith, and become as it were one man.

[15] Hee applyeth ſeuerally the benefite of vocation to the beleeuing Iewes, going backe to the very fountaine, that euen they alſo may not attribute their ſaluation neither to themſelues, nor to their ſtocke, nor to any other thing, but to the onely grace and mercie of God, both becauſe they were called, and alſo becauſe they were firſt called.

[o] All things are attributed to the grace of God without exception, and yet for all that, wee are not ſtockes; for hee giueth vs grace both to will and to be able to doe thoſe things that are good, Philipp. 2, 13.

[p] Hee ſpeaketh of the Iewes.

[16] Nowe hee maketh the Epheſians (or rather all the Gentiles) equall to the Iewes, becauſe that notwithſtanding they came laſt, yet being called by the ſame Goſpell, they embraced it by faith, and were ſealed vp with the ſame ſpirite, which is the pledge of election, vntill the inheritance it ſelfe be ſeene, that in them alſo the glorie of God might ſhine foorth, and be manifeſted.

[q] That worde which is trueth indeede, becauſe it commeth from God.

[r] This is a borrowed kinde of ſpeech taken of a ſeale, which beeing put to any thing, maketh a difference betweene thoſe things that are authenticall, and others that are not.

[ſ] With that Spirite, which bringeth not the Law, but the promiſe of free adoption.

[t] Full and perfect.

[27] Hee returneth to the former gratulation, concluding two things together of thoſe things that went before: the firſt is, that all good things come to vs from God the Father in Chriſt, and by Chriſt, that for them he may be praiſed of vs. The ſecond is that all thoſe things (which he bringeth to two heads, to wit, faith and charitie) are increaſed in vs by certaine degrees, ſo that we muſt deſire increaſe of his grace from whome wee haue the beginning, and of whom we hope for the end.

[18] The cauſes of faith, are God the Father lightning our minds with his holy ſpirit, that we may embrace Chriſt opened vnto vs in the Goſpel, to the obtaining of euerlaſting life, and the ſetting foorth of Gods glorie.

[u] Full of maieſtie.

[x] For it is not enough for vs to haue knowen God once, but we muſt know him euerie day more and more.

[y] What bleſſings they are which he calleth you to hope for whome he calleth to Chriſt.

[19] The excellencie of faith is declared by the effects, becauſe the mightie power of God is ſet foorth and ſhewed therein.

✣ Chap. 3, 7. col. 2, 12.

[20] The Apoſtle willeth vs to behold in our moſt glorious Chriſt with the eye of faith, that moſt excellent power and glorie of God, whereof all the faithfull are partakers, although it be as yet verie darke in vs, by reaſon of the ignominie of the croſſe and the weakeneſſe of the fleſh.

[z] To be ſet on Gods right hand, is to be partaker of the ſoueraintie which he hath ouer all creatures.

[a] Euery thing whatſoeuer it be, or aboue all things be they of neuer ſuch power or excellencie.

[21] That we ſhould not thinke that that excellent glorie of Chriſt is a thing wherewith we haue nought to doe, he witneſſeth, that he was appointed of God the Father head of all the Church, and therefore the body muſt be ioyned to his head, which otherwiſe ſhould be a maymed thing without the members: which notwithſtanding is not of neceſſitie (ſeeing that the Church is rather quickeneth and ſuſteined by the onely vertue of Chriſt, ſo farre off is it, that hee needeth the fulneſſe thereof) but of the infinite good will and pleaſure of God, who vouchſafeth to ioyne vs to his Sonne.

[b] Inſomuch that there is nothing but is ſubiect to him.

[c] For the loue of Chriſt is ſo great toward the Church, that though he doe fully ſatisfie all with all things, yet he eſteemeth himſelfe but a maymed and vnperfect head, vnleſſe he haue the Church ioyned to him as his bodie.

[1] Hee declareth againe the greatneſſe of Gods good will, by comparing that miſerable ſtate wherein we are borne, with that dignitie whereunto we are aduanced by God the Father in Chriſt. So that he deſcribeth that condition in ſuch ſort, that he ſaith, that touching ſpirituall motions wee are not onely borne halfe dead, but wholly and altogether dead.

✣ Col. 2, 13.

[a] Looke Rom. 6, 2. So then he calleth them dead, which are not regenerate: for as the immortalitie of them which are damned, is no life, ſo this knitting together of bodie and ſoule is properly no life, but death in them which are not ruled by the Spirit of God.

[2] He ſheweth the cauſe of death, to wit, ſinnes.

[3] He prooueth by the effects that all were ſpiritually dead.

[4] He prooueth this euill to be vniuerſall, in ſomuch as all are ſlaues of Satan.

[5] Men are therefore ſlaues to Satan, becauſe they are willingly rebellious againſt God.

[c] They are called the children of diſobedience, which are giuen to diſobedience.

[6] After that hee hath ſeuerally condemned the Gentiles, hee confeſſeth that the Iewes, amongſt whome he numbreth himſelfe, are not a whit better.

[d] By the name of fleſh in the firſt place, hee meaneth the whole man, which he diuideth into two parts: into the fleſh, which is the part that the Philoſophers terme without reaſon, and into the thought, which they call reaſonable: ſo that he leaueth nothing in man halfe dead, but concludeth that the whole man is of nature the ſonne of wrath.

[7] The concluſion: All men are borne ſubiect to the wrath and curſe of God.

[e] Men are ſaide to be children of wrath paſſiuely, that is to ſay, guieltie of euerlaſting death by the iudgement of God, who is angrie with them.

[f] Prophane people which knew not God.

[8] Now hereof followeth another member of the compariſon, declaring our excellencie, to wit, that by the vertue of Chriſt we are deliuered from that death, and made partakers of eternall life, to the ende that at length we may reigne with him. And by diuers and ſundry meanes hee beateth this into their heads, that the efficient cauſe of this benefite is the free mercie of God: & Chriſt himſelfe is the materiall cauſe: and faith is the inſtrument which alſo is the free gift of God: and the end is Gods glorie.

[g] To wit, as hee addeth afterward in Chriſt, for as yet this is not fulfilled in vs, but onely in our head, by whoſe ſpirit we haue begun to die to ſinne, and liue to God, vntill that worke be fully brought to an end: but yet the hope is certaine, for we are as ſure of that we looke for, as we are of that we haue receiued alreadie.

7 That he might ſhew in the ages to come the exceeding riches of his grace through his kindnes toward vs in Chriſt Ieſus.

8 For by [h] grace are yee ſaued through faith, and that not of your ſelues: it is the gift of God,

9 [9] Not of workes, leaſt any man ſhould boaſt himſelfe.

10 For wee are [i] his workemanſhip created in Chriſt Ieſus vnto good workes, which God hath ordained, that we ſhould walke in them.

11 [10] Wherefore remember that yee beeing in time paſt Gentiles in the fleſh, and [k] called vncircumciſion of them, which are [l] called circumciſion in the fleſh, made with hands,

12 That ye were, I ſay, at that time [m] without Chriſt, and were [n] aliants from the common-wealth of Iſrael, and were ♣ ſtrangers from the couenants of promiſe, and had no hope, and vvere without God in the world.

13 [11] But now in Chriſt Ieſus, yee which once were farre off, are made neere by the blood of Chriſt.

14 [12] For hee is our peace, which hath made of both one, and hath broken the ſtoppe of the partition wall,

15 ‡ In abrogating through his fleſh the hatred, that is, the Law of commaundements vvhich ſtandeth in ordinances, for to make of twaine one new man in himſelfe, ſo making peace,

16 And that hee might reconcile both vnto God in [o] one bodie by his croſſe, and [p] ſlay hatred thereby,

17 [13] And came, and preached peace to you which were afarre off, and to them that were neere.

18 For [q] through him we both haue an entrance vnto the Father by one Spirit.

19 [14] Now therefore ye are no more ſtrangers and forreiners: but citizens with the Saints, and of the houſhold of God.

20 [15] And are built vpon the foundation of the Apoſtles and Prophets, Ieſus Chriſt himſelfe being the [r] chiefe corner ſtone, 21 In whome all the building [ſ] coupled together, groweth vnto an holy Temple in the Lord.

22 In whome yee alſo are built together to be the habitation of God by the Spirit.

[h] So then, Grace, that is to ſay, the gift of God, and faith, doe ſtand one with another, to which two theſe are contrarie, To be ſaued by our ſelues, or by our workes. Therefore what meane they which would ioyne together things of ſo contrarie nature?

[9] He taketh away expreſſely and namely from our workes the praiſe of iuſtification, ſeeing that the good workes themſelues are the effects of grace in vs.

[i] He ſpeaketh here of Grace, and not of nature: therefore be the workes neuer ſo good, looke what they are, they are it of grace.

[10] Applying the former doctrine to the Gentiles, he ſheweth that they were not onely as the Iewes, by nature, but alſo after an eſpeciall ſort, ſtrangers and without God: and therefore they ought ſo much the rather remember that ſame ſo great a benefite of God.

[k] You were called no otherwiſe then Gentiles, that all the world might witneſſe of your vncleanneſſe.

[l] Of the Iewes which were knowẽ from you by the marke of circumciſion, the marke of the couenant.

[m] Hee beginneth firſt with Chriſt, who was the end of all the promiſes.

[n] You had no right or title, to the common wealth of Iſrael.

♣ Rom. 9, 4.

[11] Chriſt is the onely bond of the Iewes and Gentiles, whereby they be reconciled to God.

[12] As by the ceremonies and worſhip appointed by the Lawe, the Iewes were diuided from the Gentiles, ſo now Chriſt, hauing broken downe the partition wall, ioyneth them both together, both in himſelfe, and betwixt themſelues, and to God. Wherereby it followeth, that whoſoeuer eſtabliſhed the ceremonies of the Lawe, maketh the grace of Chriſt void and of none effect.

‡ Col. 2, 14.

[o] He alludeth to the ſacrifices of the Law, which repreſented that true and onely ſacrifice.

[p] For he deſtroyed death by death, and faſtened it as it were to the croſſe.

[13] The preaching of the Goſpell is an effectuall inſtrument of this grace, common as well to the Iewes as to the Gentiles.

[q] Chriſt is the gate as it were, by whome we come to the Father and the holy Ghoſt is as it were our lodes man who leadeth vs.

[14] The concluſion: The Gentiles are taken in to the fellowſhip of ſaluation. And he deſcribeth the excellencie of the Church, calling it the citie and houſe of God.

[15] The Lord committed the doctrine of ſaluation, firſt to the Prophets, and then to the Apoſtles, the ende whereof and matter as it were and ſubſtance, is Chriſt. Therefore that is indeede the true and Catholique Church, which is builded vpon Chriſt by the Prophets and Apoſtles, as a ſpirituall temple conſecrated to God.

[r] That is, the head of the building, for the foundations are as it were the heads of the buildings.

[ſ] So that God is the workeman not onely of the foundation, but alſo of the whole building.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee declareth that therefore hee ſuffered many things of the Iewes, 3 becauſe hee preached the myſterie touching the ſaluation of the Gentiles, 8 at Gods commandement. 13 After he deſired the Epheſians not to faint for his afflictions. 14 And for this cauſe hee prayeth vnto God, 18 that they may vnderſtand the great loue of Chriſt.

FOr [1] this cauſe, I Paul am the [a] priſoner of Ieſus Chriſt for you Gentiles.

2 If yee haue heard of the diſpenſation of the grace of God, which is giuen me to youwarde.

3 That is, that God by reuelation hath ſhewed this myſterie vnto mee (as I wrote aboue in fewe wordes,

4 Whereby when yee reade, yee may knowe mine vnderſtanding in the myſterie of Chriſt.)

5 Which in [b] other ages was not opened vnto the ſonnes of men, as it is now reuealed vnto his holy Apoſtles and Prophets by the Spirit,

6 That the Gentils ſhould be inheriters alſo, and of the ſame bodie, and partakers of his promiſe in Chriſt by the Goſpel,

7 Whereof I am made a miniſter by the gifte of the grace of God giuen vnto mee through the effectuall working of his power.

8 Euen vnto mee the leaſt of all Saints is this grace giuen, that I ſhould preach among the Gentiles, the vnſearchable riches of Chriſt.

9 And to make cleare vnto all men what the fellowſhip of the myſterie is, which from the beginning of the world hath beene hid in God, who hath created all things by Ieſus Chriſt,

10 [2] To the intent, that nowe vnto principalities and powers in heauenly places, might be knowen by the Church the [c] manifold wiſedome of God,

11 According to the [d] eternall purpoſe, which he wrought in Chriſt Ieſus our Lord:

12 By whome we haue boldneſſe and entrance with confidence, by faith in him.

13 Wherefore I deſire that ye faint not at my tribulations for your ſakes, which is your glorie.

14 [3] For this cauſe I bowe my knees vnto the Father of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt,

15 (Of whome is named the whole [e] familie in heauen and in earth.)

16 That he might graunt you according to the [f] riches of his glorie, that ye may be ſtrengthened by his Spirit in the [g] inner man,

17 That Chriſt may dwell in your hearts by faith:

18 That yee, beeing rooted and grounded in [h] loue, may be able to comprehend with all Saints, [i] what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height:

19 And to knowe the [k] loue of Chriſt, which [l] paſſeth knowledge, that ye may be filled with all [m] fulneſſe of God.

20 [4] Vnto him therefore that is able to doe exceeding aboundantly aboue all that wee aske or thinke, according to the power that worketh in vs, 21 Be praiſe in the Church by Chriſt Ieſus, thorowout all generations for euer, Amen.

[1] He maintaineth his Apoſtleſhip againſt the offence of the croſſe, whereon alſo he taketh an argument to confirme himſelfe, affirming that hee was not onely appointed an Apoſtle by the mercie of God, but was alſo particularly appointed to the Gentiles, to call them on euery ſide to ſaluation: becauſe God had ſo determined it from the beginning, although he deferred a great while the manifeſtation of that his counſell.

[a] Theſe wordes, The priſoner of Ieſus Chriſt, are taken paſſiuely, that is to ſay I Paul am caſt into priſon for maintaining the glory of Chriſt.

[b] He meaneth not that none knewe the calling of the Gentiles before, but becauſe very few knew of it, and they that did know it, as the Prophets, had it reuealed vnto them very darkely, and vnder figures.

[2] The vnlooked for calling of the Gentiles, was as it were a glaſſe to the heauenly Angels, wherein they might behold the marueilous wiſedome of God.

[c] God neuer had but one way onely, to ſaue men by: but it had diuers faſhions and formes.

[d] Which was before all beginnings.

[3] He teacheth by his owne example, that the efficacie of the doctrine dependeth vpon the grace of God, and therefore wee ought to ioyne prayers with the preaching and hearing of the worde: which are needfull not onely to them which are younglings in religion, but euen to the oldeſt alſo, that they growing vp more and more by faith in Chriſt, beeing confirmed with all ſpirituall giftes, may be grounded and rooted in the knowledge of that immeaſurable loue, wherewith God the Father hath loued vs in Chriſt, ſeeing that the whole family, whereof part is alreadie receiued into heauen, and part is yet here on earth, dependeth vpon that adoption of the heauenly Father, to his onely Sonne.

[e] All that whole people which hath but one houſhold Father, and that is the Church which is adopted in Chriſt.

[f] According to the greatneſſe of his mercie.

[g] Looke Roman. 7, 22.

[h] Wherewith God loueth vs, which is the roote of our election.

[i] How perfite that worke of Chriſt is in euery part.

[k] Which God hath ſheweth vs in Chriſt.

[l] Which paſſeth all the capacitie of mans wit, to comprehend it fully in his minde: for otherwiſe who ſo hath the Spirite of God, perceiueth ſo much (according to the meaſure that God hath giuen him) as is ſufficient to ſaluation.

[m] So that we haue aboundantly in vs, whatſoeuer things are requiſite to make vs perfite with God.

[4] Hee breaketh forth into a thankeſgiuing, whereby the Epheſians alſo may be confirmed to hope for any thing of God.

CHAP.

CHAP. IIII.

Theſe three laſt Chapters containe precepts of maners. 1 He exhorteth them to mutual loue. 7 Sundry giftes are therefore beſtowed of God, 16 that the Church may be built vp. 18 Hee calleth them from the vanitie of infidels, 25 from lying, 29 and from filthy talke.

I Therefore, [1] being priſoner in the Lord, pray you that yee walke worthy of the [a] vocation whereunto ye are called,

2 [2] With all humbleneſſe of mind, and meekeneſſe, with [b] long ſuffering, ſupporting one another through loue,

3 [3] Endeuouring to keepe the vnitie of the Spirit in the bond of peace.

4 [4] There is one body, and one Spirit, euen as ye are called in one hope of your vocation.

5 There is one Lord, one Faith, one Baptiſme.

6 One God and Father of all, which is [c] aboue all, and [d] through all, and [e] in you all.

7 [5] But vnto euery one of vs is giuen grace according to the meaſure of the [f] gift of Chriſt.

8 Wherefore he ſaith, When he aſcended vpon hie, he led [g] captiuity captiue, & gaue gifts vnto mē.

9 (Nowe, in that hee aſcended, what is it but that hee had alſo deſcended firſt into the [h] loweſt parts of the earth?

10 Hee that deſcended, is euen the ſame that aſcended, farre aboue all heauens, that hee might [i] fill [k] all things.)

11 [6] Hee therefore gaue ſome to be [l] Apoſtles, and ſome [m] Prophets, and ſome [n] Euangeliſts, and ſome [o] Paſtours, and Teachers, 12 [7] For the repairing of the Saints, for the worke of the miniſterie, and for the edification of the [p] body of Chriſt.

13 [8] Till we all meete together (in the [q] vnitie of faith and that acknowledging of the Sonne of God) vnto a perfite man, and vnto the meaſure of the [r] age the fulneſſe of Chriſt, 14 [9] That wee henceforth be no more children, [10] wauering and caried about with euery winde of doctrine, by the [ſ] deceite of men, and [t] with craftines, wherby they lay in wait to deceiue.

15 [11] But let vs follow the trueth in loue, and in all things, grow vp into him, which is the head, that is, Chriſt.

16 By whom all the bodie being coupled and knit together by euery ioynt, for yͤ furniture thereof (according to the [u] effectuall power, which is in the meaſure of euery part) receiueth [x] increaſe of the body, vnto the edifying of it ſelfe in [y] loue.

17 [12] This I ſay therefore and teſtifie in the Lord, that yee henceforth walke not as ✤ other Gentiles walke, in [z] vanitie of their mind.

18 Hauing their vnderſtanding darkened, and being ſtrangers from the [a] life of God through the ignorance that is in them, becauſe of the hardneſſe of their heart:

19 Which being [b] paſt feeling, haue giuen themſelues vnto wantonneſſe, to worke all vncleanneſſe, euen with [c] greedineſſe.

20 [13] But ye haue not ſo learned Chriſt,

21 If ſo be ye haue heard him, and haue bene taught by him, [d] as the trueth is in Ieſus,

22 ♣ That is, that yee caſt off, concerning the conuerſation in time paſt, [e] that olde man, which is corrupt through the deceiueable luſts,

23 And be renewed in the [f] ſpirit of your mind,

24 And put on the new man, which [g] after God is created vnto [h] righteouſneſſe, and [i] true holines.

25 [14] Wherefore caſt off lying, and ſpeake euerie man truth vnto his neighbour: for we are members one of another.

26 [15] Be [k] angry, but ſinne not: let not the ſunne goe downe [l] vpon your wrath, 27 Neither giue place to the deuill.

28 [16] Let him that ſtole, ſteale no more: but let him rather labour, and worke with his hands the thing which is [m] good, that hee may haue to giue vnto him that needeth.

29 [17] Let no [n] corrupt cōmunication proceed out of your mouthes: but yͭ which is good to the vſe of edifying, yͭ it may miniſter [o] grace vnto the hearers.

30 [18] And grieve not the holy Spirit of God,

[1] Another part of the Epiſtle conteining precepts of Chriſtian life, the ſumme whereof is this, that euery man behaue himſelfe as it is meete for ſo excellent grace of God.

[a] By this is meant the generall calling of the faithfull, which is this, to be holy, as our God is holy.

[2] Secondly, he commendeth meekeneſſe of minde, which is ſhewed foorth by bearing one with another.

[3] Thirdly, he requireth perfite agreement, but yet ſuch as is knit with the band of the holy Ghoſt.

[4] An argument of great waight, for an earneſt interteining of brotherly loue and charitie one with another, becauſe we are made one body as it were of one God, and Father, by one Spirit, worſhipping one Lord with one faith, and conſecrated to him with one Baptiſme, and hope for one ſelfe ſame glory, wherunto we are called. Therfore whoſoeuer breaketh charitie, breaketh all theſe things aſunder. [c] Who only hath the chiefe authority ouer the Church. [d] Who onely powreth foorth his prouidence, through all the members of the Church. [e] Who onely is ioyned together with vs in Chriſt. [5] Hee teacheth vs, that we in deede are all one body, and that all good giftes proceede from Chriſt onely, who reigneth in heauen hauing mightily conquered all his enemies (from whence he heapeth all giftes vpon his Church:) but yet notwithſtanding theſe gifts are diuerſly and ſundry wayes diuided according to his will and pleaſure, and therefore euery man ought to be content with that meaſure that God hath giuen him, and to beſtow it to the common profite of the whole body. [f] Which Chriſt hath giuen. [g] A multitude of captiues. [h] Downe to the earth, which is the loweſt part of the world. [i] Fill with his gifts. [k] The Church. [6] Firſt of all he reckoneth vp the Eccleſiaſticall functions, which are partly extraordinary and for a ſeaſon, as Apoſtles, Prophets, Euangeliſtes, and partly ordinary and perpetuall, as Paſtours and Doctours. [l] The Apoſtles were theſe twelue, vnto whom Paul was afterward added, whoſe office was to plant Churches throughout all the world. [m] The Prophets office was one of the chiefeſt, which were men of a marueilous wiſedome, and ſome of them could foretell things to come. [n] Theſe the Apoſtles vſed as followes in the execution of their office, being not able to anſwere all places themſelues. [o] Paſtours are they which gouerne the Church, and Teachers are they which gouerne the ſchooles. [7] He ſheweth the ende of Eccleſiaſticall functions, to wit, that by the miniſterie of men all the Saints may ſo growe vp together, that they may make one myſticall body of Chriſt. [p] The Church. [8] The vſe of this miniſterie is perpetuall ſo long as we are in this world, that is, vntill that time that hauing put off the fleſh, and throughly and perfitly agreeing betwixt our ſelues, we ſhall be ioyned with Chriſt our head. Which thing is done by that knowledge of the Sonne of God increaſing in vs, and he himſelfe by litle and litle growing vp in vs vntill we come to be a perfit man, which ſhall be in the world to come, when God ſhall be all in all. [q] In that moſt neere coniunction which is knit and faſtened together by faith. [r] Chriſt is ſaid to growe vp to full age, not in himſelfe, but in vs. [9] Betwixt our childhood (that is to ſay, a very weake ſtate, while as we doe yet altogether wauer) and our perfit age, which we ſhall haue at length in another world, there is a meane, to wit, our youth, and ſteadie going forward to perfection. [10] He compareth them which reſt not themſelues vpon the word of God, to litle boats which are toſſed hither and thither with the doctrines of men, as it were with contrary windes, and therewithall forewarneth them that it commeth to paſſe not onely by the lightneſſe of mans braine, but alſo by the craftineſſe of certaine, which make as it were an art of it. [ſ] With thoſe vncertaine chances which toſſe men to and fro.

[t] By the deceit of thoſe men which are very well practiſed in deceiuing of other.

[11] By earneſt affection of the trueth & loue, we growe vp into Chriſt: for he (being effectuall by the miniſterie of his word, which as the vitall ſpirit doth ſo quicken the whole body, that it nouriſheth all the limmes thereof according to the meaſure and proportion of each one) quickeneth and cheriſheth his Church, which conſiſteth of diuers functions, as of diuers members, & preſerueth the proportion of euery one. And thereof it followeth that neither this body can liue without Chriſt, neither can any man growe vp ſpiritually, which ſeparateth himſelfe from the other members.

[x] Such increaſe as is meete the body ſhould haue.

[12] He deſcendeth to the fruits of Chriſtian doctrine, and reaſoneth firſt vpon the principles of manners and actions, ſetting down a moſt graue compariſon betweene the children of God, and them which are not regenerate: For in theſe men, all the powers of the minde are corrupted and their minde is giuen to vanity, and their ſenſes are darkened with moſt groſſe miſtineſſe, and their affections are ſo accuſtomed by little and little to wickedneſſe, that at length they run headlong into all vncleannes, being vtterly deſtitute of all iudgement. ✻ Rom.1,21. [z] If the nobleſt parts of the ſoule be corrupt, what is man but corruption only? [a] Wherby God liueth in them. [b] Void of all iudgement. [c] They ſtroue to paſſe one another as though there had bin ſome gaine to be gotten by it. [13] Here followeth the contrary part touching men which are regenerat by the true and liuely knowledge of Chriſt, which haue other principles of their doings far different, to wit, holy and honeſt deſires, and a mind clean changed by the vertue of the holy Ghoſt, from whence proceed alſo like effects, as a iuſt and holy life in deed. [d] As they haue learned which acknowledge Chriſt indeed and in good earneſt. ♣ Col.3,8. [e] Your ſelues. [f] Where there ought to haue bin the greateſt force of reaſon, there is the greateſt corruption of all which waſteth all things. [g] After the image of God. [h] The effect and end of the new creation. [i] Not fained nor counterfeit. [14] He commendeth ſeuerally certain peculiar Chriſtian vertues, and firſt of all he requireth truth (that is to ſay, ſincere maners) condemning all deceit and diſſembling, becauſe we are born one for another. [15] He teacheth vs to bridle our anger in ſuch ſort, that although it be not, yet that it breake not out, and that it be ſtraitwayes quenched before we ſleepe, leſt Satan taking occaſion to giue vs euill counſel through the wicked counſeller, deſtroy vs. [k] If it ſo fall out, that you be angrie, yet ſin not: that is, bridle your anger, and do not wickedly put that in execution, which you haue wickedly conceiued. [l] Let not the night come vpon you in your anger, that is, make an atonement quickly for all matters. [16] Hee deſcendeth from the heart to the hands condemning theft: and becauſe that men which giue themſelues to this wickednes, vſe to pretend pouerty, he ſheweth that labor is a good remedy againſt pouerty, which God bleſſeth in ſuch ſort that they which labour haue alwayes ſome ouerplus to helpe other ſo far is it from this, that they are conſtrained to ſteale other mens goods. [m] By labouring in things that are holy, and profitable to his neighbour. [17] He bridleth the tongue alſo, teaching vs ſo to temper our talke, that our hearers minde be not only not deſtroyed, but alſo inſtructed. [n] Word for word, rotten. [o] By grace he meaneth that, whereby men may profit to the going on forward in godlines and loue. [18] A generall precept againſt all exceſſe of affections which dwell in the part of the mind, which they call, Angry, and he ſetteth againſt them the contrary meanes. And vſeth a moſt vehement preface, how we ought to take heed that wee grieue not the holy Spirite of God through our immoderatneſſe and intemperancie, who dwelleth in vs to this end, to moderate all our affections.

by whom ye are ſealed vnto yͤ day of redemption.

31 Let all bitterneſſe, and anger, and wrath, crying, and euill ſpeaking be put away from you, with all maliciouſneſſe.

32 Be ye courteous one to another, and tender hearted, freely forgiuing one another, [19] euen as God for Chriſtes ſake, freely forgaue you.

CHAP. V.

3 Leaſt, in theſe vices which he reprehended, they ſhould ſet light by his admonitions, 5 he terrifieth them by denouncing ſeuere iudgement, 8 and ſtirreth them forward: 15 Then hee deſcendeth from generall leſſons of maners, 31 to the particular dueties of wiues, 25 and husbands.

BE yee therefore followers of God, as deare children,

2 ✤ And walke in loue, euen as Chriſt hath loued vs, and hath giuen himſelfe for vs, to be an offering and a ſacrifice of a ſweete ſmelling ſauour to God.

3 ✤ [1] But fornication, and all vncleanneſſe, or couetouſnes, let it not be once named among you, as it becommeth Saints,

4 Neither filthineſſe, neither fooliſh talking, neither [a] ieſting, which are things not comely, but rather giuing of thankes.

5 [2] For this ye know, that no whoremonger, neither vncleane perſon, nor couetous perſon, which is an [b] idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdome of Chriſt, and of God.

6 ∵ Let no man deceiue you with vaine words: for, for ſuch things commeth the wrath of God vpon the children of diſobedience.

7 [3] Be not therefore companions with them.

8 For ye were once darkeneſſe, but are now [c] light in the Lord: walke as children of light.

9 (For the fruit of the [d] Spirit is in all goodneſſe, and righteouſneſſe, and trueth.)

10 Approouing that which is pleaſing to the Lord.

11 And haue no fellowſhip with the vnfruitfull works of darknes, but euen [e] reprooue them rather.

12 For it is ſhame euen to ſpeake of the things which are done of them in ſecret.

13 But all things when they are reprooued of the light, are manifeſt: for it is light that maketh all things manifeſt.

14 Wherefore [f] hee ſaieth, Awake thou that ſleepeſt, and ſtand vp from the [g] dead, and Chriſt ſhall giue thee light.

15 [4] Take heede therefore that yee walke circumſpectly, not as fooles, but as ✱ wiſe, 16 [h] Redeeming the ſeaſon: for yͤ [i] daies are euill.

17 ✱ Wherefore, be yee not vnwiſe, but vnderſtand what the will of the Lord is.

18 [5] And be not drunken with wine, wherein is [k] exceſſe: but be fulfilled with the Spirit.

19 Speaking vnto your ſelues in Pſalmes, and hymnes, and ſpirituall ſongs, ſinging and making melodie to the Lord in your [l] hearts,

20 Giuing thankes alwayes for all things vnto God euen the Father, in the Name of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, 21 [6] Submitting your ſelues one to another in the feare of God.

22 ¶ ✤ [7] Wiues, ſubmit your ſelues vnto your husbands, [8] as vnto the Lord.

23 ✤ [9] For the husband is the wiues head, euen as Chriſt is the head of the Church, [10] and the ſame is the Sauiour of his body.

24 [11] Therefore as the Church is in ſubiection to Chriſt, euen ſo let the wiues be to their husbands in euery thing.

25 ¶ ∵ [12] Husbands, loue your wiues, euen as Chriſt loued the Church, and gaue himſelfe for it,

26 [13] That he might [m] ſanctifie it, and cleanſe it by the waſhing of water through the [n] word, 27 That he might make it vnto himſelfe a glorious Church, [o] not hauing ſpot or wrinkle, or any ſuch thing: but that it ſhould be holy and without blame.

28 [14] So ought men to loue their wiues, as their owne bodies: he that loueth his wife, loueth himſelfe.

29 For no man euer yet hated his [p] owne fleſh, but nouriſhed and cheriſheth it, euen as the Lord doeth the Church.

30 For we are members of his bodie, [q] of his fleſh, and of his bones.

31 ✱ For this cauſe ſhall a man leaue father and mother, and ſhall [r] cleaue to his wife, and they twaine ſhall be one fleſh.

32 [15] This is a great ſecret, but I ſpeake concerning Chriſt, and concerning the Church.

33 [16] Therefore euery one of you, doe ye ſo: let euery one loue his wife, euen as himſelfe, and let the wife ſee that ſhe feare her husband.

[19] An argument taken from the example of Chriſt, moſt graue and vehement, both for pardoning of thoſe iniuries which haue bene done vnto vs by our greateſt enemies, and much more for hauing conſideration of the miſerable, and vſing moderation & gentle behauiour towards all men.

✤ Iohn 13, 14. and 15, 12. 1. Iohn 3, 23.

✤ Chap. 4, 29. Coloſſ. 3, 5. 1. Theſſ. 2, 17.

[1] Now he commeth to another kind of affections, which is in that part of the mind, which men call couetous or deſirous: and he reprehended fornication, couetouſneſſe, and ieſting, very ſharpely.

[a] Ieſtes which men caſt one at another: that no lightneſſe be ſeene, nor euill exemple giuen, nor any offence mooued by euill wordes or backbiting.

[2] Becauſe theſe ſinnes are ſuch that the moſt part of men count them not for ſinnes, he awaketh the godly, to the end they ſhould ſo much the more take heede to themſelues from them, as moſt hurtfull plagues.

[b] A bondſlaue to idolatrie, for the couetous man thinketh that his life ſtandeth in his goods.

[3] Becauſe we are not ſo readie to any thing as to followe euill examples, therefore the Apoſtle warneth the godly to remember alwayes that the other are but as it were darkeneſſe, and that they themſelues are as it were light. And therefore the other commit all villanie (as men are wont in the darke) but they ought not onely not to follow their examples, but alſo (as the property of the light is) reprooue their darkeneſſe, and to walke ſo (hauing Chriſt that true light going before them) as it becommeth wiſe men.

[c] The faithfull are called light, both becauſe they haue the true light in them which lighteneth them, and alſo becauſe they giue light to other, inſomuch, that their honeſt conuerſation reprooueth the life of wicked men.

[d] By whoſe force we are made light in the Lord.

[e] Make them open to all the world, by your good life.

[f] The Scripture, or God in the Scripture.

[g] He ſpeaketh of the death of ſinne.

[4] The worſe and more corrupt that the maners of this world are, the more watchfull ought we to be againſt all occaſions, and reſpect nothing but the will of God.

[5] He ſetteth the ſober and holy aſſemblies of the faithfull, againſt the diſſolute bankets of the vnfaithfull, in which the praiſes of the onely Lord muſt ringh, be it in proſperitie or aduerſitie.

[k] All kind of riot, ioyned with all maner of filthines and ſhamefulneſſe.

[l] With an earneſt affection of the heart, and not with the tongue onely.

[6] A ſhort repetition of the ende wherevnto all things ought to be referred, to ſerue one another for Gods ſake.

✤ Coloſſ. 3, 18. titus 2, 5. 1. pet. 3, 1.

[7] Nowe he deſcendeth to a familie, diuiding orderly all the parts of a familie. And he ſaith that the duetie of wiues conſiſteth herein, to be obedient to their husbands.

[8] The firſt argument, for they cannot be diſobedient to their husbands, but they muſt reſiſt God alſo, who is the authour of this ſubiection.

✤ 1. Cor. 11, 3.

[9] A declaration of the former ſaying: Becauſe God hath made the man head of the woman in matrimonie, as Chriſt is the head of the Church.

[10] Another argument: Becauſe the good eſtate of the wife dependeth of the man, ſo that this ſubmiſſion is not only iuſt, but alſo verie profitable: as alſo the ſaluation of the Church is of Chriſt, although farre otherwiſe.

[11] The concluſion of the wiues duetie towardes their husbands.

∵ Coloſſ. 3. 19.

[12] The husbandes duetie towardes their wiues, is to loue them as themſelues, of which loue, the loue of Chriſt toward his Church is a liuely patterne.

[13] Becauſe many men pretende the infirmities of their wiues to excuſe their owne hardneſſe and crueltie, the Apoſtle willeth vs to marke what manner of Church Chriſt gate, when hee ioyned it to himſelfe, and how hee doeth not onely not loathe all her filth and vncleanneſſe, but ceaſeth not to wipe the ſame away with his cleanneſſe, vntill hee haue wholly purged it.

[m] Make it holy.

[n] Through the promiſe of free iuſtification and ſanctification in Chriſt, receiued by faith.

[o] The Church, as it is conſidered in it ſelfe, ſhall not bee without wrinkle, before it come to the marke it ſhooteth at: for while it is in this life, it runneth in a race: but if it be conſidered in Chriſt, it is cleane and without wrinkle.

[14] Another argument: Euerie man loueth himſelfe, euen of nature: therefore hee ſtriueth againſt nature that loueth not his wife: hee prooueth the conſequent, firſt by the myſticall knitting of Chriſt and the Church together, and then by the ordinance of God, who ſayeth, that man and wife are as one, that is, not to be deuided.

[q] Hee alludeth to the making of the woman, which ſignifieth our coupling together with Chriſt, which is wrought by faith, but is ſealed by the Sacrament of the Supper.

[15] That no man might dreame of naturall coniunction or knitting of Chriſt and his Church together (ſuch as the husbands and the wiues is) hee ſheweth that it is ſecret, to wit, ſpirituall and ſuch as farre differeth from the common capacitie of man: as which conſiſteth by the vertue of the Spirite, and not of the fleſh by faith, and by no naturall band.

[16] The concluſion both of the husbands duetie towards his wife, and of the wiues toward her husband.

CHAP. VI.

1 Hee ſheweth the dueties of children, 5 ſeruants, 9 and maſters: 10 Then he ſpeaketh of the fierce battel that the faithfull haue, 12 and what weapons wee muſt vſe in the ſame: 21 In the end he commendeth Tychicus.

CHildren, [1] ✣ obey your parents [2] in the [a] Lord: [3] for this is right.

2 ✣ [4] Honour thy father and mother ([5] which is the firſt commandement with [b] promiſe.)

3 That it may be well with thee, and that thou mayeſt liue long on earth.

4 [6] And ye fathers, prouoke not your children to wrath: but bring them vp in inſtruction and [c] information of the Lord.

5 [7] ✣ Seruants, be obedient vnto them that are your maſters, [8] according to the fleſh, with [d] feare and trembling in ſingleneſſe of your hearts, as vnto Chriſt,

6 Not with ſeruice to the eye, as men pleaſers, but as the ſeruants of Chriſt, [9] doing the will of God from the heart.

7 With good will, ſeruing the [e] Lord, and not men.

8 [10] And know ye that whatſoeuer good thing any man doeth, that ſame ſhall hee receiue of the Lord, whether he be bond or free,

9 [11] And ye maſters, doe the ſame things vnto them, putting away threatening: and know that euen your maſter alſo is in heauen, neither is there ⁎ [f] reſpect of perſon with him.

10 ¶ [12] Finally, my brethren, be ſtrong in the Lord, and in the power of his might.

[1] He commeth to another part of a familie, and ſheweth that the duetie of the children toward their parents, conſiſteth in obedience vnto them.

✣ Coloſſ. 3, 20.

[2] The firſt argument: becauſe God hath ſo appointed: wherevpon it followeth alſo, that children are ſo farforth bound to obey their parents, as they may not ſwarue from the true worſhip of God.

[a] For the Lord is authour of all fatherhood, and therefore we muſt yeeld ſuch obedience as he will haue vs.

[3] The ſecond argument: becauſe this obedience is moſt iuſt.

✣ Exod. 20, 12. deut. 5, 16. eccleſ. 3, 9. matth. 15, 4. marke 7, 10.

[4] A proofe of the firſt argument.

[5] The third argument, taken of the profit that enſueth thereby: becauſe the Lord vouchafed this commandement amongſt the reſt, of a ſpeciall bleſſing.

[b] With a ſpecially promiſe: for otherwiſe the ſecond commandement hath a promiſe of mercy to a thouſand generations, but that promiſe is generall.

[6] It is the duetie of fathers to vſe their fatherly authoritie moderately, and to Gods glory.

[c] Such informations and precepts, as being taken out of Gods booke are holy and acceptable to him.

[7] Now he aſcendeth to the third part of a familie, to wit, to the duetie both of the maſters and of the ſeruants. And he ſheweth that the duetie of ſeruants conſiſteth in an heartie loue and reuerence to their maſter.

✣ Coloſſ. 3, 22. titus 2, 9. 1. pet. 2, 18.

[8] He mitigateth the ſharpeneſſe of ſeruice, in that they are ſpiritually free, notwithſtanding the ſame, and yet that ſpirituall freedome taketh not away corporall ſeruice, inſomuch that they cannot be Chriſts, vnleſſe they ſerue their maſters willingly and faithfully, ſo farre forth as they may with ſafe conſcience.

[d] With carefull reuerence: for ſlauiſh feare is not allowable, much leſſe in Chriſtian ſeruants.

[9] To cut off occaſion of all pretences, hee teacheth vs that it is Gods will that ſome are either borne or made ſeruants, and therefore they muſt reſpect Gods will, although their ſeruice be neuer ſo hard.

[e] Being moued with a reuerence to Godward, as though ye ſerued God himſelfe.

[10] Although they ſerue vnkinde and cruell maſters, yet the obedience of ſeruants is no leſſe acceptable to God, then the obedience of them that are free.

[11] It is the duetie of maſters to vſe the authoritie that they haue ouer their ſeruants modeſtly, and holily, ſeeing that they in another reſpect haue a common maſter, which is in heauen, who will iudge both the bond and the free.

[f] Either of freedome or bondage.

[10] Hee concludeth the other part of this Epiſtle with a graue exhortation, that all be ready, and fight conſtantly, truſting to ſpirituall weapons, vntill their enemies be cleane put to flight. And firſt of all, hee warneth vs to take the armour of God, whereby onely our enemy may be diſpatched.

11 Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to ſtand againſt the aſſaults of the deuill.

12 [13] For we wreſtle not againſt fleſh and [g] blood, but againſt ✣ [h] principalities, againſt powers, and againſt the worldly gouernours, the princes of the darkeneſſe of this world, againſt ſpirituall wickedneſſe, vvhich are in the high places.

13 [14] For this cauſe take vnto you the whole armour of God, that yee may be able to reſiſt in the [i] euill day, and hauing finiſhed all things, ſtand faſt.

14 Stand therefore, and your loines girded about with verity, and hauing on the breſt plate of righteouſneſſe, 15 And your feet ſhod with the [k] preparation of the Goſpel of peace.

16 Aboue all, take the ſhield of Faith, wherewith yee may quench all the fierie darts of the wicked, 17 And take the helmet of Saluation, and the ſword of the Spirit, which is the word of God.

18 And pray alwayes with all maner prayer and ſupplication in the [l] ſpirit: and watch therevnto with all perſeuerance & ſupplication for all Saints,

19 And for me, that vtterance may be giuen vnto me, that I may open my mouth boldly to publiſh the ſecret of the Goſpel, 20 Whereof I am the ambaſſadour in bonds, that therein I may ſpeake boldly, as I ought to ſpeake.

21 ¶ [15] But that yee may alſo know mine affaires, and what I doe, Tychicus my deare brother and faithfull miniſter in the Lord, ſhall ſhew you of all things.

22 Whom I haue ſent vnto you for the ſame purpoſe, that ye might know mine affaires, and that he might comfort your hearts.

[14] Hee ſheweth that theſe enemies are put to flight with the only armour of God, to wit, with vprightnes of conſcience, a godly and holy life, knowledge of the Goſpel, faith, and to be ſhort, with the word of God, and vſing dayly earneſt prayer for the health of the Church, and eſpecially, for the conſtancie of the true, godly, and valiant miniſters of the word.

THE EPISTLE OF PAVL TO THE PHILIPPIANS.

CHAP. I.

3 Hauing teſtified his godly and tender affection towards the Philippians, 12 he intreateth of himſelfe and his bonds: 22 And pricketh them forward by his owne example, 27 and exhorteth them to vnity, 28 and patience.

PAul [1] and Timotheus the ſeruants of IESVS CHRIST, to all the Saints in Chriſt Ieſus, which are at Philippi, with the [a] Biſhops and Deacons:

2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Ieſus Chriſt:

3 I thanke my God, hauing you in perfect memorie,

4 (Alwayes in all my prayers for all you, praying with gladneſſe)

5 Becauſe of the [b] fellowſhip which ye haue in the Goſpel, from the [c] firſt day vnto now.

6 And I am perſwaded of this ſame thing, that he that hath begunne this good worke in you, will performe it vntill the [d] day of Ieſus Chriſt,

7 As it becommeth me ſo to iudge of you all, becauſe I haue you in remembrance, that both in my [e] bands, and in my defence, and confirmation of the Goſpell you all were partakers of my [f] grace.

[1] The marke whereat he ſhooteth in this Epiſtle, is to confirme the Philippians by all meanes poſſible, not onely not to faint, but alſo to go forward. And firſt of all, he commendeth their former doings, to exhort them to go forward: which thing he ſayth, he hopeth fully they will do, and that by the teſtimony of their liuely charity, but in the meane ſeaſon hee referreth all things to the grace of God.

[a] By the Biſhops are meant both the Paſtours, which haue the diſpenſation of the word and the Elders, that gouerne: and by Deacons are meant thoſe that were ſtewards of the treaſury of the Church and had to looke vnto the poore.

[b] Becauſe that you alſo are made partakers of the Goſpel.

[c] Euer ſince I knew you.

[d] The Spirit of God will not forſake you vnto the very latter end, vntill your mortall bodies ſhall appeare before the iudgement of Chriſt, to be glorified.

[e] A true proofe of a true knitting together with Chriſt

[f] He calleth his bands, grace, as though he had receiued ſome ſingular benefit.

8 [2] For God is my record, how I long after you all from the very heart root in Ieſus Chriſt.

9 [3] And this I pray that your loue may abound yet more and more in knowledge, and in all iudgement,

10 That yee may allow thoſe things which are beſt, that ye may be pure, and without offence, vntill the day of Chriſt, 11 Filled with the [g] fruits of righteouſneſſe, which are by Ieſus Chriſt vnto the glorie and praiſe of God.

12 ¶ [4] I would ye vnderſtood, brethren, that the things which haue come vnto me, are turned rather to the furthering of the Goſpel, 13 So that my bandes [h] in Chriſt are famous thorowout all the [i] iudgement hall, and in all other places.

14 Inſomuch that many of the brethren in the Lord are boldened through my bandes, and dare more frankely ſpeake the [k] Word.

15 Some preach Chriſt euen through enuy and ſtrife, and ſome alſo of good will.

16 The one part preacheth Chriſt of contention, and not [l] purely, ſuppoſing to adde more affliction to my bands.

17 But the others of loue, knowing that I am ſet for the defence of the Goſpel.

18 [5] What then: yet Chriſt is preached all maner wayes, whether it be vnder a [m] pretence, or ſincerely: and I therein ioy: yea, and will ioy.

19 For I know that this ſhall turne to my ſaluation through your prayer, and by the helpe of the Spirit of Ieſus Chriſt, 20 [6] As I feruently looke for, and hope, that in nothing I ſhall be aſhamed, but that with all confidence, as alwayes, ſo now Chriſt ſhall be magnified in my body, whether it be by life or by death.

21 For Chriſt is to me both in life and in death aduantage.

22 [7] And whether to liue in the [n] fleſh vvere profitable for me, and what to chuſe I know not.

23 For I am diſtreſſed betweene both, deſiring to be looſed, and to be with Chriſt, which is beſt of all.

24 Neuertheleſſe, to abide in the fleſh, is more needfull for you.

25 And this am I ſure of, that I ſhall abide, and with you all continue, for your furtherance and ioy of your faith,

26 That yee may more abundantly reioyce in IESVS CHRIST for me, by my comming to you againe.

27 [8] Onely let your conuerſation be as it becommeth the Goſpel of Chriſt, that whether I come and ſee you, or els be abſent, I may heare of your matters, that ye [o] continue in one ſpirit, and in one minde, fighting together through the faith of the Goſpel.

[2] Hee declareth his good will towards them, therewithall ſhewing by what meanes chiefly they may be confirmed, to wit, by continuall prayer.

[3] Hee ſheweth what thing wee ought chiefly deſire, to wit, firſt of all, that we may increaſe in the true knowledge of God (ſo that we may be able to diſcerne things that differ one from another) and alſo in charity, that euen to the end we may giue our ſelues to good works indeed, to the glory of God by Ieſus Chriſt.

[g] If righteouſneſſe be the tree, and good workes the fruits, then muſt the Papiſts needes be deceiued, when they ſay that works are the cauſe of righteouſneſſe.

[4] He preuenteth the offence that might come by his perſecution, whereby diuers tooke occaſion to diſgrace his Apoſtleſhip. To whom he anſwereth, that God hath bleſſeth his impriſonment in ſuch wiſe, that he is by that meanes become more famous, and the dignitie of the Goſpel by this occaſion is greatly inlarged, although not with like affection in all men, yet indeed.

[h] For Chriſt his ſake.

[i] In the Emperous court.

[k] The Goſpel is called the Word, to ſet forth the excellencie of it.

[l] Not with a pure minde: for otherwiſe their doctrine was pure.

[5] He ſheweth by ſetting foorth his owne example, that the ende of our afflictions is true ioy: and that through the vertue of the Spirit of Chriſt, which he giueth to them that aske it.

[m] Vndera goodly colour and ſhew: for they made Chriſt a cloake for their ambition and enuie.

[6] We muſt continue euen to the end, with great confidence, hauing nothing before our eyes but Chriſtes glory onely, whether wee liue or die.

[7] An example of a true ſhepheard, who maketh more account how he may profit his ſheepe, then he doth of any commodity of his owne whatſoeuer.

[n] To liue in this mortall body.

[8] Hauing ſet downe thoſe things before, in maner of a Preface, hee deſcendeth now to exhortations, warning them firſt of all, to conſent both in doctrine and minde, and afterward, that being thus knit together with thoſe common bands, they continue through the ſtrength of faith to beare all aduerſitie in ſuch ſort, that they admit nothing vnworthie the profeſſion of the Goſpel.

[o] The word ſignifieth, to ſtand faſt, and it is proper to wreſtlers, that ſtand faſt, and ſhrinkle not a foot.

28 [9] And in nothing feare your aduerſaries, which is to them a token of perdition, and to you of ſaluation, and that of God.

29 [10] For vnto you it is giuen for Chriſt, that not onely ye ſhould beleeue in him, but alſo ſuffer for his ſake, 30 [11] Hauing the ſame fight, which yee ſaw in me, and now heare to be in me.

[9] We ought not to be diſcouraged, but rather incouraged by the perſecutions which the enemies of the Goſpel imagine and practiſe againſt vs: ſeeing that they are certaine witneſſes from God himſelfe, both of our ſaluation, and of the deſtruction of the wicked.

[10] He prooueth that his ſaying, that perſecution is a token of our ſaluation, becauſe it is a gift of God to ſuffer for Chriſt, which gift he beſtoweth vpon his owne, as he doth the gift of faith.

[11] Now hee ſheweth for what purpoſe hee made mention of his afflictions.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee exhorteth them aboue all things, 3 to humilitie, 6 and that by the example of Chriſt. 19 He promiſeth to ſend Timotheus ſhortly vnto them, 26 and excuſeth the long tarying of Epaphroditus.

IF [1] there be therefore any conſolation in [a] Chriſt, if any comfort of loue, if any fellowſhip of the Spirit, if any [b] compaſſion and mercie,

2 Fulfill my ioy, that ye be like minded, hauing the [c] ſame loue, being of one accord, and of one iudgement,

3 That nothing be done through contention or vainglory, but that in meekneſſe of mind euery man eſteeme other better then himſelfe.

4 Looke not euery man on his owne things, but euery man alſo on the things of other men.

5 [2] Let the ſame mind be in you that was euen in Chriſt Ieſus,

6 Who being in the [d] forme of God, [e] thought it no robbery to be [f] equall with God:

7 But he made himſelfe of [g] no reputation, and tooke on him the [h] forme of a ſeruant, and was made like vnto men, and was found in ſhape as a man.

8 He humbled himſelfe, and became obedient vnto the death, euen the death of the croſſe.

9 [3] Wherefore God hath alſo highly exalted him, and giuen him a [i] name aboue euery name.

10 That at the Name of Ieſus ſhould [k] euery knee bow, both of things in heauen, and things in earth, and things vnder the earth.

11 And that [l] euery tongue ſhould confeſſe that Ieſus Chriſt is the Lord, vnto the glory of God the Father.

12 [4] Wherefore my beloued, as ye haue alwayes obeyed me, not as in my preſence onely, but now much more in mine abſence: ſo [m] make an end of your owne ſaluation with feare and trembling.

13 [5] For it is God which worketh in you both [n] the will and the deed, euen of his good pleaſure.

14 [6] Doe all things without ✠ murmuring and reaſonings,

[1] A moſt earneſt requeſt to remouue all thoſe things, whereby that great and ſpeciall conſent and agreement is commonly broken, to wit, contention and pride, whereby it commeth to paſſe, that they ſeparate themſelues one from another.

[a] Any Chriſtian comfort.

[b] If any feeling of inward loue.

[c] Like loue.

[2] Hee ſetteth before them a moſt perfit example of all modeſtie and ſweete conuerſation, Chriſt Ieſus, whom we ought to follow with all our might: who abaſed himſelfe ſo farre for our ſakes, although he be aboue all, that hee tooke vpon him the forme of a ſeruant, to wit, our fleſh willingly, ſubiect to all infirmities, euen to the death of the croſſe.

[d] Such as God himſelfe is, and therefore God, for there is none in all parts like to God, but God himſelfe.

[e] Chriſt, that glorious and euerlaſting God, knew that he might rightfully and lawfully not appeare in the baſe fleſh of man, but remaine with maieſty meet for God: yet he choſe rather to debaſe himſelfe.

[f] If the Sonne be equall to the Father, then is there of neceſſity an equallity, which Arrius, that Heretike, denieth: and if the Sonne be compared with the Father, then is there a diſtinction of perſons, which Sabellius, that heretike, denieth.

[g] Hee brought himſelfe from all things, as it were, to nothing.

[h] By taking our manhood vpon him.

[3] Hee ſheweth the moſt glorious euent of Chriſtes ſubmiſſion, to teach vs, that modeſtie is the true way to true praiſe and glorie.

[i] Dignity and renowme, and the matter with it.

[k] All creatures ſhall at length be ſubiect to Chriſt.

[l] Euery nation.

[4] The concluſion: We muſt goe on to ſaluation with humilitie and ſubmiſſion, by the way of our vocation.

[m] He is ſayd to make an end of his ſaluation, which runneth in the race of righteouſneſſe.

[5] A moſt ſure and grounded argument againſt pride, for that wee haue nothing in vs praiſe worthy but it commeth of the free gift of God, and is without vs, for we haue no abilitie or power, ſo much as to will well (much leſſe to doe well) but onely of the free mercie of God.

[n] Why then, we are not ſtocks, but yet we doe not will well of nature, but onely becauſe God hath made of our naughty will a good will.

[6] He deſcribeth modeſtie by the contrary effects of pride, teaching vs, that it is farre both from all malicious, and cloſe or inward hatred and alſo from open contentions and brawlings.

✠ 1. Pet. 4, 9.

15 [7] That ye may be blameleſſe, and pure, and the ſonnes of God without rebuke in the middes of a naughtie and crooked nation, among whom ye ſhine as ✣ lights in the world,

16 Holding forth the [o] worde of life, [8] that I may reioyce in the day of Chriſt, that I haue not runne in vaine, neither haue laboured in vaine.

17 Yea, and though I be offered vp vpon the [p] ſacrifice, and ſeruice of your faith, I am glad, and reioyce with you all.

18 For the ſame cauſe alſo be yee glad, and reioyce with me.

19 [9] And I truſt in the Lord Ieſus, to ſende ♣ Timotheus ſhortly vnto you, that I alſo may be of [q] good comfort, when I know your ſtate.

20 For I haue no man like minded, who will faithfully care for your matters.

21 ∵ For [r] all ſeeke their owne, and not that which is Ieſus Chriſts.

22 But yee know the proofe of him, that as a ſonne with the father, hee hath ſerued with me in the Goſpel.

23 Him therefore I hope to ſend as ſoone as I know how it will goe with me, 24 And I truſt in the Lord, that I alſo my ſelfe ſhall come ſhortly.

25 But I ſuppoſed it neceſſary to ſende my brother Epaphroditus vnto you my companion in labour, and fellow ſouldier, euen your meſſenger, and he that miniſtred vnto mee ſuch things as I wanted.

26 For he longed after all you, and was full of heauineſſe, becauſe ye had heard that he had bene ſicke.

27 And no doubt hee was ſicke, very neere vnto death: but God had mercy on him, and not on him onely, but on me alſo, leaſt I ſhould haue ſorow vpon ſorow.

28 I ſent him therefore the more diligently, that when yee ſhould ſee him againe, yee might reioyce, and I might be the leſſe ſorowfull.

29 Receiue him therefore in the Lord with all gladneſſe, and make much of ſuch:

30 Becauſe that for the [ſ] worke of Chriſt hee was neere vnto death, and regarded not his life, to fulfill that ſeruice which was lacking on your part toward me.

[7] To be ſhort, he requireth a life without fault, and pure, that being lightened with the word of God, they may ſhine in the darkeneſſe of this world.

✣ Matth. 5,14.

[o] The Goſpell is called the word of life, becauſe of the effects which it worketh.

[8] Againe he pricketh them forward, ſetting before them his true Apoſtolike care that hee had of them, comforting them moreouer, to the ende they ſhould not be ſorie for the greatneſſe of his afflictions, no not although he ſhould die to make perfite their oblation with his blood, as it were with a drinke offering.

[p] As if he ſaid, I brought you Philippians to Chriſt, my deſire is that you preſent your ſelues a liuely ſacrifice to him, and then ſhall it not grieue mee to be offered vp as a drinke offering, to accompliſh this your ſpirituall offering.

[9] Moreouer hee confirmeth their mindes both by ſending backe Epaphroditus vnto them, whoſe fidelitie towards them, and great paines in helping him, hee commendeth: and alſo promiſing to ſent Timothie ſhortly vnto them, by whoſe preſence they ſhall receiue great commoditie, and hoping alſo to come himſelfe ſhortly vnto them, if God will.

2 Hee refuteth the vaine boaſtings of the falſe apoſtles, 7 and ſetteth Chriſt againſt them. 10 Hee ſetteth out the force and nature of faith, 15 that laying all things aſide, they may be partakers of the Croſſe of Chriſt, 18 the enemies whereof, hee ſetteth out.

MOreouer, [1] my brethren, reioyce in the Lord. [2] It grieueth me not to write the [a] ſame things to you, and for you it is a ſure thing.

2 Beware of dogs: beware of euill workers: beware of the [b] conciſion.

[1] A concluſion of thoſe things which haue bene before ſaid, to wit, that they go forward cheerefully in the Lord.

[2] A preface to the next admonition that followeth, to take good heed and beware of falſe apoſtles, which ioyne Circumciſion with Chriſt (that is to ſay, iuſtification by workes, with free iuſtification by faith) and beare into mens heads the ceremonies which are aboliſhed: for true exerciſes of godlineſſe and charitie. And hee calleth them dogges as prophane barkers, and euill workemen, becauſe they neglected true workes, and did not teach the true vſe of them. To be ſhort, he calleth them Conciſion, becauſe in vrging Circumciſion, they cut off themſelues and others from the Church. [a] Which you haue often times heard of mee. [b] Hee alludeth to Circumciſion, of the name whereof whiles they boaſted, they cut aſunder the Church.

3 [3] For we are the circumciſion, which worſhip God in the ſpirit, and reioyce in Chriſt Ieſus, and haue no confidence [c] in the fleſh:

4 [4] Though I might alſo haue confidence in the fleſh. If any other man thinketh that he hath whereof he might truſt in the fleſh, much more I,

5 Circumciſed the eight day, of the kinred of Iſrael, of the tribe of Beniamin, ✣ an Ebrew of the Ebrewes, ♣ by the Law a Phariſe.

6 Concerning zeale, I perſecuted the Church: touching the righteouſneſſe which is in the Law, I was vnrebukeable.

7 But the things that were [d] vantage vnto me, the ſame I counted loſſe for Chriſtes ſake.

8 Yea, doubtleſſe I thinke [e] all things but loſſe for the excellent knowledge ſake of Chriſt Ieſus my Lord, for whom I haue counted all things loſſe, and doe iudge them to be doung, that I might [f] winne Chriſt,

9 And might be found in [g] him, that is, [h] not hauing mine owne righteouſneſſe, which is of the Law, but that which is through the faith of Chriſt, euen the righteouſneſſe which is of God through faith,

10 [5] That I may [i] know him, and the vertue of his reſurrection, and the [6] fellowſhip of his afflictions, and be made conformable vnto his death,

11 If by any meanes I might attaine vnto the [k] reſurrection of the dead:

12 Not as though I had already attained to it, either were already perfect: but I follow, if that I may comprehend that for whoſe ſake alſo I am [l] comprehended of Chriſt Ieſus.

13 Brethren, I count not my ſelfe, that I haue attained to it, but one thing I doe: I forget that which is behinde, and endeuour my ſelfe vnto that which is before,

14 And follow hard toward the marke, for the priſe of the hie calling of God in Chriſt Ieſus.

15 [7] Let vs therefore as many as be [m] perfect, be thus minded: and if yee be otherwiſe minded, God ſhall reueale euen the ſame vnto you.

16 Neuertheleſſe, in that whereunto we are come, let vs proceed by one rule, that wee may minde one thing.

17 Brethren, be followers of me, and looke on them, which walke ſo, as ye haue vs for an enſample.

18 [8] ∵ For many walke, of whom I haue tolde you often, and now tell you weeping, that they are the enemies of the croſſe of Chriſt:

[3] He ſhe [illegible] we ought [illegible] true circum[illegible] to wit, the ci[illegible]ciſion of the [illegible] that cutting off [illegible] wicked affections by the vertue of Chriſt, we may ſerue God in puritie of life.

[c] In outward things, which pertaine nothing to the ſoule.

[4] He doubteth not to prefer himſelfe euen according to the fleſh, before thoſe peruerſe hote vrgers of the Law, that all men may know that he doeth with good iudgement of minde, lightly eſteeme all thoſe outward things: forſomuch as he lacketh nothing which hath Chriſt, nay, the confidence of our workes can not ſtand with the free iuſtification in Chriſt by faith.

[d] Which is accounted for vantage.

[e] He ſhutteth out all workes, aſwell thoſe that go before, as thoſe that come after faith.

[f] That in their place I might get Chriſt, & of a poore man become rich: ſo farre off am I from loſing any thing.

[g] In Chriſt: for they that are found without Chriſt, are ſubiect to condemnation.

[h] That is, to be in Chriſt, to be found not in a mans owne righteouſneſſe, but cloathed with the righteouſneſſe of Chriſt imputed to him.

[5] This is the end of righteouſneſſe by faith touching vs, that by the vertue of his reſurrection wee may ſcape from death. [i] That I may feele him in deed, and haue a triall of him. [6] The way to that eternall ſaluation is to follow Chriſt his ſteps, by afflictions and perſecutions, vntill we come to Chriſt himſelfe, who is our marke whereat we ſhoot, and receiue that reward whereunto God calleth vs in him. And the Apoſtle ſetteth theſe true exerciſes of godlineſſe againſt thoſe vaine ceremonies of the Law, wherein the falſe apoſtles put the ſumme of godlineſſe: [k] To life euerlaſting, which followeth the reſurrection of the Saints. [l] For we runne not, but ſo farre foorth, as we are layde holde on of Chriſt, that is, as God giueth vs ſtrength, and ſheweth vs the way. [7] The concluſion of this exhortation ſtanding vpon three members: The one is, that ſuch as haue profited in the trueth of this doctrine, ſhould continue in it. The ſecond is, that if there be any which are yet ignorant and vnderſtand not theſe things, and doubt of the aboliſhing of the Law, they ſhould cauſe no trouble, and ſhould be gently borne withall, vntill they alſo be inſtructed of the Lord. The third is, that they eſteeme the falſe apoſtles by their fruits: wherein he doubteth not to ſeth forth himſelfe for an example. [m] He ſayd before that he was not perfect: So that in this place he calleth them perfect, which haue ſomewhat profited in the knowledge of Chriſt, and the Goſpel, whom he ſetteth againſt the [illegible] and ignorant, as he expoundeth himſelfe in the next verſe following. [8] He [illegible] the falſe apoſtles in their colours, not vpon malice or ambition, but with ſorow and teares, to wit, becauſe that being enemies of the Goſpel (for that it is ioyned with affliction) they regard nothing els, but the commodities of this life: that is [illegible] in peace, quietneſſe, and all worldly pleaſures they may liue in [illegible] amongſt men: whoſe miſerable end he forewarneth them of. [illegible]

19 Whoſe ende is damnation, whoſe God is their bellie, and vvhoſe [o] glory is to their ſhame, which minde earthly things.

20 [9] But our conuerſation is in heauen, from whence alſo we looke for the ✣ Sauiour, euen the Lord Ieſus Chriſt, 21 Who ſhall change our vile body, that it may be faſhioned like vnto his glorious body, according to the working, whereby he is able euen to ſubdue all things vnto himſelfe.

CHAP. IIII.

1 From particular exhortations, 4 hee commeth to generall. 10 Hee ſaith that hee tooke ſuch ioy in their readineſſe to liberalitie, 12 that he will patiently beare the want.

THerefore, [1] my brethren, beloued and longed for, my ioy and my [a] crowne, ſo continue in the [b] Lord, ye beloued.

2 [2] I pray Euodias, and beſeech Syntiche, that they be of one accord in the Lord.

3 Yea, and I beſeech thee, faithfull yoakefellow, helpe thoſe vvomen, which laboured with me in the Goſpel, with Clement alſo, and with other my fellowe labourers, whoſe names are in the ✣ [c] booke of life.

4 [3] Reioyce in the [d] Lord alway, againe I ſay, reioyce.

5 [4] Let your [e] patient minde be knowen vnto all men. [5] The Lord is at hand.

6 [6] Be nothing carefull, but in all things let your requeſts be ſhewed vnto God in prayer and ſupplication with [f] giuing of thanks.

7 And the [g] peace of God which paſſeth all vnderſtanding, ſhall preſerue your [h] heartes and minds in Chriſts Ieſus.

8 [7] Furthermore, brethren, whatſoeuer things are true, whatſoeuer things [i] are honeſt, whatſoeuer things are iuſt, whatſoeuer things are pure, whatſoeuer things are worthy loue, whatſoeuer things are of good report, if there be any vertue, or if there be any praiſe, thinke on theſe things.

9 Which yee haue both learned and receiued, and heard, and ſeene in me: thoſe things doe, and the God of peace ſhall be with you.

10 [8] Now I reioyce alſo in the Lord greatly, that now at the laſt your care for me ſpringeth afreſh, wherein notwithſtanding ye were carefull, but ye lacked opportunitie.

11 I ſpeake not becauſe of [k] want: for I haue learned in whatſoeuer ſtate I am, therewith to be content.

12 And I can be [l] abaſed, and I can abound: euery where in all things I am [m] inſtructed, both to be full, and to be hungry, and to abound, and to haue want.

13 I am able to do all things through the helpe of Chriſt, which ſtrengtheneth me.

14 Notwithſtanding ye haue well done, that ye did communicate to mine affliction.

15 [9] And ye Philippians know alſo that in the [n] beginning of the Goſpel, when I departed from Macedonia, no Church communicated with mee, concerning the matter of giuing and receiuing, but ye onely.

16 For euen vvhen I vvas in Theſſalonica, ye ſent once, and afterward againe for my neceſſitie.

17 [10] Not that I deſire a gift: but I deſire the fruit which may further your reckoning.

18 Now I haue receiued all, and haue plentie: I was euen filled, after that I had receiued of Epaphroditus that which came from you, an [o] odour that ſmelleth ſweete, a ſacrifice acceptable and pleaſant to God.

19 And my God ſhall fulfill all your neceſſities through his riches with glory in Ieſus Chriſt.

20 Vnto God euen our Father be praiſe for euermore, Amen.

21 Salute all the Saints in Chriſt Ieſus. The brethren, which are with me, greete you.

22 All the Saints ſalute you, and moſt of all they which are of [p] Ceſars houſhold.

23 The grace of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt be with you all, Amen.

CHAP. I.

1 After the ſalutation, 4 he praiſeth them the more, to make them attentiue vnto him. 7 He reporteth the teſtimonie of the doctrine which they heard of Epaphras. 13 He magnifieth Gods grace towards them, 20 and ſheweth that all the parts of our ſaluation conſiſt in Chriſt alone.

PAul an Apoſtle of Ieſus Chriſt, by the [a] will of God, and Timotheus our brother,

2 To them which are of [b] Coloſſe, Saints and faithfull brethren in Chriſt: Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

3 [1] We giue thanks to God euen the [c] Father of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, alway praying for you:

4 Since we heard of your faith in Chriſt Ieſus, and of your loue toward all Saints.

5 For the [d] hopes ſake, which is layed vp for you in heauen, whereof ye haue heard before by the word of trueth, vvhich is the Goſpel,

6 Which is come vnto you euen as it is vnto all the world, & is fruitful as it is alſo among you from the day ỷ ye heard & truly knew the grace of God,

7 As yee alſo learned of Epaphras our deare fellow ſeruant, which is for you a faithfull miniſter of Chriſt:

---

[a] By the free bountifulneſſe of God.

[b] Coloſſe is ſituated in Phrygia, not far from Hierapolis and Laodicea, on that ſide that they bend toward Lycia and Pamphylia.

[1] He commendeth the doctrine that was deliuered them by Epaphras, and their readineſſe in receiuing it.

[c] Wee can not otherwiſe conſider of God to our ſaluation, but as he is Chriſtes Father, in whom we are adopted.

[d] For the glory that is hoped for.

8 [2] Who hath alſo declared vnto vs your loue in the [e] Spirit.

9 For this cauſe wee alſo, ſince the day that we heard of it, ceaſe not to pray for you, and to deſire that ye might be fulfilled with knowledge of [f] his will in all wiſedome, and ſpirituall vnderſtanding.

10 That yee might walke worthy of the Lord, & pleaſe him in all things, being fruitfull in al good workes, and increaſing in the knowledge of God,

11 [3] Strengthened with all might through his glorious power, vnto all patience, and long ſuffering with [g] ioyfulneſſe,

12 [4] Giuing thankes vnto the [5] Father, which hath made vs meete to be partakers of the inheritance of the Saints in [h] light,

13 Who hath deliuered vs from the power of darkeneſſe, and hath tranſlated vs into the kingdome ✣ of his deare Sonne,

14 [6] In whom we haue redemption through his blood, that is, the forgiueneſſe of ſinnes.

15 [7] Who is the ✣ image of the inuiſible God, [i] the firſt begotten of euery creature.

16 * For by him were all things created which are in heauen, and which are in earth, things viſible and inuiſible: whether they be [k] Thrones, or Dominions, or Principalities, or Powers, all things were created by him, and for him.

17 And he is before all things, and in him all things conſiſt.

18 [8] And hee is the head of the body of the Church: hee is the beginning, * and the [l] firſt begotten of the dead, that in all things he might haue the preeminence.

19 ✣ For it pleaſed the Father, that in him ſhould [m] all fulneſſe dwell.

20 [9] And through peace made by that blood of that his croſſe, to reconcile to himſelfe through him, through him, I ſay, [n] all things, both which are in earth, and which are in heauen.

21 [10] And you which were in times paſt ſtrangers and enemies, becauſe your mindes were ſet in euill workes, hath [o] he now alſo reconciled, 22 In that body of his [p] fleſh through death, to make you holy and vnblameable, and without fault in his ſight.

23 [11] If yee continue, grounded and ſtabliſhed in the faith, and be not moued away from the hope of the Goſpel, whereof yee haue heard, and which hath bene preached to [q] euery creature, which is vnder heauen, [12] whereof I Paul am a miniſter.

24 Now reioyce I in my ſuffrings [r] for you, and fulfill the [ſ] reſt of the afflictions of Chriſt in my fleſh, for his bodies ſake, which is the Church,

25 [13] Whereof I am a miniſter, according to the diſpenſation of God, which is giuen mee vnto youward, to fulfill the word of God,

26 ✣ Which is the myſtery hid ſince the world began, and from all ages, but nowe is made manifeſt to his [t] Saints,

27 To whome God [u] woulde make knowen what is the riches of his glorious myſtery among the Gentiles, which riches is Chriſt in you, the hope of glory,

28 [14] Whom wee preach, admoniſhing euery man, and teaching euery man in [x] all wiſedome, that wee may preſent euery man perfect in Chriſt Ieſus.

29 Whereunto I alſo labour & ſtriue, according to his working which worketh in me mightily.

2 He declareth his good will towards them, telling them that they muſt not ſtill remaine at one ſtay but go on further both in the knowledge of the Goſpel, and alſo in the true vſe of it.

e Your ſpirituall loue, or your loue which commeth from the Spirit.

f Gods will.

3 The gift of continuance it not of vs, but it proceedeth from the vertue of God, which he doeth freely giue vs.

g It muſt not be vnwilling, and as it were drawen out of vs by force, but proceed from a merie and ioyfull minde.

6 Hauing ended the preface, he goeth to the matter it ſelfe, that is to ſay, to an excellent deſcription (although it be but ſhort) of whole Chriſtianitie, which is fitly diuided into three treatiſes: for firſt of all he expoundeth the true doctrine, according to the order of the cauſes, beginning from this verſe to the 24. And from thence he beginneth to apply the ſame to the Coloſſians with diuers exhortations to the 6. verſe of the ſecond Chapter. And laſt of all in the third place euen to the third Chapter, hee refuteth the corruption of true doctrine.

5 The efficient cauſe of our ſaluation is the onely mercie of God the Father, who maketh vs meate to be partakers of eternall life, deliuering vs from the darkeneſſe wherein wee were borne, and bringing vs to the light of the knowledge of the glory of his Sonne. h In that glorious and heauenly kingdome. ✣ Matth. 3,17. and 17,5. 2. Pet. 1,17. 6 The matter it ſelfe of our ſaluation, is Chriſt the Sonne of God, who hath obteined remiſſion of ſinnes for vs, by the offering vp of himſelfe. 7 A liuely deſcription of the perſon of Chriſt, whereby wee vnderſtand that in him onely, God ſheweth himſelfe to be ſeene: who was begotten of the Father before any thing was made, that is, from euerlaſting, by whome alſo all things that are made, were made without any exception, by whom alſo they doe conſiſt, and whoſe glory they ſerue. ✣ Hebr. 1,3. i Begotten before any thing was made: and therefore the euerlaſting Sonne of the euerlaſting Father. * Iohn 1,3. k He ſetteth foorth the Angels with glorious names, that by the compariſon of moſt excellent ſpirits wee may vnderſtand how farre paſſing the excellencie of Chriſtes, in whom onely we haue to content our ſelues, and let goe all Angels. 8 Hauing gloriouſly declared the excellent dignitie of the perſon of Chriſt, he deſcribeth his office and function, to wit, that hee is that ſame to the Church, that the head is to the body, that is to ſay, the prince and gouernour of it, and the very beginning of true life, as who riſing firſt from death, is the Authour of eternall life, ſo that he is aboue all, in whom onely there is moſt plentifull aboundance of all good things, which is powred out vpon the Church. * Reuelat. 1,5. 1. cor. 15,20. l Who ſo roſe againe that he ſhall die no more, and who raiſeth other from death to life by his power. ✣ Iohn 1,14. chap. 2,9. m Moſt plentifull aboundance of all things perteining to God. 9 Now he teacheth how Chriſt executed that office which his Father ioyned him, to wit, by ſuffering the death of the croſſe (which was ioyned with the curſe of God) according to his decree, that by this ſacrifice he might reconcile to his Father all men as well them which beleeued in him to come, and were already vnder this hope gathered into heauen, as them which ſhould vpon the earth beleeue in him afterward. And thus is iuſtification deſcribed of the Apoſtle, which is one and the chiefeſt part of the benefite of Chriſt. n The whole Church. 10 Sanctification is another worke of God in vs by Chriſt, in that that he reſtored vs (which hated God extremely, and were wholly and willingly giuen to ſinne) to his gracious fauour, in ſuch ſort, that hee therewithall purifieth vs with his holy Spirit, and conſecrateth vs to righteouſneſſe.

o The ſonne.

p In that fleſhly body, to giue vs to vnderſtand that his body was not a fantaſticall body, but a true body.

11 This ſecond treatiſe of this part of the Epiſtle, wherein he exhorteth the Coloſſians not to ſuffer themſelues by any meanes to be moued from this doctrine, ſhewing and declaring that there is no where any other true Goſpel.

q To all men: whereby we learne that the Goſpel was not ſhut vp within the corners of Iudea alone.

12 He purchaſed authoritie to this doctrine by his Apoſtleſhip, and taketh a moſt ſure proofe thereof, of his afflictions which he ſuffereth for Chriſts his Name to inſtruct the Churches with theſe examples of patience. r For your profite and commoditie. ſ The afflictions of the Church are ſayde to be Chriſtes afflictions, by reaſon of that fellowſhip and knitting together, that the body and the head haue the one with the other, not that there is any more neede to haue the Church redeemed, but that Chriſt ſheweth his power in the dayly weakeneſſe of his, and that for the comfort of the whole body. 13 He bringeth another proofe of his Apoſtleſhip, to wit, that God is the authour of it, by whom alſo hee was appointed peculiarly Apoſtle of the Gentiles, to the end that by this meanes, that ſame might be fulfilled by him, which the Prophets foretold of the calling of the Gentiles. ✣ Rom. 16,25. ephe. 3,9. 2. tim. 1,10. ti. 1,2. 1 pet. 1,20. t Whom he choſe to ſanctifie vnto himſelfe in Chriſt: moreouer he ſayth that the myſtery of our redemption was hidden ſince the world began, except it were reuealed vnto a fewe, who alſo were taught it extraordinarily. u This Paul brideleth the curioſitie of men. 14 He proteſteth that he doeth faithfully execute his Apoſtleſhip in euery place, bringing men vnto Chriſt onely, through the Lords plentifull bleſſings of his labours. x Perfect and ſound wiſedome, which is perfect in it ſelfe, and ſhall in the end make them perfect that follow it.

CHAP. II.

4 He condemneth, as vaine, whatſoeuer is without Chriſt, 11 intreating ſpecially of circumciſion, 16 of abſtinence from meats, 18 and of worſhipping of Angels. 20 That wee are deliuered from the traditions of the Law through Chriſt.

FOr I [1] would yee knewe what great fighting I haue for your ſakes, and for them of Laodicea, and for as many as haue not ſeene my [a] perſon in the fleſh.

2 [2] That [b] their hearts might be comforted, and they knit together in loue, and in all riches of the [c] full aſſurance of vnderſtanding, to know the myſtery of God, euen the Father, and of Chriſt:

a Me preſent in body.

2 He concludeth ſhortly the ſumme of the former doctrine, to wit, that the whole ſumme of true wiſedome and moſt ſecrete knowledge of God, conſiſteth in Chriſt only, & that this is the vſe of it touching men, that they being knit together in loue, reſt themſelues happily in the knowledge of ſo great a goodneſſe, vntill they come fully to enioy it. b Whom he neuer ſaw. c Of that vnderſtanding, which bringeth foorth certaine and vndoubted perſwaſion in our mindes. d There is no true wiſdome without Chriſt. 3 A paſſing ouer to the treatiſe following, againſt the corruptions of Chriſtianitie. e With a framed kinde of talke made to perſwade. ✣ *1. the faith, as ye haue bene taught,abounding therein with thankeſgiuing :

8 4 Beware leaſt there be any man that [i] ſpoile you through philoſophie,& vaine deceit,5 through the traditions of men, 6 according to the [k] rudiments of the world, 7 and not after Chriſt.

9 8 For [l] in him [m] dwelleth [n] all the fulneſſe of the Godhead [o] bodily.

10 And yee are compleete in him, which is the head of all principalitie and power.

11 9 In whom alſo yee are circumciſed with ✤ circumciſion made without handes, by putting off the [p] ſinfull body of the fleſh, through the circumciſion of Chriſt, 12 10 In that yee are ✣ [q] buried with [r] him through baptiſme, 11 in whom yee are alſo raiſed vp together through the faith of the operation of [ſ] God,which raiſed him from the dead.

13 * 12 And you which were dead in ſinnes, 13 and in the vncircumciſion of your fleſh, hath he quickened together with him, forgiuing you all your treſpaſſes,

14 14 And putting out the ✽ [t] hand writing of ordinances that was againſt vs, which was contrarie to vs, hee euen tooke it out of the way, and faſtened it vpon the croſſe,

15 And hath ſpoyled the [u] Principalities, and Powers, and hath [x] made a ſhewe of them openly, and hath triumphed ouer them in the [y] ſame croſſe.

16 15 Let no man therefore condemne you in meate and drinke, or in reſpect of an holy day, or of the new moone,or of the Sabbath dayes, 17 Which are but a ſhadow of things to come: but the [z] body is in Chriſt.

4 He bringeth all corruptions to three kindes: The firſt is that, which reſteth of vaine and curious ſpeculations,and yet beareth a ſhewe of a certaine ſubtill wiſedome.

i This is a word of warre, and it is as much as to driue or cary away a ſpoile or bootie.

5 The ſecond which is manifeſtly ſuperſtitious and vaine, and ſtandeth onely vpon cuſtome and fained inſpirations.

6 The third kinde was of them which ioyned the rudiments of the world, (that is to ſay, the ceremonies of the Law) with the Goſpel.

k Principles and rulers, wherewith God ruled his Church, as it were vnder a ſcholemaſter.

7 A generall confutation of all corruptions is this, that that muſt needes be a falſe religion, which addeth any thing to Chriſt.

8 A reaſon: Becauſe onely Chriſt God and man, is moſt perfect, and paſſeth farre aboue all things, ſo that whoſoeuer hath him, may require nothing more. l By theſe words, is ſhewed a diſtinction of the natures. m This word (Dwelleth) noteth out vnto vs the ioyning together of thoſe natures, ſo that of God and Man, is one Chriſt. n Theſe words ſet downe moſt perfect Godhead to be in Chriſt. o The knitting together of God and man, is ſubſtantiall and eſſentiall. 9 Nowe hee dealeth perfectly againſt the third kinde, that is to ſay, againſt them which vrged the Iewiſh religion: and firſt of all, hee denieth that wee haue neede of the Circumciſion of the fleſh. ſeeing that without it wee are circumciſed within, by the vertue of Chriſt. ✤ Rom 2,29. p Theſe many wordes are vſed to ſhewe what the olde man is, whom Paul in other places calleth the bodie of ſinne. 10 The taking away of an obiection: wee neede not ſo much as the eternal ſigne which our fathers had, ſeeing that our baptiſme is a moſt effectuall pledge and witneſſe, of that inward reſtoring and renuing. ✣ Rom.6,4. epheſ.1,19. q Looke Rom.6,4. r So then all the force of the matter commeth not from the very deede done, that is to ſay, it is not the dipping of vs into the water by a Miniſter that maketh vs to be buried with Chriſt, as the Papiſts ſay, that euen for the very actes ſake, wee become verely Chriſtians, but it commeth from the vertue of Chriſt, for the Apoſtle addeth the reſurrection of Chriſt and faith. 11 One end of Baptiſme is the death and buriall of the old man, and that by the mightie power of God onely, whoſe vertue wee lay hold on by faith, in the death and reſurrection of Chriſt. ſ Through faith which commeth from God. * Epheſ.2.1. 12 An other end of Baptiſme is, that wee which were dead in ſinne, might obteine free remiſſion of ſinnes and eternall life, through faith in Chriſt who dyed for vs. 13 A new argument which lyeth in theſe few words, and it is thus: Vncircumciſion was no hinderance to you, why you being iuſtified in Chriſt ſhould not obteine life therefore you neede not circumciſion to the argument of ſaluation. 14 He ſpeaketh now more generally againſt the whole ſeruice of the Law, and ſheweth by two reaſons that it is aboliſhed: Firſt, to what purpoſe ſhould hee that hath obteined remiſſion of all his ſinnes in Chriſt require thoſe helps of the Law? Secondly, becauſe, that if a man doe rightly conſider thoſe rites, hee ſhall finde that they were ſo many teſtimonies of our guiltineſſe, whereby we manifeſtly witneſſed as it were by our owne hand writing that wee deſerued damnation. Therefore did Chriſt put out that hand writing by his comming and faſtening it to the croſſe, triumphed ouer all our enemies, were they neuer ſo mightie. Therefore to what end and purpoſe ſhould we now vſe thoſe ceremonies, as though we were ſtill guiltie of ſinne, and ſubiect to the tyrannie of our enemies. ✽ Epheſ.2,15. t Aboliſhing the rites and ceremonies. u Satan and his angels. x As a conquerour made by a ſhew of thoſe captiues, and put them to ſhame. y The croſſe was as a chariot of triumph. No conquerour could haue triumphed ſo gloriouſly in his chariot, as Chriſt did vpon the croſſe. 15 The concluſion: wherein alſo he nameth certaine kindes as the difference of dayes and meates, and prooueth by a new argument that wee are not bond vnto them: to wit, becauſe thoſe things were ſhadowes of Chriſt to come but wee poſſeſſe him now exhibited vnto vs. z The body as a thing of ſubſtance and pith, he ſetteth againſt ſhadowes.

18 16 Let no man at his pleaſure beare rule ouer you by [a] humbleneſſe of minde, and worſhipping of Angels, 17 aduancing himſelfe in thoſe things which hee neuer ſaw, 18 [b] raſhly puft vp with his fleſhly minde, 19 19 And holdeth not the [c] head, whereof all the body furniſhed and knit together by ioynts and bands, increaſeth with the increaſing of [d] God.

20 20 Wherefore if ye be dead with Chriſt from the ordinances of the world, why, [e] as though ye liued in the world, are ye burdened with traditions?

21 21 As, Touch not, Taſte not, Handle not.

22 22 Which all periſh with the vſing, 23 and are after the commandements & doctrines of men.

23 24 Which things haue in deede a ſhewe of [f] wiſedome, in [g] voluntarie religion and humbleneſſe of minde, and in [h] not ſparing the body, which are things of no value, ſith they perteine to the [i] filling of the fleſh.

16 He diſputeth againſt the firſt kinde of corruptions, and ſetteth downe the worſhipping of Angels for an example: which kinde of falſe religion he confuteth, firſt this way: becauſe that they which being in ſuch a worſhip, attribute that vnto themſelues which is proper onely to God, to wit, authoritie to binde mens conſciences with religion, although they ſeeme to bring in theſe things by humbleneſſe of minde.

a By a fooliſh humbleneſſe of minde: for otherwiſe humbleneſſe is a vertue. For theſe Angel worſhippers blamed ſuch of pride, as would go ſtraight to God, and vſe no other vnder meanes beſides Chriſt. 17 Secondly, becauſe they raſhly thruſt vpon them for oracles, thoſe things which they neither ſaw nor heard, but deuiſed of themſelues. 18 Thirdly, becauſe theſe things haue no other grounde, wherevpon they are built, but onely the opinion of men, which pleaſe themſelues without all meaſure in their owne dueties. b Without reaſon. 19 The foorth argument, which is of great waight, becauſe they ſpoyle Chriſt of his dignitie, who onely is ſufficient both to nouriſh, and alſo to increaſe his whole body. c Chriſt. d With the encreaſing which commeth from God. 20 Now laſt of all hee fighteth againſt the ſecond kinde of corruptions, that is to ſay, againſt meere ſuperſtitions, inuented of men, which partly deceiue the ſimplicitie of ſome with their craftineſſe, and partly with very fooliſh ſuperſtitions, and to be laughed at: as when godlineſſe, remiſſion of ſinnes, or any ſuch like vertue is put in ſome certaine kind of meate and ſuch like things, which the inuentours of ſuch rites themſelues vnderſtand not, becauſe in deede it is not. And hee vſeth an argument taken of compariſon. If by the death of Chriſt who eſtabliſheth a new couenant with his blood, you be deliuered from thoſe externall rites wherewith it pleaſed the Lord to prepare the world, as it were by certaine rudiments to that full knowledge of true religion, why would yee be burdened with traditions. I wrote not what, as though yee were citizen of this world, that is to ſay, as though yee depended vpon this life, and earthly things? Now this is the cauſe why before verſe 8. he followed another order then he doeth in the confutation: becauſe he ſheweth thereby what degrees falſe religions came into the world, to wit, beginning firſt by curious ſpeculations of the wiſe, after which in proceſſe of time ſucceeded groſſe ſuperſtition, againſt which miſchiefes the Lord ſet at length that ſeruice of the Law, which ſome abuſed in like ſort: but in the confutation he began with the aboliſhing of the Law ſeruice, that hee might ſhew by compariſon, that thoſe falſe ſeruices ought much more to be taken away. e As though your felicitie ſtood in theſe earthly things, and the kingdome of God were not rather ſpirituall. 21 An imitation in the perſon of theſe ſuperſtitious men, rightly expreſſing their nature and vſe of ſpeech. 22 An other argument: The ſpirituall and inward kingdome of God cannot conſiſt in theſe outward things, and ſuch as periſh with the vſing. 23 The third argument: Becauſe God is not the authour of theſe traditions, and therefore they doe not binde the conſcience. 24 The taking away of an obiection. Theſe things haue a goodly ſhew, becauſe men by this meanes, ſeeme to worſhip God with a good minde and humble themſelues, and neglect the body, which the moſt part of men curiouſly pamper vp and cheriſh: but yet notwithſtanding the things themſelues are of no value, for ſo much as they perteine not to things that are ſpirituall and euerlaſting, but to the nouriſhment of the fleſh. f Which ſeeme in deede to be ſome exquiſit thing, and ſo wiſe deuices as though they came from heauen. g Hence ſprang the works of ſupererogation, as the Papiſts terme them, that is to ſay, needleſſe workes, as though men performed more then is commanded them, which was the beginning and the very ground whereon Monks merits were brought in. h A liuely deſcription of Monkerie. i Seeing they ſtand in meat and drinke, wherein the kingdome of God doeth not ſtand.

2 Our renuing or newe birth, which is wrought in vs by being partakers of the reſurrection of Chriſt, is the fountaine of all holineſſe, out of which ſundry armes or riuers doe afterwards flowe. a For if we be partakers of Chriſt, wee are caried as it were into another life, where we ſhall neede neither meate nor drinke, for wee ſhall be like vnto the Angels. 3 The end and marke which all the dueties of Chriſtian life ſhoote at, is to enter into the kingdome of heauen, and to giue our ſelues to thoſe things which lead vs thither, that is to true godlineſſe, and not to thoſe outward and corporall things.

ſitteth at the right hand of God.

2 Set your affections on things which are aboue, and not on things which are on the [b] earth.

3 [4] For ye are dead, [5] and your life is hid with Chriſt in God.

4 When Chriſt which is our life, ſhall appeare, then ſhall ye alſo appeare with him in glory.

5 [6] ✤ Mortifie therefore you [c] members which are on the earth, fornication, vncleanneſſe, the inordinate affection, euill concupiſcence, and couetouſneſſe which is idolatrie.

6 For the which things ſake the wrath of God [d] commeth on the children of diſobedience.

7 Wherein yee alſo walked once, when yee liued in them.

8 But now put yee away euen all theſe things, wrath, anger, maliciouſneſſe, curſed ſpeaking, filthie ſpeaking, out of your mouth.

9 Lie not one to another: [7] ſeeing that ye haue put off the old man with his workes,

10 And haue put on the new, [8] which is renewed in [e] knowledge after the image of him that created him,

11 [9] Where is neither Grecian nor Iewe, circumciſion nor vncircumciſion, Barbarian, Scythian, bond, free: But Chriſt is all, and in all things.

12 Now therefore as the elect of God, holy and beloued, [f] put on the [g] bowels of mercies, kindeneſſe, humbleneſſe of minde, meekeneſſe, long ſuffering:

13 Forbearing one another, and forgiuing one another, if any man haue a quarell to another: euen as Chriſt forgaue, euen ſo do ye.

14 And aboue all theſe things put on loue, which is the [h] bond of perfectneſſe.

15 And let the peace of God [i] rule in your hearts, to the which yee are called in [k] one body, and be ye thankefull:

16 Let the word of Chriſt dwell in you plenteouſly in all wiſedome, teaching and admoniſhing your owne ſelues, in [l] Pſalmes, and hymnes, and ſpirituall ſongs, ſinging with a grace in your hearts to the Lord,

17 ✣ And whatſoeuer ye ſhall doe, in word or deed, doe all in the [m] Name of the Lord Ieſus, giuing thankes to God euen the Father by him.

18 ¶ * [10] Wiues, ſubmit your ſelues vnto your husbands, as it is [n] comely in the Lord.

19 ✤ [11] Husbands, loue your wiues, and be not bitter vnto them.

20 ¶ ✣ [12] Children, obey your parents in [o] all things: for that is well pleaſing vnto the Lord.

21 [13] Fathers, prouoke not your children to anger, leaſt they be diſcouraged.

22 ¶ [14] * Seruants, be obedient vnto them that are your maſters according to the fleſh, in all things, not with eye ſeruice as men pleaſers, but in ſingleneſſe of heart, fearing God.

23 And whatſoeuer ye doe, doe it heartly, as to the Lord, and not to men, 24 Knowing that of the Lord yee ſhall receiue the [p] rewarde of the inheritance: for yee ſerue the Lord Chriſt.

25 [15] But he that doeth wrong, ſhall receiue for the wrong that hee hath done: and there is no reſpect of perſons.

b So he calleth that ſhew of religion, which he ſpake of in the former Chapter 4 A reaſon taken of the efficient cauſes and others: you are dead as touching the fleſh, that is, touching the olde nature which ſeeketh after all tranſitory things, and on the other ſide, you haue begun to liue according to the Spirit, therefore giue your ſelues to ſpirituall and heauenly, and not to carnall and earthly things.

5 The taking away of an obiection: whiles we are yet in this world, we are ſubiect to many miſeries of this life, ſo that the life that is in vs is as it were hidden: yet notwithſtanding we haue the beginnings of life and glory, the accompliſhment whereof which lieth now in Chriſtes and in Gods hand, ſhall be aſſuredly and manifeſtly performed in that glorious comming of the Lord.

6 Let not your dead nature be any more effectuall in you, but let your liuing nature be effectuall. Now the force of nature is knowen by the motions. Therefore let the affections of the fleſh die in you, and let the contrary motions which are ſpirituall, liue. And he reckoneth vp a great long ſcroule of vices, and their contrary vertues. ✤ Eph. 5, 3.

c The motions and luſtes that are in vs, are in this place very properly called members, becauſe that the reaſon and will of man corrupted, doeth vſe them as the body doeth his members. d Vſeth to come. 7 A definition of our newe birth taken of the parts thereof, which are the putting off of the old man, that is to ſay, of the wickedneſſe which is in vs by nature, and the reſtoring, and repairing of the new man, that is to ſay, of pureneſſe which is giuen vs by grace: but both of them are but begunne in vs in this preſent life, and by certaine degrees finiſhed: the one dying in vs by little and little, and the other comming to the perfection of another life, by little and little.

8 Newneſſe of life conſiſteth in knowledge, which transformeth man to the image of God his maker, that is to ſay, to the ſincerity and pureneſſe of the whole ſoule.

e Hee ſpeaketh of an effectuall knowledge. 9 Hee telleth them againe, that the Goſpell doeth not reſpect theſe externall things, but true iuſtification and ſanctification in Chriſt onely, which haue many fruites, as hee reckoneth them vp heere: But commendeth two things eſpecially, to wit, godly concord, and continuall ſtudie of Gods worde. f So put on, that you neuer put off. g Thoſe moſt tender affections of exceeding compaſſion. h Which bindeth and knitteth together all the dueties that paſſe from man to man. i Rule and gouerne all things. k You are ioyned together into one body through Gods goodneſſe, that you might helpe one another as fellow members. l By Pſalmes he meaneth all godly ſongs, which were written vpon diuers occaſions, and by hymnes, all ſuch as conteine the prayſe of God, and by ſpirituall ſongs, other more peculiar and artificious ſongs which were alſo in praiſe of God, but they were made fuller of muſicke. ✣ 1. THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAVL TO THE THESSALONIANS.

CHAP. I.

1 He therefore beginneth with thankeſgiuing, 4 to put them in minde that whatſoeuer was praiſe worthy in them, it came of Gods goodneſſe: 8 and that they are enſamples vnto others.

PAul, and Siluanus, and Timotheus, vnto the Church of the Theſſalonians, vvhich is in God the Father, and in the Lord Ieſus Chriſt: Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jeſus Chriſt.

2 [1] We giue God thankes alwayes for you all, making mention of you in our prayers.

3 [2] Without ceaſing, remembring your effectuall faith, and diligent loue, and the patience of your hope in our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, in the ſight of God, euen our Father,

4 Knowing, beloued brethren, that ye are [a] elect of God.

5 [3] For our Goſpel was not vnto you in word onely, but alſo in power, and in the holy Ghoſt, and in [b] much aſſurance, as yee know after what maner we were among you for your ſakes.

6 [4] And ye became followers of vs, and of the Lord, and receiued the worde in much affliction, with [c] ioy of the holy Ghoſt,

7 So that yee were as enſamples to all that beleeue in Macedonia and in Achaia.

8 For from you ſounded out the word of the Lord, not in Macedonia and in Achaia onely: but your faith alſo which is toward God, ſpread abroad in all quarters, that wee neede not to ſpeake any thing.

9 For [d] they themſelues ſhew of vs what maner of entring in wee had vnto you, [5] and how yee turned to God from idoles, to ſerue the liuing and true God.

10 And to looke for his ſonne from heauen, whom hee raiſed from the dead, euen Ieſus which deliuereth vs from [e] that wrath to come.

1 An example of a right Chriſtian reioycing: whereby alſo we learne, that ſuch as haue great gifts in them are in two ſorts bridled, to wit, if they conſider that they haue receiued all from God, and that continuance muſt be deſired at his hands, whereunto alſo the whole Epiſtle exhorteth the Theſſalonians.

2 He commendeth them for three ſpeciall gifts, effectuall faith, continuall loue, and patient hope: to the end they might be aſhamed being indued with ſuch excellent gifts, not to continue in Gods election.

a Word for word, that your election is of God.

3 Another reaſon why they ought in no wiſe ſtart backe but continue to the end, becauſe they cannot doubt of his doctrine which hath bene ſo many wayes confirmed vnto them, euen from heauen as they themſelues did well know.

b Paul ſheweth by two things, that there followed very great fruits of his preaching, to wit, by theſe gifts of the holy Ghoſt, and that certaine aſſurance which was thorowly ſetled in their minds, as appeared by their willing bearing of the croſſe.

4 Another reaſon; becauſe euen to that day, they embraced the Goſpel with great cheerefulneſſe, inſomuch that they were an example to all their neighbours: ſo that it ſhould be more ſhame to them to faint in the mid-race.

c With ioy which commeth from the holy Ghoſt.

d All the beleeuers.

5 It is no true conuerſion to forſake idoles, vnleſſe a man therewithall worſhip the true and liuing God in Chriſt the onely redeemer.

e This word (That) is not put here without cauſe: and by (wrath) is meant that reuenge and puniſhment, wherewith the Lord will iudge the world at length in his terrible wrath.

CHAP. II.

1 He declareth how faithfully he preacheth the Goſpel vnto them, 5 ſeeking neither gaine, 6 nor praiſe of men: 10 and he prooueth the ſame by their owne teſtimonie: 14 that they did couragiouſly beare perſecution of their countrey men: 17 that he deſireth very much to ſee them.

FOr [1] ye your ſelues know, brethren, that our entrance in vnto you was not in vaine,

2 [2] But euen after that we had ſuffered before, and were ſhamefully entreated at ✠ Philippi, (as yee know) we were bold in [a] our God, to ſpeake vnto you the Goſpel of God, with much ſtriuing.

3 [3] For our exhortation was not by deceit, nor [b] by vncleanneſſe, nor by guile.

4 [4] But as we were [c] allowed of God, that the Goſpel ſhould be committed vnto vs, ſo we ſpeake, not as they that pleaſe men, but God, which [d] approoueth our hearts:

5 Neither yet did we euer vſe flattering words, as yee keow, nor coloured couetouſneſſe, God is record.

6 [5] Neither ſought wee praiſe of men, neither of you, nor of others, when wee might haue bene [e] chargeable, as the Apoſtles of Chriſt.

7 But wee were [f] gentle among you, euen as a nource cheriſheth her children.

8 [6] Thus being affectioned toward you, our good will was to haue dealt vnto you, not the Goſpel of God only, but alſo our owne ſoules, becauſe ye were deare vnto vs.

9 [7] For yee remember, brethren, ✠ our labour and trauaile: for wee laboured day and night, becauſe wee woulde not bee chargeable vnto any of you, and preached vnto you the Goſpel of God.

10 [8] Ye are witneſſes, and God alſo, how holily and iuſtly, and vnblameably we behaued our ſelues among you that beleeue.

11 [9] As ye know how that wee exhorted you, and comforted, and beſought euery one of you, (as a father his children.)

12 [10] That ye * would walke worthy of God, who hath called you vnto his kingdome and glorie.

13 [11] For this cauſe alſo thanke wee God without ceaſing, that when yee receiued the word of God, which yee heard of vs, yee receiued it not as the worde of men, but as it is in deede the word of God, which alſo worketh in you that beleeue.

1 That which he touched before ſhortly concerning his Apoſtleſhip, he handleth now more at large, and to that end and purpoſe which we ſpake of.

11 Hauing approoued his miniſterie, he commendeth againe (to that end & purpoſe that I ſpake of) the cheerefulneſſe of the Theſſalonians, which was anſwerable to his diligence in preaching, and their manly patience.

14 [12] For brethren, ye are become followers of the Churches of God, which in Iudea are in [g] Chriſt Ieſus, becauſe yee haue alſo ſuffered the ſame things of your owne [h] countrey men, euen as they haue of the Iewes,

15 [13] Who both killed the Lord Ieſus & their owne Prophets, and haue perſecuted vs away,[14] & God they pleaſe not, and are contrary to [i] all men,

16 And forbid vs to preach vnto the Gentiles, that they might be ſaued, to [k] fulfill their ſinnes alwayes: for the [l] wrath of God is come on them to the vtmoſt.

17 [15] Foraſmuch, brethren, as wee [m] were kept from you for a ſeaſon, concerning ſight, but not in the heart, wee enforced the more to ſee your face with great deſire.

18 Therefore we would haue come vnto you (I Paul, at leaſt once or twiſe) but Satan hindred vs.

19 For what is our hope or ioy, or crowne of reioycing? are not euen you it in the preſence of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt at his comming?

20 Yea, ye are our glorie and ioy.

12 He confirmeth them in their afflictions which they ſuffred of their owne people, becauſe they were afflicted of their owne countreymen: which came aſwell (ſaith he) to the Churches of the Iewes, as to them: and therefore they ought to take it in good part.

g Which Chriſt hath gathered together.

h Euen of them which are of the ſame countrey, and the ſame towne that you are of.

13 He preuenteth an offence which might be taken, for that the Iewes eſpecially aboue all other perſecuted the Goſpel. That is no new thing, ſayth hee, ſeeing they ſlewe Chriſt himſelfe and his Prophets, and haue baniſhed me alſo.

14 He foretelleth the vtter deſtruction of the Iewes, leaſt any man ſhould be mooued by their rebellion.

i For the Iewes would neither enter into the kingdome of God themſelues, nor ſuffer other to enter in.

k Vntill the wickedneſſe of theirs which they haue by inheritance as it were of their fathers, be growen ſo great that the meaſure of their iniquitie being filled, God may come forth to wrath.

l The iudgements of God being angrie, which in deede appeared ſhortly after in the deſtruction of the citie of Hieruſalem, whither many reſorted euen out of diuers prouinces, when it was beſieged.

15 He meteth with an obiection, why he came not to them ſtraightwayes being in ſo great miſerie, I deſired oftentimes (ſaith he) and it lay not in mee, but Satan hindred my endeuours, and therefore I ſent Timothie my faithfull companion vnto you, becauſe you are moſt deere to me.

m Were kept aſunder from you, and as it were orphans.

CHAP. III.

1 To ſhew his affection towards them, he ſendeth Timothie vnto them: 6 Hee is ſo mooued by the report of their proſperous ſtate, 9 that he cannot giue ſufficient thanks, 11 and therefore he breaketh out into prayer.

Wherefore ſince wee could no longer forbare, we thought it good to remaine at Athens alone,

2 ✠ And haue ſent Timotheus our brother and miniſter of God, and our labour fellow in the Goſpell of Chriſt, to ſtabliſh you, and to comfort you touching your faith,

3 That no man ſhould be mooued with theſe afflictions: [1] for ye your ſelues knowe, that we are appointed therevnto.

4 For verely when we were with you, we told you before that wee ſhould ſuffer tribulations, euen as it came to paſſe, and ye know it.

5 Euen for this cauſe, when I could no longer forbeare, I ſent him that I might knowe of your faith, leſt the tempter had tempted you in any ſort, and that our labour had bene in vaine.

6 [2] But now lately when Timotheus came from you vnto vs, and brought vs good tidings of your faith and loue, and that ye haue good remembrance of vs alwayes, deſiring to ſee vs, as we alſo doe you.

7 Therefore brethren, wee had conſolation in you, in all our affliction and neceſſitie through your faith.

8 For now are wee [a] aliue, if yee ſtand faſt in the Lord.

9 For what thankes can wee recompenſe to God againe for you, for all the ioy wherewith wee reioyce for your ſakes before our God,

10 Night and day, ✠ praying exceedingly, that wee might ſee your face, and might [b] accompliſh that which is lacking in your faith?

11 Now God himſelfe, euen our Father, and our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, guide our iourney vnto you.

12 [3] And the Lord encreaſe you, and make you abound in loue one toward another, and toward all men, euen as we doe toward you:

✠ Actes 16,1.

1 The will of God, who calleth his on this condition, to bring them to glory by affliction is a moſt ſure remedie againſt al affliction.

2 Becauſe they haue hitherto gone ſo well forward, he exhorteth them againe to make an end of the reſt of the iourney, ſeeing that therein alſo they ſhall doe him their Apoſtle a great pleaſure.

a For now you can not otherwiſe thinke me ſafe and in good caſe, vnleſſe you goe forward in religion and faith.

✠ Rom. 1,10. and 15,23.

b Paul was conſtrained through the importunate dealing of the enemies to leaue the building which he had ſcarſe begun: And for that cauſe he had left Silas and Timothie in Macedonia, and when Timothie came to Athens to him, he ſent him backe againe ſtraightway. So that he deſireth to ſee the Theſſalonians, that he may thereby thorowly accompliſh their faith and religion, that was as yet imperfect.

3 Another part of the Epiſtle, wherein he ſpeaketh of the dueties of a Chriſtian life. And he ſheweth that the perfection of a Chriſtian life conſiſteth in two things, to wit, in charitie toward all men, and inward puritie of the heart, the accompliſhment whereof notwithſtanding is deferred to the next comming of Chriſt, who will then perfit his worke by the ſame grace, wherewith he begun it in vs. ✠ Chap. 5,23. 1. cor. 1,8.

6 * [5] That no man oppreſſe or defraud his brother in any matter: for the Lord is auenger of all ſuch things, as we alſo haue told you beforetime, and teſtified.

7 * For God hath not called vs vnto vncleanneſſe, but vnto holineſſe.

8 Hee therefore that [c] deſpiſeth theſe things, deſpiſeth not man, but God who hath euen giuen you his holy Spirit.

9 [6] But as touching brotherly loue, yee neede not that I write vnto you: ✠ for yee are taught of God to loue one another.

10 Yea, and that thing verely yee doe vnto all the brethren, which are thorowout all Macedonia: but we beſeech you brethren, that ye increaſe more and more,

11 [7] And that ye ſtudy to be quiet, and to meddle with your owne buſineſſe, [8] and to worke with your owne hands, as we commanded you.

12 That yee may behaue your ſelues honeſtly toward them that are without, and that nothing be lacking vnto you.

13 ¶ [9] I would not brethren, haue you ignorant [10] concerning them [11] which are aſleepe, that ye ſorow not euen as other which haue no hope.

14 [12] For if we beleeue that Ieſus is dead, and is riſen, euen ſo them which ſleepe in [d] Ieſus, will God [e] bring with him.

✠ Iohn 13,43. and 15,11 1. iohn 2,8. and 4,22.

7 He condemneth vnquiet braines, and ſuch as are curious in matters which appertaine not vnto them.

8 Hee rebuketh idleneſſe and ſlouthfulneſſe, which vices whoſoeuer are giuen vnto, fall into other wickedneſſe, to the great offence of the Church.

9 The third part of the Epiſtle, which is enterlaced among the former exhortations (which hee returneth vnto afterward) wherein he ſpeaketh of mourning for the dead, and the maner of the reſurrection, and of the latter day.

10 We muſt take heede that we doe not immoderately bewaile the dead, that is, as they vſe to doe which thinke that they are vtterly periſhed.

12 A confirmation: for death is but a ſleepe of the body (for hee ſpeaketh of the faithfull) vntill the Lord commeth.

12 A reaſon of the confirmation, for ſeeing that the head is riſen, the members alſo ſhall riſe, and that by the vertue of God.

d They die in Chriſt, which continue in faith, whereby they are graffed into Chriſt, euen to the laſt gaſpe.

e Will call their bodies out of their graues, and ioyne their ſoules to them againe.

15 [13] For this ſay wee vnto you by the [f] word of the Lord, that [g] we which liue, and are remaining in the comming of the Lord, ſhall not preuent them which ſleepe.

16 For the Lord himſelfe ſhall deſcend from heauen with a [h] ſhout, and with the voyce of the Archangel, and ♣ with the trumpet of God: and the dead in Chriſt ſhall riſe firſt:

17 Then ſhall we which liue and remaine, be [i] caught vp with them alſo in the cloudes, to meete the Lord in the aire: and ſo ſhall wee euer be with the Lord.

18 Wherefore, comfort your ſelues one another with theſe words.

13 The maner of the reſurrection ſhalbe thus: The bodies of the dead ſhallbe as it were raiſed out of ſleep, at the ſound of the trumpet of God, Chriſt himſelfe ſhall deſcend from heauen. The Saints (for he ſpeaketh properly of them) which ſhall then be found aliue together with the dead which ſhall riſe, ſhalbe taken vp into the cloudes to meete the Lord, and ſhallbe in perpetuall glory with him.

[f] In the Name of the Lord, as though he himſelfe ſpeake vnto you.

[g] He ſpeaketh of theſe things, as though he ſhould be one of them whom the Lord ſhall finde aliue at his comming, becauſe that time is vncertaine, and therefore euery one of vs ought to be in ſuch a readineſſe, as if the Lord were comming at euery moment.

[h] The word which the Apoſtle vſeth here, ſignifieth properly that incouragement which mariners vſe one to another: when they altogether with one ſhout put foorth their oares and rowe together.

CHAP. V.

1 Condemning the curious ſearching for the ſeaſons of Chriſts comming, 6 he warneth them to be ready dayly to receiue him: 11 And ſo giueth them ſundry good leſſons.

BUt [1] of the times and [a] ſeaſons, brethren, yee haue no neede that I write vnto you.

2 For ye your ſelues know perfectly, that the day of the Lord ſhall come, euen as a thiefe in the night.

3 For when they ſhall ſay, Peace and ſafety, then ſhall come vpon them ſudden deſtruction, as the trauaile vpon a woman with childe, and they ſhall not eſcape.

4 [2] But ye, brethren, are not in darkeneſſe, that that day ſhall come on you, as it vvere a thiefe.

5 Yee are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, neither of darkeneſſe.

6 Therefore let vs not ſleepe as doe other, but let vs watch and be ſober.

7 For they that ſleepe, ſleepe in the night, and they that be drunken, are drunken in the night.

8 [3] But let vs which are of the day, be ſober, ♣ putting on the breſtplate of faith and loue, and the hope of ſaluation for an helmet.

9 [4] For God hath not appointed vs vnto wrath, but to obtaine ſaluation by the meanes of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

10 [5] Which died for vs, that whether we wake or ſleepe, we ſhould liue together with him.

1 The day that God hath appointed for his iudgement, we know not. But this is ſure that it ſhall come vpon men when they looke for nothing leſſe.

a Looke Acts 1,7.

2 Returning to exhortations he warneth vs which are lightned with the knowledge of God, that it is our dueties not to liue ſecurely in deliciouſneſſe, leaſt we be ſuddenly taken in a dead ſleepe in pleaſures, but contrariwiſe to haue an eye to the Lord, and not ſuffer our ſelues to be oppreſſed with the cares of this world, for that is meet for the darkeneſſe of the night, and this for the light.

3 We muſt fight with faith and hope, much leſſe ought we lie careleſly ſnorting.

♣ Eſa.59,17. epheſ.6,17.

4 He pricketh vs forwards by ſeeing moſt certaine hope of victorie before vs.

5 The death of Chriſt is a pledge of our victorie, for therefore he died, that we might be partakers of his life or vertue, yea euen whiles we liue here.

11 [6] Wherefore exhort one another, and edifie one another, euen as you doe.

12 [7] Now we beſeech you brethren, that yee [b] acknowledge them which labour among you, and are ouer you in the [c] Lord, and admoniſh you.

13 That yee haue them in ſingular loue for [d] their workes ſake. [8] Be at peace among your ſelues.

14 [9] We deſire you, brethren, admoniſh them that are [e] out of order: comfort the feeble minded: beare with the weake: be patient toward all men.

15 [10] ♣ See that none recompenſe euill for euill vnto any man: but euer follow that which is good, both toward your ſelues, and toward all men.

16 [11] Reioyce euermore.

17 ♣ Pray continually.

18 In all things, giue thankes, for this is the [f] will of God in Chriſt Ieſus toward you.

19 [12] Quench not the Spirit.

20 Deſpiſe not [g] prophecying.

21 Try all things, and keepe that which is good.

22 [13] Abſteine from all [h] appearance of euill.

24 [14] * [k] Faithfull is hee which calleth you, which will alſo [l] doe it.

25 [15] Brethren, pray for vs.

26 Greete all the brethren with an holy kiſſe.

27 I charge you in the Lord, that this Epiſtle be read vnto all the brethren the Saints.

OF PAVL TO THE THESSALONIANS.

CHAP. I.

3 He commendeth the increaſe of faith and charitie, 4 and the patience of the Theſſalonians: 6 And deſcribing Gods vengeance againſt ſuch as oppreſſe the godly, 10 he teacheth the godly to waite for the laſt iudgement.

PAul and Siluanus, and Timotheus, vnto the Church of the Theſſalonians, vvhich is in God our Father, and in the Lord Ieſus Chriſt:

2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

3 ♣ [1] Wee ought to thanke God alwayes for you, brethren, as it is meete, becauſe that your faith [a] groweth exceedingly, and the loue of euery one of you toward another, aboundeth,

4 So that we our ſelues reioyce of you in the Churches of God, becauſe of your patience and faith in all your perſecutions and tribulations that ye ſuffer.

♣ 1.Theſ.1,2.

1 The firſt part of the Epiſtle, wherein he reioyceth that through the grace of God, they haue manfully ſuſteined all the aſſaults of their enemies, wherein he confirmeth them moreouer ſhewing with what gifts they muſt chiefly fight, to wit, with faith and charitie which muſt dayly increaſe.

---

[a] That whereas it grew vs before, it doeth alſo receiue ſome increaſe euery day more and more.

5 ✤ [2] Which is a manifeſt token of the righteous iudgement of God, that yee may be counted worthy of the kingdome of God, for the which ye alſo ſuffer.

6 [3] For it is a righteous thing with God, to recompenſe tribulation to them that trouble you,

7 And to you which are troubled, reſt [4] with vs, ♣ [5] when the Lord Ieſus ſhall ſhewe himſelfe from heauen with his mightie Angels,

8 In flaming fire, rendring vengeance vnto them, [6] that doe not know God, and which obey not vnto the Goſpel of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt,

9 Which ſhall be puniſhed with euerlaſting perdition from the preſence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power,

10 When hee ſhall come to be glorified in his Saints, and to be made marueilous in all them that beleeue ([7] becauſe our teſtimonie toward you was beleeued) in that day.

11 [8] Wherefore, we alſo pray alwayes for you, that our God may make you woorthy of [b] this calling, and fulfill [c] all the good pleaſure of his goodneſſe, and the [d] worke of faith with power.

12 That the Name of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt may be glorified in you, and ye in him, according to the grace of our God, and of the Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

✤ Iude 6.

2 He openeth the fountaine of all true comfort, to wit, that in afflictions. which we ſuffer of the wicked for righteouſneſſe ſake, we may behold as it were in a glaſſe the teſtimonie of that iudgement to come, and the end therefore moſt acceptable to vs, and moſt ſharpe to his enemies.

3 A proofe: God is iuſt, therefore he will worthily puniſh the vniuſt, and will doe away the miſeries of his people.

4 He confirmeth them alſo by the way, by this meanes, that the condition both of this preſent ſtate and the ſtate to come, is common to him with them.

♣ 1.Theſ.4,16.

5 A moſt glorious deſcription of the ſecond comming of Chriſt, to be ſet againſt all the miſeries of the godly, and the triumphs of the wicked. 6 There is no knowledge of God vnto ſaluation, without the Goſpel of Chriſt. 7 The children of God ſhallbe counted by the faith which they haue in the Goſpel, which is preached vnto them by the Apoſtles. 8 Seeing that we haue the marke ſet before vs, it remaineth that we goe vnto it. And we goe to it, by certaine degrees of cauſes: firſt by the free loue and good pleaſure of God, by vertue whereof all other inferiour cauſes worke: from thence proceedeth the free calling to Chriſt, and from calling, faith, wherevpon followeth both the glorifying of Chriſt in vs, and vs in Chriſt. [b] By (calling) he meaneth not the very acte of calling, but that ſelfe ſame thing whereunto we are called, which is the glory of that heauenly kingdome. [c] Which he determined long ſince, onely vpon his gracious and mercifull goodneſſe toward you. [d] So then, faith is an excellent worke of God in vs: and we ſee here plainely that the Apoſtle leaueth nothing to free will, to make it cheekemate with Gods working therein, as the Papiſts dreame.

CHAP. II.

1 He ſheweth that the day of the Lord ſhall not come, till there .. a departure from the faith, 3 and that Antichriſt be reuealed, 8 whoſe deſtruction he ſetteth out, 15 and thereupon exhorteth to conſtancie.

NOw [1] we beſeech you, brethren, by the comming of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, and by our [a] aſſembling vnto him,

2 [2] That ye be not ſuddenly mooued from your minde, nor troubled neither by [b] ſpirit, nor by [c] word, nor by [d] letter, as it vvere from vs, as though the day of Chriſt were at hand.

3 Let no man deceiue you by any meanes: [3] for that day ſhall not come, except there come a departing firſt, and that [e] that man of ſinne be diſcloſed, euen the ſonne of perdition.

4 Which is an aduerſarie, and [f] exalteth himſelfe againſt all that is called God, or that is worſhipped: [4] ſo that he doeth ſit as God in the Temple of God, ſhewing himſelfe that he is God.

5 [5] Remember yee not, that when I was yet with you, I tolde you theſe things?

6 And now ye know [g] what withholdeth, that he might be reuealed in his time.

7 [6] For the myſterie of iniquitie doeth already worke: [7] onely he which now [h] withholdeth, ſhall let till he be taken out of the way.

8 [8] And then ſhall [i] that wicked man be reuealed, ✤ whom the Lord ſhall [k] conſume with the [l] Spirit of his mouth, and ſhall aboliſh with the brightneſſe of his comming,

9 [9] Euen him whoſe comming is by the effectuall working of Satan, with all his power, and ſignes, and [m] lying wonders,

10 And in all deceiueableneſſe of vnrighteouſneſſe, among them that periſh, becauſe they receiued not the loue of the trueth, that they might be ſaued.

11 And therefore God ſhall ſend them [n] ſtrong deluſion, that they ſhould beleeue lies, 12 That all they might be damned which beleeued not the trueth, but [o] had pleaſure in vnrighteouſneſſe.

13 [10] But wee ought to giue thankes alway to God for you, brethren beloued of the Lord, becauſe that God hath from the beginning choſen you to ſaluation, through [p] ſanctification of the Spirit, and the [q] faith of trueth, 14 Whereunto he called you by our [r] Goſpel, to obtaine the glory of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

15 [11] Therefore, brethren, ſtand faſt, and keepe the inſtructions, which ye haue bene taught, either by word, or by our Epiſtle.

16 Now the ſame Ieſus Chriſt our Lord, and our God, euen the Father, which hath loued vs, and hath giuen vs euerlaſting conſolation and good hope through grace, 17 Comfort your hearts, and ſtabliſh you in euery word and good worke.

1 The ſecond part of the Epiſtle, conteining an excellent prophecie of the ſtate of the Church, which ſhall be from the Apoſtles times vnto the latter day of iudgement.

[a] If we thinke earneſtly vpon that unmeaſurable glorie, which we ſhallbe partakers of with Chriſt, it will be an excellent remedie for vs againſt wauering, and impatience, ſo that neither the gliſtering of the world ſhall allure vs, nor the dreadfull ſight of the croſſe diſmay vs. 2 We muſt take heed of falſe prophets, eſpecially in this matter, which go about to deceiue, and that for the moſt part, after three ſortes: for either they bragge of fained propheticall reuelations, or they bring coniectures and reaſons of their owne, or vſe conterfeit writings. [b] By dreames and fables, which men pretend to be ſpirituall reuelations. [c] Either by word of mouth, or by bookes written. [d] Either by forged letters, or falſely gloſed vpon.

3 The Apoſtle foretelleth that before the comming of the Lord, there ſhall be a throne ſet vp cleane contrary to Chriſtes glorie, wherein that wicked man ſhall ſit, and transferre all things that appertaine to God, to himſelfe, and many ſhall fall away from God to him. [e] By ſpeaking of one, he pointed out the body of the tyrannous and perſecuting Church. [f] All men know who he is that ſaith he can ſhut vp heauen and open it at his pleaſure, and tooke vpon him to be Lord and maſter aboue all Kings and Princes, before whom Kings and Princes fall downe and worſhip, honouring that Antichriſt as a god.

4 He foretelleth that Antichriſt, (that is, whoſoeuer he be that ſhall occupie that ſeate that falleth away from God) ſhall not reigne without the Church, but in the very boſome of the Church.

5 This prophecie was continually declared to the Auncient Church, but it was neglected of them that followed.

[g] What hindreth and ſtayeth.

6 Euen in the Apoſtles time the firſt foundations of the Apoſtolicall ſeate were layed, but yet ſo, that they deceiued men.

7 He foretelleth that when the empire of Rome is taken away, the ſeate that falleth away from God ſhall ſucceede and ſhall hold his place, as the olde writers Tertullian, Chryſoſtomes and Hierome do expound it.

[h] He which is now in authoritie and ruleth all, to wit, the Romane Empire.

8 That wickednes ſhall at length be detected by the word of the Lord, and vtterly be aboliſhed by Chriſtes comming. [i] Word for word, that lawleſſe fellow: that is to ſay, hee that ſhall tread Gods Law clean vnder foote. ♣ *Iſai.*11,4. [k] Bring to nought. [l] With his word: for the true Miniſters of the word are as a mouth, whereby the Lord breatheth out that mightie and euerlaſting word, which ſhall breake his enemies in ſunder, as it were an yron rodde. 9 He foretelleth that Satan will beſtow all his might and power, and vſe all falſe miracles that he can to eſtabliſh that ſeate, and that with great ſucceſſe, becauſe the wickedneſſe of the world doeth ſo deſerue it: yet ſo, that onely the vnfaithfull ſhall periſh through his deceit. [m] Which are partly falſe, and partly wrought to eſtabliſh a falſhood. [n] A moſt mightie working to deceiue them. [o] They liked lies ſo well, that they had pleaſure in them which is the greateſt madneſſe that may be. 10 The elect ſhall ſtand ſtedfaſt and ſafe from all theſe miſchiefes. Now election is knowen by theſe teſtimonies: Faith is gathered by ſanctification: faith, by that that we accord vnto the trueth: trueth by calling through the preaching of the Goſpel: from whence we come at length to a certaine hope of glorification [p] To ſanctifie you. [q] Faith which layeth hold not vpon lies, but vpon the trueth of God, which is the Goſpel. [r] By our preaching. 11 The concluſion remaineth then, that we continue in the doctrine which was deliuered vnto vs by the mouth and writings of the Apoſtles, through the free good will of God, which comforteth vs with an inuincible hope, and alſo in all godlineſſe our whole life long.

CHAP. III.

1 He deſireth them to further the preaching of the Goſpell with their prayers, 6 and to withdrawe themſelus from theſe, who through idlenes, 11 and curioſitie peruert good order: 14 Whom hee excludeth from the company of the faithfull.

FUrthermore, [1] brethren, ♣ pray for vs, that the word of the Lord may haue free paſſage and be glorified, euen as it is with you.

2 And that we may be deliuered from [a] vnrea-

1 He addeth now conſequently according to his maner, diuers admonitions: The firſt of them is, that they make prayers for the increaſe and free paſſage of the Goſpel, and for the ſafetie of the faithfull miniſters of the ſame. ♣ *Epheſ.*6,19. *coloſſ.*4.3. [a] Which haue no care of their duetie.

3 But the Lord is faithfull, which will ſtabliſh you, and keepe you from [b] euill.

4 [3] And we are perſwaded of you through the Lord, that yee both doe, and will doe the things which we warne you of.

5 [4] And the Lord guide your hearts to the loue of God, and the waiting for of Chriſt.

6 [5] We warne you, brethren, in the Name of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, that yee withdraw your ſelues from euery brother that walked inordinately, and not after the inſtruction, which he receiued of vs.

7 [6] For ye your ſelues know, ✤ how ye ought to follow vs : ♣ for we behaued not our ſelues inordinately among you,

8 Neither tooke wee bread of any man for nought : but we wrought with labour and trauaile night and day, becauſe wee would not be chargeable to any of you.

9 Not becauſe we haue not authority, but that we might make our ſelues an enſample vnto you to follow vs.

10 For euen when we were with you, this wee warned you of, that if there were any, which would not worke, that he ſhould not [c] eate.

11 For wee heare, that there are ſome which walke among [7] you inordinately, and worke not at all, [8] but are buſie bodies.

12 [9] Therefore them that are ſuch, we warne & exhort by our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, that they worke with quietneſſe, and eate their owne bread.

13 [10] And ye, brethren, be not wearie in well doing.

14 [11] If any man obey not this our ſaying in this letter, note him, and haue no [12] companie with him, [13] that he may be aſhamed.

15 [14] Yet count him not as an enemie, but admoniſh him as a brother.

16 [15] Now the Lord himſelfe of peace giue you peace alwayes by all meanes. The Lord be with you all.

17 [16] The ſalutation of mee Paul, with mine owne hand, which is the token in euery Epiſtle : ſo I write,

18 The grace of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt be with you all, Amen.

¶ The ſecond Epiſtle to the Theſſalonians, written from Athens.

[2] It is no marueile that the Goſpel is hated of ſo many, ſeeing that faith is a rare gift of God. Notwithſtanding, the Church ſhall neuer be deſtroyed by the multitude of the wicked, becauſe it is grounded and ſtayed vpon the faithfull promiſe of God.

[b] From Satans ſnares, or from euill.

[3] The ſecond admonition is, that they followe alwayes the doctrine of the Apoſtles as a rule for their life.

[4] Thirdly, he diligently and earneſtly admoniſheth them of two things which are giuen vs by the onely grace of God, to wit, of charitie, and a watchfull minde to the comming of Chriſt.

[5] Fourthly, hee ſaith, that idle and laſie perſons ought not to be relieued of the Church, nay, that they are not to be ſuffered. [6] Leaſt he might ſeeme to deale hardly with them, he ſetteth foorth himſelfe for an example, who beſides his trauaile in preaching laboured with his hands, which he ſaith he was not ſimply bound to doe. ✤ 1. Cor. 11,1. ♣ 1. Theſ. 4,11. [c] What ſhall we do then with thoſe idle bellied Monkes, and ſacrificing Prieſts? A Monke (ſaith Socrates, booke 8. of his Tripartite hiſtorie) which worketh not with hands, is like a thiefe.

[7] How great a fault idleneſſe is, he declareth by that that God created no man in vaine or to no purpoſe, neither is there any vnto whom he hath not allotted as it were a certaine ſtanding and roome. Whereupon it followeth, that the order which God hath appointed, is troubled by the idle, yea, broken, which is great ſinne and wickedneſſe.

[8] He reprehendeth a vice which is ioyned with the former, wherevpon follow an infinite ſort of miſchiefs : to wit, that there are none more buſie in other mens matters then they which neglect their owne. [9] The Lord commandeth, and the Apoſtles pray in the Name of Chriſt, firſt that no men be idle ; and next, that euery man doe quietly and carefully ſee to doe his duetie in that office and calling wherein the Lord hath placed him. [10] Wee muſt take heede that ſome mens vnworthineſſe cauſe vs not to be ſlacker in well doing. [11] Excommunication is a puniſhment for the obſtinate. [12] We muſt haue no familiaritie nor fellowſhip with the excommunicate. [13] The end of the excommunication is not the deſtruction, but the ſaluation of the ſinner, that at leaſt through ſhame he may be driuen in repentance. [14] We muſt ſo eſchew familiaritie with the excommunicate, that we diligently ſeeke all occaſions and meanes that may be to bring them againe into the right way. [15] Prayers are the ſeales of all exhortations. [16] The Apoſtle ſubſcribeth his letters with his owne hand, that falſe letters might not be brought and put in place of true.

CHAP. I.

Setting forth a perfect paterne of a true Paſtour, whoſe office eſpecially conſiſteth in teaching, 4 he warneth him that vaine queſtions ſet apart, he teach thoſe things, 5 which further charitie and faith : 12 and that his authoritie be not condemned, 14 he ſheweth what an one he is made through the grace of God.

PAul [1] an Apoſtle of Ieſus Chriſt, by the ‖ commandement of God our Sauiour, and of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt our hope,

2 Vnto Timotheus my naturall ſonne in the faith: Grace, [a] mercy, and peace from God our Father, and from Chriſt Ieſus our Lord.

3 [2] As I beſought thee to abide ſtill in Epheſus, when I departed into Macedonia, ſo doe, that thou mayeſt warne ſome, that they teach none other doctrine,

4 [3] Neither that they giue heede to fables and [b] genealogies vvhich are endleſſe, which breede queſtions rather then godly edifying which is by faith.

5 [4] ✤ For the ende of the [c] commandement is [d] loue out of a pure heart, and of a good conſcience, and of faith vnfained.

10 To whoremongers, to buggerers, to menſtealers, to liers, to the periured, and if there be any other thing that is contrary to wholſome doctrine, 11 [9] Which is according to the glorious Goſpel of the bleſſed God, [10] which is committed vnto me.

[1] Firſt of all, he auoucheth his owne free vocation, and alſo Timothies, that the one might be confirmed by the other : and therewithall he declareth the ſumme of the Apoſtolicall doctrine, to wit, the mercie of God in Chriſt Ieſus apprehended by faith, the end whereof is yet hoped for.

‖ Or, ordinance.

[a] There is as much difference betwixt mercy and grace, as is betwixt the effect, and the cauſe: For grace is that free good will of God, whereby he choſe vs in Chriſt, and mercie is that free iuſtification which followeth it. [2] This whole Epiſtle conſiſteth in admonitions, wherein all the duties of a faithfull Paſtour are liuely ſet out. And the firſt admonition is this, that no innouation be made either in the Apoſtles doctrine it ſelfe, or in the maner of teaching it. [3] The doctrine is corrupted not onely by falſe opinions, but alſo by vaine and curious ſpeculations : the declaration and vtterance whereof can nothing helpe our faith. [b] He noteth out one kinde of vaine queſtions. [4] The ſecond admonition is, that the right vſe and practiſe of the doctrine muſt be ioyned with the doctrine. And that conſiſteth in pure charitie, and a good conſcience, and true faith. ✤ Rom. 13,10. [c] Of the Law.

[d] There is neither loue without a good conſcience, nor a good conſcience without faith, nor faith without the word of God.

[5] That which he ſpake before generally of vaine and curious controuerſies, he applieth to them, which pretending a zeale of the Law, dwelled vpon outward things, and neuer made an end of babbling of fooliſh trifles.

[6] There are none more vnlearned, and more impudent in vſurping the name of holineſſe, then fooliſh ſophiſticall babblers. [7] The taking away of an obiection. He condemneth not the Law, but requireth the right vſe and practiſe of it. [8] He in deede eſcapeth the curſe of the Law, and therefore doeth not abhorre it, who fleeing and eſchewing thoſe things which the Law condemneth, giueth himſelfe with all his heart to obſerue it : and not he that maketh a vaine babbling of outward and curious matters. [e] And ſuch an one is he, whom the Lord hath indued with true doctrine, and with the holy Ghoſt. [f] To ſuch as make an arte as it were of ſinning. [9] He ſetteth againſt fond and vaine babbling, not onely the Law, but the Goſpel alſo, which condemneth not, but greatly commendeth the wholeſome doctrine conteined in the commandements of God, and therefore he calleth it a glorious Goſpel, and the Goſpel of the bleſſed God, the vertue whereof theſe babblers knew not. [10] A reaſon why neither any other Goſpel is to be taught then hee hath taught in the Church, neither after any other ſort, becauſe there is no other Goſpell beſide that, which God committed to him.

12 [11] Therefore I thanke him which hath made me [g] ſtrong, that is, Chriſt Ieſus our Lord: for hee counted mee faithfull, and put me in his ſeruice:

13 When before I was a [h] blaſphemer, and a perſecuter, and an oppreſſer, but I was receiued to mercie: for I did it ignorantly through vnbeliefe.

14 But the grace of our Lord was exceeding aboundant [12] with faith and loue, which is in Chriſt Ieſus.

15 [13] This is a [i] true ſaying, and by all meanes worthie to be receiued, that ✠ Chriſt Ieſus came into the worlde to ſaue ſinners, of whome I am chiefe.

16 Notwithſtanding for this cauſe was I receiued to mercie, that Ieſus Chriſt ſhould firſt ſhewe on me all long ſuffering vnto the enſample of them, which ſhall in time to come beleeue in him vnto eternall life.

17 [14] Nowe vnto the king euerlaſting, immortall, inuiſible, vnto God [k] onely wiſe, be honour, and glorie, for euer, and euer, Amen.

18 [15] This commaundement commit I vnto thee, ſonne Timotheus, according to the prophecies, which went before vpon thee, that thou [l] by them ſhouldeſt fight a good fight, 19 Hauing [m] faith and a good conſcience, [16] which ſome haue put away, and as concerning faith, haue made ſhipwracke.

20 Of whome is Hymeneus, and Alexander, * [17] whome I haue [n] deliuered vnto Satan, that they might [o] learne not to blaſpheme.

11 He maintaineth of neceſſitie his Apoſtleſhip againſt ſome that did carpe at his former life, debaſing himſelfe, euen to hell, to aduance Chriſtes onely mercie, wherewith he aboliſhed all thoſe his former doings. g Which gaue me ſtrength, not onely when I had no will to doe well, but alſo when I was wholly giuen to euill. h Theſe are the preparatiue workes which Paul braggeth of. 12 Hee prooueth this change by the effects, for that, that he that was a prophane man, is become a beleeuer: and he that did moſt outragiouſly perſecute Chriſt, burneth now in loue towards him. 13 He turneth the reproach of the aduerſaries vpon their owne head, ſhewing that this ſingular example of the goodneſſe of God, redoundeth to the commoditie of the whole Church. i Worthie to be beleeued. Matth. 4, 13. mark. 2, 17. 14 Hee breaketh out into an exclamation, euen for very zeale of minde, for that he cannot ſatiſfie himſelfe in amplifying the grace of God. k Looke Iohn 17, 3. 3 The concluſion of both the former fatherly admonitions, to wit, that Timothie ſtriuing manfully againſt all lets, being called to the miniſterie according to many prophecies which went before of him, ſhould both maintaine the doctrine which he had receiued, and keepe alſo a good conſcience. l By the helpe of them. m Wholeſome and ſound doctrine. 16 Whoſoeuer keepe not a good conſcience, doe looſe alſo by little and little the gift of vnderſtanding: which he prooueth by two moſt lamentable examples. ✠ 1. Cor. 5, 5. 17 Such as fall from God, and his religion, are not to be ſuffered in the Church, but rather ought to be excommunicated. n Caſt out of the Church, and ſo deliuered them to Satan. o That by their ſmart they might learne what it is to blaſpheme.

CHAP. II.

He exhorteth them to make publike prayers for all men, 4, 5 and that for two cauſes. 8 and therefore hee willeth all men in all places to pray, 9 and declareth in what apparell, 11 and with what modeſtie, women ought to behaue themſelues in holy aſſemblies.

I [1] Exhort therefore, that firſt of all ſupplications, prayers, interceſſions, and giuing of thankes be made for all men,

2 For Kings, and for all that are in authoritie, [2] that we may lead a quiet and a peaceable life, in all godlineſſe, and [a] honeſtie.

3 For this is good and acceptable in the ſight of God our Sauiour.

4 [3] Who will that all men ſhall be ſaued, and come vnto the acknowledging of the trueth.

1 Hauing diſpatched thoſe things which pertaine to doctrine, he ſpeaketh now in the ſecond place of the other part of the miniſterie of the word, to wit, of publike prayers. And firſt of all declaring this queſtion, for whome we ought to pray: he teacheth that we muſt pray for all men, and eſpecially for all manner of magiſtrates, which thing was at that time ſomewhat doubted of, ſeeing that kings, yea and the moſt part of magiſtrates were at that time enemies of the Church. 2 An argument taken of the end: to wit, becauſe that magiſtrates are appointed to this end, that men might peaceably and quietly liue in all godlineſſe and honeſtie, and therefore muſt we commend them eſpecially to God, that they may faithfully execute ſo neceſſarie an office. a This word conteineth all kind of duetie, which is to be vſed amongſt men in all their affaires. 3 Another argument, why Churches or Congregations ought to pray for all men without any difference of nation, kinde, age, or order: to wit, becauſe the Lord by calling of all ſorts, yea, ſometime thoſe that are greateſt enemies to the Goſpell, will haue his Church gathered together after this ſort, and therefore prayers to be made for all.

5 [4] For there is one God, and one Mediatour betweene God and man, which is the [b] man Chriſt Ieſus,

6 Who gaue himſelfe a ranſome for all men, [5] to be that teſtimonie in due time,

7 ✠ Whereunto I am ordained a preacher and an Apoſtle (I ſpeake the trueth in Chriſt, and lye not) euen a teacher of the Gentiles in [c] faith and veritie.

8 [6] I will therefore that the men pray, euerie where [d] lifting vp pure hands without [e] wrath, or [f] doubting.

9 ✠ [7] Likewiſe alſo the women, that they aray themſelues in comely apparell, with ſhamefaſtneſſe and modeſtie, not with broyded haire, or gold, or pearles, or coſtly apparell,

10 But (as becommeth women that profeſſe the feare of God) with good works.

11 Let the woman learne in ſilence with all ſubiection.

12 ∵ I permit not a woman to teach, [8] neither to vſurpe authoritie ouer the man, but to be in ſilence.

13 [9] For * Adam was firſt formed, then Eue.

14 ✠ [10] And Adam was not [g] deceiued, but the woman was deceiued, and was in the tranſgreſſion.

15 [11] Notwithſtanding, through bearing of children ſhe ſhal be ſaued, if they continue in faith, and loue, and holineſſe with modeſtie.

4 God would not els be manifeſted to be the onely God of all men, vnleſſe he would ſhew his goodnes in ſauing of all ſorts of men: neither ſhould Chriſt be ſeene to be the only Mediatour betweene God and all ſorts of men, by hauing taken vpon him that nature of man which is common to all men, vnleſſe he had ſatiſfied for all ſorts of men, and made interceſſion for all. b Chriſt Ieſus which was made man. 5 A confirmation, becauſe that euen to the Gentiles in the ſecret of ſaluation now opened and made manifeſt the Apoſtle himſelfe being appointed properly to this office, which he doth faithfully and ſincerely execute. ✠ 2. Tim. 1, 11. c Faithfully and ſincerely: and by faith he meaneth wholeſome and ſound doctrine, and by trueth, an vpright and ſincere handling of it. 6 He hath ſpoken of the perſons for whome we muſt pray: and now he teacheth that the difference of places is taken away: for in times paſt, one onely nation, and in one certaine place came together to publike ſeruice: but now Churches or Congregations are gathered together euery where (orderly and decently) and men come together to ſerue God publikely with common prayer, neither muſt wee ſtriue for the nation or for the purification of the bodie, or for the place, but for the mind to haue it cleane from all offence, and full of ſure truſt and confidence. d Hee putteth the ſigne for the thing it ſelfe, the lifting vp of hands, for the calling vpon God. e Without theſe griefes and offences of the mind, which hinder vs from calling vpon God with a good conſcience. f Doubting which is againſt faith, Iam. 1, 6. ✠ 1. Pet. 3, 3. 7 Thirdly he appointeth women to learne in the publike aſſemblies with ſilence and modeſty, being comely apparelled without any ryot or exceſſe in their apparell. ∵ 1. Cor. 14, 34. 8 The firſt argument, why it is not lawfull for women to teach in the Congregation, becauſe by this meanes they ſhoulde be placed aboue men, for they ſhould be their maſters: which is againſt Gods ordinance. 9 He prooueth this ordinance of God, whereby the woman is ſubiect to man, firſt by that, that God made the woman after man, for mans ſake. * Gen. 1:27. and 27, 21. ✠ Gen. 3, 6. 10 Then becauſe that after ſinne God enioyned the woman this puniſhment, for that the man was deceiued by her. g Adam was deceiued, but through his wiues meanes, and therefore ſhe is worthily for this cauſe ſubiect to her husband, and ought to be. 11 He addeth a comfort by the way, that their ſubiection hindereth not but that women may be ſaued as well as men, if they behaue themſelues in thoſe burdens of mariage holily and modeſtly, with faith and charitie.

CHAP. III.

2 Hee ſetteth out Biſhops, 8 and Chriſtian deacons with their wiues, 12 children and family, 15 he calleth the Church the houſe of God.

THis [1] is a true ſaying, [2] If any man [a] deſire the office of a Biſhop, hee deſireth a worthie worke.

2 * A Biſhop therefore muſt be vnreproueable, the husband of one [b] wife, watching, tempe-

1 Hauing diſpatched the treatiſe, as well of doctrine and of the manner of handling of it, as alſo of publike prayer, he now in the thirde place commeth to the perſons themſelues, ſpeaking firſt of Paſtours and afterward of Deacons, and he vſeth a preface, that the Church may knowe that theſe be certaine and ſure rulers. 2 A Biſhopricke or the miniſterie of the worde is not an idle dignitie, but a worke and that an excellent worke: and therefore a Biſhop muſt be furniſhed with many vertues both at home and abroad. Wherefore it is requiſite before hee be choſen, to examine well his learning, his giftes, and ableneſſe, and his life. a Hee ſpeaketh not here of ambitious ſeeking, then the which there cannot be a worſe fault in the Church, but generall of the mind, and diſpoſition of man, framed and diſpoſed to helpe and edifie the Church of God, when and whereſoeuer it ſhall pleaſe the Lord. * Titus 2, 6. b Therefore hee that ſhutteth out married men from the office of Biſhops, onely becauſe they are marryed, is Antichriſt.

rate, modeſt, harberous, apt to teach,

3 Not [c] giuen to wine, no ſtriker, not giuen to filthie lucre, but gentle, no fighter, not couetous.

4 One that can rule his owne houſe honeſtly, hauing children vnder obedience with all honeſtie.

5 For if any cannot rule his owne houſe, how ſhall he care for the Church of God?

6 He may not be a yong ſchollar, leaſt he being puffed vp fall into the [d] condemnation of the deuill.

7 Hee muſt alſo be well reported of, euen of them which are without, leaſt he fall into rebuke, and the ſnare of the deuill.

8 [3] Likewiſe muſt [e] Deacons be graue, not double tongued, not giuen vnto much wine, neither to filthie lucre, 9 ✣ Hauing the [f] myſterie of the faith in pure conſcience.

10 And let them firſt be prooued, then let them miniſter, if they be found blameleſſe.

11 [4] Likewiſe their wiues muſt be honeſt, not euill ſpeakers, but ſober, and faithfull in all things.

12 [5] Let the Deacons be the husbandes of one wife, and ſuch as can rule their children well, and their owne houſholds.

13 For they that haue miniſtred well, get themſelues a good [g] decree, and [h] great libertie in the faith, which is in Chriſt Ieſus.

14 [6] Theſe things write I vnto thee, truſting to come very ſhortly vnto thee.

15 But if I tary long, that thou maieſt yet know, howe thou oughteſt to behaue thy ſelfe in the [7] houſe of God, which is the Church of the liuing God, the [i] pillar and ground of trueth.

16 [8] And without controuerſie, great is the myſterie of godlineſſe, vvhich is, God is manifeſted in the fleſh, [k] iuſtified in the Spirit, ſeene of Angels, preached vnto the Gentiles, beleeued on in the world, and receiued vp in glorie.

c A common tipler, and one that will ſit by it.

d Leaſt by reaſon that he is aduanced to that degree, hee take occaſion to be proud, which will vndoe him, and ſo he fall into the ſame condemnation that the deuill himſelfe is fallen into.

3 Likewiſe the Deacons muſt firſt be proued that there may be a good triall of their honeſtie, trueth, ſobrietie, mind, void of couetouſneſſe, that they are well inſtructed in the doctrine of faith, and to be ſhort, of their good conſcience and integritie.

e Theſe are they that had to ſee to the poore.

✣ Chap. 1, 19

f The doctrine of the Goſpell, which is a miſterie indeed: for fleſh and blood doe not reueale it.

4 Regard muſt be had alſo to the Paſtours and Deacons wiues.

5 They that haue more wiues then one at one time, muſt neither be called to be miniſters, nor to be Deacons.

g Honour and eſtimation. h Bold and aſſured confidence without feare. 6 Paul purpoſing to adde many peculiar things pertaining to the dayly office of a Paſtour, ſpeaketh firſt a word or two concerning his comming to Timothie, that he would be ſo much the more carefull, leaſt at his comming he might be reproouěd of negligence. 7 The Paſtour hath alwayes to thinke, how that he is occupied in the houſe of the liuing God, wherein the treaſure of the trueth is kept. i To wit, in reſpect of men: for the Church reſteth vpon that corner ſtone, Chriſt, and is the preſeruer of the trueth, but not the mother. 8 There is nothing more excellent then this trueth, whereof the Church is the keeper and preſeruer here amongſt men, the miniſtery of the word being appointed to that ende and purpoſe: for it teacheth vs the greateſt matters that may be thought of, to wit, that God is be come viſible in the perſon of Chriſt by taking our nature vpon him, whoſe Maieſtie notwithſtanding in ſo great weakeneſſe was manifeſted many wayes, inſomuch that the ſight of it pearced the very Angels: and to conclude, he being preached vnto the Gentiles was receiued of them, and is now placed aboue in glorie vnſpeakeable. k The power of the Godhead ſheweth it ſelfe ſo marueilouſly in that weake fleſh of Chriſt, that though he were a weake man, yet all the world knoweth hee was, and is God.

CHAP. IIII.

1 He condemneth as well falſe doctrire, 3 of mariage and the chiefe of meates, 7 as alſo prophane fables: 8 and commendeth the godly exerciſe, 13 and the daily reading of the Scriptures.

Now [1] the Spirit ſpeaketh euidently, that in the latter times ſome ſhall depart from the [a] faith, and ſhall giue heed vnto ſpirits of errour, and doctrines of deuils,

2 [2] Which ſpeake lyes through [b] hypocriſie, and haue their [c] conſciences burned with an hote yron,

3 [3] Forbidding to marry, and commaunding to abſtaine from meates [4] which God hath created [5] to be receiued [6] with giuing thanks of them which beleeue and know the trueth.

4 [7] For euery creature of God is good, and nothing ought to be refuſed, if it be receiued with thankſgiuing.

5 [8] For it is [d] ſanctified by the [e] word of God, and prayer.

6 [9] If thou put the brethren in remembrance of theſe things, thou ſhalt be a good miniſter of Ieſus Chriſt, which haſt beene nouriſhed vp in the words of faith, and of good doctrine which thou haſt continually [f] followed.

7 [10] But caſt away prophane, and olde wiues fables, [11] and exerciſe thy ſelfe vnto [g] godlineſſe.

8 [12] For bodily exerciſe profiteth little: but godlineſſe is profitable vnto all things, which hath the promiſe of the life preſent, and of that that is to come.

9 [13] This is a true ſaying, and by all meanes worthie to be receiued,

10 For therefore wee labour and are rebuked, becauſe we truſt in the liuing God, which is the Sauiour of all men, ſpecially of thoſe that beleeue.

11 Theſe things warne and teach.

12 [14] Let no man deſpiſe thy youth, but be vnto them that beleeue, an enſample, in worde, in conuerſation, in loue, in ſpirit, in faith and in pureneſſe.

13 [15] Till I come, giue attentance to reading, to exhortation, and to doctrine.

14 Deſpiſe not the gifte that is in thee, which was giuen thee by prophecie with the laying on of the hands of the companie of the Eldership.

15 Theſe things exerciſe, and giue thy ſelfe vnto them, that it may be ſeene how thou profiteſt among all men.

16 Take heede vnto thy ſelfe, and vnto learning: continue therein: for in doing this thou ſhalt both [h] ſaue thy ſelfe, and them that heare thee.

1 He ſetteth againſt that true doctrine, falſe opinions, which he foretelleth that certaine which ſhall fall away from God and his religion, ſhall bring in by the ſuggeſtion of Satan, and ſo that a great number ſhall giue eare to them. a From the true doctrine of God. 2 Although heretikes counterfeite holineſſe neuer ſo much, yet they haue no conſcience. b For they will as it were practiſe the arte of diſguiſed perſons and players, that we may not thinke they will lie lurking in ſome one corner, or keepe any reſemblance of ſhamefaſtnes. c Whoſe conſcience waxed ſo hard, that there grew an hard fleſhines ouer it, and ſo became to haue a canker on it, and now at length required of very neceſſitie to be burned with an hote yron.

3 He ſetteth downe two kindes of this falſe doctrine, to wit, the Law of ſolelife, and difference of meats.

4 He prooueth that he iuſtly called ſuch doctrines deuiliſh, firſt, becauſe the teachers of them make lawes of things which are not their owne: for haue they created the meats?

5 Secondly, becauſe they ouerthrow with their decrees, the end wherefore they we created of God, to wit, that we ſhould vſe them.

6 Thirdly, for that by this meanes they rob God of his glory, who will be honoured in the vſe of them. And herewithall the Apoſtle declareth that we muſt vſe the liberalitie of God ſoberly, and with a good conſcience.

7 He ſetteth an Apoſtolicall rule, for taking away the difference of meats, againſt that falſe doctrine.

8 He vſeth Gods benefits rightly, which acknowledgeth the giuer of them by his word, and calleth vpon him. d It is ſo made pure and holy in reſpect of vs, ſo that we may vſe it with a good conſcience, as receiued at the Lords hand. e Wee confeſſe and acknowledge that God is the maker and giuer of thoſe creatures which wee vſe. Secondly, that we are of the number of thoſe, who through Chriſtes benefite haue recouered that right ouer all creatures, which Adam loſt by his fall. Thirdly, by our prayers we craue of the Lord, that we may vſe thoſe meates with a good conſcience, which we receiue at his handes. Fourthly, wee make an end of our eating and drinking, with thankeſgiuing and prayer: and ſo are our meates ſanctified to vs. 9 The concluſion with an exhortation to Timothie, to propound theſe things diligently to the Churches, which hee had ſucked of the Apoſtle, euen in a manner from the teate. f Neuer departing from the ſide of it. 10 He ſetteth againe true doctrine not onely againſt that falſe and apoſtaticall doctrine, but alſo againſt all vaine and curious ſubtilties. 11 It is not onely requiſite that the miniſter of the word be ſound in doctrine, but alſo that his life be godly and religious. g In the true ſeruing of God. 12 Godlineſſe conſiſteth in ſpirituall exerciſe, and not in outwarde auſtereneſſe of life, which though it be ſome thing to be accounteth of, if it be rightly vſed, yet is it in no wiſe comparable with godlineſſe: For it profiteth not of it ſelfe, but through the benefite of another, but this hath the promiſe both of the life preſent, and of that that is to come. 13 Hee goeth a little from his matter, and ſheweth that they which giue themſelues to godlineſſe, although they are afflicted and reproached, are notwithſtanding not to be counted miſerable as other men are, becauſe they are not afflicted for that cauſe that other men are, and the end of them both is farre different one from the other. For howe can God forſake his, which is bountifull euen towardes his enemies? And hee willeth that this doctrine be well beaten into their heades. 14 Nowe hee returneth to that exhortation, ſhewing which are the vertues of a Paſtour, whereby hee may come to be reuerenced, although hee be but young, to wit, ſuch ſpeech and life as are witneſſes of charitie, zeale, faith, and puritie, but here is no mention made of the croſier ſtaffe, ring, cloake, and ſuch other fooliſh and childiſh toyes. 15 The priuate exerciſe of Paſtours, is continuall reading of the Scriptures, whence out they may drawe matter of wholeſome doctrine and exhortation, both to themſelues and to other. h Faith is by hearing, and hearing by preaching: and therefore the miniſters of the worde are ſo ſaide to ſaue themſelues and other, for that in them the Lord hath put the worde of reconciliation.

CHAP. V.

1 Hauing ſet downe a manner howe to rebuke all degrees. 5 Hee intreateth of widowes, who then were choſen for the ſeruice of the Church: 17 Then hee commeth to Elders, 23 and ſpeaketh ſomewhat touching the health of the bodie.

REbuke [1] not an elder, but exhort him as a father, and the yonger men as brethren.

2 The elder women as mothers, the yonger as ſiſters, with all pureneſſe.

3 [2] [a] Honour widowes, which are widowes in deede.

4 [3] But if any widowe haue children or nephewes let them learne firſt to ſhewe godlineſſe [4] toward their owne houſe, and [5] to recompenſe their kinred: [6] for that is an honeſt thing, and acceptable before God.

5 [7] And ſhe that is a widowe in deede and left alone, truſteth in God, and continueth in ſupplications and prayers night and day.

6 [8] But ſhee that liueth in pleaſure, is dead, while ſhe liueth.

7 Theſe things thereof warne them of, that they may be blameleſſe.

8 If there be any that prouideth not for his owne, and namely for them of his houſeholde, hee denieth the faith, and is worſe then an infidell.

9 [9] Let not a widow be taken into the number vnder threeſcore yeere olde, that hath beene the wife of [b] one husband.

10 And well reported of for good workes: if ſhe haue nouriſhed her children, if ſhe haue lodged the ſtrangers, if ſhee haue [c] waſhed the Saints feete, if ſhe haue miniſtred vnto them which were in aduerſitie, if ſhee were continually giuen vnto euery good worke.

11 [10] But [d] refuſe the yonger widowes: for when they haue begun to waxe wanton againſt Chriſt, they will marrie.

12 Hauing damnation, becauſe they haue broken the firſt faith.

13 [11] And likewiſe alſo being idle they learne to goe about from houſe to houſe: yea they are not onely idle, but alſo pratlers and buſibodies, ſpeaking things which are not comely.

14 [12] I will therefore that the younger women marrie, and beare children, and gouerne the houſe, and giue none occaſion to the aduerſarie to ſpeake euill.

15 For certaine are alreadie turned backe after Satan.

16 [13] If any faithfull man or faithfull woman haue widowes, let them miniſter vnto them, and let not the Church be charged, that there may be ſufficient for them that are widowes in deed.

17 ¶ [14] The Elders that rule well, let them be had in [e] double honour, [f] ſpecially they which labour in the word and doctrine.

18 For the Scripture ſayth, ✚ Thou ſhalt not mouſell the mouth of the oxe that treadeth out the corne: and, ✣ The labourer is woorthie of his wages.

19 [15] Againſt an Elder receiue none accuſation, but vnder two or three witneſſes.

20 [16] Them that ſinne, rebuke openly, that the reſt alſo may feare.

21 ¶ ∵ [17] I charge thee before God and the Lord Ieſus Chriſt, and the elect Angels, that thou obſerue theſe things, without preferring one to another, and doe nothing partially.

22 [18] Lay hands [g] ſuddenly on no man, neither be partaker of other mens ſinnes; keepe thy ſelfe pure.

23 [19] Drinke no longer water, but vſe a little wine for thy ſtomackes ſake, and thine often infirmities.

24 [20] Some mens ſinnes are open before hand, and goe before vnto iudgement: but ſome mens follow after.

25 [21] Likewiſe alſo the good workes are manifeſt before hand, and they that are otherwiſe, cannot be hid.

CHAP. VI.

1 He ſheweth the duetie of ſeruants: 10 and what a miſchieuous euill couetouſneſſe is: 13 and hauing ſpoken ſomewhat of rich men, he once againe forbiddeth Timothie, 20 to cumber himſelfe with vaine babblings.

LEt [1] as many ſeruants as are vnder the yoke, count their maſters worthy of all honour, [2] that the Name of God, and his doctrine be not euill ſpoken of.

2 [3] And they which haue beleeuing maſters, let them not deſpiſe them, becauſe they are brethren, but rather doe ſeruice, becauſe they are faithfull, and beloued, and [a] partakers of the benefite. [4] Theſe things teach and exhort.

---

[1] Of keeping meaſure in priuate reprehenſions according to the degrees of ages and kinds.

[2] The Apoſtle giueth theſe rules touching the care of widowes.

[a] Haue care of thoſe widowes which haue need of helpe.

[3] Widowes children and nephews muſt take care for their parents, according to their abilitie.

[4] The firſt reaſon, becauſe that, that which they beſtow vpon theirs, they beſtow it vpon themſelues.

[5] Another, becauſe nature it ſelfe teacheth vs to recompenſe our parents.

[6] The third: becauſe this duetifulnes pleaſeth God.

[7] The ſecond rule: Let the Church haue care of ſuch as are widowes in deede, that is to ſay, ſuch as are poore and deſtitute of helpe of their own friends, and liue godly and religiouſly.

[8] The third rule: Let widowes that liue in pleaſure, and neglect the care of their owne familie, be holden and accompted as fallers away from God and his religion, and worſe then very infidels.

[9] The fourth rule: Let none vnder threeſcore yeeres olde, be taken into the number of widowes, to ſerue the Congregations or Churches, and ſuch as are free from all reproach of vnchaſtitie, and are well reported of for their diligence charitie, and integritie.

[b] That hath had no more husbands, but one at one time.

[c] This is ſpoken in reſpect of the maner of thoſe countries.

[10] The firſt reaſon why younger widowes are not to be admitted to this miniſterie, to wit becauſe for the lightneſſe of their age, they will at length ſhake off the burden that Chriſt hath layed vpon them, and thinke rather vpon marrying againe: and ſo will forſake the miniſtery whereunto they had bound themſelues.

[d] Take them not into the colledge of widowes.

[11] Another reaſon: becauſe they are for the moſt part pratlers and buſie bodies, and gadders vp and downe neglecting their charge and duetie.

[12] The fifth rule: Let younger widowes marrie and gouerne their houſes godly.

[13] The ſixth rule: Let the faithfull helpe their widowes at their owne charges as much as they can, and let not the Congregation be burdened with theſe expenſes.

[14] Now he beginneth rules, and ſheweth how he ought to behaue himſelfe with the Elders, that is to ſay, with the Paſtours and ſuch as haue the gouernance in the diſcipline of the Church, which is preſident of their company. The firſt rule: Let the Church or Congregation ſee vnto this eſpecially, as God himſelfe hath commaunded, that the Elders that doe their duetie well, be honeſtly maintained.

[e] Wee muſt be more carefull for them, then for the reſt.

[f] There were two kinds of Elders, the one attended vpon the gouernement onely, and looked to the manners of the Congregation, the other did beſide that, attende vpon preaching and prayers, to and for the Congregation.

✚ Deuteronomie 25, 4. 1. Corinthians 9, 9.

✣ Matthew 10,10. luke 10, 7.

[15] The ſecond rule: Let no accuſation be admitted againſt an Elder, but vnder two or three witneſſes.

[16] The third rule: Let the Elders ſo conuicted be rebuked openly, that they may be an example to others.

∵ Chapter 6, 13.

[17] The fourth rule: Let ſinceritie be vſed without any preiudice or reſpect of perſons in the Eccleſiaſticall proceedings, (eſpecially againſt the Elders) becauſe God himſelfe is there preſent, and the Lord Ieſus Chriſt with a multitude of Angels.

[18] The firſt rule: Let the miniſter laye handes ſuddainely on no man. Let him not be faultie herein either by fauouring any mans follie, or peruerſe affection: If ought be done otherwiſe then well of his fellowes, let him keepe his conſcience pure.

[g] As much as in thee lyeth doe not raſhly admit any whatſoeuer, to any Eccleſiaſticall function.

[19] The ſixth rule: Let the Elders haue indifferent conſideration of their health, in the manner of their dyet.

[20] Becauſe hypocrites ſometimes creepe into the miniſterie although there be neuer ſo great diligence vſed, the Apoſtle willeth the Paſtours not to be troubled therefore, or ſlacke any whit of their diligence in trying and examining, becauſe the Lord hath appointed a time to diſcouer the faults of ſuch men and it is our partes to take heede that wee offende not therein.

[31] Another comfort belonging to them, which ſometime are ſlaundred and miſreported of.

[1] Hee addeth alſo rules for the ſeruants duetie towardes their maſters: whereupon no doubt there were many queſtions then mooued by them, which tooke occaſion by the Goſpel to trouble the common ſtate. And this is the firſt rule: Let ſeruantes that are come to the faith, and haue infidels to their maſters, ſerue them notwithſtanding with great fidelitie.

[2] The reaſon: leaſt God ſhoulde ſeeme by the Doctrine of the Goſpell to ſtirre vp men to rebellion and all wickedneſſe.

[3] The ſecond rule: Let not ſeruants that are come to the faith and haue alſo maſters of the ſame profeſſion and religion, abuſe the name of brotherhoode, but let them ſo much the rather obey them.

[a] Let this be ſufficient, that as touching theſe things which pertaine to euerlaſting life, they are partakers of the ſame good will and loue of God, as their maſters themſelues are.

[4] A generall concluſion, that theſe things ought not onely to be ſimply taught, but muſt with exhortations be diligently beaten into their heads.

3 [5] If any man teach otherwiſe, and conſenteth not to the wholeſome words of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, and to the doctrine which is according to godlineſſe.

4 Hee is puft vp and knoweth nothing, but doteth about queſtions and [b] ſtriue of wordes, whereof commeth enuie, ſtrife, railings, euill ſurmiſings,

5 Froward [c] diſputations of men of corrupt mindes and deſtitute of the trueth, which thinke that gaine is godlineſſe: from ſuch ſeparate thy ſelfe.

6 [6] But godlineſſe is great gaine, if a man be content with that hee hath.

7 [7] For wee brought nothing into the world, and it is certaine, that we can carie nothing out.

8 Therefore when wee haue foode and raiment, let vs therewith be content.

9 [8] For they that will be rich, fall into tentation and ſnares, and into many fooliſh and noyſome luſtes, which drowne men in perdition and deſtruction.

10 For the deſire of money is the roote of all euill, which while ſome luſted after they erred from the faith, and [d] pearced themſelues thorow with many ſorowes.

11 [9] But thou, O [e] man of God, flee theſe things, and follow after righteouſneſſe, godlineſſe, faith, loue, patience, and meekeneſſe.

12 Fight the good fight of faith: lay holde of eternall life, wherevnto thou art alſo called, and haſt profeſſed a good profeſſion before many witneſſes.

[5] He condemneth ſeuerally, and excommunicateth or caſteth out of the Church as proud men, ſuch as content not themſelues with Chriſts doctrine, (that is to ſay, the doctrine of godlineſſe) but wearie both themſelues and others in vaine queſtions, (for all other things are vaine) becauſe they content not themſelues in Chriſts doctrine: and as lying deceiuers, becauſe they fauour or found of nothing but vanitie: as madde men, becauſe they trouble themſelues ſo much in matters of nothing: as miſchieuous plagues, for that they cauſe great contentions, and corrupt mens mindes and iudgement: to be ſhort, as prophane and wicked, becauſe they abuſe the precious name of godlineſſe and religion to filthy lucre. [b] Striuing about words, and not about matter: and by words he meaneth all thoſe things which haue no pith in them, and whereby we can reape no profite. [c] Such as we ſee in thoſe ſhameleſſe ſchooles of Poperie, which are nothing elſe but vaine babbling and prating. [6] Hee turneth away fitly the name of gaine and lucre, confeſſing that godlineſſe is great gaine, but farre after an other ſort, to wit, becauſe it bringeth true ſufficience. [7] Hee mocketh their follie, which doe ſo greedily gape after fraile things, that they can in no wiſe be ſatisfied, and yet notwithſtanding they cannot enioy that exceſſe. [8] He frayeth Timothie from couetouſneſſe after another ſort, to wit, becauſe it draweth with it an infinite ſort of luſts, and thoſe very hurtfull, wherewith couetous men doe torment themſelues ſo farre foorth, that in the ende they caſt away from them their faith and ſaluation. [d] Sorowe and griefe do as it were pearce thorow the minde of man, and are the harueſt and true fruits of couetouſneſſe. [9] A peculiar exhortation to diuers vertues, wherewith it behooueth the Paſtours eſpecially to be furniſhed. [e] Whom the Spirit of God ruleth.

13 ✤ [10] I charge thee in the ſight of God, who quickeneth all things, and before Ieſus Chriſt, which vnder Pontius Pilate ✤ witneſſeth a good confeſſion.

14 That thou keepe this commandement without ſpot, and vnrebukeable, vntill the appearing of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, 15 Which in due time he ſhall ſhewe, that is [f] ✢ bleſſed and Prince onely, the King of kings and Lord of lords.

16 Who onely hath immortalitie, and dwelleth in the light that none can attaine vnto, * whom neuer man ſawe, neither can ſee, vnto whom be honour and power euerlaſting, Amen.

17 [11] Charge them that are rich in [g] this world, that they be not high minded, and that they ✻ truſt not in vncertaine riches, but in the [h] liuing God, (which giueth vs abundantly all things to enioy.)

18 That they doe good, and be rich in good works, and be ready to diſtribute, and communicate, 19 * [12] Laying vp in ſtore for themſelues a good foundation againſt the time to come, that they may obtaine eternall life.

20 [13] O Timotheus, keepe that which is committed vnto thee, and auoide prophane and vaine babblings, and oppoſitions of ſcience falſly ſo called,

21 Which while ſome [i] profeſſe, they haue erred concerning the faith. Grace be with thee, Amen.

[i] Not onely in word, but alſo in countenance and geſture: to be ſhort, whiles their behauiour was ſuch that euen when they helde their peace, they would make men beleeue their heads were occupied about nothing but high and weightie matters, euen then they erred concerning the faith.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAVL TO TIMOTHEVS.

CHAP. I.

3 He commendeth Timotheus faith, 6 and exherteth him to goe on faithfully in the charge committed vnto him: 8 and that neither for his bonds, 15 nor the reuolting of others, he faint. 11 He triumpheth of his Apoſtleſhip. 14 He willeth him to haue care of the thing committed vnto him, 16 and prayſeth Oneſiphorus.

PAul an Apoſtle of Ieſus Chriſt by the will of God, [a] according to the promiſe of life which is in Chriſt Ieſus,

2 To Timotheus my beloued ſonne: Grace, mercie and peace from God the Father, and from Ieſus Chriſt our Lord.

3 [1] I thanke God, ✤ whome I ſerue from mine [b] elders with pure conſcience, that without ceaſing I haue remembrance of thee in my prayers night and day.

4 Deſiring to ſee thee, mindfull of thy teares, that I may be filled with ioy:

5 When I call to remembrance the vnfained faith that is in thee, which dwelt firſt in thy grandmother Lois, and in thy mother Eunice, and am aſſured that it dvvelleth in thee alſo.

6 [2] Wherefore, I put thee in remembrance that thou [c] ſtirre vp the gift of God which is in thee, by the putting on of mine hands.

7 For God hath not giuen to vs the Spirit of [d] feare, but of power, and of loue, and of a ſound minde.

8 [3] Be not therefore aſhamed of the teſtimo-

[a] Sent of God to preach that life which he promiſed in Chriſt Ieſus. [1] The chiefeſt marke that he ſhooteth at in this Epiſtle, is to confirme Timothie to continue conſtantly and manfully euen to the end, ſetting firſt before him the great good will hee beareth him, and then reckoning vp the excellent gifts which God would as it were haue to be by inheritance in Timothie, and his anceſtours, which might ſo much the more make him bound to God. ✤ Acts 22, 3. [b] From Abraham, Iſaac and Iacob: for he ſpeaketh not of Phariſaiſme, but of Chriſtianiſme.

[2] He warneth vs to ſet the inuincible power of the Spirit, which God hath giuen vs, againſt thoſe ſtormes which may and doe come vpon vs. [c] The gift of God is as it were a certaine liuely flame kindled in our hearts, which the fleſh and the deuill go about to put out: and therefore we on the contrary ſide muſt labour as much as we can to foſter and keepe it burning. [d] To pearce vs thorow, and terrifie vs, as men whom the Lord will deſtroy. [3] He prooueth that the ignominie or ſhame of the croſſe is not onely not to be aſhamed of, but alſo that it is glorious and moſt honourable: firſt, becauſe the Goſpel wherefore the godly are afflicted, is the teſtimonie of Chriſt: and ſecondly, becauſe at length the great vertue and power of God appeareth in them, nie of our Lord, neither of me [e] his priſoner: but be partaker of the afflictions of the [f] Goſpel according to the [g] power of God.

9 [4] Who hath ſaued vs, and called vs with an ✠ holy calling, not according to our ♣ works, but according to his owne purpoſe and grace, which was [h] giuen to vs through Chriſt Ieſus [i] before the * world was,

10 But is now made manifeſt by that appearing of our Sauiour Ieſus Chriſt, who hath aboliſhed death, and hath brought life and immortalitie vnto [k] light through the Goſpel.

11 ✠ [5] Whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and Apoſtle, and a teacher of the Gentiles.

12 [6] For the which cauſe I alſo ſuffer theſe things, [7] but I am not aſhamed: for I know whom I haue beleeued, and I am perſwaded that he is able to keepe that which I haue committed to him againſt that day.

13 [8] Keepe the true paterne of the wholeſome words, which thou haſt heard of me in faith and loue which is in Chriſt Ieſus.

14 [9] That woorthy thing, which was committed to thee, keepe [10] through the holy Ghoſt, which dwelleth in vs.

15 [11] This thou knoweſt, that all they which are in Aſia, be turned from me: of which ſort are Phygellus and Hermogenes.

16 The Lord giue mercie vnto the houſe of Oneſiphorus: for he oft refreſhed me, and was not aſhamed of my chaine, 17 But when he was at Rome, he ſought me out very diligently, and found me.

18 The Lord graunt vnto him, that he may finde mercy with the Lord at that day, and in how many things he hath miniſtred vnto me at Epheſus, thou knoweſt very well.

[e] For his ſake.

[f] The Goſpel after a ſort is ſayd to be afflicted in them that preach it.

[g] Through the power of God.

4 Hee ſheweth with how great benefits God hath bound vs to mainteine boldly and conſtantly his glorie which is ioyned with our ſaluation, and reckoneth vp the cauſes of our ſaluation, to wit, that free and eternall purpoſe of God to ſaue vs in Chriſt which was to come, whereby it ſhould come to paſſe, that wee ſhould at length be freely called of God by the preaching of the Goſpel, to Chriſt the deſtroyer of death and authour of immortalitie.

✠ 1. Cor. 1, 2.

♣ Titus 3, 5.

[h] He ſayeth that that grace was giuen vs from euerlaſting, vnto which we were predeſtinate from euerlaſting. So that the doctrine of foreſeene faith and foreſeene works, is cleane contrary to the doctrine which preached and teacheth the grace of God.

[i] Before that courſe of yeeres, which hath runne on euer ſince the beginning of the world.

* Rom. 16,25. epheſ. 1,4. col. 1,26. tit. 1,2.

[k] Hath cauſed life and immortality to appeare.

✠ 1. Tim. 2, 7.

5 That is, the Goſpel which the Apoſtle preached.

6 Hee confirmeth his Apoſtleſhip by a ſtrange argument, to wit, becauſe the world could not abide it, and therefore it perſecuted him that preached it.

7 By ſetting his owne example before vs, he ſheweth vs how it may be that wee ſhall not be aſhamed of the croſſe of Chriſt, to wit, if wee be ſure that God both can and will keepe the ſaluation which he hath as it were layd vp in ſtore by himſelfe for vs againſt that day.

8 He ſheweth wherein hee ought to be moſt conſtant, to wit, both in the doctrine it ſelfe, the abridgement whereof is faith and charitie, and next in the maner of teaching it, a liuely paterne and ſhape whereof Timothie knew in the Apoſtle.

9 An amplification, taken of the dignitie of ſo great a benefit committed of the miniſters.

10 The taking away of an obiection. It is an hard thing to doe it, but the Spirit of God is mighty, who hath inwardly indued vs with his vertue.

11 He preuenteth an offence which aroſe by the meanes of certaine that fell from God and the religion, and vttereth alſo their names, that they might be knowen of all men. But he ſetteth againſt them the ſingular faith of one man, that one onely good example might counterpoiſe and wigh downe all euill examples.

CHAP. II.

2 The better to ſet out perſeuerance in the Chriſtian warfare, 3 he taketh ſimilitudes, 4 from ſouldiers, 6 and from husbandmen. 10 Hee ſheweth that his bonds are for the profit of the Saints: 15 Then hee warneth Timothie to diuide the word of trueth aright. 17 to beware of the examples of the wicked, 22 and to do all things modeſtly.

THou [1] therefore, my ſonne, be ſtrong in the grace that is in Chriſt Ieſus.

2 And what things thou haſt heard of me, by [a] many witneſſes, the ſame deliuer to faithfull men, which ſhallbe able to teach other alſo.

3 [2] Thou therefore ſuffer affliction as a good ſouldier of Ieſus Chriſt.

4 No man that warreth, entangleth himſelfe with the affaires of [b] this life, becauſe hee would pleaſe him that hath choſen him to be a ſouldier.

5 [3] And if any man alſo ſtriue for a maſterie, he is not crowned, except he ſtriue as he ought to doe.

6 [4] The husbandman muſt labour before hee receiue the fruits.

7 [5] Conſider what I ſay: and the Lord giue thee vnderſtanding in all things.

8 [6] Remember that Ieſus Chriſt, made of the ſeed of Dauid, was raiſed againe from the dead according to my Goſpel, 9 [7] Wherein I ſuffer trouble as an euill doer, euen vnto bondes: but the word of God is not bound.

10 Therefore I ſuffer all things for the elects ſake, that they might alſo obtaine the ſaluation which is in Chriſt Ieſus, with eternall glory.

11 [8] It is a true ſaying, For if we be ✠ [c] dead together vvith him: we alſo ſhall liue together vvith him.

12 If we ſuffer, we ſhall alſo reigne together vvith him: ♣ if we deny him, he alſo will deny vs.

13 If * we beleeue not, yet abideth he faithfull: he cannot deny himſelfe.

14 Of theſe things put them in remembrance, and [d] proteſt before the Lord, that they ſtriue not about words, which is to no profit, but to the peruerting of the hearers.

15 [9] Studie to ſhew thy ſelfe approoued vnto God a workman that needeth not to be aſhamed, diuiding the word of trueth [e] aright.

16 [f] Stay profane and vaine babblings: [10] for they ſhall increaſe vnto more vngodlineſſe.

17 And their word ſhall fret as a canker: of which ſort is Hymeneus and Philetus.

18 Which as concerning the trueth haue erred from the marke, ſaying that the reſurrection is paſt alreadie, and doe deſtroy the faith of certaine.

19 [11] But the foundation of God remaineth ſure, and hath this ſeale, The Lord knoweth who are his: and, Let euery one that [g] calleth on the Name of Chriſt, depart from iniquitie.

1 The concluſion of the former exhortation, which hath alſo added vnto it a declaration how that they do not keepe that worthy thing that is committed vnto them which keepe it to themſelues, but they rather which do moſt freely communicate it with other, to the end that many may bee partakers of it without any mans loſſe or hinderance.

[a] When many were by, which can beare witneſſe of theſe things.

2 Another admonition: That the miniſtery of the word is a ſpirituall warfare, which no man can ſo trauell in, that he may pleaſe his captaine, vnleſſe he forgoe and part with all hiderances which might draw him away from it.

[b] With affaires of houſholde, or other things that belong to other ordinarie buſineſſes.

3 The third admonition: The miniſterie is like to a game or iuſting, wherein men ſtriue for the victory, and no man is crowned vnleſſe he ſtriue according to the lawes which are preſcribed, be they neuer ſo hard and painfull.

4 Another ſimilitude tending to the ſame end: no man may looke for the harueſt, vnleſſe hee firſt take paines to plow and ſowe his ground.

5 All theſe things cannot be vnderſtood, and much leſſe practiſed, vnleſſe wee aske of God, and he giue vs vnderſtanding.

6 He confirmeth plainly two principles of our faith, which are alwayes aſſaulted of heretikes, the one whereof (to wit, that Chriſt is the true Meſſias made man of the ſeed of Dauid) is the ground of our ſaluation: and the other is the higheſt part of it, to wit, that he is riſen againe from the dead.

7 The taking away of an obiection: Trueth it is, that he is kept in priſon, as an euill doer, yet there is no cauſe, why therefore ſome ſhould goe about to derogate credit from his Goſpel, ſeeing that notwithſtanding God did bleſſe his miniſterie, nay rather, that example of this his captiuitie and patience did ſundrie wayes confirme the Church in the hope of a better life.

8 The fourth admonition: wee ought not to contend vpon words and queſtions, which are not onely vnprofitable, but alſo for the moſt part hurtfull: but rather vpon this, how we may frame our ſelues to all maner of patience, and to doe alſo with Chriſt (that is to ſay, for Chriſtes Name) becauſe that is the plaine way to the moſt glorious life: as contrariwiſe the falling away of men can diminiſh no part of the trueth of God, although by ſuch meanes they procure moſt certaine deſtruction to themſelues.

[c] If we be afflicted with Chriſt, and for Chriſtes ſake.

♣ Matt. 10, 33. marke 8, 38.

* Rom. 3, 3. and 9, 6.

[d] Call God to witneſſe, or as a iudge: as Moſes, Ioſua, Samuel, and Paul himſelfe did, Acts 20.

9 The fifth admonition: A miniſter muſt not be an idle diſputer, but a faithfull ſteward in diuiding aright the word of trueth, inſomuch that hee muſt ſtop the mouthes of other vaine bablers.

[e] By adding nothing to it, neither ouerſkipping any thing, neither mangling it, nor renting it in ſunder, nor wreſting of it: but marking diligently what his hearers are able to heare, and what is fit to edifying.

[f] Marke and watch, and ſee they creepe not on further.

10 Hee diſcouereth the ſubtiltie of Satan, who beginning with theſe principles draweth vs by little and little to vngodlineſſe through the meanes of that wicked and profane babling, ſtill creeping on: which he prooueth by the horrible example of them that taught, that the reſurrection was alreadie paſt.

11 A digreſſion: wherein he ſalueth that offence that roſe by their falling away: ſhewing firſt, that the elect are out of all danger of any ſuch falling away: ſecondly, that they are knowen to God and not to vs: and therefore it is no maruell if we count hypocrites oftentimes for true brethren: but we muſt take heed that we be not like them, but rather that wee be in deed, ſuch as we are ſayd to be.

[g] That ſerueth and worſhippeth him, and is as it were named of him, a faithfull man or Chriſtian.

20 [12] Notwithſtanding in a great houſe are not only veſſels of gold and of ſiluer, but alſo of wood and of earth, ✤ and ſome for honour, and ſome vnto diſhonour.

21 If any man therefore [h] purge himſelfe from theſe, he ſhall be a veſſell vnto honour, ſanctified, and meet for the Lord, and prepared vnto euerie good worke.

22 [13] Flee alſo from the luſts of youth, and follow after righteouſneſſe, faith, loue, and [14] peace, with them that ♣ call on the Lord with pure heart, 23 * And put away fooliſh and vnlearned queſtions, knowing that they ingender ſtrife.

24 But the ſeruant of the Lord muſt not ſtriue, but muſt be gentle toward all men, apt to teach, [i] ſuffering the euill,

25 Inſtructing them with meekeneſſe that are [k] contrary minded, prouing if God at any time will giue them repentance, that they may acknowledge the trueth, 26 And come to amendment out of that ſnare of the deuill, of whom they are taken priſoners, to doe his will.

[12] The taking away of an obiection: it is no diſhonour to the good man of the houſe, that he hath not in a great houſe all veſſels of one ſort and for one ſeruice, but we muſt looke to this, that we be found veſſels prepared to honour.

✤ Rom. 9, 21.

[h] By theſe words is meant the execution of the matter, and not the cauſe: for in that we purge our ſelues, it is not to be attributeth to any free will that is in vs, but to God, who freely & whelly worketh in vs a good and an effectuall will.

[13] Returning to the matter from whence he digreſſed, verſe 16. hee warneth him to exerciſe himſelfe in weighty matters, and ſuch as perteine to godlineſſe.

[14] The ſixt admonition: Wee muſt aboue all things eſchew all bitternes of minde both in teaching all men, and alſo in calling them backe which haue gone out of the way.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee foretelleth the dangerous times that are to inſue: 9 but with the certaine hope of victorie, 10 hee encourageth him to the combat, 14 ſetting out eſpecially the triall of ſound doctrine.

This [1] know alſo, that in the * laſt dayes ſhall come perillous times.

2 For men ſhallbe louers of their owne ſelues, couetous, boaſters, proud, curſed ſpeakers, diſobedient to parents, vnthankfull, [a] vnholy,

3 Without naturall affection, truce breakers, falſe accuſers, intemperate, fierce, no louers at all of them which are good,

4 Traitours, headie, high minded, louers of pleaſures more then louers of God,

5 Hauing a ſhew of godlineſſe, but haue denied the power thereof: [2] turne away therefore from ſuch.

6 For of this ſort are they which creepe into houſes, and leade captiue ſimple women laden with ſinnes, and led with diuers luſts,

7 Which vvomen are euer learning, and are neuer able to come to the acknowledging of the trueth.

8 ✻ And as Iannes and Iambres withſtood Moſes, ſo doe theſe alſo reſiſt the trueth, men of corrupt minds, reprobate concerning the faith.

9 [3] But they ſhall preuaile no longer: for their madneſſe ſhall be euident vnto all men, as theirs alſo was.

10 ¶ [4] But thou haſt [b] fully knowen my doctrine, maner of liuing, purpoſe, faith, long ſuffering, loue, patience, 11 Perſecutions, and afflictions which came vnto me at [c] Antiochia, at Iconium, and at Lyſtri, which perſecutions I ſuffered: but from them all the Lord deliuered me.

12 Yea, and all that will liue godly in Chriſt Ieſus, ſhall ſuffer perſecution.

13 But the euill men and deceiuers ſhall waxe [d] worſe and worſe, deceiuing, and being deceiued.

14 But continue thou in the things which thou haſt learned, and which are committed vnto thee, knowing of whom thou haſt learned them:

15 And that thou haſt knowen the holy Scriptures of a childe, which are able to make thee wiſe vnto ſaluation, through the faith which is in Chriſt Ieſus.

16 ✤ [5] For the whole Scripture is giuen by inſpiration of God, and is profitable to teach, to conuince, to correct, and to inſtruct in righteouſneſſe, 17 That the [e] man of God may be abſolute, being made perfect vnto all good works.

[1] The ſeuenth admonition. we may not hope for any Church in this world without corruption: but there ſhallbe rather great abundance of moſt wicked men, euen in the very boſome of the Church, which notwithſtanding ſhall make a ſhew and countenance of great holineſſe and charitie.

* 1. Tim. 4, 1. 2. pet. 3, 3. iude 18.

[a] Which make no account, either of right or honeſty.

[2] Wee muſt not dallie with ſuch men as reſiſt the trueth not of ſimple ignorance, but of a peruerſe mind, (which thing appeareth by their fruits which hee painteth out here liuely) but we muſt rather turne away from them.

✻ Exod. 7, 11.

[3] Hee addeth a comfort: The Lord will at length plucke off all their viſards.

[4] That we be not deceiued by ſuch hypocrites, we muſt ſet before vs the vertues of the holy ſeruants of God, and we muſt not be arrayd of perſecution, which they ſuffered willingly, and which alwayes followeth true godlineſſe. But we muſt eſpecially holde faſt the doctrine of the Apoſtles, the ſumme whereof is this, that we are ſaued through faith in Chriſt Ieſus.

[b] Thou knoweſt thorowly, not only what I taught and did, but alſo how I was minded and diſpoſed.

✤ 2. Pet. 1, 20.

[5] The eight admonition, which is moſt precious: A Paſtour muſt be wiſe by the word of God only: wherin we haue perfectly deliuered vnto vs, whatſoeuer perteineth either to diſcerne, know and eſtabliſh true opinions, and to confute falſe, and furthermore, to correct euill maners, and to frame good.

[e] The Prophets and expounders of Gods will, are properly & peculiarly called, Men of God.

CHAP. IIII.

1 He chargeth him to preach the Goſpel with all diligence, 3 in that ſo miſerable a time: 6 that his death is hard at hand, 8 yet ſo, that as a conquerour hee maketh haſte to a glorious triumph. 10 He ſheweth the cauſe why he ſendeth for Timothie, 11 euen by reaſon of his preſent ſtate.

I [1] Charge thee therefore before God, and before the Lord Ieſus Chriſt, which ſhall iudge the quicke and dead at that his appearing, and in his kingdome,

2 Preach the word: be inſtant, in ſeaſon, and out of ſeaſon, improoue, rebuke, exhort with all long ſuffering and doctrine.

3 [2] For the time will come when they will not ſuffer wholeſome doctrine: but hauing their eares itching, ſhall after their owne luſts get them an heape of teachers,

4 And ſhall turne their eares from the trueth, and ſhallbe giuen vnto [a] fables.

5 [3] But watch thou in all things: ſuffer aduerſitie: doe the worke of an Euangeliſt: [b] cauſe thy miniſtery to be thorowly liked of.

6 [4] For I am now ready to be [c] offered, and the time of my departing is at hand.

7 I haue fought a good fight, and haue finiſhed my courſe: I haue kept the faith.

8 For henceforth is layd vp for me the crowne of righteouſneſſe, which the Lord the righteous Iudge ſhall giue mee at that day: and not to mee onely, but vnto all them alſo that loue that his appearing.

9 [5] Make ſpeed to come vnto me at once:

10 For Demas hath forſaken me, and hath [d] embraced this preſent world, and is departed vnto Theſſalonica. Creſcens is gone to Galatia, Titus vnto Dalmatia.

11 ♣ Onely Luke is with me. Take Marke and bring him with thee: for he is profitable vnto mee to miniſter.

12 And Tychicus haue I ſent to Epheſus.

13 The cloake that I left at Troas with Carpus, when thou commeſt, bring with thee, and the books, but ſpecially the parchments.

14 Alexander the copperſmith hath done mee much euill: the Lord reward him according to his works.

[1] The principall and chiefe of all admonitions, being therefore propoſed with a moſt earneſt charge, is this: That the word of God be propounded with a certaine holie importunitie, as neceſſitie requireth: but ſo, that a good and true ground of the doctrine be layd, and the vehemencie be tempered with all holy meekeneſſe.

[2] Faithfull Paſtours in times paſt tooke all occaſions they could, becauſe men were very prompt and ready to returne to their fables.

[a] To falſe and vnprofitable doctrines, which the world is now ſo bewitched withall, that it had rather the open light of the trueth were vtterly put out, when it would come out of darkneſſe.

[3] The wickednes and falling away of the world, ought to cauſe faithfull miniſters to be ſo much the more carefull.

[b] Prooue and ſhew by good & ſubſtantiall proofe, that thou art the true miniſter of God.

[4] Hee foretelleth his death to be at hand, and ſetteth before them an excellent example, both of inuincible conſtancie and ſure hope.

[c] To be offered for a drinke offering: and he alludeth to the powring out of blood or wine which was vſed in ſacrifices.

16 At my firſt anſwering no man aſſiſted mee, but all forſooke me : I pray God, that it may not be laid to their charge.

17 Notwithſtanding the Lord aſſiſted me, and ſtrengthened mee, that by me the preaching might be fully beleeued, and that all the Gentiles ſhould heare : and I was deliuered out of the mouth of the [e] lyon.

18 And the Lord will deliuer mee from euery [f] euill worke, and will preſerue me vnto his [g] heauenly kingdome : to whom be prayſe for euer and euer, Amen.

THE EPISTLE OF PAVL TO TITVS.

CHAP. I.

6 He ſheweth what kinde of men ought to be choſen Miniſters: 10 howe vaine babblers mouthes ſhould be ſtopped: 12 and through this occaſion hee toucheth the nature of the Cretians, 14 and the Iewes, who put holineſſe in outward things.

PAul [1] a [a] ſeruant of God, & an Apoſtle of Ieſus Chriſt, according to the faith of Gods [b] elect, [2] and the acknowledging of the trueth, which is according vnto godlines.

2 Vnto the [c] hope of eternall life, which God that cannot lye, hath [d] promiſed before the ✣ [e] world began :

3 [3] But hath made his worde manifeſt in due time through the preaching, which is ✣ committed vnto mee according to the commandement of God our [f] Sauiour :

4 [4] To Titus my naturall ſonne according to the common faith, [5] Grace, mercy, and peace from God the Father, and from the Lord Ieſus Chriſt our Sauiour.

5 [6] For this cauſe left I thee in Creta, that thou ſhouldeſt continue to redreſſe the things that remaine, and ſhouldeſt ordeine Elders in euery citie as I appointed thee.

6 * If any be vnreprooueable, the husband of one wife, hauing faithfull children, which are not ſlandered of riot, neither are [g] diſobedient.

7 [7] For a Biſhop muſt be vnreprooueable, as Gods [h] ſteward, not [i] froward, not angry, not giuen to wine, no ſtriker, not giuen to filthy lucre,

8 But harberous, one that loueth goodneſſe, [k] wiſe, righteous, holy, temperate,

9 [8] Holding faſt that faithfull worde according to doctrine, [9] that hee alſo may be able to exhort with wholeſome doctrine, and conuince them that ſay againſt it.

10 [10] For there are many diſobedient and vaine talkers and deceiuers of mindes, chiefly they of the [l] Circumciſion, 11 Whoſe mouthes muſt be ſtopped, which ſubuert whole houſes, teaching things which they ought not, for filthy lucres ſake.

12 [m] One of themſelues, euen one of their owne Prophets ſaid, The Cretians are alwayes lyars, euill beaſts, ſlow bellies.

13 This witneſſe is true : wherefore conuince them [n] ſharply, that they may be found in the faith.

14 And not taking heed to ✣ Iewiſh fables and commandements of men, that turne away from the trueth.

15 [11] Vnto the pure * are all things pure, but vnto them that are defiled, and vnbeleeuing is nothing pure, but euen their [o] mindes and conſciences are defiled.

16 They profeſſe that they know God, but by works they deny him, and are abominable and diſobedient, and vnto euery good worke reprobate.

CHAP. II.

2 He ſetteth out the duties of ſundry perſons and ſtates, 6 and willeth him to inſtruct the Church in maners. 11 Hee draweth an argument from the end of our redemption, 12 which is, that we liue godly and vprightly.

BVt [1] ſpeake thou the things which become wholeſome doctrine,

2 [2] That the elder men be watchfull, graue, temperate, ſound in the faith, in loue, and in patience :

3 The elder women likewiſe, that they be in ſuch behauiour as becommeth holineſſe, not falſe accuſers, not ſubiect to much wine, but teachers of honeſt things,

4 That they may inſtruct the young women to be ſober minded, that they loue their husbands, that they loue their children,

5 That they be temperate, chaſte, [a] keeping at home, good and ✠ ſubiect vnto their husbands, that the word of God be not euill ſpoken of.

6 Exhort yong men likewiſe, that they be ſober minded.

7 [3] In all things ſhew thy ſelfe an example of

1 He voucheth his Apoſtleſhip, (not for Titus, but for the Cretenſes ſake) both by the teſtimonie of his outward calling, and by his conſent wherein he agreeth with all the elect from the beginning of the world.

a Miniſter, as Chriſt himſelfe, in that that he was a miniſter and head of the Prophets, is called a ſeruant, Eſa. 43, 10.

b Of thoſe whom God hath choſen.

2 The faith wherein all the elect conſent, is the true and ſincere knowledge of God, tending to this ende, that worſhipping God aright that they at length obtaine life euerlaſting according to the promiſe of God, who is true, which promiſe was exhibited to Chriſt in due time according to his eternall purpoſe.

3 This trueth is no other where to be ſought, but in the preaching of the Apoſtle.

f This word (Sauiour) doeth not onely ſignifie a preſeruer of life, but alſo a giuer of life.

4 The Apoſtle moueth the Cretenſes to heare Titus, by ſetting foorth his conſent and agreement with him in the faith, and therewithall ſheweth by what ſpeciall note we may diſtinguiſh true miniſters from falſe.

5 There is but one way of ſaluation, common both to the Paſtour and the flocke.

6 The firſt admonition, to ordeine Elders in euery citie.

* 1. Tim. 3, 2.

g This word is proper to horſes and oxen, which will not abide the yoke.

7 The ſecond admonition, what faults paſtours (whom hee comprehended afore vnder the worde Elders) ought to be voyd of, and what vertues they ought to haue.

h Whom the Lord hath appointed ſteward of his giftes.

i Not hard conditioned, and euill to pleaſe.

k Circumſpect, of a ſound iudgement, and of a ſingular example of moderation.

8 The thirde admonition : The Paſtour muſt hold faſt that doctrine, which the Apoſtles deliuered, and pertaineth to ſaluation, leauing all curious and vaine matters.

9 The fourth admonition : To apply the knowledge of true doctrine vnto vſe, which conſiſteth in two things to wit, in gouerning them which ſhew themſelues apt to learne, and confuting the obſtinate.

10 An applying of the generall propoſition to a particular : The Cretenſes aboue all other neede ſharpe reprehenſions : both becauſe their minde are naturally giuen to lies and ſlouthfulneſſe, and alſo becauſe of certaine couetous Iewes, which vnder a colour of godlineſſe ioyned partly certaine vaine traditions, and partly olde ceremonies with the Goſpel.

* Rom. 14, 20.

o If our mindes and conſcience be vncleane, what cleanneſſe is there in vs before regeneration?

1 The fift admonition : The doctrine muſt not onely be generally pure, but alſo be applied to all ages and orders of men, according to the diuerſity of circumſtances.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee willeth that all generally be put in minde to reuerence ſuch as be in autheritie. 3 That they remember their former life, and attribute all iuſtification vnto grace. 9 And if any brabbler withſtand theſe things, 10 he willeth that he be reiected.

THE EPISTLE TO THE HEBREWES.

THe drift and end of this Epiſtle, is to ſhevv that Ieſus Chriſt the Sonne of God both God and man, is that true eternall and onely Prophet, King, and high Prieſt, that vvas ſhadovved by the figures of the olde Lavv, and is novv in deed exhibited: of vvhom the vvhole Church ought to be taught, gouerned and ſanctified

CHAP. I.

1 To ſhew that the doctrine which Chriſt brought, is moſt excellent, in that it is the knitting vp of all prophecies, 4 he aduanceth him aboue the Angels: 10 And prooueth by diuers teſtimonies of the Scripture, that he farre paſſeth all other.

AT [1] ſundry times and in diuers maners God ſpake in the old time to our fathers by the Prophets: in theſe [a] laſt dayes hee hath ſpoken vnto vs by his [b] Sonne,

2 [2] Whom he hath made [c] heire of all things, by whom alſo he made the [d] worldes,

3 ✤ Who being the [e] brightneſſe of the glory, and the ingraued forme of his [f] perſon, and [g] bearing vp all things by his mightie word: [3] hath by himſelfe purged our ſinnes: and [h] ſitteth at the right hand of the Maieſtie in the higheſt places,

4 [4] And is made ſo much more excellent then the Angels, in as much as hee hath obteined a more excellent [i] Name then they.

5 [5] For vnto which of the Angels ſayde he at any time, ♣ Thou art my Sonne, [k] this day begate I thee? [6] and againe, I * will be his Father, and he ſhalbe my Sonne:

6 [7] And [l] againe, when he bringeth in his firſt begotten Sonne into the world, he ſayeth, ✱ And let all the Angels of God worſhip him.

7 [8] And of the Angels he ſaith, He maketh the ſpirits his [m] meſſengers, and his miniſters a flame [n] of fire.

8 But vnto the Sonne he ſayth, ♣ O God, thy [o] throne is for euer [p] and euer: the ſcepter of thy kingdome is a [q] ſcepter of righteouſneſſe.

CHAP. II.

1 Thereof he inferreth, that good heede muſt be giuen to Chriſtes doctrine. 9 And he ſetteth him out vnto vs euen as our brother in our fleſh, that wee may with a good will yeelde vp our ſelues wholly vnto him.

WHerefore [1] we ought diligently to giue heed to the things which [a] we haue heard, leaſt at any time we [b] runne out.

2 For if the [c] word ſpoken by Angels was ſtedfaſt, and euery tranſgreſſion, and diſobedience receiued a iuſt recompence of reward,

3 How ſhall we eſcape if we neglect ſo great ſaluation, [2] which at the firſt began to be preached

[1] Now as it were pauſing with himſelfe & ſhewing to what end and purpoſe all theſe things were ſpoken, to wit, to vnderſtand by the excellencie of Chriſt aboue all creatures, that his doctrine, maieſtie and Prieſthood is moſt perfect, he vſeth an exhortation taken from a compariſon.

[a] Hee maketh himſelfe an hearer.

[b] They are ſayde to let the worde runne out, which holde it not faſt when they haue heard it.

[c] The Law which appointed puniſhment for the offenders: and which Paul ſayth was giuen by Angels, Gal.3,19. and Steuen, Actes 7,53.

[2] If the breach and tranſgreſſion of the worde ſpoken by Angels was not ſuffered vnpuniſhed, much leſſe ſhall it be lawfull for vs to neglect the Goſpel which the Lord of Angels preached, and was confirmed by the voyce of the Apoſtles, and with ſo many ſignes and wonders from heauen, and eſpecially with ſo great and mightie working of the holy Ghoſt.

by the Lord, and afterward was confirmed vnto vs by [d] them that heard him.

4 ✤ God bearing witneſſe thereto, both with [e] ſignes and wonders, and with diuers miracles, and gifts of the holy Ghoſt, according to his owne will.

5 [3] For he hath not put in ſubiection vnto the Angels the [f] world to come, whereof we ſpeake.

6 [4] But ✤ one in a certaine place witneſſed, ſaying, [g] What is man, that thou ſhouldeſt be mindefull of him? or the [h] ſonne of man, that thou wouldeſt conſider him?

7 Thou [i] madeſt him a little inferiour to the Angels: thou crownedſt him with [k] glory and honour, and haſt ſet him aboue the workes of thine hands.

8 ✤ Thou haſt put all things in ſubiection vnder his feete. And in that he hath put all things in ſubiection vnder him, he left nothing that ſhould not be ſubiect vnto him. [5] But wee yet ſee not all things ſubdued vnto him,

9 [6] But wee [l] ſee Ieſus crowned with glory and honour, * which was made little [m] inferiour to the Angels, [7] through the [n] ſuffering of death, that by Gods grace he might [o] taſte death for [8] all men.

10 [9] For it became [p] him, for whom are all theſe things, and by whome are all theſe things, [10] ſeeing that hee brought many children vnto glory, [11] that he ſhould conſecrate the [p] Prince of their ſaluation through afflictions.

11 [12] For he that [r] ſanctifieth, and they which are ſanctified, are all of [ſ] one: wherefore he is not aſhamed to call them brethren, d By the Apoſtles.

e This is the true end of miracles. Now they are called ſignes, becauſe they appeare one thing, and repreſent another: and they are called wonders, becauſe they repreſent ſome ſtrange and vnaccuſtomed things, and vertues, becauſe they giue vs a glimſe of Gods mightie power.

3 If it were an hainous matter to contemne the Angels which are but ſeruants, much more hainous is it to contemne that moſt mightie King of the reſtored world.

f The worlde to come, whereof Chriſt is Father, Eſa. 9,6. or the Church, which as a new world, was to be gathered together by the Goſpell.

4 Hee ſheweth that the vſe of this kingly dignitie conſiſteth herein, that men might not onely Chriſt recouer that dignitie which they haue loſt, but alſo might be through him aduanced aboue all things, which dignitie of men Dauid deſcribeth moſt excellently.

✤ Pſal. 8,6.

g What is there in man that thou ſhouldeſt haue ſo great regard of him, and doe him that honour?

h He calleth all the citizens of that heauenly kingdome as they are conſidered in themſelues, before that God giueth them the libertie of that citie in Chriſt, Man, and Son of man.

i This is the firſt honour of the citizens of the world to come, that they are next the Angels.

k For they ſhall be in very great honour, when they ſhallbe partakers of the kingdome. And he ſpeaketh of the thing that ſhallbe, as though it were already, becauſe it is ſo certaine.

✤ 1. Corint. 15,27.

5 An obiection: But where is this ſo great rule and dominion?

6 The anſwere: This is already fulfilled in Ieſus Chriſt our head, who was for a time for our ſakes inferiour to the Angels, being made man: but nowe is aduanced into moſt high glory.

l By his vertue and power which appeareth manifeſtly in the Church.

* Phil. 2,8.

m Who abaſed himſelfe for a ſeaſon, and tooke vpon him the ſhape of a ſeruant.

7 Hee ſheweth the cauſe of this ſubiection, to wit, to taſte of death for our ſakes, that ſo doing the part of a redeemer, he might not onely be our Prophet and King, but alſo our high Prieſt.

n That hee might die.

o Feele death.

8 Herein conſiſteth the force of the argument: for wee coulde not at length be glorified with him, vnleſſe hee had bene abaſed for vs euen all the faithfull. And by this occaſion the Apoſtle commeth to the other part of the declaration of Chriſtes perſon, wherein hee prooueth him to be in ſuch ſort God, that hee is alſo man.

9 Hee prooueth moreouer by other arguments, why it behooueth the Sonne of God who is true God (as he prooueth a little before) to become man notwithſtanding, ſubiect to all miſeries, ſinne onely except.

p God.

10 Firſt of all, becauſe the Father, to whoſe glory all theſe things are to be referred, purpoſed to bring many ſonnes vnto glory. And howe could hee haue men for his ſonnes, vnleſſe his onely begotten Sonne had become brother to men?

11 Secondly, The Father determined to bring thoſe ſonnes to glory, to wit, out of that ignominie wherein they lay before. Therefore the Sonne ſhould not haue bene ſeene plainely to be made man, vnleſſe hee had bene made like vnto other men, that he might come to glory by the ſelfe ſame way, by the which he ſhould bring other: yea rather, it became him which was Prince of the ſaluation of other, to be conſecrated aboue other, through thoſe afflictions, Prophet, King, and Prieſt, which are the partes of that principalitie for the ſaluation of other.

q The Chieftaine, who as he is chiefeſt in dignitie, ſo is hee the firſt begotten from among the dead, amongſt many brethren.

12 The ground of both the former arguments: for neither ſhould wee be ſonnes through him, neither coulde he be conſecrate through afflictions, vnleſſe hee hath bene made man like vnto vs. But beſauſe this Sonnehoode dependeth not vpon nature onely, for no man is accompted the ſonne of God, vnleſſe that beſides that he is a ſonne of a man, he be alſo Chriſts brother (which is by ſanctification, that is, by becomming one with Chriſt, who ſanctifieth vs through faith) therefore the Apoſtle maketh mention of the ſanctifier, to wit, of Chriſt, and of them that are ſanctified, to wit, of all the faithfull, whom therefore Chriſt vouchſafeth to call brethren.

r He vſeth the time that now is, to ſhew vs that we are yet ſtill going on, and increaſing in this ſanctification, and by ſanctification he meaneth our ſeparation from the reſt of the world, our cleanſing from ſinne, and our dedication wholly vnto God, all which Chriſt alone worketh in vs.

ſ One, of one ſelfe ſame nature of man.

12 [13] Saying, ✤ I will declare thy Name vnto my brethren: in the middes of the Church will I ſing praiſes to thee.

13 [14] And againe, ✤ I will put my [t] truſt in him. And againe, * [u] Beholde, here am I, and the children which God hath giuen me.

14 Foraſmuch then as the children are [x] partakers of fleſh and blood, he alſo himſelfe likewiſe tooke part with them, that hee might deſtroy ✤ through death, him that had the [y] power of death, that is, the [z] deuill,

15 And that hee might deliuer all them, which for feare of [a] death were all their life time ſubiect to bondage.

16 [15] For he in no ſort tooke on him the [b] Angels nature, but hee tooke on him the [c] ſeede of Abraham.

17 [16] Wherefore in [d] all things it behoued him to be made like vnto his brethren, that he might be [e] mercifull, and a [f] faithfull hie Prieſt in things concerning God, that he might make reconciliation for the ſinnes of the people.

18 For in that he ſuffered, and was [g] tempted, he is able to ſuccour them that are tempted.

13 That which he taught before of the incarnation of the ſanctifier, he applieth to the propheticall office.

✤ Pſal. 22,25.

14 He applieth the ſame to the kingly power of Chriſt in deliuering his from the power of the deuill and death.

✤ Pſalme 18,2.

t I will commit my ſelfe to him, and to his defence.

* Eſai. 1,18.

u This Eſai ſpeaketh of himſelfe and his diſciples, but betokening thereby all miniſters, as alſo his diſciples ſignifie the whole Church. And therefore ſeeing Chriſt is the head of the Prophets and miniſters, theſe wordes are more rightly verified of him, then of Eſay.

x Are made of fleſh and blood which is a fraile and brittle nature.

* Hoſe. 13,14. 1. cor. 15,55.

y The deuill is ſayd to haue the power of death, becauſe he is the authour of ſinne: and from ſinne commeth death, and for this cauſe he eggeth vs dayly to ſinne.

z He ſpeaketh of one as of the Prince, ioyning to him ſecretly all his angels.

a By (death) thou muſt vnderſtand here that death which is ioyned with the wrath of God, as it muſt needes be, if it be without Chriſt, then the which there can be nothing deuiſed more miſerable.

15 Hee expoundeth thoſe words of fleſh and blood, ſhewing that Chriſt is true man, and that not by turning his diuine nature, but by taking of mans nature. And he nameth Abraham, reſpecting the promiſes made to Abraham in this behalfe.

b The nature of Angels.

c The very nature of man.

16 Hee applieth the ſame to the Prieſthood, for which he ſhould not haue benefit, vnleſſe he had become man, and that like vnto vs in all things, ſinne onely except.

d Not onely as touching nature, but qualities alſo, e That he might be truely touched with the feeling of our miſeries, f Doing his office ſincerely.

g Was tried and egged to wickedneſſe by the deuill.

CHAP. III.

1 Nowe he ſheweth howe farre inferiour Moſes is to Chriſt, 5,6 euen ſo much as the ſeruant to the Maſter: and ſo hee bringeth in certaine exhortations and threatnings taken out of Dauid, 8 againſt ſuch as either ſtubburnely reſiſt, 12 or els are very ſlowe to obey.

THerefore, [1] holy brethren, partakers of the heauenly vocation, conſider the [a] Apoſtle and high Prieſt of our [b] profeſſion Chriſt Ieſus:

2 [2] Who was faithfull to him that hath [c] appointed him, [3] euen as * Moſes was in all his houſe.

3 [4] For this man is counted worthy of more glory then Moſes, inaſmuch as he which had builded the houſe, hath more honour then the houſe.

4 For euery houſe is builded of ſome man, and he that hath built all things, is God.

5 [5] Now Moſes verely was faithfull in all his houſe, as a ſeruant, for a witneſſe of the things

1 Hauing layde the foundation, that is to ſay, declared and prooued both the natures of one ſelfe ſame Chriſt, he giueth him three offices, to wit, the office of a Prophet, king, and Prieſt: and as touching the office of teaching and gouerning, compareth them with Moſes and Ioſhua, vnto the 24. verſe of the next Chapter, and with Aaron touching the Prieſthood. And he propoundeth that which he purpoſeth to ſpeake of, with a moſt graue exhortation, that all our faith may tend to Chriſt, as to the onely euerlaſting teacher, gouernour, and high Prieſt.

a The Embaſſadour or meſſenger, as Rom. 1,5. he is called the miniſter of circumciſion, b Of the doctrine of the Goſpell which we profeſſe.

2 He confirmeth this exhortation with two reaſons, firſt of all becauſe Chriſt Ieſus was appointed ſuch an one of God: ſecondly, becauſe he throughly executed the offices that his Father enioyned him.

c Apoſtle and high Prieſt.

3 Now hee commeth to the compariſon with Moſes, and he maketh them like one to the other in this, that they were both appointed rulers ouer Gods houſe, and executed faithfully their office: but by and by after hee ſheweth that there is great vnlikelineſſe in that ſimilitude.

* Num. 12,7.

4 The firſt compariſon: The builder of the houſe is better then the houſe it ſelfe, therefore is Chriſt better then Moſes. The reaſon of the conſequent is this: becauſe the builder of this houſe is God, which cannot be attributed to Moſes: and therefore Moſes was not properly the builder, but a part of the houſe: but Chriſt as Lord and God, made all this houſe.

5 An other compariſon: Moſes was a faithfull ſeruant in this houſe, that is, in the Church, ſeeing the Lord that was to come, but Chriſt ruleth and gouerneth his houſe as Lord.

which ſhould be ſpoken after.

6 But Chriſt is as the Sonne, ouer his owne houſe, [6] whoſe [d] houſe we are, if we hold faſt that [e] confidence and that reioycing of that hope vnto the end.

7 Wherefore, as the holy Ghoſt ſaith, ♣ To day if ye [f] ſhall heare his voyce,

8 Harden not your hearts, as in the [g] prouocation, according to the day of the tentation in the wilderneſſe,

9 Where your fathers tempted me, prooued me, and ſaw my works fourtie yeeres long.

10 Wherefore I was grieued with that generation, and ſayd, They [h] erre euer in their heart, neither haue they knowen my wayes.

11 Therefore I ſware in my wrath, If they ſhall enter into my reſt.

12 [7] Take heed brethren, leaſt at any time there be in any of you an euill heart, and vnfaithfull, to depart away from the liuing God.

13 But exhort one another dayly, [i] while it is called to day, leaſt any of you be hardened through the deceitfulneſſe of ſinne.

14 [8] For we are made partakers of Chriſt, if we keepe ſure vnto the end that [k] beginning, wherewith we are vpholden, 15 [l] So long as it is ſayd, To day if ye heare his voyce, harden not your hearts, as in the prouocation.

16 For ſome when they heard, prouoked him to anger: howbeit, not all that came out of Egypt by Moſes.

17 But with whom was hee diſpleaſed fourtie yeeres? Was he not diſpleaſed with them that ſinned, § whoſe carkeiſes fell in the wilderneſſe?

18 And to whom ſware he that they ſhould not enter into his reſt, but vnto them that obeyed not?

19 So we ſee that they could not enter in, becauſe of vnbeliefe.

[6] He applieth the former doctrine to this end, exhorting all men by the words of Dauid to heare the Sonne himſelfe ſpeake, and to giue full credit to his wordes, ſeeing that otherwiſe they cannot enter into that eternall reſt.

[d] To wit, Chriſtes.

[e] He calleth that excellent effect of faith (whereby we crie, Abba, that is, Father) confidence, and to confidence he ioyneth hope.

♣ Pſal. 95, 8. chap. 4, 7.

[f] So that God was to ſpeake once againe after Moſes.

[g] In the day that they vexed the Lord, or ſtroue with him.

[h] They are brutiſh and madde.

[7] Now weying the words of Dauid, he ſheweth firſt by this word, To day that wee muſt not neglect the occaſion while we haue it: for that word is not to be reſtrained to Dauids time, but it comprehendeth all that time wherein God calleth vs.

[i] While to day laſteth, that is to ſay, ſo long as the Goſpel is offered to vs.

[8] Now he conſidereth theſe words, If you heare his voyce, &c. ſhewing that they are ſpoken and meant of the hearing of faith, againſt which he ſetteth hardening through vnbeliefe.

[k] That beginning of truſt and confidence: and after the maner of the Hebrewes, he calleth that beginning, which is chiefeſt.

[l] So long as this voyce ſoundeth out.

§ Num. 14, 37.

CHAP. IV.

1 He ioyneth exhortation with threatning, leſt they, euen as their fathers were be depriued of the reſt offered vnto them, 11 but that they endeuour to enter into it. 14 And ſo he beginneth to intreate of Chriſtes Prieſthood.

LEt vs feare therefore, leaſt at any time by forſaking the promiſe of entring into his reſt, any of you ſhould ſeeme to be depriued.

2 [1] For vnto vs was the Goſpel preached as alſo vnto them: but the word that they heard, profited not them, becauſe it was not [a] mixed with faith in thoſe that heard it.

3 [2] For wee which haue beleeued, doe enter into reſt, as he ſaid to the other, ♣ As I haue ſworne in my wrath, If they ſhall enter into any reſt: although the workes were finiſhed from the foundation of the world.

4 For hee ſpake in a certaine place of the ſeuenth day on this wiſe, § And God did reſt the ſeuenth day from all his workes.

5 And in this place againe, If they ſhall enter into my reſt.

6 Seeing therefore it remaineth that ſome muſt enter thereinto, and they to whom it was firſt preached, entred not therein for vnbeliefs ſake:

7 Againe hee appoynted in Dauid a certaine day, by To day, after ſo long a time, ſaying, as it is ſaid, * This day, if yee heare his voyce, harden not your hearts.

8 For if [b] Ieſus had giuen them reſt, then would he not after this haue ſpoken of another day, 9 There remaineth therefore a reſt to the people of God.

10 [c] For he that is entred into his reſt, hath alſo ceaſed from his owne works, as God did from his.

11 [3] Let vs ſtudie therefore to enter into that reſt, leaſt [d] any man fall after the ſame enſample of diſobedience.

12 [4] For the [e] word of God is [f] liuely, and mightie in operation; and ſharper then any two edged ſword, and entreth thorow, euen vnto the diuiding aſunder of the [g] ſoule and the [h] ſpirit, and of the ioynts, and the marrow, and is a diſcerner of the thoughts, and the intents of the heart.

13 Neither is there any creature, which is not manifeſt in [i] his ſight: but all things are naked and open vnto his eyes, with whom we haue to doe.

14 [5] Seeing then that we haue a great hie Prieſt, which is entred into heauen, euen Ieſus the Sonne of God, let vs [k] holde faſt our profeſſion.

15 [6] For we haue not an high Prieſt, which can not be touched with the feeling of our infirmities, but was in all things tempted in like ſort, yet without ſinne.

16 Let vs therefore goe boldly vnto the throne of grace, that we may receiue mercie, and finde grace to helpe in time of neede.

[1] By theſe words, His voyce, he ſheweth that Dauid meant the preaching of Chriſt, who was then alſo preached, for Moſes and the Prophets reſpected none other.

[a] He compareth the preaching of the Goſpel to drinke, which being drunke, that is to ſay, heard, profiteth nothing, vnleſſe it be tempered with faith.

[2] Leaſt any man ſhould obiect, that thoſe words were meant of the Land of Canaan, and of Moſes doctrine, and therefore cannot well be drawen to Chriſt, and to eternall life, the Apoſtle ſheweth that there are two maner of reſts ſpoken of in the Scriptures: the one, of the ſeuenth day, wherein God is ſayd to haue reſted from all his works: another is ſaid to be that ſame, whereinto Ioſhua led the people: but this reſt is not the laſt reſt whereunto we are called and that he prooueth by two reaſons. For ſeeing that Dauid ſo long time after, ſpeaking to the people which were then placed in the land of Canaan, vſeth theſe words, To day, and threatneth them ſtill that they ſhall not enter into the reſt of God, which refuſeth then the voyce of God that ſounded in their eares, we muſt needs ſay that he meant another time then the time of Moſes, and another reſt then the reſt of the land of Canaan: And that is, that euerlaſting reſt, wherein we begin to liue to God, after that the race of this life ceaſeth: as God reſteth the ſeuenth day from thoſe his workes, that is to ſay, from making the world. Moreouer, the Apoſtle therewithall ſignifieth that the way to this reſt, which Moſes and the land of Canaan and all that order of the Law did ſhadow, is opened in the Goſpel onely.

♣ Pſal. 95, 11.

§ Gene. 2, 2. deut. 5, 14.

* Chap. 3, 7.

[b] He ſpeaketh of Ioſhua the ſonne of Nun: and as the land of Canaan was a figure of our true reſt, ſo was Ioſhua a figure of Chriſt.

[c] As God reſted the ſeuenth day, ſo muſt we reſt from our workes, that is, from ſuch as proceede from our corrupt nature.

[3] He returneth to an exhortation.

[d] Leaſt any man become a like example of infidelitie.

[4] An amplification taken from the nature of the word of God, the power whereof is ſuch, that it entreth euen to the deepeſt and moſt inward and ſecret parts of the heart, wounding them deadly that are ſtubburne, & plainely quickening the beleeuers.

[e] The doctrine of God which is preached both in the Law and in the Goſpel.

[f] He calleth the word of God liuely by reaſon of the effects it worketh in them, to whom it is preached.

[g] He calleth that the ſoule, which hath the affections reſident in it.

[h] By the ſpirit, he meaneth that nobleſt part which is called the minde.

[i] In Gods ſight.

[5] Now hee entreth into the compariſon of Chriſtes Prieſthoode with Aarons, and declareth euen in the very beginning the marueilous excellencie of this Prieſthood, calling him the Sonne of God and placing him in the ſeat of God in heauen, plainely and euidently ſetting him againſt Aarons Prieſts, and the tranſitorie tabernacle: which compariſons he ſetteth foorth afterward more at large.

[k] And let it not goe out of your hands.

[6] Leaſt he might ſeeme by this great glory of our high Prieſt, to ſtay and ſtoppe vs from going vnto him, he addeth ſtraight wayes after, that he is notwithſtanding our brother in deede, (as hee prooued it alſo before) and that hee accounteth all our miſeries, his owne, to call vs boldly to him.

CHAP. V.

1 Firſt he ſheweth the duetie of the hie Prieſt: 5 Secondly, that Chriſt is appointed of God to be our hie Prieſt, 7 and that he hath fulfilled all things belonging thereunto.

out of the way, becauſe that he alſo is [e] compaſſed with infirmitie,

3 And for the ſames ſake he is bound to offer for ſinnes, aſwel for his owne part, as for y peoples.

4 ✤ 3 And no man taketh this honor vnto himſelfe, but he that is called of God, as vvas Aaron.

5 So likewiſe Chriſt tooke not to himſelfe this honour to be made the hie Prieſt, but he that ſayd vnto him, § Thou art my ſonne, this day begate I thee, gaue it him.

6 As he alſo in another place ſpeaketh, * Thou art a Prieſt for euer after yͤ [f] order of Melchi-ſedec.

8 And though he were the Sonne, yet [i] learned he obedience, by the things which he ſuffered.

9 5 And being [k] conſecrate, was made the authour of eternall ſaluation vnto all them that obey him:

10 And is called of God an high Prieſt after the order of Melchi-ſedec.

11 6 Of whom wee haue many things to ſay, which are hard to be vttered, becauſe yee are dull of hearing.

12 7 For when as concerning the time ye ought to be teachers, yet haue ye neede againe that wee teach you what are the firſt principles of the word of God: and are become ſuch as haue neede of milke, and not of ſtrong meate.

13 For euery one that vſeth milke, is inexpert in the [l] word of righteouſneſſe: for he is a babe.

14 But ſtrong meate belongeth to them that are of age, which through long cuſtome haue their [m] wits exerciſed, to diſcerne both good and euill.

4 The other part of the ſecond compariſon: Chriſt being exceedingly afflicted, and exceedingly mercifull, asked not for his ſinnes, for he had none, but for his feare, and obteined his requeſt, and offered himſelfe for all his.

[g] While he liued here with vs, in our weake and fraile nature.

[h] To deliuer him from death.

[i] He learned indeed what it is to haue a Father, whom a man muſt obey.

5 The other part of the firſt compariſon: But Chriſt was conſecrate of God the Father as the authour of our ſaluation, and an hie Prieſt for euer, and therefore he is ſo a man that notwithſtanding he is far aboue all men.

[k] Looke chap.2,10.

6 A digreſſion, vntill he come to the beginning of the ſeuenth chapter: wherein hee partly holdeth the Hebrewes in the diligent conſideration of thoſe things which he hath ſayd, and partly prepareth them to the vnderſtanding of thoſe things whereof he will ſpeake.

7 An example of an Apoſtolike chiding.

[m] All their power whereby they vnderſtand and iudge.

CHAP. VI.

1 He briefly toucheth the childiſh ſlouthfulneſſe of the Hebrewes,
4 and terrifieth them with ſeuere threatnings: 7 He ſtirreth them vp to endeuour in time to go forward: 9 He hopeth well of them. 13 He alledgeth Abrahams example:
17 and compareth faith that taketh holde on the word,
19 vnto an ancre.

THerefore, leauing the doctrine of the [a] beginning of Chriſt, let vs be led forward vnto perfection, 1 not laying againe yͤ foundation of repentance from dead works, and of faith toward God,

2 Of the doctrine of baptiſmes, and laying on of handes, and of the reſurrection from the dead, and of eternall iudgement.

3 And this will we doe if God permit.

4 2 ※ For it is [b] impoſſible that they which were once lightened, and haue [c] taſted of the heauenly gift, and were made partakers of the holy Ghoſt,

5 And haue taſted of the good word of God, and of the powers of the world to come,

6 If they fall away, ſhould be renued againe by repentance: ſeeing they [d] crucifie againe to themſelues the Sonne of God, & make a mocke of him.

7 3 For the earth which drinketh in the raine that commeth oft vpon it, and bringeth forth herbs meete for them by whom it is dreſſed, receiueth bleſſing of God.

8 But that which beareth thornes and briars, is reprooued, and is neere vnto curſing, whoſe end is to be burned.

9 4 But beloued, we haue perſwaded our ſelues better things of you, and ſuch as accompany ſaluation, though we thus ſpeake.

10 5 For God is not vnrighteous, that he ſhould forget your worke, and labour of loue, which yee ſhewed toward his Name, in that ye haue miniſtred vnto the Saints, and yet miniſter.

11 And wee deſire that euery one of you ſhew the ſame diligence, to the full aſſurance of hope vnto the end,

12 6 That ye be not ſlouthfull, but followers of them, which through faith and patience, inherit the promiſes.

13 7 For when God made the promiſe to Abraham, becauſe he had no greater to ſweare by, hee ſware by himſelfe, 14 Saying, ✤ Surely I will [e] abundantly bleſſe thee, and multiply thee marueilouſly.

15 And ſo after that he had taried patiently, he enioyed the promiſe.

16 For men verely ſweare by him that is greater then themſelues, and an oathe for confirmation is among them an end of all ſtrife.

17 So God, willing more [f] abundantly to ſhew vnto the heires of promiſe the ſtableneſſe of his counſell, bound himſelfe by an oathe,

18 That by two immutable things, wherein it is vnpoſſible that God ſhould lie, wee might haue ſtrong conſolation, which haue our refuge to lay holde vpon that hope that is ſet before vs,

19 8 Which hope wee haue, as an ancre of the ſoule, but ſure and ſtedfaſt, and it entreth into that which is within the vaile.

20 9 Whither the forerunner is for vs entred in, euen Ieſus that is made an hie Prieſt for euer after the order of Melchi-ſedec.

[a] The firſt principles of Chriſtian religion, which we cal the Catechiſme.

1 Certaine principles of a Catechiſme, which comprehend the ſumme of the doctrine of the Goſpel, were giuen in fewe words and briefly to the rude and ignorant, to wit, the profeſſion of repentance and faith in God: the articles of which doctrine, were demanded of them which were not as yet receiued members of the Church, at the dayes appoynted for Baptiſme: and of the children of the faithfull which were baptized in their infancie, when handes were layed vpon them. And of thoſe articles, two are by name recited: the reſurrection of the fleſh, and the eternall iudgement.

7 He addeth a vehemencie to his exhortation, and a moſt ſharpe threatning of the certaine deſtruction that ſhall come to them which fall from God and his religion.

※ Chapter 10,26. matth.12,45. 2.pet.2 10.

[b] He ſpeaketh of a generall backſliding, and ſuch as doe altogether fall away from the faith, and not of ſinnes which are committed through the frailtie of man againſt the firſt and the ſecond table.

[c] We muſt marke the force of this worde, for it is one thing to beleeue as Lydia did, whoſe heart God opened, Acts 16,23. and another thing to haue ſome taſte.

[d] As men that hate Chriſt, and as though they crucified him againe make him a mocking ſtocke to all the world, and that to their owne deſtruction, as Iulian the Apoſtata or backſlider did.

3 He ſetteth foorth the former threatning with a ſimilitude.

4 Hee mitigateth and aſſwageth all that ſharpneſſe, hoping better of them to whom he writeth.

5 He praiſeth them for their charitie, thereby encouraging them to goe forward, and to holde out to the end.

6 Hee ſheweth what vertues chiefly they haue neede of to goe forward conſtantly, and alſo to profit: to wit, of charitie, and patience: and leaſt any man ſhould obiect and ſay, that theſe things are impoſſible to be done, he willeth them to ſet before themſelues the examples of their anceſters, and to follow them.

7 Another pricke to pricke them forward: Becauſe the hope of the inheritance is certaine, if we continue to the end, for God hath not only promiſed it, but alſo promiſed it with an oathe.

✤ Gene.12,2. and 17,1. and 22,17.

[e] I will heape vp benefits moſt plentifully vpon thee.

[f] More then was needeful, were it not for the wickedneſſe of men which beleeue not God, no though he ſweare.

8 He likeneth hope to an ancre: becauſe that euen as an ancre being caſt into the bottome of the ſea, ſtayeth the whole ſhip, ſo doeth hope alſo enter euen into the very ſecret places of heauen. And he maketh mention of the Sanctuary, alluding to the old tabernacle, and by this meanes returneth to the compariſons of the Prieſthood of Chriſt with the Leuiticall.

9 Hee repeateth Dauids wordes, wherein all thoſe compariſons whereof he hath before made mention, are ſignified, as he declareth in all the next chapter.

CHAP. VII.

1 He hath hitherto ſtirred them vp, to marke diligently what things are to be conſidered in Melchi-ſedec, 15 wherein he is like vnto Chriſt. 20 Wherefore the Law ſhould giue place to the Goſpel.

FOr this 1 Melchi-ſedec § vvas King of Salem, the Prieſt of the moſt high God, who met Abraham, as he returned from the ſlaughter of the Kings, and [a] bleſſed him:

2 To whom alſo Abraham gaue the tithe of all things: who firſt is by interpretation King of righteouſneſſe: after that, he is alſo King of Salem, that is, King of peace,

1 Declaring thoſe words, According to the order of Melchi-ſec, whereupon that compariſon ſtandeth of the Prieſthood of Chriſt with the Leuiticall: firſt Melchiſedec himſelfe is conſidered as the figure of Chriſt, and theſe are the handes of that compariſon, Melchiſedec was a King and a Prieſt: and ſuch an one in deede is Chriſt alone. He was a King of peace and righteouſneſſe: ſuch an one in deed is Chriſt alone.

§ Gene.14,18.

[a] With a ſolemne and Prieſtly bleſſing.

3 a Without

3 [a] Without father, without mother, without kinred, and hath neither beginning of his dayes, neither end of life: but is likened vnto the Sonne of God, and continueth a Prieſt for euer.

4 [3] Nowe conſider how great this man vvas, vnto whom euen the Patriarke Abraham gaue the tithe of the ſpoiles.

5 For verely they which are the children of Leui, which receiue the office of the Prieſthood, haue a ♣ commandement to take, according to the Law, tithes of the people (that is, of their brethren) though they [b] came out of the loynes of Abraham.

6 But hee whoſe kinred is not counted among them, receiued tithes of Abraham, and bleſſed him that had the promiſes.

7 And [c] without all contradiction the leſſe is bleſſed of the greater.

8 And here men that die, receiue tithes: but there he receiueth them, of whom it is witneſſed, that he liueth.

9 [4] And to ſay as the thing is, Leui alſo which receiueth tithes, payeth tithes in Abraham.

10 For hee was yet in the loines of his father Abraham, when Melchiſedec met him.

11 [5] If therefore [d] perfection had bene by the Prieſthood of the Leuites (for vnder it the Lawe was eſtabliſhed to the people) what needed it furthermore, that another Prieſt ſhould riſe after the order of Melchiſedec, and not to be called after the order of Aaron?

12 [6] For if the Prieſthood be changed, then of neceſſitie muſt there be a change of the [e] Law.

13 For hee of whom theſe things are ſpoken, pertaineth vnto another tribe, whereof no man [f] ſerued at the altar.

14 For it is euident, that our Lord ſprung out of Iuda, concerning the which tribe Moſes ſpake nothing, touching the Prieſthood

15 [7] And it is yet a more euident thing, becauſe that after the ſimilitude of Melchiſedec there is riſen vp another Prieſt, 16 [8] Which is not made Prieſt after the [g] Law of the carnall commandement, but after the power of the endleſſe life.

17 For hee teſtifieth thus, ♣ Thou art a Prieſt for euer, after the order of Melchiſedec.

[2] An other figure: Melchiſedec ſet before vs to be conſidered as one without beginning and without ending, for neither his father, nor his mother, nor his anceſters, nor his death are written of: and ſuch an one indeede is the Sonne of God, to wit, an euerlaſting Prieſt: as hee is God, without mother wonderfully begotten: as he is man, without father wonderfully conceiued.

[3] An other figure: Melchiſedec in conſideration of his Prieſthood was aboue Abraham, for hee tooke tenths of him, and bleſſed him as a Prieſt: Such an one in deed is Chriſt, vpon whom dependeth euen Abrahams ſanctification, and all the beleeuers, and whom all men ought to worſhip and reuerence as the authour of all.

♣ Num. 18,21.

[b] Were begotten of Abraham.

[c] He ſpeaketh of the publike bleſſing which the Prieſts vſed.

[4] A double amplification: The firſt, that Melchiſedec tooke the tenthes, as one immortall (to wit, in reſpect, that he is the figure of Chriſt, for his death is in no place made mention of, and Dauid ſetteth him foorth as an euerlaſting Prieſt) but the Leuiticall Prieſts, as mortall men, for they ſucceede one another: the ſecond, that Leui himſelfe was tithed in Abraham by Melchi-ſedec. Therefore the Prieſthood of Melchi-ſedec (that is, Chriſtes who is prononnced to be an euerlaſting Prieſt according to his order) is more excellent then the Leuiticall. [5] The third treatiſe of this Epiſtle, wherein after hee hath prooued Chriſt to be a King, a Prophet, and a Prieſt, hee now handleth diſtinctly the condition and excellencie of all theſe offices, ſhewing that all theſe were but ſhadowes in all other, but in Chriſt they are true and perfect. And hee beginneth with the Prieſthoode, where with alſo the former treatiſe ended, that by this meanes all the parts and members of this diſputation, may better hang together. And firſt of all hee prooueth that the Leuiticall Prieſthood was imperfect, becauſe another Prieſt is promiſed a long time after according to another order, that is to ſay, of another maner of rule and faſhion. [d] If the Prieſthood of Leui could haue made any man perfite. [6] Hee ſheweth how that by the inſtitution of the new Prieſthood, not onely the imperfection of the Prieſthood of Leui was declared, but alſo that it was changed for this: for theſe two cannot ſtand together, becauſe that firſt appointment of the tribe of Leui, did ſhut foorth the tribe of Iuda, and made it alſo inferiour to Leui: and this latter doeth place the Prieſthood in the tribe of Iuda.

[e] Of the inſtitution of Aaron. [f] Had any thing to doe about the altar. [7] Leaſt any man might obiect, that the Prieſthood indeed was tranſlated from Leui to Iuda, but yet notwithſtanding the ſame remaineth ſtill, hee both weigheth and expoundeth theſe wordes of Dauid, for euer, according to the order of Melchi-ſedec, whereby alſo diuers inſtitution of Prieſthood is well perceiued. [8] He prooueth the diuerſitie and excellencie of the inſtitution of Melchi-ſedecs Prieſthood, by this, that the Prieſthood of the Law did ſtand vpon the outward and bodily anointing: but the ſacrifice of Melchi-ſedec is ſet out to be euerlaſting and more ſpirituall. [g] Not after the ordination, which commandeth fraile and tranſitorie things, as was done in Aarons conſecration, and all that whole Prieſthood. ♣ Pſalme 110,4. chap. 5,6

18 [9] For the [h] commandement that went afore, is diſanulled, becauſe of the weakneſſe thereof, and vnprofitableneſſe.

19 For the Law made nothing perfite, but the bringing in of a better hope made perfite, whereby we draw neere vnto God.

20 [10] And foraſmuch as it is not without an oathe (for theſe are made Prieſts without an oathe:

21 But this is made with an oathe by him that ſayd vnto him, ♣ The Lord hath ſworne, and will not repent, Thou art a Prieſt for euer, after the order of Melchi-ſedec.)

22 By ſo much is Ieſus made a ſuerty of a better Teſtament.

23 [11] And among them many were made Prieſts, becauſe they were not ſuffered to endure, by the reaſon of death.

24 But this man, becauſe hee endureth euer, hath a Prieſthood, which [i] cannot paſſe from one to another.

25 Wherefore, hee is [k] able alſo perfectly to ſaue them that come vnto God by him, ſeeing hee euer liueth to make interceſſion for them.

26 [12] For ſuch an hie Prieſt it became vs to haue, which is holy, harmeleſſe, vndefiled, ſeparate from ſinners, and made higher then the heauens:

27 Which needeth not dayly as thoſe hie Prieſts to offer vp ſacrifice, ♣ firſt for his owne ſinnes, and then for the peoples: [13] for [l] that did hee [m] once, when he offered vp himſelfe.

28 For the Law maketh men hie Prieſts, which haue infirmitie: but the [n] word of the oathe [14] that [o] was ſince the Lawe, maketh the Sonne, who is conſecrated for euermore.

[9] Againe, that no man might obiect that the laſt Prieſthood was added to make a perfite one, by the coupling of them both together, hee prooueth that the firſt was abrogated by the latter, as vnprofitable, and that by the nature of them both. For how could thoſe corporall and tranſitorie things ſanctifie vs, either of themſelues, or being ioyned with another?

[h] The ceremoniall lawe.

[10] Another argument whereby hee prooueth that the Prieſthoode of Chriſt is better then the Prieſthood of Leui, becauſe it was eſtabliſhed with an oathe, but theirs was not ſo.

♣ Pſal. 110,4.

[11] An other argument tending to the ſame purpoſe. The Leuiticall Prieſts (as mortall men) could not be euerlaſting, but Chriſt as he is euerlaſting, ſo hath he alſo an euerlaſting Prieſthood making moſt effectuall interceſſion for them which by him come vnto God. [i] Which cannot paſſe away. [k] Hee is fit and meet. [12] An other argument: There are required in an hie Prieſt innocencie, and perfect pureneſſe, which may ſeperate him from ſinners for whom hee offereth. But the Leuiticall hie Prieſtes ſhall not be found to be ſuch, for they offer firſt for their owne ſinnes: But Chriſt onely is ſuch a one; and therefore the true and onely hie Prieſt. ♣ Leuiticus 16,11. [13] An other argument which notwithſtanding hee handleth afterward: The Leuiticall Prieſtes offered ſacrifice after ſacrifice, firſt for themſelues, and then for the people. But Chriſt offered not for himſelfe, but for other, not ſacrifices, but himſelfe, not oftentimes, but once. And this ought not to ſeeme ſtrange; ſayth he, forſomuch as they are weake, but this man is conſecrated an euerlaſting Prieſt, and that by an oathe. [l] That ſacrifice which hee offered. [m] It was ſo done, that it needeth not to be repeated or offered againe any more. [n] The commandement of God which was bound with an oathe. [14] An other argument taken of the time: former things are taken away by the latter. [o] Exhibited.

CHAP. VIII.

1 To prooue more certainely that the ceremonies of the Law are abrogated, 5 hee ſheweth that they were appointed to ſerue the heauenly paterne. 8 He bringeth in the place of Ieremie, 15 to prooue the amendment of the olde couenant.

Nowe [1] of the things which wee haue ſpoken, this is the ſumme, that wee haue ſuch an high Prieſt, that ſitteth at the right hand of the throne of the Maieſtie in heauens,

2 [2] And is a miniſter of the [a] Sanctuary, [3] and of that [b] true Tabernacle which the Lord pight, and not man.

3 [4] For euery high Prieſt is ordeined to offer both gifts and ſacrifices: wherefore it was of neceſſitie, that this man ſhould haue ſomewhat alſo to offer.

[1] Hee briefly repeateth that, whereunto all theſe things are to be referred, to wit, that wee haue a farre other high Prieſt then thoſe Leuiticall high Prieſts are, euen ſuch an one as ſitteth at the right hand of the moſt high God in heauen.

[2] They of Leui were high Prieſtes in an earthly ſanctuary, but Chriſt is in the heauenly. [a] Of heauen. [3] They of Leui exerciſed their Prieſthood in a fraile tabernacle, but Chriſt beareth about with him a farre other tabernacle; to wit, his body which God himſelfe made to be euerlaſting, as it ſhall afterward be declared, chap. 9,11. [b] Of his bodie. [4] He bringeth a reaſon why it muſt needes be that Chriſt ſhould haue a bodie (which he calleth a tabernacle which the Lord pight and not man) to wit, that he might haue what to offer: for otherwiſe he could not be an high Prieſt. And the ſelfeſame body is both the tabernacle and the ſacrifice.

4 [5] For he were not a Prieſt, if he were on the earth, ſeeing there are Prieſtes that according to the Law offer gifts,

5 Who ſerue vnto the paterne and ſhadowe of heauenly things, as Moſes was warned by God when he was about to finiſh the Tabernacle, ✣ See, ſayd he, that thou make all things according to the paterne, ſhewed to thee in the mount.

6 [6] But now our hie Prieſt hath obtained a more excellent office, in as much as he is the Mediatour of a better Teſtament, which is eſtabliſhed vpon better promiſes.

7 [7] For if that firſt Teſtament had bene vnblameable, no place ſhould haue bene ſought for the ſecond.

8 For in rebuking them hee ſaith, ♣ Beholde, the dayes will come, ſaith the Lord, when I ſhall make with [c] the houſe of Iſrael, and with the houſe of Iuda a new Teſtament:

9 Not like the Teſtament that I made with their fathers, in the day that I tooke them by the hand, to leade them out of the land of Egypt: for they continued not in my Teſtament, and I regarded them not, ſaith the Lord.

10 For this is the Teſtament that I will make with the houſe of Iſrael, After thoſe dayes, ſayth the Lord, I will put my Lawes in their minde, and in their heart I will write them, and I will be their God, and they ſhall be my people.

11 And they ſhall not teach euery man his neighbour, and euery man his brother, ſaying, Know the Lord: for all ſhall know me, from the leaſt of them to the greateſt of them.

12 For I will be mercifull to their vnrighteouſneſſe, and I will remember their ſinnes and their iniquities no more.

13 [8] In that he ſaith a new Teſtament, he hath abrogate the olde: nowe that which is diſanulled and waxed old, is ready to vaniſh away.

5 Hee giueth a reaſon why he ſaid that our hie Prieſt is in the heauenly ſanctuary and not in the earthly: becauſe, ſaith he, if he were now on the earth, hee could not miniſter in the earthly ſanctuarie, ſeeing there are yet Leuiticall Prieſtes, which are appointed for him, that is to ſay, to be paternes of that perfite example. And to what purpoſe ſhould the paternes ſerue when the true and originall example is preſent.

✣ Exod. 25,40. actes 7,44.

6 He entreth into the compariſon of the olde and tranſitorie Teſtament or couenant being but for a time, whereof the Leuiticall Prieſtes were mediatours, with the new the euerlaſting Mediatour whereof is Chriſt, to ſhew that this is not onely better then that in all reſpects, but alſo that that was abrogated by this.

7 He prooueth by the teſtimonie of Ieremie, that there is a ſecond Teſtament or couenant, and therefore that the firſt was not perfite.

♣ Iere. 31,31,32,33,34. rom. 11,17. chap. 10,16.

c He calleth it an houſe, as it were one familie of the whole kingdome: for whereas the kingdome of Dauid was diuided into two factions, the Prophet giueth vs to vnderſtand that through the new Teſtament they ſhalbe ioyned together againe in one.

8 The concluſion: Therefore by the latter and the new, the firſt and olde is taken away, for it could not be called new if it differed not from the old. And againe that ſame is at length taken away: which is ſubiect to corruption, and therefore imperfect.

CHAP. IX.

1 Comparing the forme of the Tabernacle, 10 and the ceremonies of the Law, 11 vnto the trueth ſet out in Chriſt, 25 he concludeth that now there is no more neede of an other Prieſt, 24 becauſe Chriſt himſelfe had fulfilled theſe duetie vnder the newe couenant.

THen [1] the firſt Teſtament had alſo ordinances of religion, and a [a] worldly Sanctuary,

2 For the firſt Tabernacle was made, wherein was the candleſticke, and the table, and the ſhewbread, which Tabernacle is called the Holy places.

3 And after the [b] ſecond vaile vvas the Tabernacle, which is called the [c] Holieſt of all,

4 Which had the golden cenſer, and the Arke of the Teſtament ouerlaid round about with gold, wherein the golden pot, which had Manna, vvas, & * Aarons rod that had budded, and the ✤ tables of the Teſtament.

5 ✲ And ouer the Arke were the glorious Cherubims, ſhadowing the [d] mercie ſeate: of which things we will not now ſpeake particularly.

1 A diuiſion of the firſt Tabernacle which hee calleth worldly, that is to ſay, tranſitorie and earthly into two parts, to wit, into the holy places and the Holieſt of all.

a An earthly and a flitting.

b He calleth it the ſecond vaile, not becauſe there were two vailes, but becauſe it was behinde the Sanctuarie or the firſt Tabernacle.

c The holieſt Sanctuary. * Num. 7,10. ✤ 1. King. 8,9. 2. chron. 5,10. ✲ Exo. 25,22. d The Hebrewes call the couer of the Arke of the couenant, the mercie ſeate, whom both the Grecian and we follow.

6 [2] Now when theſe things were thus ordeined, the Prieſt went alwayes into the firſt Tabernacle, and accompliſhed the ſeruice.

7 But into the ſecond went the ✣ hie Prieſt alone, once euery yeere, not without blood which he offered for himſelfe, and for the [e] ignorances of the people.

8 [3] Whereby the holy Ghoſt this ſignified, that the way into the Holieſt of all was not yet opened, while as yet the firſt tabernacle was ſtanding,

9 [4] Which was a figure [f] for that preſent time, wherein were offered gifts and ſacrifices that could not make holy, concerning the conſcience, him that did the ſeruice,

10 [5] Which only ſtood in meates and drinkes, and diuers waſhings, and carnall rites, [g] which were enioyned, vntill the time of reformation.

11 [6] But Chriſt being come an high Prieſt of good things to come, [7] by a [h] greater and a more perfect Tabernacle, not made with handes, that is, not of this building, 12 [8] Neither by the blood of [i] goates and calues: but by his owne blood entred hee in once vnto the holy place, and obteined eternall redemption for vs.

13 ♣ [9] For if the blood of bulles and of goats, and the aſhes of an heifer, ſprinkling them that are vncleane, ſanctifieth as touching the [k] purifying of the fleſh,

14 How much more ſhall the * blood of Chriſt which through the eternall Spirit offered himſelfe without fault to God, ✤ purge your conſcience from [l] dead workes, to ſerue the liuing God?

15 [10] And for this cauſe is he the Mediatour of

2 Now he commeth to the ſacrifices which he diuideth into thoſe dayly ſacrifices, and that yeerely and ſolemne ſacrifice, with the which the high Prieſt onely, but once euery yeere entring into the Holieſt of all with blood, offered for himſelfe and the people.

✣ Exod. 30,10. leuit. 16,2.

e For the ſinnes. Looke Chap. 5,2.

3 Of that yeerely rite and ceremonie he gathereth that the way was not by ſuch ſacrifices opened into heauen, which was ſhadowed by the Holieſt of all: For why did the hie Prieſt alone enter in thither, ſhutting out all other, and that to offer ſacrifices there both for himſelfe and for others, and after did ſhut the Holieſt of all againe?

4 An obiection: If the way were not opened into heauen by thoſe ſacrifices (that is to ſay, If the worſhippers were not purged by them) why then were thoſe ceremonies vſed? to wit, that men might be called backe to that ſpirituall example, that is to ſay, to Chriſt, who ſhould correct all thoſe things at his comming. f For that time that that figure had to laſt. 5 An other reaſon why they could not make cleane the conſcience of the worſhipper, to wit, becauſe they were outward and carnall or corporall things. g For they were as you would ſay a burden, from which Chriſt deliuered vs. 6 Nowe hee entreth into the declaration of the figures, and firſt of all comparing the Leuiticall high Prieſt with Chriſt, (that is to ſay, the figure with the thing it ſelfe) hee attributeth to Chriſt the adminiſtration of good things to come, that is, euerlaſting, which thoſe carnall things had reſpect vnto. 7 An other compariſon of the firſt corruptible Tabernacle with the latter (that is to ſay, with the humane nature of Chriſt) which is the true incorruptible Temple of God, whereinto the Sonne of GOD entred, as the Leuiticall high Prieſtes into the other which was fraile and tranſitorie. h By a more excellent and better. 8 An other compariſon of the blood of ſacrifices with Chriſt. The Leuiticall high Prieſtes entring by thoſe their holy places into their Sanctuary, offered corruptible blood for one yeere onely: but Chriſt entring into that holy bodie of his, entred by it into heauen it ſelfe, offering his owne moſt pure blood for an euerlaſting redemption: For one ſelfe ſame Chriſt anſwereth both to the hie Prieſt, and the Tabernacle, and the ſacrifices, and the offering themſelues, as the trueth to the figures, ſo that Chriſt is both the high Prieſt, and Tabernacle, and Sacrifice, yea, all theſe both truely, and for euer. i For in this yeerely ſacrifice of reconciliation, there were two kindes of ſacrifices, the one a goate, the other a heifer, or calfe. ♣ Leuiticus 16,14. numbers 19,4. 9 If the outward ſprinkling of blood and aſhes of beaſtes, was a true and effectuall ſigne of purifying and cleanſing, how much more ſhall the thing it ſelfe and the trueth being preſent, which in times paſt was ſhadowed by thoſe externall Sacraments, that is to ſay, his blood which is in ſuch ſort mans blood, that it is alſo the blood of the Sonne of God, and therefore hath an euerlaſting vertue of purifying and cleanſing, do it? k Hee conſidereth the ſignes apart, being ſeparate from the thing it ſelfe. * 1. Pet. 1,19. 1. Iohn 1,7. reuelation 1,5. ✤ Luke 1,74. l From ſinnes which proceede from death, and bring foorth nothing but death. 10 The concluſion of the former argument: therefore ſeeing the blood of beaſtes did not purge ſinnes, the new Teſtament which was before time promiſed, whereunto thoſe outward things had reſpect, is now indeede eſtabliſhed, by the vertue whereof all tranſgreſſions might be taken away, and heauen indeede opened vnto vs: whereof it followeth that Chriſt ſhed his blood alſo for the Fathers: For hee was ſhadowed by thoſe olde ceremonies, otherwiſe, vnleſſe they had ſerued to repreſent him, they had bene nothing at all profitable. Therefore this Teſtament is called the latter, not as concerning the vertue of it, (that is to ſay, remiſſion of ſinnes) but in reſpect of that time, wherein the thing it ſelfe was finiſhed, that is to ſay, wherein Chriſt was indeede exhibited to the worlde, and fulfilled all things which were neceſſary to our ſaluation.

the newe Teſtament, that through ✤ death which was for the redemption of the tranſgreſſions that vvere in the former Teſtament, they which were called, might receiue the promiſe of eternall inheritance.

16 [11] For where a Teſtament is, there muſt be the death of him that made the Teſtament.

17 ✤ For the Teſtament is confirmed when men are dead: for it is yet of no force as long as he that made it, is aliue.

18 [12] Wherefore, neither was the firſt ordeined without blood.

19 For when Moſes had ſpoken euery precept to the people, [m] according to the Law, he tooke the blood of calues and of goates, with water and purple wooll and hyſſope, and [n] ſprinkled both the booke, and all the people, 20 * Saying, This is the blood of the Teſtament, which God hath appointed vnto you.

21 Moreouer, he ſprinkled likewiſe the Tabernacle with blood alſo, and all the miniſtring veſſels, 22 And almoſt all things are by the Law purged with blood, and without ſhedding of blood is no remiſſion.

23 It was then neceſſarie, that the [o] ſimilitudes of heauenly things ſhould be purified with ſuch things. but the heauenly things themſelues are purified with better ſacrifices then are theſe.

24 [13] For Chriſt is not entred into the holy places that are made with handes, which are ſimilitudes of the true Sanctuarie: but is entred into very heauen, to appeare now in the ſight of God for vs,

25 [14] Not that he ſhould offer himſelfe often, as the high Prieſt entred into the Holy place euery yeere with other blood, 26 [15] (For then muſt he haue often ſuffred ſince the foundation of the world) but now in the [p] end of the world hath he bene made manifeſt, once to put away [q] ſinne by the ſacrifice of himſelfe.

27 And as it is appointed vnto men that they ſhall [r] once die, and after that commeth the iudgement:

28 So ✤ Chriſt was once offered to take away the ſinnes of [ſ] many, [16] and vnto them that looke for him, ſhall hee appeare the ſecond time without ſinne vnto ſaluation.

CHAP. X.

1 He prooueth that the ſacrifices of the Law were vnperfit, 2 becauſe they were yeerely renewed. 5 But that the ſacrifice of Chriſt is one, and perpetuall, 6 he prooueth by Dauids teſtimonie: 19 Then he addeth an exhortation, 29 and ſeuerely threatneth them that reiect the grace of Chriſt. 36 In the end he prayſeth patience, 38 that commeth of faith.

FOr [1] the law hauing the ſhadow of good things to [a] come, and not the very image of the things, can neuer with thoſe ſacrifices, which they offer yeere by yeere continually, ſanctifie the commers thereunto.

2 For would they not then haue ceaſed to haue bene offred, becauſe that the offerers once purged, ſhould haue had no more conſcience of ſinnes?

3 But in thoſe ſacrifices there is a remembrance againe of ſinnes euery yeere.

4 For ✤ it is vnpoſſible that the blood of bulles and goates ſhould take away ſinnes.

5 [2] Wherefore when he [b] commeth into the world, he ſaith, ✤ Sacrifice and offering thou wouldeſt not: but a [c] bodie haſt thou ordained me.

6 In burnt offerings, and ſinne offerings thou haſt had no pleaſure.

7 Then I ſaid, Loe, I come (in the beginning of the booke it is written of me) that I ſhould do thy will, O God.

8 Aboue, when he ſaid, Sacrifice and offering, and burnt offerings, and ſinne offerings, thou wouldeſt not haue, neither hadſt pleaſure therein (which are offered by the Law.)

9 Then ſaid hee, Loe, I come to doe thy will, O God, he taketh away the [d] firſt, that he may ſtabliſh the ſecond.

10 By the which will we are ſanctified, euen by the offring of the body of Ieſus Chriſt once made.

11 [3] And euery Prieſt [e] ſtandeth dayly miniſtring, and oft times offereth one maner of offering, which can neuer take away ſinnes:

12 But this man after he had offered one ſacrifice for ſinnes, ✤ ſitteth at euer at the right hand of God, 13 [4] And from henceforth tarieth * till his enemies be made his footſtoole.

14 For with one offering hath he conſecrated for euer them that are ſanctified.

15 [5] For the holy Ghoſt alſo beareth vs record: for after that he had ſaid before,

16 ✤ This is the Teſtament that I will make

✤ Rom.5,6. 1.pet.3,18.

11 A reaſon why the Teſtament muſt be eſtabliſhed by the death of the Mediatour, becauſe this Teſtament hath the condition of a Teſtament or gift, which is made effectuall by death, and therefore that it might be effectuall, it muſt needes be that he that made the Teſtament, ſhould die.

✤ Gal.3,15.

12 There muſt be a proportion betweene thoſe things which purifie, and thoſe which are purified: Vnder the Law all thoſe figures were earthly, the Tabernacle, the booke, the veſſels, the ſacrifices, although they were the figures of heauenly things. Therefore it was requiſite that all theſe ſhould be purified with ſome matter and ceremony of the ſame nature, to wit, with the blood of beaſts, with water, wooll, hyſſope. But vnder Chriſt all things are heauenly, an heauenly tabernacle, an heauenly ſacrifice, an heauenly people, an heauenly doctrine, and heauen it ſelfe is ſet open before vs for an euerlaſting habitation. Therefore all theſe things are ſanctified in like ſort, to wit, with that euerlaſting offering of the quickening blood of Chriſt.

[m] As the Lord had commanded.

[n] He vſeth to ſprinkle.

* Exod.24,8.

[o] The ſimilitudes of heauenly things were earthly, and therefore they were to be ſet foorth with earthly things, as with the blood of beaſt, and wooll, and hyſſope. But vnder Chriſt all things are heauenly, and therefore they could not but be ſanctified with the offering of his liuely blood.

13 Another double compariſon: The Leuiticall hie Prieſt entred into the Sanctuarie, which was made indeede by the commandement of God, but yet with mens hands, that it might be a paterne of another more excellent, to wit, of the heauenly place. But Chriſt entred euen into heauen it ſelfe. Againe, he appeared before the Arke, but Chriſt before God the Father himſelfe.

14 Another double compariſon: The Leuiticall hie Prieſt offered other blood, but Chriſt offered his owne: he euery yeare once iterated his offering: Chriſt offering himſelfe but once, aboliſhed ſinne altogether, both of the former ages and of the ages to come.

15 An argument to prooue that Chriſts offering ought not to be repeated: Seeing that ſinnes were to be purged from the beginning of the world, and it is prooued that ſinnes cannot be purged, but by the onely blood of Chriſt: he muſt needs haue died oftentimes ſince the beginning of the world. But a man can die but once: therefore Chriſtes oblation which was once done in the latter dayes, neither could nor can be repeated. Seeing then it is ſo, ſurely the vertue of it extendeth both to ſinnes that were before, and to ſinnes that are after his comming.

[q] That whole root of ſinne.

[r] He ſpeaketh of the naturall ſtate and condition of man: For as for Lazarus and certaine other that died twiſe, that was no vſuall thing but extraordinarie, and as for them that ſhall be changed, their changing is a kinde of death. 1.Cor.15,51.

✤ Rom.5,8. 1.pet.3,18.

[ſ] Thus the generall promiſe is reſtrained to the elect onely: and we haue to ſeeke the teſtimonie of our election: not in the ſecret counſell of God, but in the effects that our faith worketh, and ſo we muſt climbe vp from the loweſt ſtep to the higheſt, there to finde ſuch comfort as is moſt certaine, and ſhall neuer be mooued.

16 Shortly by the way he ſetteth out Chriſt as Iudge, partly to terrifie them, which do not reſt themſelues in the onely oblation of Chriſt once made, and partly to keepe the faithfull in their duetie, that they goe not backe.

1 He preuenteth a priuy obiection. Why then were thoſe ſacrifices offered? The Apoſtle anſwereth firſt touching that yeerely ſacrifice which was the ſolemneſt of all, wherein (ſaith he) there was made euery yeere a remembrance againe of all former ſinnes. Therefore that ſacrifice had no power to ſanctifie: for to what purpoſe ſhould thoſe ſinnes which are purged be repeated againe, and wherefore ſhould new ſinnes come to be repeated euery yeere, if thoſe ſacrifices did aboliſh ſinne?

[a] Of things which are euerlaſting, which were promiſed to the Fathers, and exhibited in Chriſt.

2 A concluſion following of thoſe things that went before, and comprehending alſo the other ſacrifices. Seeing that the ſacrifices of the Law could not doe it, therefore Chriſt ſpeaking of himſelfe as of our high Prieſt manifeſted in the fleſh, witneſſeth euidently that God reſteth not in the ſacrifices, but in the obedience of his Sonne our hie Prieſt, in which obedience he offered vp himſelfe once to his Father for vs.

[b] The Sonne of God is ſayd to come into the world, when he was made man.

✤ Pſal.40,7.

[c] It is word for word in the Hebrew text, Thou haſt pearſed mine eares thorow, that is, thou haſt made me obedient, and willing to heare.

[d] That is the ſacrifices, to eſtabliſh the ſecond, that is, the will of God.

3 A concluſion, with the other part of the compariſon. The Leuiticall hie Prieſt repeateth the ſame ſacrifices dayly in his ſanctuarie: whereupon it followeth that neither thoſe ſacrifices, neither thoſe offrings, neither thoſe hie Prieſts could take away ſinnes. But Chriſt, hauing offered one ſacrifice once for the ſinnes of all men, and hauing ſanctified his owne foreuer, ſitteth at the right hand of the Father, hauing all power in his handes.

✤ Chap.1,13. pſal.110,1. 1.cor.15,25.

4 He preuenteth a priuie obiection, to wit, that yet notwithſtanding we are ſubiect to ſinne and death, whereunto the Apoſtle anſwereth, that the full efficacie of Chriſts vertue hath not yet ſhewed it ſelfe, but ſhall at length appeare when hee will at once put to flight all his enemies, with whom as yet we ſtriue.

* Chapter 1,13.

5 Although there doe yet remaine in vs reliques of ſinne, yet the worke of our ſanctification which is to be perfected, hangeth vpon the ſelfe ſame ſacrifice which neuer ſhall be repeated: and that the Apoſtle prooueth by alledging againe the teſtimonies of Ieremie, thus, Sinne is taken away by the new Teſtament, ſeeing the Lord ſaith that it ſhall come to paſſe, that according to the forme of it, he will no more remember our ſinnes: Therefore we neede now no purging ſacrifice to take away that which is already taken away, but we muſt rather take paines, that we may now through faith be partakers of that ſacrifice.

✤ Ier.31,33. rom.11,27. chap.8,8.

vnto them after thoſe dayes, ſayth the Lord, I will put my Laws in their heart, and in their mindes I will write them, 17 And their ſinnes and iniquities will I remember [f] no more.

18 Now where remiſſion of theſe things is, there is no more offering for [g] ſinne.

19 6 Seeing therefore, brethren, that by the blood of Ieſus we may be bolde to enter into the Holy place,

20 By the new and liuing way, which he hath prepared for vs, through the vaile, that is, his [h] fleſh:

21 And ſeeing vve haue an high Prieſt, vvhich is ouer the houſe of God,

22 7 Let vs draw neere with a [i] true heart in aſſurance of faith, our [k] hearts being pure from an euill conſcience,

23 And waſhed in our bodies with [l] pure water, let vs keepe the profeſſion of our hope, without wauering, (for he is faithfull that promiſed.)

24 And let vs conſider one another, to prouoke vnto loue, and to good workes,

25 Not forſaking the fellowſhip that wee haue among our ſelues, as the maner of ſome is: but let vs exhort one another, 8 and that ſo much the more, becauſe ye ſee that the day draweth neere.

26 ✚ For if we ſinne [m] willingly after that wee haue receiued and acknowledged that trueth, there remaineth no more ſacrifice for ſinnes, 27 But a fearefull looking for of iudgement, and violent fire, which ſhall deuoure the [n] aduerſaries.

28 9 He that deſpiſeth Moſes Law, dieth without mercy ✚ vnder two, or three witneſſes:

29 Of how much ſorer puniſhment ſuppoſe yee ſhall he be worthy, which treadeth vnder foot the Sonne of God, and counteth the blood of the Teſtament as an vnholy thing, wherewith he was ſanctified, and doeth deſpite the Spirit of grace?

30 10 For we know him that hath ſaid, * Vengeance belongeth vnto mee: I will recompenſe, ſaith the Lord. And againe, The Lord ſhall [o] iudge his people.

31 It is a fearefull thing to fall into the hands of the liuing God.

32 11 Now call to remembrance the dayes that are paſſed, in the which, after ye had receiued light ye indured a great fight in afflictions,

33 Partly while ye were made a [p] gazing ſtock both by reproches and afflictions, and partly while ye became [q] companions of them which were ſo toſſed to and fro.

34 For both yee ſorrowed with mee for my bondes, and ſuffered with ioy the ſpoyling of your goods, knowing in your ſelues how that ye haue in heauen a better, and an enduring [r] ſubſtance.

35 Caſt not away therefore your confidence which hath great recompenſe of reward.

36 For ye haue neede of patience, that after ye haue done the will of God, ye might receiue the promiſe.

37 For yet a very [ſ] litle while, and he that ſhall come, will come, and will not tarie.

38 ✚ 12 Now the iuſt ſhall liue by faith: but if any withdraw himſelfe, my ſoule ſhall haue no pleaſure in him.

39 But wee are not they which withdrawe our ſelues vnto perdition, but follovve faith vnto the conſeruation of the ſoule.

CHAP. XI.

1 He declareth in the whole Chapter, that the Fathers, which from the beginning of the world were approued of God, attained ſaluation no other way then by faith, that the Iewes may know that by the ſame onely, they are knit vnto the Fathers in an holy vnion.

NOw 1 faith is the grounds of things which are hoped for, and the euidence of things which are not ſeene.

2 2 For by it our [a] elders were wel reported of.

3 ✚ 3 Through faith wee vnderſtand that the world was ordeined by the word of God, ſo that the things which we [b] ſee, are not made of things which did appeare.

4 4 By faith Abel * offered vnto God a greater ſacrifice then Cain, by * the which he obtained witneſſe that he was righteous, God teſtifying of his gifts: by the which faith alſo he being dead, yet ſpeaketh.

5 5 By faith was * Enoch tranſlated, that he ſhould not [c] ſee death: neither was he found: for God had tranſlated him: for before he was tranſlated, he was reported of, that he had pleaſed God.

6 But without faith it is vnpoſſible to pleaſe him: for he that commeth to God, muſt beleeue that God is, and that hee is a [d] rewarder of them that ſeeke him.

7 6 By faith * Noe being warned of God of the things which were as yet not ſeene, mooued with reuerence, prepared the Arke to the ſauing of his houſholde, through the which Arke he condemned the world, and was made heire of the righteouſneſſe, which is by faith.

8 7 By faith ✚ Abraham, when he was called, obeyed God, to goe out into a place, which he ſhould afterward receiue for inheritance, and hee went out, not knowing whither he went.

9 By faith he aboade in the land of promiſe, as in a ſtrange countrey, as one that dwelt in tents with Iſaac and Iacob heires with him of the ſame promiſe.

10 For he looked for a city hauing a [e] foundation, whoſe builder and maker is God.

11 Through faith ✚ Sara alſo receiued ſtrength to conceiue ſeede, and was deliuered of a childe when ſhe was paſt age, becauſe ſhee iudged him faithfull which had promiſed.

12 And therefore ſprang thereof one, euen of one which was [f] dead, ſo many as the ſtarres of the ſkie in multitude, and as the ſand of the ſea ſhore which is innumerable.

13 All theſe died in [g] faith, and receiued not

---

[f] Why then, where is the fire of Purgatorie, and that Popiſh deſtinction of the fault and the puniſhment?

[g] He ſaid well, for ſinne: for there remaineth another offering, to wit, of thankeſgiuing.

6 The ſumme of the former treatiſe: We are not ſhut out now of the holy place, as the Fathers were, but we haue an entrance into the true holy place (that is, into heauen) ſeeing that we are purged with the blood not of beaſts, but of Ieſus. Neither as in times paſt, doeth the hie Prieſt ſhut vs out by ſetting the vaile againſt vs, but through the vaile, which is his fleſh, he hath brought vs into heauen it ſelfe, being preſent with vs, ſo that wee haue now truely an high Prieſt, which is ouer the houſe of God.

[h] So Chriſts fleſh ſheweth vs the Godhead as it were vnder a vaile, for otherwiſe we were not able to abide the brightnes of it.

7 A moſt graue exhortations, wherein he ſheweth how that ſacrifice of Chriſt may be applied to vs: to wit, by faith, which alſo he deſcribeth by the conſequents, to wit, by ſanctification of the Spirit, which cauſeth vs ſurely to hope in God, and to procure by all meanes poſſible one anothers ſaluation, through the loue that is in vs one toward another.

[i] With no double and counterfeit heart, but with ſuch an heart as is truely and in deede giuen to God.

[k] That is it which the Lord ſaith, Be ye holy, for I am holy.

8 Hauing mentioned the laſt comming of Chriſt, he ſtirreth vp the godly to the meditation of an holy life, and citeth the faithleſſe fallers from God, to the fearefull iudgement ſeat of the iudge, becauſe they wickedly reiected him in whom onely ſaluation conſiſteth.

1 An excellent diſcription of faith by the effects, becauſe it repreſenteth things which are but yet in hope, and ſetteth as it were before our eyes things that are inuiſible.

1 He doth not onely by the examples of the Fathers before recited, exhort them to patience and conſtancie, 3 but alſo by the example of Chriſt. 11 That the chaſtenings of God cannot be rightly iudged by the outward ſenſe of our fleſh.

Wherefore, ✣ 1 let vs alſo, ſeeing that we are compaſſed with ſo great a cloud of witneſſes, caſt away euery thing that preſſeth downe, and the ſinne that a hangeth ſo faſt on: let vs run with patience the race that is ſet before vs,

2 2 b Looking vnto Ieſus the authour and finiſher of our faith, who for the c ioy that was ſet before him, endured the croſſe, and deſpiſed the ſhame, and is ſet at the right hand of the throne of God.

3 3 Conſider therefore him that endureth ſuch ſpeaking againſt of ſinners, leaſt ye ſhould be wearied and faint in your mindes.

4 4 Ye haue not yet reſiſted vnto blood, ſtriuing againſt ſinne.

5 5 And yee haue forgotten the conſolation, which ſpeaketh vnto you as vnto children, ✣ My ſonne, deſpiſe not the chaſtening of the Lord, neither faint when thou art rebuked of him.

6 For whome the Lord loueth, hee chaſteneth: and he ſcourgeth euery ſonne that he receiueth.

7 If yee endure chaſtening, God offered himſelfe vnto you as vnto ſonnes: for what ſonne is it whome the father chaſteneth not?

8 If therefore ye be without correction, whereof all are partakers, then are ye baſtards, and not ſonnes.

9 6 Moreouer wee haue had the fathers of our bodies which corrected vs, and we gaue them reuerence: ſhould we not much rather be in ſubiection vnto the father of ſpirits, that we might liue?

10 7 For they verely for a few dayes chaſtened

✣ Rom. 6, 4. coloſſ. 3, 8. ephe. 4, 24. 1 pet. 2, 1.

1 An applying of the former examples, whereby we ought to be ſtirred vp to runne the whole race, caſting away all ſtops and impediments.

a For ſinne beſiegeth vs on all ſides, ſo that we cannot ſcape out.

2 He ſetteth before vs, as the marke of this race, Ieſus himſelfe our captaine, who willingly ouercame all the roughneſſe of the ſame wayes.

b As it were vpon the marke of our faith.

c Whereas he had all kind of bleſſedneſſe in his hand and power, yet ſuffered willingly the ignominie of the croſſe.

3 An amplification taken of the circumſtance of the perſon, and the things themſelues, which he compareth betwixt themſelues: for how great is Ieſus in compariſon of vs, and how farre more grieuous things did he ſuffer then wee?

4 Hee taketh an argument of the profit which commeth to vs by Gods chaſtiſements, vnleſſe wee be in fault. Firſt of all becauſe ſinne, or that rebellious wickedneſſe of our fleſh, is by this meanes turned.

5 Secondly, becauſe they are teſtimonie of his fatherly good will towarde vs, in ſo much that they ſhew themſelues to be baſtards, which cannot abide to be chaſtened of God.

✣ Prou. 3, 11.

6 Thirdly, if all men yeeld this right to fathers, to whom next after God wee owe this life, that they may rightfully correct their children, ſhall wee not be much more ſubiect to that our Father, who is the Author of the ſpirituall and euerlaſting life?

7 An amplification of the ſame argument: Thoſe fathers haue corrected vs after their fanſie, for ſome fraile and tranſitorie profite: but God chaſteneth and inſtructeth vs for our ſingular profite, to make vs partakers of his holineſſe: which thing although theſe our ſenſes doe not preſently perceiue, yet the end of the matter prooueth it.

vs after their owne pleaſure, but he chaſtened vs for our profite, that we might be partakers of his holineſſe.

11 Now no chaſtiſing for the preſent ſeemeth to be ioyous, but grieuous: but afterward, it bringeth the quiet fruite of righteouſneſſe, vnto them which are thereby exerciſed.

12 [8] Wherefore lift vp your hands which [d] hang downe, and your weake knees,

13 And make [e] ſtraight ſteps vnto your feete, leſt that which is halting, be turned out of the way, but let it rather be healed.

14 ✣ [9] Follow peace with all men, and holines, without the which no man ſhall ſee the Lord.

15 [10] Take heede, that no man fall away from the grace of God: let no [f] root of bitternes ſpring vp and trouble you, leaſt thereby many be defiled.

16 [11] Let there be no fornicatour, or prophane perſon as ✤ Eſau, which for one portion of meate ſold his birthright.

17 * For ye know how that afterward alſo when he would haue inherited the bleſſing, he was reiected: for he found no [g] place to repentance, though he ſought that bleſſing with teares.

18 [12] For yee are not come vnto the * mount that might be [h] touched, not vnto burning fire, nor to blackneſſe and darkeneſſe, and tempeſt, 19 Neither vnto the ſound of a trumpet, and the voice of wordes, which they that heard it, excuſed themſelues, ✳ that the word ſhould not be ſpoken to them any more.

20 (For they were not able to abide that which was commaunded, * yea, though a beaſt touch the mountaine, it ſhall be ſtoned, or thruſt through with a dart:

21 And ſo terrible was the [i] ſight which appeared, that Moſes ſaid, I feare and quake.)

22 But ye are come vnto the mount Sion, and to the citie of the liuing God, the celeſtiall Hieruſalem, and to the companie of innumerable Angels.

23 And to the aſſembly and congregation of the firſt borne, which are written in heauen, and to God the iudge of all, and to the ſpirits of iuſt and [k] perfite men, 24 And to Ieſus the Mediatour of the new Teſtament, and to the blood of ſprinkling that ſpeaketh better things then that of Abel.

25 [13] See that ye deſpiſe not him that ſpeaketh: for if they eſcaped not which refuſed him, ẏ ſpake on earth: much more ſhall we not eſcape, if wee turne away from him that ſpeaketh from heauen.

26 [14] Whoſe voice then ſhooke the earth, and now hath declared, ſaying, ✣ Yet [l] once more will I ſhake, not the earth onely, but alſo heauen.

27 And this vvorde, Yet once more, ſignifieth the remoouing of thoſe things which are ſhaken, as of things which are made vvith hands, that the things which are not ſhaken, may remaine.

28 [15] Wherefore ſeeing wee receiue a kingdome, which cannot be ſhaken, let vs haue grace whereby we may ſo ſerue God, that we may pleaſe him with [m] reuerence and [n] feare.

[4] We haue to ſet before vs the examples of valiant Captaines, whome we ought diligently to follow.

[5] He repeateth the ſumme of the doctrine, to wit, the onely ground of all precepts of maners, and that is this: That we ought to quiet and content our ſelues in Chriſt onely: for there was yet neuer any man ſaued without the knowledge of him, neither is at this day ſaued, neither ſhallbe ſaued hereafter.

[6] He toucheth them which mixed an externall worſhip, and eſpecially the difference of meates, with the Goſpel, which doctrine hee plainely condemneth as cleane repugnant to the benefite of Chriſt.

[d] By this one kind which concerneth the difference of cleane and vncleane meates, we haue to vnderſtand all the ceremoniall worſhip.

[e] Which obſerued the difference of them ſuperſtitiouſly.

[7] He refuteth their errour by an apt and fit compariſon. They which in times paſt ſerued the Tabernacle, did not eate of the ſacrifices whoſe blood was brought for ſinne into the holy place by the hie Prieſt. Moreouer theſe ſacrifices did repreſent Chriſt our offering. Therefore they cannot be partakers of him which ſerue the Tabernacle, that is, ſuch as ſtand in the ſeruice of the Law: but let not vs be aſhamed to follow him out of Hieruſalem, from whence hee was caſt out and ſuffered: for in this alſo Chriſt, who is the trueth, anſwereth that figure, in that he ſuffered without the gate.

IAmes a ſeruant of God, and of the Lord Ieſus Chriſt, to the twelue Tribes, which are [b] ſcattered abroad, ſalutation.

2 [1] My brethren, [c] count it exceeding ioy, [2] when yee fall into diuers tentations,

3 ✣ [3] Knowing that the [d] trying of your faith bringeth forth patience,

4 [4] And let patience haue her perfect worke, that ye may be perfect and entier, lacking nothing.

5 [5] If any of you lacke [e] wiſedome, let him aske of God, which giueth to all men liberally, and reproacheth no man, and it ſhallbe giuen him.

6 ✣ But let him aske in faith, and [f] wauer not: [6] for he that wauereth, is like a waue of the ſea, toſt of the winde, and caried away.

7 Neither let that man thinke that he ſhall receiue any thing of the Lord.

8 A double minded man is vnſtable in [g] all his wayes.

9 [7] Let the brother of [h] lowe degree reioyce in that he is exalted:

10 [8] Againe, he that is [i] rich, in that hee is made low: [9] for as the floure of the graſſe, ſhall he ✣ vaniſh away.

11 For as vvhen the ſunne riſeth with heat, then the graſſe withereth, and his floure falleth away, and the goodly ſhape of it periſheth: euen ſo ſhall the rich man wither away in all his [k] wayes.

12 [10] ✣ Bleſſed is the man, that endureth [l] tentation: for when he is tryed, hee ſhall receiue the crowne of life, which the Lord hath promiſed to them that loue him.

13 [11] Let no man ſay when hee is [m] tempted, I am tempted of God: [12] for God cannot be tempted with euill, neither tempteth he any man.

14 But euerie man is tempted, when hee is drawen away by his owne concupiſcence, and is entiſed.

15 Then when luſt hath conceiued, it bringeth forth [n] ſinne, and ſinne when it is finiſhed, bringeth forth death.

16 [13] Erre not my deare brethren.

17 Euery good giuing and euery perfect gift is from aboue, and commeth downe from the [o] Father of lights, with whome is no variableneſſe, neither [p] ſhadow of turning.

argument propounded in maner of an exhortation, that true and continuall patience may be diſcerned from fained and for a time. The croſſe is as it were the inſtrument wherewith God doeth poliſh and fine vs. Therefore the worke and effect of afflictions, is the

that is, from afflictions, whereby God trieth vs, to inwarde, that is, to thoſe luſtes whereby we are ſtirred vp to doe euill. The ſumme is this: Euery man is the author of theſe temptations to himſelfe, and not God: for wee beare about in our boſomes that wicked corruption, which taketh occaſions by what meanes ſoeuer, to ſtirre vp euill motions in vs, whence out at length proceed wicked doing, and in concluſion followeth death the iuſt reward of them. m When he is prouoked to doe euill. 12 Here is a reaſon ſhewed, why God cannot bee the authour of euill doing in vs, becauſe hee deſireth not euill. n By ſinne is meant in this place actuall ſinne. 13 Another reaſon taken of contraries: God is the authour of all goodneſſe, and ſo, that hee is alwayes like himſelfe: how then can he be thought to be authour of euill? o From him who is the fountaine and authour of all goodneſſe. p Hee goeth on in the metaphore: for the ſunne by his manifold and ſundrie kindes of turning, maketh houres, dayes, moneths, yeeres, light and darkeneſſe. 14 The fourth part concerning the excellencie & fruite of the worde of God. The ſumme is this: wee muſt heare the worde of God moſt carefully and diligently, ſeeing it is the ſeede, wherewith God of his free fauour and loue hath begotten vs vnto himſelfe, picking vs out of the number of his creatures. And the Apoſtle condemneth two faultes, which doe greatly trouble vs in this matter, to wit, for that we ſo pleaſe our ſelues, that wee had rather ſpeake our ſelues then heare God ſpeaking: yea, wee ſnuffe and are angrie when we are reprehended: againſt which faults, hee ſetteth a peaceable and quiet mind, and ſuch an one as is deſirous of puritie. q This is it which Paul calleth gracious fauour, and good will, which is the fountaine of our ſaluation, r As it were an holy kind of offering, taken out of the reſidue of man.

man be ſwift to heare, ſlowe to ſpeake, and ſlowe to wrath.

21 Wherefore lay apart all filthineſſe, and ſuperfluitie of maliciouſneſſe, and receiue with [t] meekeneſſe the word that is graffed in you, which is able to ſaue your ſoules.

22 ✤ [15] And be yee doers of the word, and not hearers onely, [16] deceiuing your owne ſelues.

23 [17] For if any heare the word, and doe it not, he is like vnto a man, that beholdeth his [u] naturall face in a glaſſe.

24 For when he hath conſidered himſelfe, hee goeth his way, and forgetteth immediatly what maner of one he was.

25 But who ſo looketh in the perfect lawe of libertie, and continueth therein, hee not being a forgetfull hearer, but a doer of the worke, ſhalbe bleſſed in his [x] deed.

26 [18] If any man among you ſeeme religious, and refraineth not his tongue, but deceiueth his [y] owne heart, this mans religion is vaine.

27 [19] Pure religion and vndefiled before God, euen the Father, is this, to [z] viſit the fatherleſſe, and widowes in their aduerſitie, and to keepe himſelfe vnſpotted of the world.

[f] That which God appointeth.

[t] By meekeneſſe, he meaneth modeſtie, and whatſoeuer is contrary to an hautie and proude ſtomacke.

✤ Matth. 7, 21. rom. 2, 13.

[15] Another admonition. Therefore is Gods word heard, that wee may frame our liues according to the preſcript thereof.

[16] He addeth reaſons, and thoſe moſt weighty: firſt, becauſe they that doe otherwiſe, doe very much hurt themſelues.

[17] Secondly, becauſe they loſe the chiefeſt vſe of Gods worde, which correct not by it the faults that they know.

[u] Hee alludeth to that naturall ſpot, to which is contrary that puritie whereinto we are borne againe, the liuely image whereof we behold in the Law.

[x] Behauing himſelfe ſo: for workes doe ſhewe faith.

[18] The third admonition: The word of God preſcribeth a rule not onely to doe well, but alſo to ſpeake well.

[y] The fountaine of all brabling, and curſed ſpeaking, and ſawcineſſe, is this, that men know not themſelues.

[19] The fourth: the true ſeruice of God ſtandeth in charitie toward our neighbours (eſpeciall ſuch as neede others helpe, as the fatherleſſe and widowes) and puritie of life.

[z] To haue a care of them, and to helpe them as much as we can.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee ſayth, that to haue reſpect of perſons is not agreeable to Chriſts faith, 14 which to profeſſe in words is not enough, vnleſſe 15 we ſhewe it alſo in deedes of mercie and charitie, 21 after the example of Abraham.

MY [1] brethren, haue not the faith of our [a] glorious Lord Ieſus Chriſt ✤ in reſpect of perſons.

2 For if there come into your company a man with a gold ring, and in goodly apparell, and there come in alſo a poore man in vile raiment,

3 And yee haue a reſpect to him that weareth the gay cloathing, and ſay vnto him, Sit thou here in a [b] goodly place, and ſay vnto the poore, Stand thou there, or ſit here vnder my footſtoole,

4 Are ye not partiall in [c] your ſelues, and are become Iudges of euill thoughts?

5 [2] Hearken my beloued brethren, hath not God choſen the [d] poore of this world that they ſhould be rich in faith, and heires of the kingdome which he promiſed to them that loue him?

6 But ye haue deſpiſed the poore. [3] Doe not the rich oppreſſe you by tyranny, and doe they not draw you before the iudgement ſeats?

7 Doe not they blaſpheme the worthy Name after which ye be [e] named?

[1] The fifth: Charitie which proceedeth from a true faith, cannot ſtand with the accepting of perſons; which hee prooueth plainely by ſetting foorth their example, who with the reproach or diſdaine of the poore, honour the rich.

[a] For if we knew what Chriſts glory is, and eſteemed it as we ought to doe, there would not be ſuch reſpect of perſons as there is.

✤ Leuit. 9, 15. deut. 1, 17. and 16. 29. prou. 24, 23.

[b] In a worſhipfull and honourable place.

[c] Haue yee not (which you ought not to doe) by this meanes with your ſelues iudged one man to be preferred before another?

[2] Hee ſheweth that they are peruerſe and naughtie Iudges, which preferre the rich before the poore, by that that God on the contrary ſide preferreth the poore, whom he hath enriched with true riches, before the rich.

[d] The needie and wretched, and (if we meaſure it after the opinion of the world) the verieſt abiects of all men.

[3] Secondly, he prooueth them to be madde men: for that the rich men are rather to be holden execrable and curſed, conſidering that they perſecute the Church, and blaſpheme Chriſt: for hee ſpeaketh of wicked and prophane rich men, ſuch as the moſt part of them haue bene alwayes, againſt whom hee ſetteth the poore and abiect.

[e] Word for word, which is called vpon of you.

8 [4] But if ye fulfill the [f] royall Law according to the Scripture, which ſaieth, Thou ſhalt loue thy neighbour as thy ſelfe, ye doe well.

9 But if yee regard the perſons, yee commit ſinne, and are rebuked of the Law, as tranſgreſſours.

10 [5] For whoſoeuer ſhall keepe the whole Law, and yet faileth in one point, he is guiltie of [g] all.

11 [6] For he that ſaid, Thou ſhalt not commit adulterie, ſayd alſo, Thou ſhalt not kill. Nowe though thou doeſt none adulterie, yet if thou killeſt, thou art a tranſgreſſour of the Law.

12 [7] So ſpeake ye, and ſo doe, as they that ſhall be iudgeth by the Law of libertie.

13 For there ſhall be condemnation mercileſſe to him that ſheweth not [h] mercie, and mercie reioyceth againſt condemnation.

14 [8] What auaileth it my brethren, though a man ſaith he hath faith, when he hath no workes? can that faith ſaue him?

15 [9] For if a brother or a ſiſter be naked and deſtitute of dayly food,

16 And one of you ſay vnto them, Depart in peace: warme your ſelues, and fill your bellies, notwithſtanding ye giue them not thoſe things, which are needfull to the bodie, what helpeth it?

17 Euen ſo the faith, if it haue no workes, is dead in it ſelfe.

18 But [i] ſome man might ſay, Thou haſt the faith; and I haue workes: ſhew me thy faith out of thy workes, and I will ſhewe thee my faith by my workes.

19 [10] Thou beleeueſt that there is one God: thou doeſt well: the deuils alſo beleeue it, and tremble.

20 [11] But wilt thou vnderſtand, O thou vaine man, that the faith which is without workes, is dead?

21 Was not Abraham our father [k] iuſtified through workes, ✤ when he offered Iſaac his ſonne vpon the altar?

22 Seeſt thou not that the faith [l] wrought with his workes? and through the workes was the faith made [m] perfect.

23 And the Scripture was [n] fulfilled which ſaieth, ✤ Abraham beleeued God, and it was imputed vnto him for righteouſneſſe: and hee was called the friend of God.

[4] The concluſion: Charitie which God preſcribeth cannot agree with the accepting of perſons, ſeeing that we muſt walke in the Kings high way.

[f] The Law is ſaid to be royall and like the Kings high way, for that it is plaine and without turnings, and that the Law calleth euery one our neighbour, without reſpect, whom we may helpe by any kind of duety.

[5] A newe argument to prooue the ſame concluſion: They do not loue their neighbours, which neglect ſome, and ambitiouſly honour other: for he doeth not obey God, which cutteth off from the commandements of God that, that is not ſo commodious for him, nay he is rather guiltie generally for the breach of the whole Lawe, although he obſerue the reſidue.

[g] Not that all ſinnes are equall, but becauſe he that breaketh one title of the Law, offendeth the maieſtie of the Lawe giuer.

[6] A proofe: becauſe the Lawemaker is alwayes one and the ſelfe ſame, and the body of the Law cannot be diuided.

[7] The concluſion of the whole treatiſe: we are vpon this condition deliuered from the curſe of the Law by the mercie of God, that in likeſort we ſhould maintaine and cheriſh charitie and good will one towardes another, and who ſo doeth not ſo, ſhall not taſte of the grace of God.

[h] He that is hard and curriſh againſt his neighbour, or elſe helpeth him not, he ſhall find God an hard and rough Iudge to himſelfeward.

[8] The fifth place which hangeth verie well with the former treatiſe, touching a true and liuely faith. And the propoſition of this place is this: faith which bringeth not foorth workes, is not that faith whereby wee are iuſtified, but an image of faith: or elſe this, they are not iuſtified by faith, which ſhewe not the effects of faith.

[9] The firſt reaſon taken of a ſimilitude: If a man ſay to one that is hungrie, Fill thy bellie, and yet giueth him nothing, this ſhall not be true charitie: ſo if a man ſay he beleeueth, and bringeth foorth no workes of his faith, this ſhall not be a true faith, but a certaine dead thing ſet out with the name of faith, whereof no man hath to brag, vnleſſe he will openly incurre reprehenſion, ſeeing that the cauſe is vnderſtood by the effects.

[i] Nay, thus may euery man beate downe the pride.

[10] Another reaſon taken of an abſurditie: If ſuch a faith were the true faith whereby wee are iuſtified, the deuils ſhould be iuſtified: for they haue that, but yet notwithſtanding they tremble, and are not iuſtified therefore, neither is that faith a true faith.

[11] The third reaſon from the example of Abraham, who no doubt had a true faith: but hee in offering his ſonne, ſhewed himſelfe to haue that faith which was not void of workes, and therefore he receiued a true teſtimonie when it was ſaid, that faith was imputed to him for righteouſneſſe.

[k] Was he not by his workes knowen and found to be iuſtified? for he ſpeaketh not here of the cauſes of iuſtification, but by what effects we may know that a man is iuſtified.

[l] Was effectuall and fruitfull with good workes.

[m] That the faith was declared to be a true faith, and that by workes.

[n] Then was the Scripture fulfilled, when it appeared plainely, how truely it was written of Abraham.

✤ Gen. 15, 6. rom. 4, 3. galat. 3, 6.

24 [12] Ye ſee then how that of workes a man is [o] iuſtified, and not of [p] faith onely.

25 [13] Likewiſe alſo was not ✤ Rahab the harlot iuſtified through workes, when ſhe had receiued the meſſengers, and ſent them out another way?

26 [14] For as the body without the ſpirit is dead, euen ſo the faith without works is dead.

[12] The concluſion: he is onely iuſtified that hath that faith which hath workes following it.

[o] Is prooued to be iuſt.

[p] Of that dead and fruitles faith which you boaſt of.

[13] A fourth reaſon taken from a like example of Rahab the horlot, who alſo prooued by her workes that ſhe was iuſtified by a true faith. ✤ Ioſh. 2, 1. [14] The concluſion repeated againe: faith which bringeth not forth fruits and works, is not faith, but a dead carcaſe.

CHAP. III.

3 To ſhewe that a Chriſtian man muſt gouerne his tongue with the bridle of faith and charitie, 6 hee declareth the commodities and miſchiefes that inſue thereof: 15 and how much mans wiſedome 17 differeth from heauenly.

MY [1] brethren, be not many maſters, [2] knowing that wee [a] ſhall receiue the greater condemnation.

2 For in many things wee ‖ ſinne all. [3] If any man ſinne not in word, he is a perfect man, and able to bridle all the body.

3 [4] Beholde, wee put bittes into the horſes mouthes, that they ſhould obey vs, and wee turne about all their bodie.

4 Behold alſo the ſhippes, which though they be ſo great, and are driuen of fierce winds, yet are they turned about with a very ſmall rudder, whitherſoeuer the gouernour liſteth.

5 Euen ſo the tongue is a litle member, and boaſteth of great things: [5] beholde, howe great a thing a litle fire kindleth.

6 And the tongue is fire, yea, a [b] worlde of wickedneſſe: ſo is the tongue ſet among our members, that it defileth the whole bodie, and [c] ſetteth on fire the courſe of nature, and it is ſet on fire of hell.

7 For the whole nature of beaſts, and of birdes, and of creeping things, and things of the ſea is tamed, and hath bene tamed of the nature of man.

8 But the tongue can no man tame. It is an vnruly euill, full of deadly poyſon.

9 [6] Therewith bleſſe we God euen the Father, and therewith curſe we men, which are made after the [7] ſimilitude of God.

10 [8] Out of one mouth proceedeth bleſſing and curſing: my brethren, theſe things ought not ſo to be.

11 Doeth a fountaine ſend foorth at one place ſweete water and bitter?

12 Can the figge tree, my brethren, bring forth oliues, either a vine figges? ſo can no fountaine make both ſalt water and ſweete.

13 [9] Who is a wiſe man and endued with knowledge among you? let him ſhew by good conuerſation his works in meekeneſſe of wiſedome.

14 But if yee haue bitter enuying, and ſtrife in your hearts, reioyce not, neither be lyars againſt the trueth.

[1] The ſixt part or place: Let no man vſurpe (as moſt men ambitiouſly doe) authority to iudge and cenſure others righteouſly.

[2] A reaſon: Becauſe they prouoke Gods ſeueritie againſt themſelues, which do ſo curiouſly and rigorouſly condemne others, being themſelues guiltie and faultie.

[a] Vnleſſe we ſurceaſe from this maſterlike and proud finding fault with others.

‖ Or, ſtumble.

[3] The ſeuenth place, touching the brideling of the tongue, ioyned with the former, ſo that it is manifeſt that there is no man which may not iuſtly be found fault withal, ſeeing it is a rare vertue to bridle the tongue.

[4] He ſheweth by two ſimilitudes the one taken from the bridles of horſes: the other from the rudders of ſhips, how great matters may be brought to paſſe by the good moderation of the tongue.

[5] On the contrary part he ſheweth how great diſcommodities ariſe by the intemperancie of the tongue, throughout the whole world, to the ende that men may ſo much the more diligently giue themſelues to moderate it. [b] An heape of all miſchiefes. [c] It is able to ſet the whole worlde on fire. [6] Amongſt other faults of the tongue, the Apoſtle chiefly reproueth backbiting and ſpeaking euill of our neighbours, euen in them eſpecially which otherwiſe will ſeeme godly and religious. [7] Hee denieth by two reaſons, that God can be praiſed by that man, that vſeth curſed ſpeaking, or to backbite: firſt becauſe man is the image of God, which whoſoeuer reuerenceth not doth not honour God himſelfe. [8] Secondly becauſe the order of nature which God hath ſet in things, will not ſuffer things that are ſo contrary the one to the other, to ſtande the one with the other. [9] The eight part which hangeth with the former, touching meekeneſſe of minde: againſt which he ſetteth enuie and a contentious minde. And in the beginning he ſtoppeth the mouth of the chiefe fountaine of all theſe miſchiefes, to wit, a falſe perſwaſion of wiſedome, whereas notwithſtanding there is no true wiſedome, but that is heauenly, and frameth our mindes to all kinde of true moderation and ſimplicitie.

15 This wiſedome deſcendeth not from aboue, but is earthly, ſenſuall, and deuiliſh.

16 For where enuying and ſtrife is, there is ſedition, and all maner of euill works.

17 But the wiſedome that is from aboue, is firſt pure, then peaceable, gentle, eaſie to be intreated, full of [d] mercie and good fruites, without iudging, and without hypocriſie.

18 [10] And the fruite of righteouſneſſe is ſowen in peace, of them that make peace.

[d] He ſetteth mercy againſt the fierce and cruell nature of man, and ſheweth that heauenly wiſedome bringeth forth good fruits, for he that is heauenly wiſe, referreth all things to Gods glory, and the profit of his neighbour.

[10] Becauſe the world perſwadeth it ſelfe that they are miſerable which liue peaceably and ſimply, on the contrary ſide the Apoſtle pronounceth that they ſhall at the length reape the harueſt of peaceable righteouſnes.

CHAP. IV.

1 Hee reckoneth vp the miſchiefes that proceede of the workes of the fleſh. 7 Hee exhorteth to humilitie, 8 and to purge the heart 3 from pride, 10 backbiting, 14 and the forgetfulneſſe of our owne infirmitie.

FRom [1] whence are warres and contentions among you? are they not hence, euen of your pleaſures, that fight in your members?

2 Ye luſt, and haue not: ye enuie, and deſire immoderately, and cannot obtaine: ye fight, and warre, and get nothing, [2] becauſe ye aske not.

3 Ye aske, and receiue not, becauſe ye aske amiſſe, that yee might lay the ſame on your pleaſures.

4 [3] Ye adulterers and adultereſſes, know yee not that the amitie of the worlde is the enimitie of God? Whoſoeuer therefore will be a friend of the world, maketh himſelfe the enemie of God.

5 [4] Doe ye thinke that the Scripture ſayeth in vaine, The ſpirit that dwelleth in vs, luſteth after enuie?

6 But the Scripture offereth more grace, and therefore ſaith, ✤ God reſiſteth the proude, and giueth grace to the humble.

7 ✤ [5] Submit your ſelues to God: reſiſt the deuill, and he will flee from you.

8 Drawe neere to God, and he will draw neere to you. Cleanſe your hands, ye ſinners, and purge your hearts, ye double minded.

9 [6] Suffer afflictions, and ſorow ye, and weepe: let your laughter be turned into mourning, and your ioy into [a] heauineſſe.

10 * Caſt downe your ſelues before the Lord, and he will lift you vp.

11 [7] Speake not euill one of another, brethren. He that ſpeaketh euill of his brother, or hee that condemneth his brother, ſpeaketh euill of the Law, and condemneth the Lawe: and if thou condemneſt the Lawe, thou art not an obſeruer of the Law, but a iudge.

[1] He goeth on forward in the ſame argument, condemning certaine other cauſes of warres and contentions to wit, vnbrideled pleaſures, and immoderate luſtes, by their effects, for ſo much as the Lord doth worthily make them voyd, ſo that they bring nothing els to them in whom they are, but incurable torments.

[2] He reprehendeth them by name, which are not aſhamed to goe about to make God the miniſter and helper of their luſts and pleaſures, in asking things which either are of themſelues vnlawfull, or being lawfull, aske them to wicked purpoſes and vſes.

[3] An other reaſon why ſuch vnbrideled luſtes and pleaſures are vtterly to be condemned, to wit, becauſe that he that giueth himſelfe to the world, diuorceth himſelfe from God, and breaketh the band of that holy and ſpirituall mariage. [4] The taking away of an obiection: Indeede our mindes runne headlong into theſe vices, but wee ought ſo much the more diligently take heede of them: which care and ſtudie ſhall not be in vaine, ſeeing that God reſiſteth the ſtubburne, and giueth that grace to the modeſt and humble that ſurmounteth all thoſe vices. ✤ Prou. 3, 34. 1. peter 5, 5. ✤ Epheſ. 4, 27. [5] The concluſion: Wee muſt ſet the contrary vertues againſt thoſe vices, and therefore whereas wee obeyed the ſuggeſtions of the deuill, wee muſt ſubmit our mindes to God, and reſiſt the deuill, with a certaine and aſſured hope of victorie: To be ſhort, wee muſt employ our ſelues to come neere vnto God by puritie and ſinceritie of life. [6] Hee goeth on in the ſame compariſon of contraries, and ſetteth againſt thoſe prophane ioyes an earneſt ſorowe of minde, and againſt pride and arrogancie, holy modeſtie. [a] By this worde the Grecians meant an heauineſſe ioyned with ſhamefaſtneſſe, which is to be ſeene in a caſt downe countenance, and ſetled as it were vpon the ground. * 1. Pet. 5, 6. [7] Hee reprehended moſt ſharpely another double miſchiefe of pride the one is in that the proude and arrogant will haue other men to liue according to their will and pleaſure, and therefore they doe moſt arrogantly condemne whatſoeuer pleaſeth them not: which thing cannot bee done without great iniurie to our onely Lawemaker, for by this meanes his Lawes are found fault withall, as not circumſpectly ynough written, and men chalenge that vnto themſelues which properly belongeth to God alone, in that they lay a Law vpon mens conſciences.

12 There is one Lawgiuer, which is able to ſaue, and to deſtroy, ✠ Who art thou that iudgeſt another man?

13 [8] Goe to now, ye that ſay, To day or to morow wee will goe into ſuch a citie, and continue there a yeere, and buy and ſell, and get gaine,

14 (And yet ye cannot tell what ſhallbe to morowe. For what is your life? It is euen a vapour that appeareth for a little time, and afterward vaniſheth away.)

15 For that ye ought to ſay, ✠ If the Lord will, and if we liue, we will doe this or that.

16 But now ye reioyce in your boaſtings: all ſuch reioycing is euill.

17 [9] Therefore to him that knoweth how to do well, and doeth it not, to him it is ſinne.

CHAP. V.

1 He threatneth the rich with Gods ſeuere iudgement, for their pride, 7 that the poore hearing the miſerable ende of the rich, 8 may patiently beare afflictions, 11 as Iob did, 14 euen in their diſtreſſes.

Goe [1] to nowe, ye rich men: weepe, and howle for your miſeries that ſhall come vpon you.

2 Your riches are corrupt, and your garments are moth eaten.

3 Your gold and ſiluer is cankered, and the ruſt of them ſhallbe a witneſſe againſt you, and ſhall eat your fleſh, as it vvere fire. Ye haue heaped vp treaſure for the laſt dayes.

4 Behold, the hire of the labourers, which haue reaped your fieldes (which is of you kept backe by fraude) crieth, and the cries of them which haue reaped, are entred into the [a] eares of the Lord of hoaſtes.

5 Yee haue liued in pleaſure on the earth, and in wantonneſſe. Ye haue [b] nouriſhed your hearts, as in a [c] day of ſlaughter.

6 Yee haue condemned, and haue killed the iuſt, and he hath not reſiſted you.

7 [2] Bee patient therefore, brethren, vnto the comming of the Lord. [3] Beholde, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruite of the earth, and hath long patience for it, vntill hee receiue the former, and the latter raine.

8 Be ye alſo patient therefore, and ſettle your hearts: for the comming of the Lord draweth neere.

9 [4] [d] Grudge not one againſt another, brethren, leaſt yee be condemned: [5] behold, the iudge ſtandeth before the doore.

10 [6] Take, my brethren, the Prophets for an enſample of ſuffering aduerſitie, and of long patience, which haue ſpoken in the name of the Lord.

11 Beholde, we count them bleſſed which endure. Yee haue heard of the patience of Iob, and haue knowen what [e] end the Lord made. For the Lord is very pitifull and mercifull.

12 [7] But before all things, my brethren, ✠ ſweare not, neither by heauen, nor by earth, nor by any other oathe: but let [f] your yea, be yea, and your nay, nay, leaſt ye fall into condemnation.

13 [8] Is any among you afflicted? Let him pray. Is any merry? Let him ſing.

14 [9] Is any ſicke among you? Let him call for the Elders of the Church, and let them pray for him, and anoint him with ✠ [g] oyle in the [h] Name of the Lord.

15 And the prayer of faith ſhall ſaue the ſicke, and the Lord ſhall raiſe him vp: and if he haue committed [i] ſinnes, they ſhallbe forgiuen him.

16 [10] Acknowledge your faultes one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed: [11] for the prayer of a righteous man auaileth much, if it be feruent.

17 ✠ Helias was a man ſubiect to like paſſions as we are, and he prayed earneſtly that it might not raine, and it rained not on the earth for three yeeres and ſixe moneths.

18 And he prayed againe: and the heauen gaue rayne, and the earth brought forth her fruit.

19 [12] Brethren, * If any of you hath erred from the trueth, and ſome man hath [k] conuerted him, 20 Let him know that hee which hath conuerted the ſinner from going aſtray out of his way, ſhall ſaue a ſoule from death, and ſhall hide a multitude of ſinnes.

✠ Rom. 14, 4.
8 The other fault is this: that men doe ſo confidently determine vpon theſe and thoſe matters and buſineſſes, as though that euery moment of their life did not depend of God.
✠ 1. Cor. 4, 19.
9 The concluſion of all the former treatiſe: The knowledge of the will of God doeth not onely nothing at all profite, vnleſſe the life be anſwerable vnto it, but alſo maketh the ſinnes farre more grieuous.

1 He denounceth vtter deſtruction to the wicked and prophane rich men, and ſuch as are drowned in their riotouſneſſe, mocking at their fooliſh confidence when as there is nothing indeed more vaine then ſuch things.
a The Lord who is more mightie then ye are, hath heard them.
b Yee haue pampered vp your ſelues.
c The Hebrewes call a day that is appointed to ſolemne banketting, a day of ſlaughter or feaſting.
2 He applieth that to the poore, which he ſpake againſt the rich, warning them to wait for the Lords comming patiently, who will reuenge the iniuries which the rich men doe them.
3 The taking away of an obiection: Although his comming ſeeme to linger, yet at the leaſt we muſt follow the husbandmen, who doe patiently waite for the times that are proper for the fruites of the earth. And againe, God will not deferre the leaſt iote of the time that he hath appointed.
4 Hee commendeth Chriſtian patience, ſo that whereas other through impatience vſe to accuſe one another, the faithfull on the contrary ſide complaine not, although they receiue iniurie.
d By grudging, hee meaneth a certaine inward complaining which betokeneth impatience.
5 The concluſion: The Lord is at the doore, who will defend his own, and reuenge his enemies, and therefore we need not to trouble our ſelues.

6 Becauſe moſt men are wont to obiect, that it is good to repell iniuries by what meanes ſoeuer, he ſetteth againſt that, the examples of the Fathers, whoſe patience had a moſt happy end, becauſe God as a moſt bountifull Father, neuer forſaketh his.
e What end the Lord gaue.
7 Becauſe euen the beſt men ſometimes through impatience breake out into oathes ſometime leſſer, ſometimes greater, the Apoſtle warneth vs to deteſt ſuch wickedneſſe, and to accuſtome our tongues to ſimple and true talke.
✠ Math. 5, 34.
f That that you haue to ſay or affirme, ſpeake or affirme it ſimply, and without an oathe: and that that you will denie, denie it ſimply and flatly.
8 He ſheweth the beſt remedie againſt all afflictions, to wit, prayers which haue their place both in ſorow and ioy.
9 He ſheweth peculiarly, to what phyſicians eſpecially wee muſt goe, when wee are diſeaſed, to wit, to the prayers of the Elders, which then alſo coulde cure the bodie, (for ſo much as the gift of healing was then in force) and take away the chiefeſt cauſe of ſickneſſes and diſeaſes, by obteining for the ſicke through their prayers and exhortations, remiſſion of ſinnes.
✠ Marke 6, 13.
g This was a ſigne of the gift of healing: and nowe ſeeing wee haue the gift no more, the ſigne is no longer neceſſary.
h By calling on the Name of the Lord.
i Hee hath reaſon in making mentions of ſinnes, for diſeaſes are for the moſt part ſent becauſe of ſinnes.
10 Becauſe God pardoneth their ſinnes which confeſſe and acknowledge them, and not theirs which iuſtifie themſelues, therefore the Apoſtle addeth, that wee ought freely to conferre one with another touching thoſe inwarde diſeaſes, that wee may helpe one another with our prayers.
11 Hee commendeth prayers by the effectes that come of them, that all men may vnderſtand that there is nothing more effectuall then they are, ſo that they proceede from a pure minde.

THE FIRST EPISTLE GENERALL OF PETER.

CHAP. I.

1 Hee extolleth Gods mercie ſhewed in Chriſt, which wee lay holde on by faith, and poſſeſſe through hope: 10 whereof the Prophets foretolde. 13 Hee exhorteth 15 to renounce the world, 23 and their former life, and ſo wholly yeeld themſelues to God.

PETER an Apoſtle of IESVS CHRIST, to the ſtrangers that dwell here and there throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Aſia and Bithynia,

2 [1] Elect according to the [a] foreknowledge of God the Father vnto [b] ſanctification of the Spirit,

1 Peter purpoſing to ſpeake of the dueties of a Chriſtian life, reaſoneth firſt of the principles and beginning of all Chriſtian actions, riſing farre higher then nature, and carying vs alſo farre aboue the ſame. For he ſheweth that wee which are otherwiſe of nature ſinners, were through the free mercie of God the Father firſt choſen from euerlaſting: then according to that euerlaſting decree were by a certaine ſecond creation made his ſonnes in Chriſt his onely begotten, by whoſe Spirit we are inwardly changed, and by whoſe blood we alſo are reconciled, to the end, that as Chriſt himſelfe roſe againe from the dead, we alſo might be receiued into that ſame heauenly and euerlaſting glory.
a Or according to the purpoſe of God, who neuer altereth nor changeth the ſame.
b That being ſet apart from the reſt of the wicked world, through the working of the holy Ghoſt, they ſhould be conſecrate to God, Epheſ. 1, 5.

through obedience and ſprinkeling of the blood of Ieſus Chriſt: Grace and peace be multiplied vnto you.

3 Bleſſed be God, euen the Father of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, which according to his aboundant mercie hath begotten vs againe vnto a [c] liuely hope by the reſurrection of Ieſus Chriſt from the dead,

4 To an inheritance immortall and vndefiled, and that withereth not, reſerued in heauen for vs,

5 [2] Which are kept by the power of God through faith vnto ſaluation, which is prepared to be ſhewed in the [d] laſt time.

6 Wherein ye reioyce, though now for a ſeaſon (if neede require) ye are in heauineſſe, through manifold tentations,

7 That the triall of your faith, being much more precious then golde that periſheth (though it be tried with fire) might be found vnto your praiſe, and honour and glory at the [e] appearing of Ieſus Chriſt:

8 Whome yee haue not ſeene, and yet loue him, in whome nowe, though yee ſee him not, yet doe you beleeue, and reioyce with ioy vnſpeakeable and glorious,

9 Receiuing the ‖ ende of your faith, euen the ſaluation of your ſoules.

10 [3] Of the which ſaluation the Prophets haue inquired and ſearched, which prophecied of the grace that ſhould come vnto you,

11 Searching when or what time the Spirit which teſtified before of Chriſt which was in them, ſhoulde declare the ſufferings that ſhould come vnto Chriſt, and the glory that ſhould follow.

12 Vnto whome it was reuealed, that not vnto themſelues, but vnto vs they ſhoulde miniſter the things, which are ſhewed vnto you by them which haue preached vnto you the Goſpell by the holy Ghoſt [f] ſent downe from heauen, the which things the Angels deſire to beholde.

13 [4] Wherefore [g] girde vp the loynes of your minde: be ſober, [5] and truſt [h] perfectly on that grace [6] that is brought vnto you, [7] in the reuelation of Ieſus Chriſt,

14 [8] As obedient children, not faſhioned your ſelues vnto the former luſtes of your ignorance:

15 But as he which hath called you, is holy, ſo be ye holy in ✣ all maner of conuerſation, 16 [9] Becauſe it is written, ✣ Be ye holy, for I am holy.

17 [10] And if yee [i] call him Father, which without * reſpect of perſon iudgeth according to euery mans worke, paſſe the time of your dwelling here in feare.

18 [11] Knowing that yee were not redeemed with corruptible things, as ſiluer and golde, from your vaine conuerſation, receiued by the traditions of the fathers, 19 ✣ But with the precious blood of Chriſt, as of a Lambe vndefiled, and without ſpot.

20 [12] Which was ✣ ordeined before the [k] foundation of the world, but was declared in the laſt times for your ſakes, 21 Which by his meanes doe beleeue in God that rayſed him from the dead, and gaue him glorie, that your faith and hope might be in God.

22 [13] Hauing purified your ſoules in obeying the trueth through the Spirit, to * loue brotherly without faining, loue one another with a pure heart feruently:

23 Being borne anew, not of mortall ſeede, but of immortall, by the word of God, who liueth and endureth for euer.

24 [14] For all ✣ [l] fleſh is as graſſe, and all the glorie of man is as the floure of graſſe. The graſſe withereth, and the floure falleth away.

25 [15] But the worde of the Lord endureth for euer: and this is the worde which is preached among you.

[c] Euerlaſting hope.

[2] Nowe hee ſheweth by what way wee come vnto that glory, to wit, through all kinde of afflictions, wherein notwithſtanding faith maketh vs ſo ſecure, that wee are not onely not ouercome with ſorowe, but alſo through the beholding of God himſelfe (who otherwiſe is inuiſible) with the eyes of faith are vnſpeakeably ioyfull: becauſe all ſuch things, as they are but for a time, ſo are they not applied vnto vs to deſtroy vs, but as it were by fire to purge vs, and to make vs perfite, that at the length we may obteine ſaluation.

[d] This is that time which Daniel calleth the time of the ende, when as that great reſtoring of all things ſhallbe, which all creatures looke for. Rom. 8, 19.

[e] He ſpeaketh of the ſecond comming of Chriſt.

‖ Or, reward.

[3] He putteth a difference betweene true faith, that is to ſay, that faith which onely hath an eye to the doctrine of the Prophets and Apoſtles, and falſe faith: Afterward hee maketh two degrees of one and the ſelfe ſame faith, according to the maner of the diuers reuelations, when as indeede it is but one onely faith: Thirdly he ſayth, that the preaching of the Apoſtles is the fulfilling or the preaching of the Prophets, although the latter end of it be as yet looked for of the very Angels.

[f] He alludeth to the prophecie of Ioel, which was exhibited vpon the day of Pentecoſt, in the Apoſtles, as it were in the firſt fruits of the holy Ghoſt, which this ſame our Peter declareth, Act. 2, 6.

[4] Hee goeth from faith to hope, which is in deede a companion that can not be ſundred from faith: and he vſeth an argument taken of compariſon: We ought not to be wearied in looking for ſo excellent a thing, which the very Angels waite for with great deſire.

[g] This is a borrowed ſpeach, taken of a common vſage amongſt them: for by reaſon that they woare long garments, they could not trauaile vnleſſe they girded vp themſelues: and hence it is that Chriſt ſayde, Let your loynes be girded vp.

[5] He ſetteth forth very briefly, what maner of hope ours ought to be, to wit, continuall, vntill we enioy the thing we hope for: then, what we haue to hope for, to wit, grace (that is, free ſaluation) reuealed to vs in the Goſpell, and not that, that men doe raſhly and fondly promiſe to themſelues.

[h] Soundly and ſincerely.

[6] An argument to ſtirre vp our mindes, ſeeing that God doeth not wait till wee ſeeke him, but cauſeth ſo great a benefit to be brought euen vnto vs.

[7] Hee ſetteth out the ende of faith, leaſt any man ſhould promiſe himſelfe, either ſooner or later that full ſaluation, to wit, the latter comming of Chriſt: and therewith all warneth vs, not to meaſure the dignitie of the Goſpell according to the preſent ſtate, ſeeing that that which we are now, is not yet reuealed.

[8] Hee paſſeth from faith and hope, to the fruites of them both, which are vnderſtoode in the name of obedience: And it conſiſteth in two things, in renouncing our luſtes, and liuing godly: which luſtes haue their beginning of that blindneſſe wherein all men are borne: but holineſſe proceedeth from the grace and fauour of GOD, which adopteth vs, and therefore regenerateth vs, that the father and the children may be of one diſpoſition.

✣ Luke 1, 75.

[9] Hee ſheweth that ſanctification doeth neceſſarily follow adoption.

✣ Leuit. 11, 44 and 19, 2. and 20, 7.

[10] As before he diſtinguiſhed true faith and hope from falſe, ſo doeth hee now obedience, ſetting the quicke and ſharpe ſight of God, againſt an outward maske, and earneſt reuerence againſt vaine ſeueritie.

[i] If you will be called the ſonnes of that Father.

* Deut. 10, 17. rom. 2, 11. gal. 2, 6.

[11] An exhortation, wherein hee ſetteth foorth the excellencie and greatneſſe of the benefite of God the Father, in ſanctifying vs by the death of his owne Sonne. And hee partly ſetteth the purifyings of the Lawe againſt the thing it ſelfe, that is, againſt the blood of Chriſt, and partly alſo mens traditions which hee condemneth as vtterly vaine & ſuperſtitious, bee they neuer ſo olde and ancient.

✣ 1. Cor. 6, 20. and 7, 23. hebr. 9, 14. 1. iohn 1, 7. reuel. 1, 5.

[12] The taking away of an obiection: what was done to the world before that Chriſt was ſent into the worlde? was there no holineſſe before, and was there no Church? The Apoſtle anſwereth, that Chriſt was ordeined and appointed to redeeme and deliuer mankinde, before that mankinde was: much leſſe was there any Church without him before his comming into the fleſh: yet we are happieſt aboue the reſt, to whome Chriſt was exhibited indeede, in this that hee hauing ſuffered and ouercome death for vs, doeth nowe moſt effectually worke in vs by the vertue of his Spirit, to create in vs faith, hope, and charitie.

✣ Rom. 16, 25. epheſ. 3, 9. coloſſ. 1, 26. 2. timoth. 1, 10. titus 1, 2.

[k] From euerlaſting.

[13] Hee commendeth the practiſe of obedience, that is, charitie: earneſtly beating into their heads againe, that he ſpeaketh not of any common charitie, and ſuch as proceedeth from that our corrupt nature, but of that whoſe beginning is the Spirit of God, which purifieth our ſoules through the worde layed holde on by faith, and ingendreth alſo in vs a ſpiritually and euerlaſting life, as God is moſt pure and truely liuing.

* Chap. 2, 17. roman. 2, 10. epheſ. 4, 2.

[14] A reaſon why wee haue neede of this heauenly generation, to wit, becauſe that men, bee their glorie neuer ſo great, are of nature voyde of all true and ſound goodneſſe.

✣ Eſai. 40. 6. iames 1, 10.

[l] The worde (fleſh) ſheweth the weakeneſſe of our nature, which is chiefly to bee conſidered in the fleſh it ſelfe.

[15] Againe, leaſt any man ſhould ſeeke that ſpirituall force and vertue in fained imaginations, the Apoſtle calleth vs backe to the worde of God: teaching vs furthermore, that there is no other worde of the Lord to bee looked for, then this which is preached, in which onely we muſt truſt.

CHAP. II.

He exhorteth the newe borne in faith, to leade their liues anſwerable to the ſame: 6 and leaſt their faith ſhoulde ſtagger, he bringeth in that which was foretolde touching Chriſt. 11 Then hee willeth them to be obedient to Magiſtrates, 21 and that they patiently beare aduerſitie after Chriſtes example.

WHerfore, ✠ [1] laying aſide all maliciouſneſſe, and all guile, and diſſimulation, and enuie, and all euill ſpeaking,

2 [2] As a newe borne babes deſire that ſincere milke of the worde, that yee may growe thereby,

3 [3] Becauſe yee ‖ haue taſted that the Lord is bountifull.

4 [4] To whome comming as vnto a liuing ſtone, diſallowed of men, but choſen of God and precious,

5 Yee alſo as liuely ſtones, be made a ſpirituall houſe, [5] an holy ☨ Prieſthood to offer vp ſpirituall ſacrifices acceptable to God by Ieſus Chriſt.

6 [6] Wherefore alſo it is conteyned in the Scripture, * Beholde, I put in Sion a chiefe corner ſtone, elect and precious, and hee that beleeueth therein, ſhall not be aſhamed.

7 [7] Vnto you therefore which beleeue, it is precious: but vnto them which be diſobedient, the ✱ ſtone which the builders diſallowed, the ſame is made the head of the corner,

8 And a ✱ ſtone to ſtumble at, and a rocke of offence, euen to them which ſtumble at the worde, being diſobedient, vnto the which thing they were euen ordained.

9 [8] But yee are a choſen generation, a royall ✠ Prieſthood, an holy nation, a people ſet at libertie, that ye ſhould ſhew foorth the vertues of him that hath called you out of darkneſſe into his marueilous light,

10 ☨ Which in time paſt were not a people, yet are now the people of God: which in time paſt were not vnder mercy, but now haue obteined mercie.

11 [9] Dearely beloued, [10] I beſeech you, as ſtrangers and pilgrims, * [11] abſteine from fleſhly luſts [12] which fight againſt the ſoule,

12 [13] ✱ And haue your conuerſation honeſt among the Gentiles, that they which ſpeake euill of you as of euill doers, [14] may by your good ✱ workes which they ſhall ſee, gloriſie God in the day of [b] viſitation.

13 [15] * Therefore ſubmit your ſelues vnto [c] all manner ordinance of man [16] for the Lords ſake, [17] whether it be vnto the King, as vnto the ſuperiour, 14 Or vnto gouernours, as vnto them that are ſent of him, [18] for the puniſhment of euill doers, and for the praiſe of them that doe well.

15 [19] For ſo is the will of God, that by well doing yee may put to ſilence the ignorance of the fooliſh men.

16 As free, and not as hauing the libertie for a cloake of malicioſneſſe, but as the ſeruants of God.

1 Hauing laid for the foundation the Spirit of God effectually working by the word, and hauing built thereupon three vertues which are the grounds of all Christian actions, to wit, faith, hope, and charitie: now he proceedeth to a generall exhortation, the firſt member whereof is, that we flee all ſhewe, both of ſecret and alſo open malice.

2 The ſecond is, that being newly begotten and borne of the new ſeede of the vncorrupt word drawing and ſucking greedily the ſame word as milke, we ſhould more and more as it were growe vp in that ſpirituall life. And he calleth it, Syncere, not onely becauſe it is a moſt pure thing, but alſo that we ſhould take heede of them which corrupt it. a As becommeth new men. 3 He commendeth that ſpirituall nouriſhment for the ſweeteneſſe and profite of it. ‖ Or, doe taſte. 4 He goeth on forward in the ſame exhortation, and vſeth another kinde of borowed ſpeech alluding to the Temple. Therefore he ſayeth, that the companie of the faithfull is as it were a certaine holy and ſpirituall building, built of liuely ſtones, the foundation whereof is Chriſt, as a liuely ſtone ſuſteining all that are ioyned vnto him with his liuing vertue, and knitting them together with himſelfe, although this ſo great a treaſure be neglected of men. 5 Going forward in the ſame ſimilitude, he compareth vs nowe to Prieſtes placed to this ende in that ſpirituall temple, that wee ſhould ſerue him with ſpirituall worſhip, that is, with holineſſe and righteouſnes: but as the temple, ſo is the Prieſthood built vpon Chriſt, in whom onely all our ſpirituall offerings are accepted. ☨ Reuel. 1,6. 6 He prooueth it by the teſtimonie of the Prophet Eſai. * Eſai. 28,16. rom. 9,33. 7 By ſetting the moſt bleſſed condition of the beleeuers, and the moſt miſerable of the rebellious one againſt another, hee pricketh forward the beleeuers, and triumpheth ouer the other: and alſo preuenteth an offence which ariſeth hereof, that none doe more reſiſt this doctrine of the Goſpell, then they which are chiefeſt amongſt the people of God, as were at that time that Peter wrote theſe things, the Prieſtes and Elders, and Scribes. Therefore he anſwereth firſt of all that there is no cauſe why any man ſhould be aſtoniſhed at this their ſtubburnneſſe, as though it were a ſtrange matter, ſeeing we haue beene forewarned ſo long before, that it ſhould ſo come to paſſe: and moreouer, that it pleaſed God to create and make certaine to this ſelfe ſame purpoſe, that the Sonne of God might be glorified in their iuſt condemnation. Thirdly, for that the glory of Chriſt is hereby ſet foorth greatly, whereas notwithſtanding Chriſt remayneth the ſure head of his Church, and they that ſtumble at him, caſt downe and ouerthrow themſelues, and not Chriſt. Forthly, although they be created to this ende and purpoſe, yet their fall and decay is not to be attributeth to God, but to their owne obſtinate ſtubburnneſſe which commeth betweene Gods decree, and the execution thereof or their condemnation, and is the true and proper cauſe of their deſtruction. ✠ Pſal. 118,21. matth. 21,41. act. 4,11. ✱ Iſai. 8,14. rom. 9,33. 8 The contrary member, to wit, he deſcribeth the ſingular excellencie of the elect: and alſo leſt any man ſhould doubt whether hee be choſen or not, the Apoſtle calleth vs backe to the effectuall calling, that is, to the voyce of the Goſpell ſounding both in our eares and mindes by the outward preaching and Sacraments, whereby wee may certeinely vnderſtand that euerlaſting decree of our ſaluation, (which otherwiſe is moſt ſecret and hidden) and that through the onely mercy of God, who freely chuſeth and calleth vs. Therefore this onely remaineth, ſayth he, that by all meanes poſſible wee ſet foorth ſo great goodneſſe of the moſt mightie God.

✠ Exod. 19,6.

☨ Hoſe 2,23. rom. 9,25.

9 He returneth to that generall exhortation.

10 A reaſon why we ought to liue holily, to wit, becauſe we are citizens of heauen, and therefore we ought to liue according to the Lawes not of this world, which is moſt corrupt, but of the heauenly citie, although we be ſtrangers in the world.

* Rom. 13,14. gala. 5,16.

11 Another argument: The children of God liue not according to the fleſh, that is, according to that corrupt nature, but according to the ſpirit. Therefore fleſhly motions ought not to beare rule in vs.

12 The third argument: for although thoſe luſtes flatter vs, yet they ceaſe not to fight againſt our ſaluation. 13 The fourth argument, taken of the profit of ſo doing: for by this meanes alſo wee prouide for our good name and eſtimation, whileſt wee compell them at length to change their mindes, which ſpeake euill of vs. ✱ Chap. 3,16. 14 The fifth argument, which alſo is of great force: Becauſe the glory of God is greatly ſet foorth by that meanes, whileſt by example of our honeſt life, euen the moſt prophane men are brought vnto God, and ſubmit themſelues vnto him. ✱ Matth. 5,16. b When God ſhall alſo haue mercy on them. 15 That which he ſpake generally, he now expoundeth by partes, deſcribing ſeuerally euery mans duety. And firſt of all he ſpeaketh of obedience which is due both to the Lawes, and alſo to the Magiſtrates both higher and lower. * Rom. 13,1. c By ordinance, is meant the framing and ordering of ciuill gouernment: which hee calleth ordinance of man, not becauſe man inuented it, but becauſe it is proper to men. 16 The firſt argument: becauſe the Lord is the authour and reuenger of this policie of men, that is, which is ſet amongſt men: and therefore the true ſeruants of the Lord muſt aboue all others be diligent obſeruers of this order. 17 He preuenteth a cauill which is made by ſome, that ſay they will obey Kings and the higher magiſtrates, and yet contemne their miniſters: as though their miniſters were not armed with their authoritie which ſent them. 18 The ſecond argument taken of the end of this order, which is not onely moſt profitable, but alſo very neceſſary: ſeeing that by this meanes vertue is rewarded, and vice puniſhed: wherein the quietneſſe and happineſſe of this life conſiſteth. 19 Hee declareth the firſt argument more amply, ſhewing that Chriſtian libertie doeth amongſt all things leaſt, or not at all conſiſt herein, to wit, to caſt off the bridle of Lawes, (as at that time ſome altogether vnſkilfull in the kingdome of God reported) but rather in this, that liuing holily according to the will of God, wee ſhould make manifeſt to all men, that the Goſpel is not a cloake for ſinne and wickedneſſe, ſeeing we are in ſuch ſort free, that yet we are ſtill the ſeruants of God, and not of ſinne. 20 He diuideth the ciuill life of man, by occaſion of thoſe things which he ſpake into two generall parts: to wit, into thoſe dueties which priuate men owe to priuate men, and eſpecially the faithfull to the faithfull, and into that ſubiection whereby inferiours are bound to their ſuperiours: but ſo, that Kings be not made equall to God, ſeeing that feare is due to God, and honour to Kings. d Be charitable and duetifull towardes all men. ✠ Chap. 1,22. rom. 12,10. e The aſſemblie and fellowſhip of the brethren, as Zach. 11,14. ☨ Epheſ. 5,6. coloſſ. 3,22. 21 He goeth to the duetie of ſeruants towards their maſters, which he deſcribeth with theſe boundes, that ſeruants ſubmit themſelues willingly and not by conſtraint, not onely to the good and courteous, but alſo to the froward and ſharpe maſters. * 2. Cor. 7,10. 22 The taking away of an obiection: Indeed the condition of ſeruants is hard, eſpecially if they haue froward maſters: but this their ſubiection ſhall be ſo much the more acceptable to God, if his will preuaile more with ſeruants, thē the maſters iniuries.

f Becauſe he maketh a conſcience of it to offered God, by whoſe good will and appointment, he knoweth this burden is layd vpon him.

23 He mitigateth the grieuouſneſſe of ſeruitude, while he ſheweth plainely that Chriſt died alſo for ſeruants, that they ſhould beare ſo much the more patiently this inequality betwixt men which are of one ſelfeſame nature, moreouer ſetting before them Chriſt that Lord of Lords for an enſample, he ſignifieth that they cannot but ſeeme too delicate, which ſhew themſelues more grieued in bearing of iniuries, then Chriſt himſelfe who was moſt iuſt, and moſt ſharpely of all afflicted, and yet was moſt patient. g A borrowed kinde of ſpeech taken of painters and ſchoolmaſters. * Eſai.53,9. 1.Iohn 3,5. 24 He ſheweth them a remedie againſt iniuries, to wit, that they commend their cauſe to God, by the enſample of Chriſt. 25 Hee ſeemeth now to turne his ſpeech to maſters, which haue alſo themſelues a maſter and iudge in heauen: who will iuſtly reuenge the iniuries that are done to ſeruants without any reſpect of perſons. * Eſai.53,5. mat.8,17. 16 He calleth the ſeruants backe from the conſideration of the iniuries which they are conſtrained to beare, to thinke vpon the greatneſſe, and the end of the benefite receiued of Chriſt.

* Coloſſ.3,18. epheſ.5,22.

1 In the third place he ſetteth forth the wiues duetie to their husbands, commanding them to be obedient.

2 He ſpeaketh namely of them which had huſbands that were not Chriſtians, which ought ſo much the more be ſubiect to their husbands, that by their honeſt and chaſte conuerſation they may giue them to the Lord.

* 1.Tim.2.9.

3 He condemneth the riot and exceſſe of women and ſetteth foorth their true apparelling ſuch as is precious before God: to wit, the inward and incorruptible which conſiſteth in a meeke and quiet ſpirit. a Who hath his ſeate faſtened in the heart: ſo that the hid man is ſet againſt the outward decking of the body. b Precious indeed, and ſo taken of God. 4 An argument taken of the example of women, and eſpecially of Sara who was the mother of all beleeuers. * Gen.18,12. 5 Becauſe women are of nature fearefull, hee giueth them to vnderſtand, that he requireth of them that ſubiection, which is not wrung out of them either by force or feare. * 1.Cor 7,3. 6 He teacheth husbands alſo their dueties, to wit, that the more vnderſtanding and wiſedome they haue, the more wiſely and circumſpectly they behaue themſelues. c Doe all the dueties of wedlocke. d The more wiſedoome the husband hath, the more circumſpectly hee muſt behaue himſelfe in bearing thoſe commodities, which through the womans weakeneſſe oft times cauſe trouble both to the husband and the wife. 7 The ſecond argument, becauſe the wife notwithſtanding that ſhe is weaker by nature then the man, is an excellent inſtrument of the man made to farre moſt excellent vſes: whereupon it followeth that ſhe is not therefore to be neglected becauſe ſhe is weake, but on the contrarie part ſhee ought to be ſo much the more caried for. e Hauing an honeſt care of her.

f The woman is called a veſſell after the manner of the Hebrewes, becauſe the husband vſeth her as his fellow and helper to liue faithfully before God.

8 The third argument: for that they are equall in that which is the chiefeſt (that is to ſay, in the benefit of eternall life) which otherwiſe are vnequall as touching the gouernance and conuerſation at home, and therefore they are not to be deſpiſed although they be weake.

g Of that gracious and free benefite whereby we haue euerlaſting life giuen vs.

9 The fourth argument All brawlings and chidings muſt be eſchewed, becauſe they hinder prayers and the whole ſeruice of God wherevnto both the husband and the wife are equally called.

10 He returneth to common exhortations and commendeth concord and whatſoeuer things pertaine to the maintenance of peace and mutuall loue. * Prouerb.17,13. and 20,21. mat.5,39. rom.12,17. 1.theſ 5,15 11 We muſt not onely not recompence iniurie for iniurie, but we muſt alſo recompence them with benefits 12 An argument taken of compariſon: Seeing that wee our ſelues are called of God whom we offend ſo often, to ſo great a benefite (ſo farre is hee from reuenging the iniuries which we doe vnto him) ſhall we rather make our ſelues vnworthy of ſo great bountifulneſſe, then forgiue one anothers faults? And from this verſe to the end of the chapter, there is a digreſſion or going from the matter he is in hand with, to exhort vs valiantly to beare afflictions. * Pſal.34.13. 13 A ſecret obiection. But this our patience ſhall be nothing els but a fleſhing and hardening of the wicked in their wickedneſſe, to make them to ſet vpon vs more boldly, and to deſtroy vs. (Nay ſaith the Apoſtle by the words of Dauid) to liue without doing hurt, and to follow after peace when it fleeth away, is the way to the happie and quiet peace. And if ſo be any man be afflicted for doing iuſtly, the Lord maketh all things, and will in his time deliuer the godly, which cry vnto him, and will deſtroy the wicked. h Leade a bleſſed and happy life. * Eſai.1,16. i This word (Face) after the maner of the Hebrewes, is taken for (anger.) 14 The ſecond argument: when the wicked are prouoked, they are more wayward: therefore they muſt rather be ouercome with good turnes: And if they cannot be gotten by that meanes alſo, yet notwithſtanding wee ſhall be bleſſed, if we ſuffer for righteouſneſſe ſake. * Matth.5,10. 15 A moſt certaine counſell in afflictions, be they neuer ſo terrible, to be of a conſtant minde, and to ſtand faſt. But how ſhall we attaine vnto it? If we ſanctifie God in our minds and hearts, that is to ſay, if we reſt vpon him, as one that is Almighty, that loueth mankinde, that is good and true indeede. * Eſai.8,12,13. k Be not diſmayed as they are. l Giue him all praiſe and glory, and hang onely on him. 16 Hee will haue vs when we are afflicted for righteouſneſſe ſake, to be carefull not for redeeming of our life, either with denying, or renouncing the trueth, or with like violence, or any ſuch meanes: but rather to giue an account of our faith boldly, and yet with a meeke ſpirit, and full to godly reuerence, that the enemies may not haue any thing iuſtly to obiect, but may rather be aſhamed of themſelues. 17 A reaſon which ſtandeth vpon two generall rules of Chriſtianitie, which notwithſtanding all men allow not of. The one is, if we muſt needs ſuffer afflictions, it is better to ſuffer wrongfully then rightfully: the other is this, becauſe we are ſo afflicted, not by happe, but by the will of our God. * Rom.5,6. heb.9,15. 18 A proofe of either of the rules, by the example of Chriſt himſelfe our chiefe paterne who was afflicted, not for his owne ſins (which were none) but for ours, and that according to his Fathers decree. 19 An argument taken of compariſon: Chriſt the iuſt ſuffered for vs that are vniuſt, and ſhall it grieue vs that are vniuſt to ſuffer for the iuſtes cauſe? 20 Another argument being partly taken of things coupled together, to wit, beauſe Chriſt bringeth vs to his Father that ſame way that he went himſelfe, and partly from the cauſe efficient: to wit, becauſe Chriſt is not onely ſet before vs for an example to follow, but alſo hee holdeth vs vp by his vertue in all the difficulties of this life, vntill he bring vs to his Father.

bring vs to God, 21 and was put to death concerning the m fleſh, but was quickened by the ſpirit.

19 22. By ‖ the which he alſo went, and preached vnto the ‖ ſpirits that are in priſon.

20 Which were in time paſſed diſobedient, when n once the long ſuffering of God aboade in the dayes of * Noe, while the Arke was preparing, wherein few, that is, eight o ſoules were ſaued in the water.

21 23 Whereof the baptiſme that now is, anſwering that figure, (vvhich is not a putting away of the filth of the fleſh, but a confident demaunding with a good conſcience maketh to p God) ſaueth vs alſo 24 by the reſurrection of Ieſus Chriſt.

22 Which is at the right hand of God, gone into heauen, to whom the Angels, and Powers, and might are ſubiect.

21 Another argument taken of the happy end of theſe afflictions, wherein alſo Chriſt goeth before vs both in example and vertues, as one who ſuffered moſt grieuous torments euen vnto death, although but in one part onely of him, to wit, in the fleſh or mans nature, but yet became conquerour by the vertue of his diuinity. m As touching his manhood, for his body was dead, and his ſoule felt the ſorrowes of death. 22 A ſecret obiection: Chriſt indeed might do this, but what is that to vs? yet (ſaith the Apoſtle) for Chriſt hath ſhewed foorth this vertue in all ages both to the preſeruation of the godly, were they neuer ſo few and miſerable, and to reuenge the rebellion of his enemies, as it appeareth by the hiſtorie of the flood: for Chriſt is he which in thoſe dayes (when God through his patience appointed a time of repentance to the world) was preſent not in corporall preſence, but by his diuine vertue, preaching repentance euen by the mouth of Noe himſelfe who then prepared the Arke, to thoſe diſobedient ſpirits which are now in priſon waiting for the full recompenſe of their rebellion, and ſaued thoſe fewe (that is, eight onely perſons) in the water. ‖ By the vertue of which Spirit, that is to ſay of the diuinity: therefore this word, Spirit, cannot in this place be taken for the ſoule, vnleſſe we will ſay, that Chriſt was raiſed vp againe, and quickened by the vertue of his ſoule. ‖ He calleth them ſpirits, in reſpect of his time, not in reſpect of the time that they were in the fleſh. n This word (once) ſheweth that there was a furthermoſt day appointed; and if that were once paſt, there ſhould be no more. * Gen.6,14. mat.24.33. luke 17,26. o Men. 23 A proportionall applying of the former example to the times which followed the comming of Chriſt: for that preſeruation of Noe in the waters was a figure of our Baptiſme, not as though that materiall water of Baptiſme ſaueth vs, as thoſe waters which bare vp the Arke ſaued Noe, but becauſe Chriſt with his inward vertue, which the outward Baptiſme ſhadoweth, preſerueth vs being waſhed, ſo that wee may call vpon God with a good conſcience. p The conſcience being ſanctified may freely call vpon God. 24 That ſelfe ſame vertue, whereby Chriſt roſe againe, and now being caried into heauen, hath receiued all power, doeth at this day defend and preſerue vs.

CHAP. IV.

1 He bringeth in Chriſts example, and applieth it, 6 to the mortifying of the fleſh, eſpecially commending Charity: 12 And ſo intreateth of patience. 19 That it is neceſſary that correction begin at the Church.

Foraſmuch 1 then as Chriſt hath ſuffered for vs in the fleſh, arme your ſelues likewiſe with the ſame mind, vvhich is, that he which hath ſuffered in the fleſh, hath ceaſed from ſinne,

2 That he henceforward ſhould liue (as much time as a remaineth in the fleſh) not after the luſts of men, but after the will of God.

3 * 2 For it is ſufficient for vs that we haue ſpent the time paſt of the life, after the luſt b of the Gentiles walking in wantonnes, luſts, drunkennes, in gluttony, drinkings, and in abominable idolatries.

4 3 Wherein it ſeemeth to them c ſtrange, that ye run not with them vnto the ſame exceſſe of riot: therefore ſpeake they euill of you.

5 Which ſhall giue account to him, that is ready to iudge quicke and dead.

6 4 For vnto this purpoſe was the Goſpell preached alſo vnto the dead, that they might be condemned according to men in the fleſh, but might liue according to God in the ſpirit.

7 5 Now the end of all things is at hand. Bee yee therefore ſober, and watching in prayer.

8 6 But aboue all things haue feruent loue among you: * for loue ſhall couer the multitude of ſinnes.

9 7 Be ye * harberous one to another, without grudging.

10 8 * Let euery man as he hath receiued the gift, miniſter the ſame one to another, 9 as good diſpoſers of the manifold grace of God.

11 10 If any man ſpeake, let him ſpeake as the words of God. If any man miniſter, let him doe it as of the ability which God miniſtreth, that God in all things may bee glorified through Ieſus Chriſt, to whom is praiſe and dominion for euer, and euer, Amen.

12 11 Dearely beloued, thinke it not d ſtrange 12 concerning the fiery triall, which is among you to prooue you as though ſome ſtrange thing were come vnto you.

13 13 But reioyce, inaſmuch as ye are partakers of Chriſts ſufferings, that when his glory ſhall appeare, ye may be glad and reioyce.

14 * 14 If ye be railed vpon for the Name of Chriſt, bleſſed are yee: for the e ſpirit of glorie and of God reſteth vpon you: vvhich on their part is euill ſpoken of, but on your part is glorified.

15 15 But let none of you ſuffer as a murtherer, or as a thiefe, or an euill doer, or as a buſiebody in other mens matters.

16 But if any man ſuffer as a Chriſtian, let him not be aſhamed: but let him glorifie God in this behalfe.

17 16 For the time is come that iudgement muſt begin at the houſe of God. 17 If it firſt begin at vs, what ſhall the end be of them which obey not the Goſpel of God?

18 * And if the righteous ſcarcely bee ſaued,

1 Hauing ended his digreſſion and ſliding from his matter, now he returneth to the exhortation which he brake off, taking occaſion by that which he ſaid touching the death, and reſurrection of Chriſt, ſo defining our ſanctification, that to be ſanctified, is all one as to ſuffer in the fleſh, that is to ſay: to leaue off from our wickedneſſe and viciouſneſſe: and to riſe againe to God, that is to ſay, to be renued, by the vertue of the holy Ghoſt, that we may lead the reſt of our life which remaineth, after the will of God. a So much of this preſent life as remaineth yet to be paſſed ouer. * Epheſ.4,22. 2 By putting vs in minde of the diſhoneſty of our former life led in the filth of ſinne, he calleth vs to earneſt repentance. b Wickedly and licentiouſly after the maner of the Gentiles. 3 That wee be not mooued with the enemies peruerſe and ſlanderous iudgements of vs, wee haue to ſet againſt them that laſt iudgement of God which remaineth for them, for none, whether they bee then found liuing, or were dead before, ſhall eſcape it. c They thinke it a new and ſtrange matter. 4 A digreſſion becauſe hee made mention of the laſt generall iudgement. And he preuenteth an obiection, that ſeeing Chriſt came very lately, they may ſeeme to be excuſable which died before. But this the Apoſtle denieth, for (ſaith he) this ſelfe ſame Goſpell was preached vnto them alſo: (for he ſpeaketh vnto the Iewes) and that to the ſame end that I now preach it vnto you, to wit, that the fleſh being aboliſhed and put away, (that is to ſay, that wicked and naughtie corruption which reigneth in men) they ſhould ſuffer themſelues to be gouerned by the vertue of the Spirit of God.

5 He returneth to his purpoſe, vſing an argument taken from the circumſtance of the time, becauſe the laſt end is at hand, and therefore we muſt ſo much the more diligently watch and pray with true ſobriety of minde. 6 Hee commendeth charity of one toward another, becauſe it doeth as it were bury a multitude of ſinnes, and therefore preſerueth and maintaineth peace and concord: for they that loue one another, doe eaſily forgiue one another their offence. * Prou.10,12. 7 Of all the duties of charity, he commendeth one, namely, which was at that time moſt neceſſary, to wit, hoſpitality, which he will haue to be voluntary and moſt curteous and bountifull. * Rom.12,13. hebr.13,2. 8 He ſheweth the vſe of charity, to wit, that euery man beſtow that gift which he hath receiued to the profite of his neighbour. * Rom.12.6. phil.2,14. 9 A reaſon, becauſe that what gift ſoeuer wee haue, we haue receiued it of God vpon this condition, to be his diſpoſers and ſtewards. 10 He reckoneth vp two kindes of theſe gifts as chiefe, to wit, the office of teaching in the Church, and the other Eccleſiaſticall functions, wherein two things ſpecially are to be obſerued, to wit, that the pure word of God bee taught, and whatſoeuer is done, be referred to the glorie of God the Father, in Chriſt, as to the proper marke. 11 Becauſe the croſſe is ioyned with the ſincere profeſſion of Religion, the Apoſtle fitly repeateth that which hee touched before, warning vs not to bee troubled at perſecutions and afflictions, as a newe and ſtrange thing. d As though ſome new thing had befallen you, which you neuer thought of before. 12 The firſt reaſon: Becauſe the Lord meaneth not to conſume vs with this fire (as it were) but to purge vs of our droſſe, and make vs perfite. 13 Another reaſon: Becauſe the afflictions of the godly and wicked differ very much, and chiefly in three points. Firſt, becauſe the godly communicate with Chriſt in their afflictions, and therefore ſhall in their time be partakers alſo of his glory. * Matth.10. 14 Secondly, becauſe that although the infidels thinke farre otherwiſe, who in afflicting the godly, blaſpheme God, yet the godly in that they are ſo railed vpon, are honoured of God with the true ſpirituall glory, and their adoption ſealed in them by the Spirit of God. e By Spirit hee meaneth the gifts of the Spirit. 15 The third difference: for the godly are not afflicted for their euill doings, but for righteouſneſſe ſake as Chriſtians: whereby it commeth to paſſe that the croſſe, ſeeing it is a teſtimonie vnto them of faith and righteouſneſſe, miniſtreth vnto them not an occaſion of ſorrow, but of vnſpeakeable ioy: now the Apoſtle propoundeth the third difference vnder the forme of an exhortation. 16 The third reaſon becauſe the Lord of all the world being eſpecially carefull for them of his houſhold, doeth therefore chaſtiſe them firſt of all, yet ſo that hee keepeth a meaſure in his greateſt ſeueritie: And as he hath alwayes vſed to doe heretofore, ſo doth he now ſpecially when as he exhibited himſelfe in perſon to his Church. 17 Leaſt the godly ſhould be offended and ſtumble at that vaine ſhadow of felicitie of the wicked, as though God were not the gouernour of the world, for that the wicked are in good caſe, and the godly in euill, the Apoſtle teacheth by an argument of a compariſon of them together, that God who ſpareth not his owne, but nurtureth them vnder the croſſe, will at length in his time handle the rebellious and wicked farre otherwiſe, whom hee hath appointed to vtter deſtruction. * Pro.2,31.

where ſhall the vngodly and the ſinner appeare?

19 [18] Wherefore let them that ſuffer according to the will of God, commit their ſoules to him in well doing, as vnto a faithfull Creator.

18 The concluſion. Seeing the godly are not afflicted by chance, but by the will of God, they ought not to deſpaire, but goe forward, notwithſtanding in the way of holineſſe and well doing, commending themſelues to God their faithfull Creatour, that is to ſay, their Father.

CHAP. V.

1 Hee warneth the Elders not to vſurpe authoritie ouer the Church, 5 willing the yonger ſort to be willing to be taught, and to be modeſt, 8 to be ſober and watchfull to reſiſt the cruell aduerſarie.

The [1] Elders which are among you, [2] I beſeech which am alſo an Elder, and a witneſſe of the ſufferings of Chriſt, and alſo a partaker of the glory that ſhalbe reuealed,

2 [3] [a] Feed the [4] flocke of God, [5] which dependeth vpon you, [6] caring for it not by conſtraint, but willingly: not for filthie lucre, but of a ready minde:

3 Not as though yee were Lords ouer Gods [b] heritage, but that yee may be enſamples to the flocke.

4 [7] And when that chiefe Shepheard ſhall appeare, ye ſhall receiue an incorruptible crowne of glory.

5 [8] Likewiſe yee yonger ſubmit your ſelues vnto the Elders, and ſubmit your ſelues euery man one to another: * decke your ſelues inwardly in lowlineſſe of minde: [9] for * God reſiſtetht he proud, and giueth grace to the humble.

6 Humble * your ſelues therefore [10] vnder the mighty hand of God, that hee may exalt you in due time.

7 * Caſt all your care on him: for hee careth for you.

8 [11] Be ſober, and watch: for * your aduerſary the deuill as a roaring lyon walketh about, ſeeking whom he may deuoure:

9 Whom reſiſt ſtedfaſt in the faith, [12] knowing that the ſame afflictions are accompliſhed in your [c] brethren which are in the world.

10 [13] And the God of all grace, which hath called vs vnto his eternall glory by Chriſt Ieſus, after that ye haue ſuffered a little, make you perfite, confirme, ſtrengthen, and ſtabliſh you.

11 To him be glory and dominion for euer and euer, Amen.

12 [14] By Siluanus a faithfull brother vnto you, as I ſuppoſe, haue I written briefly, exhorting and teſtifying how that this is the true grace of God, wherein ye ſtand.

13 [15] The Church that is at [d] Babylon elected together with you, ſaluteth you, and Marcus my ſonne.

14 Greete yee one another with the * kiſſe of loue. Peace be with you all which are in Chriſt Ieſus, Amen.

1 He deſcribeth pecularly the office of the Elders, that is to ſay, of them that haue the care of the Church.

2 He vſeth a preface touching the circumſtance of his owne perſon: to wit, that he as their companion, communeth with them not of matters which hee knoweth not, but wherein he is as well experienced as any, and propoundeth vnto them no other condition, but that which he himſelfe hath ſuſteined before them, and doeth ſtill take the ſame paines, and alſo hath one ſelfe ſame hope together with them. 9 The firſt rule: Hee that is a ſhepherd, let him feed the flocke. a He ſaith not, Offer for the quicke and dead, and ſing patched ſhreds in a ſtrange tongue, but (Feed.) 4 The ſecond: Let the ſhepherd conſider, that the flocke is not his, but Gods. 5 The third: Let not the ſhepherds inuade other mens flocks, but let them feed that which God hath committed vnto them. 6 Let the ſhepherds gouerne the Church with the word and example of godly and vnblameable life, not by conſtraint but willingly, not for filthie lucre, but of a reedy minde, not as Lords ouer Gods portion and heritage, but as his miniſters. b Which is the Chriſtian people. 7 That the ſhepherds minds be not overcome either with the wickedneſſe of men, of their crueltie, he warneth them to caſt their eyes continually vpon that chiefe Shepherd, and the crowne which is layd vp for them in heauen. 8 Hee commendeth many peculiar Chriſtian vertues, and eſpecially modeſtie: which admonition all of vs ſtand in need of, but eſpecially the yonger ſort, by reaſon of the vntowardneſſe and pride of that age.

* Rom.12,10.

9 Becauſe pride ſeemeth to many, to be the way vnto the glory of this life, the Apoſtle witneſſeth on the contrary ſide, that ignominie and ſhame is the reward of pride, and glory the reward of modeſtie.

* Iames 4,6.

* Iames 4,10.

10 Becauſe thoſe proud and loftie ſpirits threaten the modeſt and humble, the Apoſtle warneth vs to ſet the power of God againſt the vanitie of proud men, and to hang wholly vpon his prouidence.

* Pſal.55,23. matth.6,25. luke 12,22.

11 The crueltie of Satan, who ſeeketh by all meanes to deuoure vs, is ouercome by watchfulneſſe and faith.

* Luke 22,31. 12 The perſecutions which Satan ſtirreth vp, are neither new nor proper to any one man, but from old and ancient time common to the whole Church, and therefore we muſt ſuffer that patiently wherein we haue ſuch and ſo many fellowes of our conflicts and combates. c Amongſt your brethren which are diſperſed throughout the world. 13 Hee ſealeth vp as it were with a ſeale, the former exhortation with a ſolemne prayer, againe willing them to aske increaſe of ſtrength at his hands of whom they had the beginning, and hope to haue the accompliſhment, to wit, of God the Father in Ieſus Chriſt in whom wee are ſure of the glory of eternall life. 14 Continuance and perſeuerance in the doctrine of the Apoſtles, is the onely ground and foundation of Chriſtian ſtrength: Now the ſumme of the Apoſtles doctrine, is ſaluation freely giuen of God. 15 Familiar ſalutations. d In that famous citie of Aſſyria, where Peter the Apoſtle of the circumciſion then was. * Rom.16,16. 1.cor.16,20. 2.cor.13,11.

THE SECOND EPISTLE GENERALL OF PETER.

CHAP. I.

3 Hauing ſpoken of the bountifulneſſe of God, 5 and of the vertues of faith. 6 He exhorteth them to holineſſe of life. 12 And that his counſell may be the more effectuall. 14 He ſheweth that his death is at hand, 16 and that himſelfe did ſee the power of Chriſt, which he opened vnto them.

Simon [1] Peter a ſeruant & an Apoſtle of Ieſus Chriſt, to you which haue obteined like precious faith with vs by the [a] righteouſneſſe of our God and Sauiour Ieſus Chriſt.

2 Grace and peace be multiplied to you, [2] through the acknowledging of God, and of Ieſus Chriſt our Lord,

3 [3] According as his [b] diuine power hath giuen vnto vs all things that perteine vnto [c] life and godlineſſe, through the [d] acknowledging of him that hath called vs vnto glory and vertue.

4 [4] Whereby moſt great and precious promiſes are giuen vnto vs, that by them yee ſhould be partakers of the [e] diuine nature, in that ye flee the corruption, which is in the [f] world through [g] luſt.

5 [5] Therefore giue euen all diligence thereunto: [h] ioyne moreouer vertue with your faith: and with vertue, knowledge:

6 [6] And with knowledge, temperance: and with temperance, patience: and with patience, godlineſſe:

1 A ſalutation wherein he giueth them to vnderſtand that he dealeth with them as Chriſts ambaſſadour, and otherwiſe agreeth with them in one ſelfe ſame faith which is grounded vpon the righteouſneſſe of Ieſus Chriſt our God and Sauiour.

a In that that God ſtanding to his promiſes, ſhewed himſelfe faithfull, and therefore iuſt vnto vs. 2 Faith is the acknowledging of God and Chriſt, from whence all our bleſſedneſſe iſſueth and ſhewed. 3 Chriſt ſetteth foorth himſelfe to vs plainely in the Goſpel, and that by his onely power and giueth vs all things which are requiſite both eternall life, wherein hee hath appointed to glorifie vs, and alſo to godlineſſe, in that he doeth furniſh vs with true vertue. b He ſpeaketh of Chriſt, whom hee maketh God, and the onely Sauiour. c Vnto ſaluation. d This is the ſumme of true Religion, to be led by Chriſt to the Father, as it were by the hand.

4 An explication of the former ſentence, declaring the cauſes of ſo great benefits, to wit, God and his free promiſe, from whence all theſe benefits proceed, I ſay, theſe moſt excellent benefits, whereby we are deliuered from the corruption of the world, (that is, from the wicked luſtes which wee carie about vs) and are made, after a ſort, like vnto God himſelfe. e By the diuine nature, hee meaneth not the ſubſtance of the Godhead, but the partaking of theſe qualities whereby the image of God is reſtored in vs. f In men. g For luſt is the ſeate of corruption, and hath his ſeate euen in our very bowels and inmoſt parts. 5 Hauing layd the foundation (that is, hauing declared the cauſes of our ſaluation and eſpecially of our ſanctification) now he beginneth to exhort vs to giue our mindes wholly to the true vſe of this grace. And he beginneth with faith without which nothing can pleaſe God, and hee warneth vs to haue it full fraught with vertue (that is to ſay) with good and godly maners, being ioyned with the knowledge of Gods will, without which there is neither faith neither any true vertue. h Supply alſo, and ſupport or ayde. 6 He reckoneth vp certaine other principall vertues, whereof ſome pertaine to the firſt Table of the Law, others to the laſt.

7 And with godlineſſe, brotherly kindneſſe: and with brotherly kindneſſe, loue.

8 [7] For if theſe things be among you, and abound, they will make you that ye neither ſhallbe idle, nor vnfruitfull in the acknowledging of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt:

9 For he that hath not theſe things is blinde, and [i] cannot ſee farre off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old ſinnes.

10 [8] Wherefore, brethren, giue rather diligence to make your calling and election ſure: for if yee doe theſe things, ye ſhall neuer fall.

11 For by this meanes an entring ſhallbe miniſtred vnto you abundantly into the euerlaſting kingdome of our Lord and Sauiour Ieſus Chriſt.

12 [9] Wherefore, I will not be negligent to put you alwayes in remembrance of theſe things, though that ye haue knowledge, and be ſtabliſhed in the preſent trueth.

13 For I thinke it meet as long as I am in this [k] tabernacle, to ſtirre you vp by putting you in remembrance.

14 Seeing I know that the time is at hand that I muſt lay downe this my tabernacle, euen as our Lord Ieſus Chriſt hath * ſhewed me.

15 * I will endeuour therefore alwayes, that ye alſo may be able to haue remembrance of theſe things after my departing.

16 * [10] For wee followed not deceiueable fables, when we opened vnto you the power, and comming of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, but with our eyes we ſaw his maieſtie:

17 For he receiued of God the Father honour and glory, when there came ſuch a voyce to him from that excellent Glory, * This is my beloued Sonne, in whom I am well pleaſed.

18 And this voyce wee heard when it came from heauen being with him in the holy mount.

19 [11] We haue alſo a moſt ſure word of the Prophets, [12] to the which ye doe well that yee take heed, as vnto a light that ſhineth in a darke place, vntill the [l] day dawne, and the [m] day-ſtarre ariſe in your hearts.

20 * [13] So that ye firſt know this, that no prophecie of the [n] Scripture is of any [o] priuate interpretation:

21 For the prophecie came not in old time by the will of man: but [p] holy men of God ſpake as they were [q] mooued by the holy Ghoſt.

[7] As thoſe fruits doe ſpring from the true knowledge of Chriſt, ſo in like ſort the knowledge it ſelfe is foſtered, and groweth by bringing forth ſuch fruits, inſomuch that he that is vnfruitfull did either neuer know the true light, or hath forgotten the gift of ſanctification which hee hath receiued.

[i] He that hath not an effectuall knowledge of God in him, is blinde as touching the kingdome of God, for he cannot ſee things that are afarre off, that is to ſay, heauenly things.

[8] The concluſion: Therefore ſeeing our calling and election is approued by thoſe fruits, and is confirmed in vs, and moreouer ſeeing this is the onely way to the euerlaſting kingdome of Chriſt, it remaineth that we caſt our minds wholly that way.

[9] An amplifying of the concluſion ioyned with a modeſt excuſe, wherein he declareth his loue towards them, and fortelleth them of his death, which is at hand.

[k] In this body.

* Iohn 21,18.

* 1.Cor.1,17. and 2,1.

[10] Another amplification taken both of the great certaintie and alſo excellencie of this doctrine, as whereof our Lord Ieſus Chriſt the Sonne of God is authour, whoſe glory the Apoſtle himſelfe both ſaw and heared. * Matt.17,5.

[11] The trueth of the Goſpel is hereby, alſo manifeſt, in that it agreeth wholly with the fortellings of the Prophets.

[12] The doctrine of the Apoſtles doeth not ſhut out the doctrine of the Prophets, for they confirme each other by each others teſtimonies, but the Prophets were as candles which gaue light vnto the blinde, vntill the brightneſſe of the Goſpell beganne to ſhine.

[l] A more full and open knowledge then was vnder the ſhadowes of the Law.

[m] That clearer doctrine of the Goſpel. * 2.Tim.3,16.

[13] The Prophets are to be read, but ſo, that wee aske of God the gift of interpretation: for hee that is the authour of the writings of the Prophets, is alſo the interpreter of them.

[n] He ioyneth the Scripture and prophecie together to diſtinguiſh true prophecies from falſe.

[o] For all interpretation commeth from God.

[p] The godly interpreters and meſſengers.

[q] Inſpired of God: and theſe their motions were in very good order, and not ſuch as were the motions of the prophane ſoothſayers and foretellers of things to come.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee foretelleth them of falſe teachers, 13 whoſe wicked ſleights and deſtruction hee declareth. 12 Hee compareth them to bruite beaſtes, 17 and to welles without water, 20 becauſe they ſeeke to withdrawe men from God to their olde filthineſſe.

BUt [1] there were falſe prophets alſo among the [a] people, euen as there ſhallbe falſe teachers among you: which priuily ſhall bring in damnable hereſies, euen denying the Lord that hath bought them, and bring vpon themſelues ſwift damnation.

2 [2] And many ſhall follow their deſtructions, by whom the way of trueth ſhall bee euill ſpoken of.

3 [3] And through couetouſnes ſhall they with fained words make [b] merchandiſe of you, [4] whoſe condemnation long ſince reſteth not, and their deſtruction ſlumbreth not.

4 For if God ſpared not the * Angels that had ſinned, but caſt them downe into [c] hell, and deliuered them into [d] chaines of darkeneſſe, to bee kept vnto damnation:

5 Neither hath ſpared the [e] old world, but ſaued * Noe the eight perſon a [f] preacher of righteouſneſſe, and brought in the Flood vpon the world of the vngodly,

6 And * turned the cities of Sodom and Gomorrhe into aſhes, condemned them and ouerthrew them, and made them an enſample vnto them that after ſhould liue vngodly,

7 And deliuered iuſt Lot vexed with the vncleanly conuerſation of the wicked:

8 (For hee being righteous, and dwelling among them, in [g] ſeeing and hearing, [h] vexed his righteous ſoule from day to day with their vnlawfull deeds.)

9 The Lord [i] knoweth to deliuer the godly out of tentation, and to reſerue the vniuſt vnto the day of iudgement vnder puniſhment:

10 [5] And chiefly them that walke after the fleſh, in the luſt of vncleanneſſe, and deſpiſe gouernment, vvhich are bold, and ſtand in their owne conceit, and feare not to ſpeake euill of them that are in [k] dignitie.

11 Whereas the Angels which are greater both in power and might, giue not railing iudgement againſt them before the Lord.

12 [6] But theſe as naturall bruit beaſts, led with ſenſualitie, and [l] made to be taken, and deſtroyed, ſpeake euill of thoſe things which they know not, and ſhall periſh through their owne [m] corruption.

13 And ſhall receiue the wages of vnrighteouſneſſe, as they which count it pleaſure dayly to liue deliciouſly. ‖ Spots they are and blots, delighting themſelues in their deceiuings, [n] in feaſting with you.

[1] As in times paſt there were two kinds op Prophets; the one true, the other falſe, ſo Peter foretelleth them that there ſhallbe ſome true and ſome falſe teachers in the Church, inſomuch that Chriſt himſelfe ſhalbe denied of ſome, which notwithſtanding ſhall call him redeemer.

[a] Vnder the Law, while the ſtate and policie of the Iewes was yet ſtanding.

[2] There ſhall not onely be hereſies, but alſo many followers of them.

[3] Couetouſneſſe for the moſt part is a companion of hereſie, and maketh merchandiſe euen of ſoules.

[b] They will abuſe you, and ſell you as they ſell cattell in a Faire.

[4] A comfort for the godly: God who caſt the Angels that fell away from him headlong into the darkeneſſe of hell, at length to be iudged, and who deſtroyed the olde world with the flood, and preſerued Noe the eight perſon, and who burned Sodome, and ſaued Lot, will deliuer his elect from theſe errors, and will vtterly deſtroy thoſe vnrighteous.

* Iob 4,18. iude 6.

[c] So the Grecians called the deepe dungeon vnder the earth, which ſhould be appointed to torment the ſoules of the wicked in.

[d] Bound them with darkeneſſe as it were with chaines: and by darkeneſſe, he meaneth that moſt miſerable ſtate of life, that is full of horrour.

[e] Which was before the Flood: not that God made a new world, but becauſe the world ſeemed new. * Geneſ.7,1.

[f] For he ceaſed not for the ſpace of an hundreth and twentie yeeres to warne the wicked both by word and deed, what wrath of God hanged ouer their heads. * Gen.19,13,14.

[g] Which way ſoeuer hee looked and turned his eares.

[h] Hee had a troubled ſoule, and being vehemently grieued, liued a painfull life.

[i] Hath bene long practiſed in ſauing and deliuering the righteous.

[5] He goeth to another ſort of corrupt men, which notwithſtanding are within the boſome of the Church, which are wickedly giuen, and doe ſeditiouſly ſpeake euill of the authoritie of Magiſtrates, (which the Angels themſelues that miniſter before God, doe not diſpraiſe) A true and liuely deſcription of the Romiſh Clergie (as they call it.)

[k] Princes and great men, be they neuer ſo high in authority.

[6] A liuely painting out of the ſame perſons, wherein they are compared to beaſts, which are made to ſnare themſelues to deſtruction, while they giue themſelues to fill their bellies: For there is no greater ignorance then is in theſe men, although they moſt impudently find fault with thoſe things which they know not: and it ſhall come to paſſe that they ſhall deſtroy themſelues as beaſtes, with thoſe pleaſures wherewith they are delighted, and diſhonour and defile the company of the godly.

[l] Made to this end, to be a pray to others: ſo doe theſe men willingly caſt themſelues into Satan ſnares.

[m] Their owne wicked manners ſhall bring them to deſtruction.

‖ Or, little rockes.

[n] When as by being amongſt the Chriſtians in the holy bankets which the Church keepeth, they would ſeeme by that meanes to be true members of the Church, yet they are indeed but blots of the Church.

14 [7] Hauing eyes full of adulterie, and that cannot ceaſe to ſinne, beguiling vnſtable ſoules, they haue hearts exerciſed with couetouſneſſe, they are the children of curſe:

15 Which forſaking the right way, haue gone aſtray following the way of * Balaam the ſonne of Boſor, which loued the wages of vnrighteouſnes.

16 But he was rebuked for his iniquity: for the dumbe beaſt ſpeaking with mans voyce forbade the fooliſhneſſe of the Prophet.

17 * [8] Theſe are [o] welles without water, and cloudes carried about with a tempeſt, to whom the [p] blacke darkeneſſe is reſerued for euer.

18 For in ſpeaking [q] ſwelling words of vanity, they [r] beguile with wantonneſſe through the luſts of the fleſh them that were [ſ] cleane eſcaped from them which are wrapped in errour,

19 Promiſing vnto them liberty, and are themſelues the * ſeruants of corruption: for of whomſoeuer a man is ouercome, euen vnto the ſame is he in bondage.

20 [9] * For if they, after they haue eſcaped from the filthineſſe of the world, through the acknowledging of the Lord, and of the Sauiour Ieſus Chriſt, are yet tangled againe therein, and ouercome, the latter end is worſe with them then the beginning.

21 For it had bene better for them not to haue acknowledged the way of righteouſneſſe, then after they haue acknowledged it, to turne from the holy commandement giuen vnto them.

22 But it is come vnto them according to the true prouerbe, * The dogge is returned to his owne vomit: and the ſow that was waſhed, to the wallowing in the mire.

[7] Hee condemneth thoſe men, as ſhewing euen in their behauiour and countenance an vnmeaſurable luſt, as making merchandiſe of the ſoules of light perſons, as men exerciſed in all the craftes of couetouſneſſe, to be ſhort, as men that ſell themſelues for money to curſe the Sonnes of God after Balaami example, whom the dumbe beaſt reprooued.

* Num. 22, 23.

* Iude 12.

[8] Another note whereby they may be well knowne what manner of men they are, becauſe they haue inwardly nothing but either vtterly vaine or very hurtfull, although they make a ſhew of ſome great goodneſſe: but they ſhall not eſcape vnpuniſhed for it, becauſe vnder pretence of falſe liberty, they draw men into moſt miſerable ſlauery of ſinne.

[o] Which boaſt of knowledge, and haue nothing in them.

[q] They deceiue men with vaine and ſwelling words.

[r] They take them as fiſhes are taken with the hooke.

[ſ] Vnfainedly and indeed cleane departed from Idolatrie.

* Iohn 8,34. rom. 6,20.

[9] It were better neuer to haue knowne the way of righteouſneſſe, then to turne backe from it to the olde filthineſſe: and men that doe ſo are compared to dogs and ſwine.

* Mat. 12,45. hebr. 6,4.

* Prou. 16,11.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee ſheweth that he writeth the ſame things againe. 2 Becauſe they muſt often be ſtirred vp, 4 becauſe dangers hang ouer their heads through certaine mockers. 8 Therefore hee warneth the godly that they doe not after the iudgement of the fleſh, 12 appoint the day of the Lord, 14 but that they thinke it alwayes at hand, 15 in which doctrine hee ſheweth that Paul agreeth with him.

THis [1] ſecond Epiſtle I now write vnto you, beloued, wherewith I ſtirre vp, and warne your pure mindes,

2 To call to remembrance the words, which were tolde before of the holy Prophets, and alſo the commandement of vs the Apoſtles of our Lord and Sauiour.

3 * [2] This firſt vnderſtand, that there ſhall come in the laſt dayes, [a] mockers, which will walke after their luſts,

4 [3] And ſay, Where is the promiſe of his comming? for ſince the Fathers died, all things continue alike from the beginning of the creation.

5 [4] For this they willingly know not, that the heauens were of olde, and the [b] earth that was of the water, and by the water, by the word of God.

6 [5] Wherefore the world that then was, periſhed, ouerflowed with the [c] water.

7 [6] But the heauens and earth, which are now, are kept by the ſame word in ſtore, and reſerued vnto fire againſt the day of condemnation, and of the deſtruction of vngodly men.

8 [7] Dearely beloued, be not ignorant of this one thing, that one day is with the Lord, * as a thouſand yeeres, and a thouſand yeeres as one day.

9 [8] The Lord of that promiſe is not ſlacke (as ſome men count ſlackeneſſe) [9] but is patient toward vs, and * would haue no man to periſh, but would all men to come to repentance.

10 [10] But the day * of the Lord will come as a thiefe in the night, in the which the heauens ſhall paſſe away with a [d] noiſe, and the elements ſhall melt with heat, and the earth with the workes that are therein ſhall be burnt vp.

11 [11] Seeing therefore that all theſe things muſt be diſſolued, what manner perſons ought ye to be in holy conuerſation and godlineſſe, 12 Looking for, and [e] haſting vnto the comming of that day of God, by the which the heauens being on fire, ſhall be diſſolued, and the elements ſhall mealt with heate?

13 But wee looke for * new heauens, and a new earth, according to his promiſe, [f] wherein dwelleth righteouſneſſe.

14 Wherefore, beloued, ſeeing that yee looke for ſuch things, be diligent that yee may bee found of him in [g] peace, without ſpot and blameleſſe.

15 * And ſuppoſe that the long ſuffering of our Lord is ſaluation, [12] euen as our beloued brother Paul according to the wiſedome giuen vnto him wrote vnto you.

16 As one that in all his Epiſtles ſpeaketh of theſe things: [13] among the [‖] which, ſome things are hard to be vnderſtood, which they that are vnlearned and vnſtable, wreſt, as they doe alſo other Scriptures vnto their owne deſtruction.

17 Ye therefore beloued, ſeeing ye know theſe things before, beware, leaſt yee be alſo plucked away with the errour of the wicked, and fall from your owne ſtedfaſtneſſe.

18 But grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Sauiour Ieſus Chriſt: to him be glorie both now and for euermore. Amen.

[1] The remedy againſt thoſe wicked enemies both of true doctrine and holineſſe, is to be ſought for by the continuall meditation of the writings of the Prophets and Apoſtles.

* 1.Tim. 4,1. 2.timoth. 3,1. iude 18.

[2] He voucheth the ſecond comming of Chriſt againſt the Epicures by name.

[a] Monſtrous men, who will ſeeme wiſe by their contempt of God, and wicked baldneſſe.

[3] The reaſon which theſe mockers pretend becauſe the courſe of nature is all one as it was from the beginning: therefore the world is from euerlaſting, and ſhallbe for euer.

[8] He ſetteth againſt them the creation of heauen and earth by the word of God, which theſe men are willingly ignorant of.

[b] Which appeared when the waters were gathered together into one place.

[5] Secondly, hee ſetteth againſt them the vniuerſall flood which was the deſtruction, as it were of the whole world.

[c] For the waters returning into their former place this world, that is to ſay, this beauty of the earth which we ſee, and all liuing creatures which liue vpon the earth periſhed.

[6] Thirdly, he pronounceth that it ſhall not be harder for God to burne heauen and earth with fire in that day which is appointed for the deſtruction of the wicked, (which thing he will alſo doe) then it was for him in times paſt to make them with his only word and afterward to ouerwhelme them with water.

[7] The taking away of an obiection: in that he ſeemeth to deferre this iudgement a long ſeaſon, in reſpect of vs it is true, but not before God with whom there is no time either long or ſhort.

* Pſalm 90,4.

[8] The Lord will ſurely come, becauſe he hath promiſed: and that neither ſooner nor later then he hath promiſed.

[9] A reaſon why the latter day commeth not out of hand, becauſe God doeth patiently waite till the elect be brought to repentance, that none of them may periſh.

* Ezek. 8,32. and 33,11. 1.tim. 2,4.

[10] A very ſhort deſcription of the leaſt diſtinction of the world, but in ſuch ſort as nothing could be ſpoken more grauely, Math 24 44. 1.Theſſal. 5,2. reuel. 3,3. and 16,15.

[d] With the violence as it were of a hiſſing ſtorme.

[11] An exhortation to purity of life, ſetting before vs that horrible iudgement of God both to bridle our wantonneſſe, and alſo to comfort vs, ſo that we be found watching and ready to meet him at his comming.

[e] Hee requireth patience of vs, yet ſuch patience as is not ſlothfull.

* Eſai. 65,17. and 66,22. reuelation 21,1.

[f] In which heauens.

[g] That you may trie to your profite, how gentle and peaceable hee is.

* Rom. 2,4.

[12] Pauls Epiſtles are allowed by the expreſſe teſtimonie of Peter.

[13] There be certaine of theſe things obſcure and darke, whereof the vnlearned take occaſion to ouerthrow ſome men that ſtand not faſt, wreſting the teſtimonies of the Scripture to their owne deſtruction. But this is the remedy againſt ſuch deceit, to labour that wee may dayly more and more grow vp and increaſe in the knowledge of Chriſt.

[‖] That is to ſay, among the which things: for he diſputeth not here whether Pauls Epiſtles be plaine or darke, but ſaith, that amongſt thoſe things which Paul hath written of his Epiſtles, and Peter himſelfe in theſe two of his owne, there are ſome things which cannot be eaſily vnderſtood, and therefore are of ſome drawne to their owne deſtruction: and this he ſaith to make vs more attentiue and diligent, and not remooue vs from the reading of holy things, for to what ende ſhould they haue written vaine ſpeculations?

THE FIRST EPISTLE GENERALL OF IOHN.

CHAP. I.

1 Hee teſtifieth that he bringeth the eternall word, wherein is life, 5 and light. 9 God will be mercifull vnto the faithfull, if groaning vnder the burden of their ſinnes, they learne to flee vnto his mercy.

THat [1] which was from the beginning, which we haue [a] heard, which we haue ſeene with theſe our eyes, which we haue looked vpon, and theſe hands of ours haue handled of that [b] word of life.

2 (For that life was made manifeſt, and wee haue ſeene it, and beare witneſſe, and [c] ſhew vnto you that eternall life, which was with the Father, and was made manifeſt vnto vs.)

3 That I ſay, which we haue ſeene and heard declare we vnto you, [2] that yee may alſo haue fellowſhip with vs, and that our fellowſhip alſo may be with the Father and with his Sonne Ieſus Chriſt.

4 And theſe things write I vnto you, that your ioy may be full.

5 [3] This then is the meſſage, which we haue heard of him, and declare vnto you, that God * is light, and in him is no darkeneſſe.

6 If wee ſay that wee haue fellowſhip with him, and walke in darkeneſſe, we lie, and doe not truely.

7 But if we walke in the [d] light as he is in the light, we haue fellowſhip one with another, [4] and the * blood of Ieſus Chriſt his Sonne cleanſeth vs from all ſinne.

8 [5] * If we ſay that we haue no ſinne, we [e] deceiue our ſelues, and [f] trueth is not in vs.

9 [6] If we acknowledge our ſinnes, he is [g] faithfull and iuſt, to [h] forgiue vs our ſinnes, and to cleanſe vs from all vnrighteouſneſſe.

10 [7] If wee ſay, wee haue not ſinned, wee make him [i] a liar, and his [k] word is not in vs.

1 He beginneth with the deſcription of the perſon of Chriſt, whom he maketh one and not two: and him both God from euerlaſting (for he was with the Father from the beginning, and is that eternall life) and alſo made true man, whom Iohn himſelfe and his companions, both heard and behelde, and handled.

a I heard him ſpeake, I ſaw him me ſelfe with mine eyes, I handled with mine hands him that is very God, being made very man, and not I alone, but others alſo that were with mee.

b That ſame euerlaſting word, by whom all things are made, and in whom onely there is life.

c Being ſent by him: and that doctrine is rightly ſaid to be ſhewed, for no man could ſo much as haue thought of it, if it had not beene thus ſhewed.

---

2 The vſe of this doctrine is this, that all of vs being coupled and ioyned together with Chriſt by faith, might become the Sonnes of God, in which thing onely conſiſteth all happineſſe. 3 Now he entreth into a queſtion, whereby we may vnderſtand that wee are ioyned together with Chriſt, to wit, if wee be gouerned by his light, which is perceiued by the ordering of our life. And thus he reaſoneth, God is in himſelfe moſt pure light, therefore hee agreeth with them, which are lightſome, but with them which are darkeſome he hath no fellowſhip. * Iohn 8,12. d God is ſayd to be light of his owne nature, and to be in light, that is to ſay, in that euerlaſting infinite bleſſedneſſe: and wee are ſayd to walke in light, in that the beames of that light doe ſhine vnto vs in the world. 4 A digreſſion or going from the matter hee is in hand with to the remiſſion of ſinnes: for this our ſanctification which walke in the light, is a teſtimony of our ioyning and knitting together, with Chriſt: but becauſe this our light is very darke, wee muſt needes obtaine another benefit in Chriſt, to wit, that our ſinnes may be forgiuen vs being ſprinkled with his blood: and this in concluſion is the proppe and ſtay of our ſaluation. * Heb. 9.28. 1.peter 1.19. reuel.1.5. 5 There is none but needeth this benefit, becauſe there is none that is not a ſinner. * 1.Kings 8,46. 2.chron.6,36. prou.20.9. e This place doeth fully refute that perfectneſſe, and workes of ſupererogation which the Papiſts dreame of. f So then Iohn ſpeaketh not thus for modeſties ſake, as ſome ſay, but becauſe it is ſo indeede. 6 Therefore the beginning of ſaluation is to acknowledge our wickednes, and to require pardon of him who freely forgiueth all ſinnes, becauſe he hath promiſed ſo to doe, and he is faithfull and iuſt. g So then our ſaluation hangeth vpon the free promiſe of God, who becauſe he is faithfull and iuſt, will performe that which he hath promiſed. h Where are then our merits? for this is our true felicity. 7 A rehearſall of the former ſentence: wherein he condemned all of ſinne without exception, inſomuch that if any man perſwade himſelfe otherwiſe, he doeth as much as in him lieth, make the word of God himſelfe vaine and to no purpoſe, yea he maketh God a lyar, for to what end either in times paſt needed ſacrifices or now Chriſt and the Goſpel, if wee be not ſinners? i They doe not onely deceiue themſelues, but alſo are blaſphemous againſt God. k His doctrine ſhall haue no place in vs, that is, in our hearts.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee declareth that Chriſt is our mediatour and aduocate, 3 and ſheweth that the knowledge of God conſiſteth in holines of life, 12 which appertaineth to all ſorts, 14 that depend on Chriſt alone: 15 Then hauing exhorteth them to contemne the world, 18 hee giueth warning that Antichriſts be auoided, 24 and that the knowne trueth be ſtood vnto.

MY [1] little children, theſe things write I vnto you, that ye ſinne not: and if any man ſinne, wee haue an [a] Aduocate with the Father, Ieſus Chriſt, the Iuſt.

2 And he is the [b] reconciliation for our ſinnes: and not for ours onely, but alſo for the ſinnes of the [c] whole world.

3 [2] And hereby we are ſure that we [d] knowe him, [e] if we keepe his commandements.

4 [3] Hee that ſaith, I knowe him, and keepeth not his commandements, is a liar, and the trueth is not in him.

5 [4] But he that keepeth his word, in him is the [f] loue of God perfect indeede: hereby wee know that we are in [g] him.

6 [5] He that ſaith he remaineth in him, ought euen ſo to walke as he hath walked.

7 [6] Brethren, I write no new commandement vnto you, but an old commandement, which yee haue had from the beginning: this old commandement is that word, which ye haue heard from the beginning.

8 [7] Againe, a new commandement I write vnto you, that [h] which is true in him: and alſo in you: for the darkenes is paſt, and that true light now ſhineth.

9 [8] Hee that ſaith that he is in that light, and hateth his brother, is in darkenes, vntill this time.

10 * He that loueth his brother, abideth in that light, and there is no occaſion of euill in him.

11 But he that hateth his brother, is in darkeneſſe, and walketh in darkeneſſe, and knoweth not whither hee goeth, becauſe that darkeneſſe hath blindeth his eyes.

12 [9] Little children, [i] I write vnto you, becauſe your ſinnes are forgiuen you for his [k] Names ſake.

1 It followeth not hereof that wee muſt giue our wicked nature the bridle, or ſinne ſo much the more freely, becauſe our ſinnes are cleanſed away by the blood of Chriſt, but wee muſt rather ſo much the more diligently reſiſt ſin. And yet we muſt not deſpaire becauſe of our weakneſſe, for we haue an Aduocate and a purger, Chriſt Ieſus the iuſt, and therefore acceptable vnto his father.

a In that he nameth Chriſt he ſhutteth forth all other.

b Reconciliation and interceſſion goe together, to giue vs to vnderſtand that he is both aduocate and hie Prieſt.

c For men of all ſorts, of all ages and all places, ſo that this benefit belongeth not to the Iewes onely, of whom he ſpeaketh, as appeareth verſ. 7. but alſo to other nations.

---

2 He returneth to the teſtimony of our coniunction with God, to wit, to ſanctification, declaring what it is to walke in the light, to wit, to keepe Gods commandements whereby it followeth that holines doeth not conſiſt in thoſe things which men haue deuiſed, neither in a vaine profeſſion of the Goſpel. d This muſt be vnderſtood of ſuch a knowledge, as hath faith with it, and not of a common knowledge. e For the tree is knowne by the fruit. 3 Holineſſe, that is a life ordered according to the preſcript of Gods commandements how weake ſoeuer they be, is of neceſſity ioyned with faith, that is, with the true knowledge of the Father in the Sonne. 4 Hee that keepeth Gods commandements, loueth God indeed. He that loueth God, is in God, or is ioyned together with God. Therefore hee that keepeth his commandements, is in him. f Wherewith we loue God. g Hee meaneth our coniunction with Chriſt. 5 Hee that it one with Chriſt, muſt needes liue his life, that is, muſt walke in his ſteps. 6 The Apoſtle going about to expound the commandement of charity one toward another, telleth firſt, that when he vrgeth holineſſe bringeth no new trade of life (as they vſe to doe which deuiſe traditions, one after another) but putteth them in minde of the ſame Law which God gaue in the beginning, to wit, by Moſes, at that time that God began to giue Lawes to his people. 7 Hee addeth that the doctrine indeed is old, but it is now after a ſort new both in reſpect of Chriſt, and alſo of vs: in whom he through the Goſpel, engraueth his Law effectually, not in tables of ſtone, but in our mindes. h Which thing (to wit, that the doctrine is new of which I write vnto you) is true in him and in you. 8 Now he commeth to the ſecond Table, that is to charitie one towards another, and denieth that that man hath true light in him, or is indeed regenerate and the ſonne of God, which hateth his brother: and ſuch an one wandreth miſerably in darkeneſſe, brag he of neuer ſo great knowledge of God, for that wittingly and willingly he caſteth himſelfe headlong into hell. * Chap. 3,14. 9 Hee returneth againe from ſanctification to remiſſion of ſins, becauſe that free reconciliation in Chriſt is the ground of our ſaluation, whereupon afterwards ſanctification muſt be built as vpon a foundation. i Therefore I write vnto you, becauſe you are of their number whom God hath reconciled to himſelfe. k For his owne ſake: And in that he nameth Chriſt he ſhutteth out all others, whether they be in heauen or earth.

13 10 I write

13 [10] I write vnto you fathers, becauſe ye haue knowen him that is from the beginning. [11] I write vnto you, yong men, becauſe ye haue ouercome that wicked one. [12] I write vnto you, little children, becauſe ye haue knowen the Father.

14 [13] I haue written vnto you fathers, becauſe ye haue knowen him that is from the beginning. I haue written vnto you, young men, becauſe yee are ſtrong, and the word of God abideth in you, and ye haue ouercome that wicked one.

15 [14] Loue not this [l] world, neither the things that are in this world. If any man loue this world, the [m] loue of the Father is not in him.

16 For all that is in this world, (as the luſt of the fleſh, the luſt of the eyes, and the pride of life) is not of the Father, but is of this world.

17 [15] And this world paſſeth away, and the luſt thereof: but he that fulfilleth the will of God abideth euer.

18 [16] [n] Little children, [17] it is the laſt time, [18] and as ye haue heard that Antichriſt ſhall come, euen now there are many Antichriſts: whereby we know that it is the laſt time.

19 [19] They went out from vs, but they were not of vs: for if they had bene of vs, [o] they ſhould haue continued with vs. [20] But this commeth to paſſe, that it might appeare, that they are not all of vs.

20 [21] But yee haue an [p] oyntment from that [q] Holy one, and know all things.

21 [22] I haue not written vnto you, becauſe ye know not the trueth: but becauſe ye know it, and that no lie is of the trueth.

22 [23] Who is a liar, but he that denieth that Ieſus is [r] that Chriſt? the ſame is that Antichriſt that denieth the Father and the Sonne.

23 [ſ] Whoſoeuer denieth the Sonne, the ſame hath not the Father.

24 [24] Let therefore abide in you that ſame which ye haue heard from the beginning. If that which ye haue heard from the beginning, ſhall remaine in you, ye ſhall alſo continue in the Sonne, and in the Father.

25 And this is the promiſe that hee hath promiſed vs, euen that eternall life.

26 [25] Theſe things haue I written vnto you, concerning them that deceiue you.

27 But that [t] anointing which ye receiued of him, dwelleth in you: and ye [u] neede not that any man teach you: but as the ſame [x] anointing teacheth you of all things, and it is true and is not lying, and as it taught you, ye ſhall abide in him.

28 [26] And now, little children, abide in him, that when he ſhall appeare, we way be bold, and not be aſhamed before him, at his comming.

29 [27] If ye know that he is righteous, know ye that he which doth righteouſly, is borne of him.

10 He ſheweth that this doctrine agreeth to all ages, and firſt of all ſpeaking to old men, he ſheweth that Chriſt and his doctrine are paſſing ancient, and therefore they be delighted with old things, nothing ought to be more acceptable vnto them.

11 He aduertiſeth yong men, if they be deſirous to ſhew their ſtrength that they haue a moſt glorious combate ſet heere before them, to wit, Satan the worſt enemies, who muſt be ouercome: willing them to be as ſure of the victory as if they had already gotten it.

12 Finally, hee ſheweth to children, that that true Father, from whom they haue to looke for all good things, is ſet foorth vnto them in the Goſpel.

13 He addeth afterward in like order, as many exhortations, as if he ſhould ſay, Remember your fathers: as I wrote euen now, that the euerlaſting Sonne of God is reuealed to vs. Remember ye yong men, that that ſtrength whereby I ſayd that you put Satan to flight, is giuen you by the word of God, which dwelleth in you.

14 The world which is full of wicked deſires, luſts or pleaſures, and pride, is vtterly hated of our heauenly Father. Therefore the Father and the world cannot be loued together: and this admonition is very neceſſary for greene and flouriſhing youth.

[l] Hee ſpeaketh of the world, as it agreeeth not with the will of God, for otherwiſe God is ſaid to loue the world with an infinit loue, Iohn 3,16. that is to ſay, thoſe whom he choſe out of the world.

[m] Wherewith the Father is loued.

15 Hee ſheweth how much better it is to obey the Fathers will, then the luſts of the world, by both their natures and vnlike euent.

16 Now he turneth himſelfe to litle children, which notwithſtanding are well inſtructed in the ſumme of religion, and willeth them by diuerſe reaſons to ſhake off ſlouthfulneſſe, which is too too familiar with that age.

[n] Hee vſeth this word (little) not becauſe he ſpeaketh to children, but to allure them the more by vſing ſuch ſweet words.

17 Firſt, becauſe the laſt time is at hande, ſo that the matter ſuffereth no delay.

18 Secondly becauſe Antichriſts, that is, ſuch as fall from God, are already come, euen as they heard that they ſhould come. And it was very requiſite to warne that vnheedy and wareleſſe age of that danger.

19 A digreſſion againſt certaine offences and ſtumbling blocks, whereat that rude age eſpecially might ſtumble and be ſhaken. Therefore that they ſhould not be terrified with the foule falling backe of certaine, firſt he maketh plaine vnto them: that although ſuch as fall from God and his religion, had place in the Church, yet they were neuer of the Church, becauſe the Church is the company of the elect which cannot periſh, and therefore cannot fall from Chriſt.

[o] So then the elect can neuer fall from grace.

20 Secondly, he ſheweth that theſe things fall out to the profite of the Church, that hypocrites may be plainely knowen.

21 Thirdly, he comforteth them to make them ſtand faſt, inſomuch as they are anointed of the holy Ghoſt with the true knowledge of ſaluation.

[p] The grace of the holy Ghoſt, and this is a borowed kinde of ſpeech taken from the ointings vſed in the Law.

[q] From Chriſt who is peculiarly called holy.

22 The taking away of an obiection. He wrote not theſe things as to men which are ignorant in religion, but rather as to them which doe well know the trueth, yet ſo farre foorth that they are able to diſcerne trueth from falſhood.

23 Hee ſheweth now plainely the falſe doctrine of the Antichriſts, to wit, that either they fight againſt the perſon of Chriſt, or his office or both together, and at once. And they that doe ſo do in vaine boaſt and brag of God, for that in denying the Son the Father alſo is denied.

[r] Is the true Meſſias.

[ſ] They then are deceiued themſelues, and alſo doe deceiue others, which ſay that the Turkes and other infidels worſhip the ſame God that we doe.

24 The whole preaching of the Prophets and Apoſtles is contrary to that doctrine: Therefore it is vtterly to be caſt away and this wholly to be holden and kept, which leadeth vs to ſeeke eternall life in the free promiſe, that is to ſay, in Chriſt alone, who is giuen vs of the Father.

25 The ſame Spirit which endueth the elect with the knowledge of the trueth, and ſanctifieth them, giueth them therewithall the gift of perſeuerance, to continue to the end.

[t] The Spirit which you haue receiued of Chriſt, and which hath led you into all trueth.

[u] You are not ignorant of theſe things, and therefore I teach them not as things that were neuer heard of, but call them to your remembrance as things which you doe know.

[x] He commendeth both the doctrine which they had embraced, and alſo highly praiſeth their faith and the diligence of ſuch as taught them, yet ſo, that hee taketh nothing from the honour due to the holy Ghoſt.

26 The concluſion both of the whole exhortation, and alſo of the former treatiſe.

27 A paſſing ouer to the treatiſe following, which tendeth to the ſame purpoſe, but yet is more ample, and handleth the ſame matter after another order: for before hee taught vs to goe vp from the effects to the cauſe, and in this that followeth, he goeth downe from the cauſes to the effects. And this in the ſumme of this argument: God is the fountaine of all righteouſneſſe: and therefore they that giue themſelues to righteouſneſſe, are knowen to be borne of him, becauſe they reſemble God the Father.

CHAP. III.

1 Setting downe the ineſtimable glory of this that we are Gods ſonnes, 7 he ſheweth that newneſſe of life muſt be teſtifieth by good workes, whereof charitie is a manifeſt token. 19 Of faith, 22 and praying vnto God.

BEhold, [1] [a] what loue the Father hath giuen to vs, that we ſhould be [b] called the ſonnes of God: [2] For this cauſe this world knoweth you not, becauſe it knoweth not him.

2 [3] Dearely beloued, now are we the ſonnes of God, but yet it is not made manifeſt what wee ſhall be: and we know that when hee ſhalbe made manifeſt: we ſhall be [c] like him: for wee ſhall ſee him [d] as he is.

3 [4] And euery man that hath this hope in him purgeth himſelfe, euen [e] as he is pure.

4 [5] Whoſoeuer [f] committeth ſinne, tranſgreſſeth alſo the Law: for [g] ſinne is the tranſgreſſion of the Law.

5 [6] And ye know that he was made manifeſt, that he might * take away our ſinnes, and in him is no ſinne.

6 Whoſoeuer abideth in him, ſinneth not: whoſoeuer [h] ſinneth, hath not ſeene him, neither hath knowen him.

7 [7] Litle children, let no man deceiue you, hee that doeth righteouſneſſe, is righteous, as hee is righteous.

---

1 He beginneth to declare this agreement betweene the Father and the Sonne at the higheſt cauſe, to wit, at that free loue of God towards vs wherewith he ſo loueth vs, that he alſo adopteth vs to be his children.

[a] What a gift of how great loue.

[b] That we ſhould be the ſonnes of God, and ſo that all the world may perceiue we are ſo.

2 Before he declareth this adoption, he ſaith two things: the one, that this ſo great a dignity is not to be eſteemed, according to the iudgement of the fleſh, becauſe it is vnknowen to the world, for the world knoweth not God the Father himſelfe.

3 The other: This dignity is not fully made manifeſt to our ſelues, much leſſe to ſtrangers, but we are ſure of the accompliſhment of it, inſomuch that wee ſhall be like to the Sonne of God himſelfe, and ſhall enioy his ſight indeed, ſuch as hee is now: but yet notwithſtanding this is deferred vntill his next comming.

[c] Like, but not equall.

[d] For now we ſee as in a glaſſe, 1. Cor. 13 12.

4 Now he deſcribeth this adoption, (the glory whereof as yet conſiſteth in hope) by the effect, to wit, becauſe that whoſoeuer is made the Sonne of God, endeuoureth to reſemble the Father in puritie.

[e] This word ſignifieth a likeneſſe, but not in equality.

5 The rule of this puritie can from no whence els be taken but from the Law of God, the tranſgreſſion whereof is that which is called ſinne.

[f] Giueth not himſelfe to pureneſſe.

[g] A ſhort definition of ſinne.

6 An argument taken from the materiall cauſe of our ſaluation: Chriſt in himſelfe is moſt pure, and he came to take away our ſinnes, by ſanctifying vs with the holy Ghoſt. Therefore, whoſoeuer is truely partaker of Chriſt doeth not giue himſelfe to ſinne: and ſo contrariwiſe he that giueth himſelfe to ſinne knoweth not Chriſt.

* Iſa. 53,6,9,21. 2. pet. 2,22,24.

[h] Hee is ſaid to ſinne, that giueth not himſelfe to pureneſſe, and in him ſinne reigneth, but ſinne is ſayd to dwell in the faithfull, and not to reigne in them.

7 An other argument of things coupled together: Hee that liueth iuſtly, is iuſt, and reſembleth Chriſt that is iuſt, and by that is knowen to be the ſonne of God.

8 [8] He that *committeth ſinne, is of the [i] deuill: for the deuill [k] ſinneth from the [l] beginning: for this purpoſe was made manifeſt that Sonne of God, that hee might looſe the workes of the deuill.

9 Whoſoeuer is borne of God ſinneth not: for his [m] ſeede remaineth in him, neither can hee ſinne, becauſe he is borne of God.

10 [9] In this are the children of God knowen, and the children of the deuill: whoſoeuer doeth not righteouſneſſe, is not of God, [10] neither hee that loueth not his brother.

11 [11] For this is the meſſage that yee heard from the beginning, that * we ſhould loue one another.

12 [12] Not as *[n] Cain vvhich was of that wicked one, and ſlew his brother: [13] and wherefore ſlew he him? becauſe his owne workes were euill, and his brothers good.

13 Marueile not my brethren, though this world hate you.

14 [14] Wee know that we are tranſlated from death vnto life, becauſe we loue the brethren: * he that loueth not his brother, abideth in death.

15 [15] Whoſoeuer hateth his brother, is a manſlayer: and ye know that no manſlayer hath eternall life abiding in him.

16 * [16] Hereby haue we perceiued loue, that he laide downe his life for vs: therefore we ought alſo to lay downe our liues for the brethren.

17 * [17] And whoſoeuer hath this [p] worlds good, and ſeeth his brother haue need, and [q] ſhutteth vp his compaſſion from him, how dwelleth the loue of God in him?

18 [18] My litle children, let vs not loue in word, neither in tongue onely, but indeed and in trueth.

19 [19] For thereby we know that we are of the trueth, [20] and ſhall before him aſſure our hearts.

20 For [r] if our hearts condemne vs, God is greater then our heart, and knoweth all things.

21 [21] Belooued, if our heart condemne vs not, then haue we boldneſſe toward God.

22 *[22] And whatſoeuer we aske, wee receiue of him, becauſe wee keepe his commandements, and doe thoſe things which are pleaſing in his ſight.

23 *This is then his commandement, that we beleeue in the Name of his ſonne Ieſus Chriſt, and loue one another, as hee gaue commandement.

24 * For hee that keepeth his commandements, dwelleth in him, and he in him: and hereby we know that he abideth in vs, euen by that [ſ] Spirit which hee hath giuen vs.

8 An argument taken of contraries: the deuill is the authour of ſinne, and therefore he is of the deuill, or is ruled by the inſpiration of the deuill that ſerue ſinne: and if he be the deuils ſonne, then is hee not Gods ſonne: for the deuill and God are ſo contrary the one to the other, that euen the Sonne of God was ſent to deſtroy the works of the deuill. Therefore on the contrary ſide, whoſoeuer reſiſteth ſinne, is the Sonne of God, being borne againe of his ſpirit as of new ſeed, inſomuch that of neceſſity hee is now deliuered from the ſlauerie of ſinne.

* Iohn 8, 44.

i Reſembleth the deuill, as the childe doeth the father, and is gouerne by his ſpirit.

k He ſaith not, ſinned, but ſinneth, for he did nothing els but ſinne.

m The holy Ghoſt is ſo called of the effect he worketh, becauſe by his vertue and mighty working, as it were by ſeed, we are made new men.

9 The concluſion, by a wicked life they are knowen which are gouerned by the ſpirit of the Deuill, and by a pure life, which are Gods children. 10 Hee beginneth to commend charity towards the brethren, as another marke of the Sonnes of God. 11 The firſt reaſon, taken of the authority of God, which giueth the commandement. * Iohn 13,34. and 15,12. 12 An amplification, taken of the contrary example of Cain, which ſlew his brother. * Gen. 4,8. n Hee bringeth foorth a very fit and very old example, wherein we may behold both the nature of the ſonnes of God, and of the ſonnes of the deuill, and what ſtate and condition remaineth for vs in this world: and what ſhall be the end of both at length. 13 A ſhort digreſſion: Let vs not maruaile that wee are hated of the world for doing our duety, for ſuch was the condition of Abel who was a iuſt perſon: and who would not rather be like him then Cain? 14 The ſecond reaſon: Becauſe charity is a teſtimony that wee are tranſlated from death to life: and therefore hatred towards the brethren is a teſtimony of death, and whoſoeuer nouriſhed it, doeth as it were foſter death in his boſome. o Loue is a token that wee are tranſlated from death to life, foraſmuch as by the effects the cauſe is knowen. * Chap. 2,10. leuit. 9,17. 15 A confirmation: Whoſoeuer is a murtherer, is in eternall death, who ſo hateth his brother, is a murtherer, therefore he is in death. And thereupon followeth the contrary. Hee that loueth his brother, hath paſſed to life, for indeed we are borne dead. Iohn 15, 13. ephes. 5, 2. 16 Now hee ſheweth how farre Chriſtian charity extendeth, euen ſo farre, that according to the example of Chriſt, euery man forget himſelfe, to prouide for and helpe his brethren. * Luk. 3,11. 17 Hee reaſoneth by compariſon: For if wee are bound euen to giue our life for our neighbours, how much more are wee bound to helpe our brothers neceſſity with our goods and ſubſtance? p Wherewith this life is ſuſteined. q Openeth not his heart to him, nor helpeth him willingly and cherefully. 18 Chriſtian charitie ſtandeth not in wordes, but in deede, and proceedeth from a ſincere affection. 19 Hee commendeth charitie by a triple effect: for firſt of all, by it wee know that wee are indeed the ſonnes of God, as he ſheweth before. 20 Thereof it commeth that wee haue a quiet conſcience, as on the contrary ſide he that thinketh that he hath God for a iudge, becauſe he is guieltie to himſelfe, either hee is neuer or els very rare quiet: for God hath a farre quicker ſight then wee, and iudgeth more ſeuerely. r If an euill conſcience conuinceth vs, much more ought the iudgements of God contemne vs, who knoweth our hearts better then we our ſelues doe. 21 A third effect alſo riſeth out of the former, that in theſe miſeries wee are ſure to be heard, becauſe we are the ſonnes of God, as we vnderſtand by the grace of ſanctification which is proper to the elect.

* Matth.21,22. Iohn 15,7. and 16. 25. chap. 5, 14.

22 The concluſion: That faith in Chriſt, and loue one towards another, are things ioyned together, and therefore the outward teſtimonies of ſanctification muſt and do anſwer that inward teſtimony of the Spirit giuen vnto vs.

* Iohn 6,23. and 17,3. * Iohn 13,34. and 15,10. ſ Hee meaneth the Spirit of ſanctification whereby we are borne anew, and liue vnto God.

CHAP. IV.

1 Hauing ſpoken ſomewhat touching the trying of ſpirits: 4 For ſome ſpeake after the world, 5 and ſome after God. 7 He returneth to charitie, 11, 19 and by the example of God he exhorteth to brotherly loue.

DEarely [1] beloued, beleeue not euery [a] ſpirit, but trie the ſpirits whether they are of God: for many falſe Prophets are gone out into the world.

2 [2] Hereby ſhall yee know the Spirit of God, [b] Euery ſpirit that confeſſeth that [c] Ieſus Chriſt is come into the [d] fleſh is of God.

3 And euery ſpirit that confeſſeth not that Ieſus Chriſt is come in the fleſh, is not of God: but this is the Spirit of Antichriſt, of whom yee haue heard, how that he ſhould come, and now already he is in this world.

4 [3] Little children, ye are of God, and haue ouercome them: for greater is hee that is in you, then he that is in this world.

5 [4] They are of this world, therefore ſpake they of this world, and this worlde heareth them.

6 [5] We are of God, * hee that knoweth God, heareth vs: he that is not of God heareth vs not. Hereby know we the [e] Spirit of trueth, and the ſpirit of error.

7 [6] Beloued, let vs loue one another: [7] for loue commeth of God, and euery one that loueth is borne of God, and knoweth God.

8 Hee that loueth not, knoweth not God, [8] for God is [f] loue.

1 Taking occaſion by the name of the Spirit, leaſt loue and charity ſhould be ſeparated from the worſhip of God, which chiefly dependeth of his true knowledge, he returneth to that which he ſpake in the ſecond Chapter touching the taking heed of Antichriſts. And he will haue vs heere to take heed of two things, the one is, that ſeeing there be many falſe prophets, we doe not lightly giue credit to euery man: the other is, that becauſe many men teach falſe things, we ſhould not therefore beleeue any. We muſt then obſerue a meane, that we may be able to diſcerne the Spirit of God, which are altogether to be followed from impure ſpirits which are to be eſchewed. a This is ſpoken by the figure Metonymie, and it is as if hee had ſayd, Beleeue not euery one that ſayeth that hee hath a gift of the holy Ghoſt to doe the office of a Prophet. 2 Hee giueth a certaine and perpetuall rule to knowe the doctrine of Antichriſt by, to wit, if either the diuine or humane nature of Chriſt, or the true vniting of them together be denied: or if the leaſt iote that may be, be derogate from his office who is our onely King, Prophet, and euerlaſting high Prieſt. b Hee ſpeaketh ſimply of the doctrine, and not of the perſon. c The true Meſſias. d Is true man. 3 Hee comforteth the elect with a moſt ſure hope of victory: but yet ſo, that hee teacheth them that they fight not with their owne vertue, but with the vertue and power of God. 4 Hee bringeth a reaſon: why the world receiueth theſe teachers more willingly then the true: to wit, becauſe they breathe out nothing but that which is worldly: which is another note alſo to know the doctrine of Antichriſt by. 5 Hee teſtifieth vnto them that his doctrine and the doctrine of his fellowes, is the aſſured word of God, which of neceſſitie we haue boldly to ſet againſt all the mouths of the whole world, and thereby diſcerne the trueth from falſhood. ✣ Iohn 8,47. e True Prophets againſt whom are ſet falſe Prophets, that is, ſuch as erre themſelues, and lead other into errour. 6 Hee returneth to the commending of brotherly loue and charitie. 7 The firſt reaſon: Becauſe it is a very diuine thing: and therefore very meet for the ſonnes of God: ſo that whoſoeuer is voyde of it, cannot be ſayde to know God aright. 8 A confirmation: For it is the nature of God to loue men, whereof wee haue a moſt manifeſt proofe aboue all other: in that that of his onely free and infinite good will towards vs his enemies, hee deliuered vnto death not a common man, but that his owne Sonne, yea, his onely begotten Sonne, to the end that wee being reconciled through his blood, might be made partakers of his euerlaſting glory. f In that hee called God, Loue hee ſayth more then if hee had ſayd that hee loueth vs infinitely.

9 * Herein was that loue of God made manifeſt amongſt vs, becauſe God ſent that his onely begotten Sonne into this world, that wee might liue through him.

10 Herein is that loue, not that we loued God, but that he loued vs, and ſent his Sonne to be a reconciliation for our ſinnes.

11 [9] Beloued, if God ſo loued vs, we ought alſo to loue one another.

12 * [10] No man hath ſeene God at any time. If we loue one another, God dwelleth in vs, and his loue is [g] perfect in vs.

13 Hereby know we, that we dwell in him, and he in vs: becauſe he hath giuen vs of his Spirit.

14 [11] And we haue ſeene, and do teſtifie, that the Father ſent the Son to be the Sauiour of the world.

15 Whoſoeuer [h] confeſſeth that Ieſus is the Son of God, in him dwelleth God, and he in God.

16 And we haue knowen, and beleeued the loue that God hath in vs. [12] God is loue, and hee that dwelleth in loue, dwelleth in God, and God in him.

17 [13] Herein is that loue perfect in vs, that we ſhould haue boldneſſe in the day of iudgement: for [i] as he is, euen ſo are we in this world.

18 There is no [k] feare in loue, but perfect loue caſteth out feare: for feare hath painefulneſſe: and he that feareth, is not perfect in loue.

19 [14] We loue him, becauſe he loued vs firſt.

20 [15] If any man ſay, I loue God, and hate his brother, he is a lyar: [16] for how can hee that loueth not his brother whom hee hath ſeene, loue God whom he hath not ſeene?

21 * [17] And this commandement haue wee of him, that hee that loueth God, ſhould loue his brother alſo.

---

* Iohn 3,16.

9 Another reaſon by compariſon: if God ſo loued vs, ſhall not we his children loue one another.

* Iohn 1,18. 1.tim. 6,16.

10 A third reaſon: Becauſe God is inuiſible, therefore by this effect of his Spirit, to wit, by charitie, he is vnderſtood, yea, and to be not out of vs, but ioyned with vs, and in vs, in whom he is ſo effectually working.

g Is ſurely in vs, in deed and in trueth.

11 He vnderlayeth this charitie with another foundation, to wit, faith in Ieſus, which ioyneth vs indeede with him, euen as charitie witneſſeth that we are ioyned with him. Furthermore he teſtifieth of Chriſt, as who had ſeene him with his eyes.

h With ſuch a confeſſion as commeth from true faith and is accompanied with loue, ſo that there be an agreement of all things.

12 A fourth reaſon: God is the fountaine and welſpring of charitie, yea, charitie it ſelfe: therefore whoſoeuer abideth in it, hath God with him.

13 Againe (as a little before) he commendeth loue, for that ſeeing that by our agreement with God in this thing, we haue a certaine teſtimonie of our adoption, it commeth thereby to paſſe, that without feare we looke for that latter day of iudgement, ſo that trembling and that torment of conſcience is caſt out by this loue.

i This ſignifieth all likeneſſe, not equalitie.

k If we vnderſtand by loue, that we are in God, and God in vs, that wee are ſonnes, and that we know God, and that euerlaſting life is in vs: he concludeth aright that wee may well gather peace and quietneſſe thereby.

14 Leſt any man ſhould thinke that that peace of conſcience proceedeth from our loue as from the cauſe, he goeth backe to the fountaine, to wit, to the free loue, wherewith God loueth vs although we deſerued and doe deſerue his wrath. And hereof ſpringeth another double charity, which both are tokens and witneſſes of that firſt, to wit, that, wherewith we loue God who loued vs firſt, and then for his ſake our neighbours alſo.

15 As he ſhewed that the loue of our neighbour cannot be ſeparate from the loue wherewith God loueth vs, becauſe this laſt engendreth the other: ſo he denieth that the other kinde of loue wherewith we loue God, can be ſeparate from the loue of our neighbour: whereof it followeth, that they lye impudently which ſay they worſhip God, and yet regard not their neighbour.

16 The firſt reaſon taken of compariſon, why we cannot hate our neighbour and loue God, to wit, becauſe that hee that cannot loue his brother, whom he ſeeth, how can hee loue God whom he ſeeth not?

* Iohn 13, 34. and 15, 12.

17 A ſecond reaſon, why God cannot be hated and our neighbour loued, becauſe the ſelfe ſame Lawmaker commanded both to loue him and our neighbour.

CHAP. V.

1 Hee ſheweth that brotherly loue and faith are things inſeparable: 10 And that there is no faith towards God, but by beleeuing in Chriſt: 14 Hence proceedeth calling vpon God with aſſurance: 16 and alſo that our prayers be auaileable for our brethren.

WHoſoeuer [1] beleeueth that Ieſus is that [a] Chriſt, is borne of God: and euery one that loueth him, which begate, loueth [b] him alſo which is begotten of him.

2 [2] In this we know that we loue the children of God, when we loue God, and keepe his [c] commandements.

3 [3] For this is the loue of God, that we keepe his commandements: [4] and his * commaundements are not [d] burdenous.

4 [5] For all that is borne of God, ouercommeth this world: [6] and this is that victory that [e] hath ouercome this world euen our [f] faith.

5 * [7] Who is it that ouercommeth this world, but hee which beleeueth that Ieſus is that Sonne of God?

6 [8] This is that Ieſus Chriſt that came by water and blood: [9] not by water onely, but by water and blood: and it is that [g] Spirit that beareth witneſſe: for that Spirit is trueth.

7 For there are three, which beare record in heauen, the Father, the [h] Worde, and the holy Ghoſt: and theſe three are [i] one.

8 And there are three, which beare record in the earth, the Spirit, and the Water, and the Blood: and theſe three agree in one.

9 [10] If we receiue the witneſſe of men, the witneſſe of God is greater: for [k] this is the witneſſe of God, which he teſtified of his Sonne.

10 * [11] Hee that beleeueth in that Sonne of God, hath the witneſſe in himſelfe: he that beleeueth not God, hath made him a lyar, becauſe hee beleeued not the record, that God witneſſed of that his Sonne.

11 [12] And this is that record, to vvit, that God hath giuen vnto vs eternall life, and this life is in that his Sonne.

12 Hee that hath that Sonne, hath that life: and he that hath not that Sonne of God, hath not that life.

13 [13] Theſe things haue I written vnto you,

---

1 He goeth on forward in the ſame argument, ſhewing how both thoſe loues come into vs from the loue wherewith God loueth vs, to wit, by Ieſus our Mediatour laid hold on by faith, in whom we are made the children of God, and doe loue the Father of whom we are ſo begotten and alſo our brethren which are begotten with vs.

a Is the true Meſſias.

b By one he meaneth all the faithfull.

2 The loue of our neighbour doeth ſo hang vpon the loue wherewith wee loue God, that this laſt muſt needes goe before the firſt, whereof it followeth, that that is not to be called loue when men agree together to doe euill, neither that, when as in louing our neighbours, wee reſpect not Gods commandements.

c There is no loue where there is no true doctrine.

3 The reaſon: for to loue God is to keepe his commandements, which being ſo, and ſeeing that both the loues are commanded of one and the ſelfe ſame lawmaker (as he taught before) it followeth alſo that we doe not loue our neighbour, when we breake Gods commandements.

4 Becauſe experience teacheth vs that there is no abilitie in our fleſh, neither yet will to performe Gods commandements, therefore leaſt the Apoſtle ſhould ſeeme, by ſo often putting them in minde of the keeping of the commandements of God, to require things that are impoſſible, he pronounceth that the commandements of God are not in ſuch ſort grieuous or burdenſome, that we can be oppreſſed with the burden of them.

* Math. 11,30.

d To them that are regenerate, that is to ſay, borne anew, which are led by the Spirit of God, and are through grace deliuered from the curſe of the Lawe.

5 A reaſon: Becauſe by regeneration wee haue gotten ſtrength to ouercome the worlde, that is to ſay, whatſoeuer ſtriueth againſt the commaundements of God.

6 He declareth what that ſtrength is, to wit, Faith.

e Hee vſeth the time that is paſt to giue vs to vnderſtanding, that although wee be in the battell, yet vndoubtly wee ſhall be conquerours, and are moſt certaine of the victorie.

f Which is the inſtrumentall cauſe, and as a meane and hand whereby wee lay hold on him who indeed doeth performe this, that is, hath and doeth ouercome the world, Euen Chriſt Ieſus.

* 1.Cor 15,57.

7 Moreouer hee declareth two things, the one what true faith is, to wit, that which reſteth vpon Ieſus Chriſt the Sonne of God alone: whereupon followeth the other, to wit, that this ſtrength is not proper to faith, but by faith as an inſtrument is drawen from Ieſus Chriſt the Sonne of God.

8 Hee prooueth the excellencie of Chriſt, in whom onely all things are giuen vs by ſixe witneſſes, three heauenly, and three earthly, which wholly and fully agree together. The heauenly witneſſes are: the Father who ſent the Sonne, the worde it ſelfe which became fleſh, and the holy Ghoſt. The earthly witneſſes are, water, (that is, our ſanctification) blood, (that is our iuſtification) the Spirit, (that is, acknowledge of God the Father in Chriſt by faith through the teſtimonie of the holy Ghoſt.)

9 Hee warneth vs not to ſeparate water from blood, (that is, ſanctification from iuſtification, or righteouſneſſe begunne, from righteouſneſſe imputed) for wee ſtand not vpon ſanctification but ſo farre foorth as it is a witneſſe of Chriſtes righteouſneſſe imputed vnto vs: and although this imputation of Chriſtes righteouſneſſe be neuer ſeparated from ſanctification, yet it is onely the matter of our ſaluation.

g Our ſpirit, which is the third witneſſe, teſtifieth that the holy Ghoſt is trueth: that is to ſay, that that is true which he telleth vs, to wit, that wee are the ſonnes of God.

h Looke Iohn 3,14.

i Agree in one.

10 Hee ſheweth by an Argument of compariſon, of what great weight the heauenly teſtimonie is, that the Father hath giuen of the Sonne, vnto whom agreeth both the Sonne himſelfe and the holy Ghoſt.

k I conclude this aright: for that teſtimonie which I ſaid is giuen in heauen, commeth from God, who ſo ſetteth foorth his Sonne.

* Iohn 3,16.

11 Hee prooueth the ſureneſſe of the earthly witneſſes by euery mans conſcience, hauing that teſtimonie in it ſelfe, which conſcience hee ſaith cannot be deceiued, becauſe it conſenteth the heauenly teſtimonie, which the Father giueth of the Sonne: For otherwiſe the Father muſt needes be a lyar, if the conſcience, which accordeth and aſſenteth to the Father ſhould lye.

12 Now at length hee ſheweth what this teſtimonie is, that is confirmed with ſo many witneſſes: to wit, that life or euerlaſting felicitie, is the meere, and onely gift of God, which is in the Sonne, and proceedeth from him into vs, which by faith are ioyned with him, ſo that without him life is no where to be found.

13 The concluſion of the Epiſtle wherein hee ſheweth firſt of all, that euen they which already beleeue, doe ſtand in deede of this doctrine, to the ende that they may growe more and more in faith, that is to ſay, to the ende that they may be dayly more and more certified of their ſaluation in Chriſt through faith.

that beleeue in the name of that Sonne of God, that ye may know that yee haue eternall life, and that yee may beleeue in the Name of that Sonne of God.

14 [14] And this is that aſſurance that we haue in him, * that if we aſke any thing according to his will, he heareth vs.

15 And if we know that he heareth vs, whatſoeuer we aſke, we know that wee haue the petitions, that we haue deſired of him.

16 [15] If any man ſee his brother ſinne a ſinne that is not vnto death, let him [l] aſke, and he ſhall giue him life for them that ſinne not vnto death. * There is a ſinne vnto death, I ſay not that thou ſhouldeſt pray for it.

17 [16] All vnrighteouſneſſe is ſinne, but there is a ſinne not vnto death.

18 [17] We know that whoſoeuer is born of God, ſinneth not: but he that is begotten of God keepeth himſelfe, and that wicketh one toucheth him not.

19 [18] Wee know that we are of God, and this whole world lieth in wickedneſſe.

20 But we know that that Sonne of God is * come, and hath giuen vs a mind to know him, which is true, and we are in him that is true, that is, in that his Sonne Ieſus Chriſt, the ſame is that very [m] God, and that eternall life.

21 [19] Little children, keepe your ſelues from idoles, Amen.

[14] Becauſe we do not yet in effect obtain that which we hope for, the Apoſtle ioyneth inuocation or prayer with faith, which he will haue to proceed from faith, and moreouer to be conceiued in ſuch ſort, that nothing be aſked but that which is agreeable to the will of God: and ſuch prayers cannot be vaine. Chap.3,22.

[15] We haue to make prayers not only for our ſelues, but alſo for our brethren which doe ſinne, that their ſinnes be not vnto them, to death: and yet hee excepteth that ſinne, which is neuer forgiuen, or the ſinne againſt the holy Ghoſt, that is to ſay, an vniuerſall and wilfull falling away from the knowen trueth of the Goſpel.

[l] This is as much as if he ſaid, Let him deſire the Lord to forgiue him, and hee will forgiue him being ſo deſired.

* Matth.12,31. marke 3,29.

[16] The taking away of an obiection: Indeed all iniquitie is comprehended vnder the name of ſin, but yet we muſt not deſpaire therefore, becauſe euery ſin is not deadly, and without hope of remedie.

[17] A reaſon why not all, nay rather why no ſin is mortall to ſome: to wit, becauſe they be borne of God, that is to ſay, made the ſonnes of God in Chriſt, and being indued with his Spirit, they doe not ſerue ſin, neither are deadly wounded of Satan.

[18] Euery man muſt particularly apply to himſelfe the generall promiſes, that we may certainely perſwade our ſelues, that whereas all the world is by nature loſt, we are freely made the ſons of God, by the ſending of Ieſus Chriſt his Sonne vnto vs, of whom we are lightened with the knowledge of the true God, and euerlaſting life.

* Luke 24,45.

[m] The diuinitie of Chriſt is moſt plainely prooued by this place.

[19] He expreſſeth a plaine precept of taking heed of idoles: which he ſetteth againſt the onely true God, that with this ſeale as it were he might ſeale vp all the former doctrine.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF IOHN.

1 This Epiſtle is written to a woman of great renowme, 4 who brought vp her children in the feare of God: 6 he exhorteth her to continue in Chriſtian charitie, 7 that ſhee accompanie not with Antichriſts, 10 but auoid them.

THE ELDER to the [a] elect [b] Ladie, and her children, [1] whom I loue in the trueth: and not I onely, but alſo all that haue knowen the trueth,

2 For the trueths ſake which dwelleth in vs, and ſhall be with vs for euer:

3 Grace be with you, mercy and peace from God the Father, and from the Lord Ieſus Chriſt the Sonne of the Father, with [c] trueth and loue.

4 [2] I reioyced greatly, that I found of thy children walking in [d] trueth, as we haue receiued a commandement of the Father.

5 And now beſeech I thee, Lady, (not as writing a new commandement vnto thee, but the ſame which we had from the beginning) that we * loue one another.

6 And this is that loue that we ſhould walke after his commandements. This commandement is, that as ye haue heard from the beginning, yee ſhould walke in it.

7 [3] For many deceiuers are entred into this world, which confeſſe not that Ieſus Chriſt is come in the fleſh. He that is ſuch one, is a deceiuer and an Antichriſt.

8 [4] [e] Looke to your ſelues, that we loſe not the things, which we haue done, but that we may receiue a full reward.

9 Whoſoeuer tranſgreſſeth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Chriſt, hath not God. He that continueth in the doctrine of Chriſt, he hath both the Father and the Sonne.

10 [5] If there come any vnto you, and bring not this doctrine, * receiue him not to houſe, neither bid him God ſpeed.

11 For he that biddeth him God ſpeed, is partaker of his euill deeds. Although I had many things to write vnto you, yet would I not vvrite with paper and ynke: but I truſt to come vnto you, and ſpeake mouth to mouth, that our ioy may be full.

12 The ſonnes of thine elect ſiſter greete thee, Amen.

[a] This is no proper name, but to be taken as the word ſoundeth, that is to ſay to the worthy and noble Lady.

[b] Excellent and honourable Dame.

[1] The bond of Chriſtian coniunction or linking together, is the true and conſtant profeſſion of the trueth.

[c] With true knowledge, which hath alwayes loue ioyned with it, and following it.

[2] This true profeſſion conſiſteth both in loue one toward another which the Lord hath commanded, and alſo eſpecially in wholeſome and ſound doctrine, which alſo is deliuered vnto vs: for the commandement of God is a ſound and ſure foundation both of the rule of maners and of doctrine, and theſe cannot be ſeparated the one from the other.

[d] According as the trueth directeth them.

* Iohn 15,12.

[3] Antichriſts fighting againſt the perſon and office of Chriſt, were already crept into the Church in the time of the Apoſtles.

[4] He that maketh ſhipwracke of doctrine, loſeth all.

[e] Beware and take good head.

[5] We ought to haue nothing to doe with them that defend peruerſe doctrine.

* Rom. 16,17.

THE THIRD EPISTLE OF IOHN.

1 Hee commendeth Gaius for hoſpitalitie. 9 and reprehendeth Diotrephes for vaine glory: 10 hee exhorteth Gaius to continue in well doing: 12 and in the ende commendeth Demetrius.

THE [1] Elder vnto the beloued Gaius whom I loue in the trueth.

2 Beloued, I wiſh chiefly that thou proſperedſt and faredſt well as thy ſoule proſpereth.

3 For I reioyceth greatly when the brethren came and teſtified of the trueth that is in thee, how thou walkeſt in the trueth.

4 I haue no greater ioy then [a] theſe, that is, to heare that my ſonnes walke in veritie.

5 Beloued, thou doeſt [b] faithfully, whatſoeuer thou doeſt to the brethren, and to ſtrangers,

6 Which bare witneſſe of thy loue before the Churches, Whom if thou [c] bringeſt on their iourney as it beſeemeth according to God, thou ſhalt doe well,

7 Becauſe that for his Names ſake they went forth, and tooke nothing of the Gentiles.

8 Wee therefore ought to receiue ſuch, that we might be [d] helpers to the trueth.

9 [2] I wrote vnto the Church, but Diotrephes which loueth to haue the preeminence among them, receiueth vs not.

10 Wherefore if I come, I will call to your remembrance his deeds which hee doeth, pratling againſt vs with malicious words, and not therewith content, neither hee himſelfe receiueth the brethren, but forbiddeth them that would, and thruſteth them out of the Church.

11 Beloued, follow not that which is euill, but that which is good: he that doth well is of God: but he that doeth euill, hath not [e] ſeene God.

[1] An example of a Chriſtian gratulation.

[a] Then theſe ioyes.

[b] As becommeth a beleeuer and a Chriſtian.

[c] He commendeth to Gaius either thoſe ſelfe ſame men whom he had entertained before, returning now againe to him about the affaires of the Church, or els ſome other which had like buſineſſe.

[d] That wee our ſelues may helpe ſomewhat to the preaching of the trueth.

[2] Ambition and couetouſneſſe, two peſtilent plagues (eſpecially in them which haue any Eccleſiaſticall function) are condemned in Diotrephes perſon.

[e] Hath not knowen God.

12 Demetrius hath good report of all men, and of the trueth it ſelfe: yea, and wee our ſelues beare record, and ye know that our record is true.

13 I haue many things to write: but I will not with ynke and pen write vnto thee:

14 For I truſt I ſhall ſhortly ſee thee, and we ſhall ſpeake mouth to mouth. Peace be with thee. The friends ſalute thee. Greete thy friends by name.

THE GENERALL EPISTLE OF IVDE.

3 Hee warneth the godly to take heede of ſuch men, 4 that make the grace of God a cloake for their wantonneſſe: 5 and that they ſhall not eſcape vnpuniſhed, for the contempt of that grace, 6, 7 hee prooueth by three examples: 14 and alleageth the prophecie of Enoch: 20 Finally hee ſheweth the godly a meane to ouerthrow all the ſnares of thoſe deceiuers.

IVde a ſeruant of Ieſus Chriſt, and [a] brother of Iames, to them which are called and ſanctified [b] of God the Father, and [c] reſerued to Ieſus Chriſt:

2 Mercy vnto you, and peace and loue be multiplied.

3 [1] Beloued, when I gaue all diligence to write vnto you of the [d] common ſaluation, it was needfull for me to write vnto you, to exhort you, that ye ſhould earneſtly [e] contend for the maintenance of the faith, which was [f] once giuen vnto the Saints.

4 [2] For there are certaine men crept in, which were before of olde ordeined to this condemnation: [3] vngodly men they are, which turne the grace of our God into wantonneſſe, and * denie God the onely Lord, and our Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

5 [4] I will therefore put you in remembrance, foraſmuch as yee once knew this, how that the Lord, after that hee had deliuered the people out of Egypt, * deſtroyed them afterward which beleeued not.

6 [5] The * Angels alſo which kept not their firſt eſtate, but left their owne habitation, he hath reſerued in euerlaſting chaines vnder darkeneſſe vnto the iudgement of the great day.

7 As * Sodom and Gomorrhe, and the cities about them, which in like maner as they did, [g] committed fornication, and followed [h] ſtrange fleſh, are ſet forth for an example, and ſuffer the vengeance of eternall fire.

8 Likewiſe notwithſtanding theſe [i] ſleepers alſo defile the fleſh, [6] and deſpiſe [k] gouernment, and ſpeake euill of them that are in authoritie.

9 [7] Yet Michael the Archangel, when hee ſtroue againſt the deuill, and diſputed about the body of Moſes, durſt not blame him with curſed ſpeaking, but ſaid, The Lord rebuke thee.

10 [8] But theſe ſpeake euill of thoſe things, which they know not: and whatſoeuer things they know naturally as beaſts, which are without reaſon, in thoſe things they corrupt themſelues.

11 [9] Woe be vnto them: for they haue followed the way * of Cain, and are caſt away by the deceit * of Balaams wages, and periſh in the gainesaying * of Core.

12 [10] Theſe are rockes in your [l] feaſtes of charity, when they feaſt with you, without [m] all feare, feeding themſelues: * cloudes they are without water, caried about of windes, corrupt trees and without fruit, twiſe dead, and plucked vp by the rootes.

13 They are the raging waues of the ſea, foming out their owne ſhames: they are wandring ſtarres, to whom is reſerued the [n] blackeneſſe of dearkeneſſe for euer.

14 And Enoch alſo the ſeuenth from Adam, prophecied of ſuch, ſaying, * Beholde, the Lord [o] commeth with thouſands of his Saints, 15 To giue iudgement againſt all men, and to rebuke all the vngodly among them of all their wicked deedes, which they haue vngodly committed, and of all their cruel ſpeakings, which wicked ſinners haue ſpoken againſt him.

16 Theſe are murmurers, complainers, walking after their owne luſtes: * whoſe mouthes ſpeake proud things, hauing mens perſons in admiration, becauſe of aduantage.

17 [11] But, yee beloued, remember the wordes which were ſpoken before of the Apoſtles of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt:

18 How that they tolde you that there ſhould be mockers * in the laſt time, which ſhould walke after their owne vngodly luſts.

19 [12] Theſe are they that ſeparate themſelues from other, naturall, hauing not the Spirit.

20 But, yee beloued, edifie your ſelues in your moſt holy faith, praying in the holy Ghoſt.

21 And keepe your ſelues in the loue of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, vnto eternall life.

22 [13] And haue compaſſion of ſome, in putting difference:

23 And other ſaue with [p] feare, pulling them out of the fire, and hate euen that [q] garment which is ſpotted by the fleſh.

24 [14] Now vnto him that is able to keepe you that yee fall not, and to preſent you faultleſſe before the preſence of his glory with ioy, 25 That is, to God onely wiſe, our Sauiour be glory, and maieſtie, and dominion, and power, both now and for euer, Amen.

[a] This is put to make a difference betweene him and Iudas Iſcariot.

[b] By God the Father.

[c] Set apart by the euerlaſting counſell of God, to be deliuered to Chriſt to be kept.

[1] The end and marke whereat he ſhooteth in this Epiſtle, is, that he confirmeth the godly againſt certaine wicked men, both in wholeſome doctrine and good maners.

[d] Of theſe things that pertaine to the ſaluation of all of vs.

[e] That ye ſhould defend the faith by all the might you can, both by true doctrine and good example of life.

[f] Which was once ſo giuen, that it may neuer be changed.

[2] It is by Gods prouidence and not by chance, that many wicked men creepe into the Church.

[3] Hee condemneth this firſt in them, that they take a pretence or occaſion to waxe wanton, by the grace of God: which cannot be, but the chiefe empire of Chriſt muſt be abrogated, in that ſuch men giue vp themſelues to Satan: as at this time the ſect of the Anabaptiſts doeth, which they call Libertines. * 2 Pet. 2,1. [4] Hee ſetteth foorth the horrible puniſhment of them which haue abuſeth the grace of God to follow their owne luſtes. * Numb. 14, 37. [5] The fall of the Angels was moſt ſincerely puniſhed, how much more then will the Lord puniſh wicked and faithleſſe men? * 2. Pet. 2,4. * Gen. 19, 24. [g] Following the ſteps of Sodome and Gomorrhe. [h] Thus he couertly ſetteth foorth their horrible and monſtrous luſtes. [i] Which are ſo blockiſh and voide of reaſon as if all their ſenſes and wits were in a moſt dead ſleepe. [6] Another moſt pernitious doctrine of theirs, in that they take away the authority of Magiſtrates, and ſpeake euill of them, as at this day the Anabaptiſts doe. [k] It is a greater matter to deſpiſe gouernment, then the gouernors, that is to ſay, the matter it ſelfe, then the perſons. [7] An argument of compariſon, Michael one of the chiefeſt Angels, was content to deliuer Satan, although as moſt curſed enemie, to the iudgement of God to be puniſhed: and theſe peruerſe men are not aſhamed to ſpeake euill of the powers which are ordeined of God. [8] The concluſion. Theſe men are in a double fault, to wit, both for their raſh follie in condemning ſome, and for their impudent and ſhameleſſe contempt of that knowledge, which when they had gotten, yet notwithſtanding they liued as bruite beaſts, ſeruing their bellies.

[9] He foretelleth their deſtruction, becauſe they reſemble or ſhew forth Cains ſhameleſſe malice, Balaams filthy couetouſneſſe, and to be ſhort, Cores ſeditious and ambitious head.

* Gen. 4,8.

* Numb. 22, 21. 2. pet. 2, 15.

* Numb. 16, 1.

[10] Hee rebuketh moſt ſharply with many other notes and markes, both their diſhoneſtie or filthineſſe, and their ſawcineſſe, but eſpecially their vaine brauery of words, and moſt vaine pride, ioyning herewithall a moſt graue and heauie threatning out of a moſt ancient prophecie of Enoch touching the iudgement to come.

[l] The feaſts of charitie were certaine bankets, which the brethren that were members of the Church, kept all together, as Tertullian ſetteth them forth in his Apolog. Chap. 3, 9.

[m] Impudently, without all reuerence either to God or man.

* 2. Pet. 2, 17.

[n] Moſt groſſe darkeneſſe.

* Reuel. 1, 7.

[o] The preſent time for the time to come.

* Pſal. 17, 10.

[11] The riſing vp of ſuch monſters was ſpoken of before; that wee ſhould not be troubled at the newneſſe of the matter. * 1. Tim. 4,1. 2. tim. 3,1. 2. pet. 3, 3. [12] It is the property of Antichriſtes to ſeparate themſelues from the godly, becauſe they are not gouerned by the Spirit of God: and contrariwiſe it is the propertie of Chriſtians to edifie one another through godly prayers both in faith and alſo in loue vntill the mercy of Chriſt appeare to their full ſaluation. [13] Among them which wander and goe aſtray, the godly haue to vſe this choice, that they handle ſome of them gently, and that other ſome being euen in the very flame, they endeuour to ſaue with ſeuere and ſharpe inſtruction of the preſent danger: yet ſo, that they doe in ſuch ſort abhorre the wicked and diſhoneſt, that they eſchew euen the leaſt contagion that may be. [p] By fearing them, and holding them backe with godly ſeueritie. [q] An amplification taken from the forbidden things of the Law which did defile. [14] He commendeth them to the grace of God, declaring ſufficiently that it is God onely that can giue vs that conſtancie which he requireth of vs.

THE ORDER OF TIME, wherevnto the Contents of this booke are to be referred.

The yeere of Chriſt.

THE REVELATION OF SAINT IOHN THE APOSTLE AND Euangeliſt with the Annotations of Francis Iunius.

CHAP. I.

2 He declareth what kind of doctrine is here handled, 8 euen his that is the beginning and ending. 12 Then the myſtery of the ſeuen Candleſtickes and ſtarres, 20 is expounded.

THe [1] [a] Reuelation of [b] Ieſus Chriſt, which God gaue vnto him, to ſhewe vnto his ſeruants things which muſt ſhortly be done: which hee ſent, and ſhewed by his Angel vnto his ſeruant Iohn,

2 Who bare * record of the word of God, and of the teſtimonie of Ieſus Chriſt, and of all things that he ſaw.

3 Bleſſed is he that readeth, and they that heare the words of this prophecie, and keepe thoſe things which are written therein: for the time is at hand.

4 [2] Iohn to the ſeuen Churches which are in Aſia, Grace be with you, and peace [3] from him, [c] Which * is, and Which was, and Which is to come, and from [4] the [d] ſeuen Spirits which are before his Throne,

5 And from Ieſus Chriſt [5] which is that * faithfull witneſſe, and * that firſt begotten of the dead, and that Prince of the Kings of the earth, vnto him that loued vs, and waſhed vs from our ſinnes in his * blood,

6 And made vs * Kings and Prieſts vnto God euen his Father, to him, I ſay, be glory, and dominion for euermore, Amen.

7 Behold, he commeth with * clouds, and euery [e] eye ſhall ſee him: yea, euen they which pearced him thorow: and all kindreds of the earth ſhall waile before him. Euen ſo, Amen.

8 [6] I * am [f] Alpha and Omega, the beginning and ÿ ending, ſaith the Lord, Which is, and Which was, and Which is to come, euen the Almighty.

9 [7] I Iohn euen your brother and companion in tribulation, and in the kingdome and patience of Ieſus Chriſt, was in the [g] Ile called Patmos, for the word of God, and for the witneſſing of Ieſus Chriſt.

10 And I was rauiſhed in [h] ſpirit on the [i] Lords day, and heard behind me a great voyce, as it had bene of a trumpet, 11 Saying, I am Alpha and Omega, that firſt and that laſt: and that which thou ſeeſt write in a booke, and ſend it vnto the ſeuen Churches which are in Aſia, vnto Epheſus, and vnto Smyrna, & vnto Pergamus, and vnto Thyatira, and vnto Sardis, and vnto Philadelphia, and vnto Laodicea.

12 [8] Then I turned backe to [k] ſee the voyce that ſpake with me: [9] and when I was turned, I ſawe ſeuen golden candleſtickes, 13 And in the mids of the ſeuen candleſtickes, one like vnto the ſonne of man, cloathed with a garment downe to the feete, and girded about the paps with a golden girdle.

14 His head and haires vvere white as white wool, & as ſnow, & his eyes vvere as a flame of fire,

15 And his feet like vnto fine braſſe burning as in a fornace: and his voyce as the ſound of many waters.

16 And he had in his right hand ſeuen ſtarres: and out of his mouth went a ſharpe two edged ſword, and his face ſhone as the ſonne ſhineth in his ſtrength.

17 [10] And when I ſawe him, I fell at his feete as dead: [11] then he laide his right hand vpon me, ſaying vnto me, Feare not: [12] I am that * firſt

[1] This Chapter hath two principall parts, the title or inſcription, which ſtandeth in ſtead of an exordium: and a narration going before the whole prophecie of this booke: The inſcription is double, generall and particular. The generall conteineth the kind of prophecie, the authour, and, matter, inſtruments, and maner of communicating the ſame, in the firſt verſe: the moſt religious faithfulneſſe of the Apoſtle as a publike withneſſe, verſe 2. And the vſe of communicating the ſame taken from the promiſe of God, and from the circumſtance of the time, verſe the third.

[a] An opening of a ſecret and hid thing.

[b] Which the Sonne opened to vs out of his Fathers boſome by Angels. [2] This is the particuliar or ſingular inſcription where in ſaluation is written vnto certaine Churches by name, which repreſent the Church Catholike: and the certainty and the trueth of the ſame is declared, from the Authour thereof, vnto the eight verſe. [3] That is, from God the Father, eternall, immortall, immutable: whoſe vnchangeableneſſe S. Iohn declareth by a forme of ſpeach which is vndeclined. For there is no incongruitie in this place, where, of neceſſitie the words muſt be attempered vnto the myſteries, and not the myſteries corrupted or impaired by the word. [c] By theſe three times, Is, Was and ſhall be, is ſignified this word Iehouah, which is the proper name of God. * Exod. 3, 14. [4] That is, from the holy Ghoſt which proceedeth from the Father and the Sonne. This Spirit is one in perſon according to his ſubſiſtencie: but in communication of his vertue, and in demonſtration of his diuine workes in thoſe ſeuen Churches, doeth ſo perfectly manifeſt himſelfe, as if there were ſo many Spirits, euery one perfectly working in his owne Church, wherefore after Chap. 5, 6. they are called the ſeuen hornes and ſeuen eyes of the Lambe, as much to ſay, as his moſt abſolute power and wiſedome: and Chap. 3, 1. Chriſt is ſaid to haue there ſeuen Spirits of God, and Chap. 4. 5. it is ſaid, that ſeuen lampes doe burne before his throne, which alſo are thoſe ſeuen Spirits of God That this place ought to be ſo vnderſtood, it is thus prooued. For firſt grace and peace is asked by prayer of this Spirit, which is a diuine worke, and in action incommunicable, in reſpect of the moſt high Deitie. Secondly, he is placed betweene the Father and the Sonne, as ſet in the ſame degree of dignitie and operation with them. Beſides he is before the throne, as of the ſame ſubſtance with the Father and the Son: as the ſeuen eyes and ſeuen hornes of the Lambe. Moreouer, theſe ſpirits are neuer ſayde to adore God, as all other things are. Finally, that is the power whereby the Lambe opened the booke, and looſed the ſeuen ſeales thereof when none could be found amongſt all creatures by whom the booke might be opened Chap. 5. Of theſe things long agoe, Maſter Iohn Luid of Oxford wrote learnedly vnto mee. Now the holy Ghoſt is ſet in order of words before Chriſt, becauſe there was in that which followeth, a long proceſſe of ſpeach to be vſed concerning Chriſt. [d] Theſe are the ſeuen ſpirits, which are, afterward, Chap. 5. verſe 6. called the hornes and eyes of the Lambe, and are now made as a garde waiting vpon God. [5] A moſt ample and graue commendation of Chriſt, firſt from his offices the Prieſthood and kingdomes, ſecondly from his benefits, as his loue toward vs, and waſhing vs with his blood, in this verſe, and communication of his kingdome and Prieſthood with vs: thirdly from his eternall glory and power, which alwayes is to be celebrated of vs verſe 6. Finally from the accompliſhment of all things once to be effected by him, at his ſecond comming. what time hee ſhall openly deſtroy the wicked, and ſhall comfort the godly in the trueth, verſe 7. * Pſal. 89, 38. * 1. Cor. 15, 21. coloſſ. 1. 18. * Heb. 9, 14. 1. pet. 1, 29. 1. Iohn 1, 9. * 1. Pet. 2, 5. * Eſai. 3, 14. matth. 24, 30. iude 14 [e] All men.

[6] A confirmation of the ſaluation aforegoing, taken from the words of God himſelfe: in which he auoucheth his operation in euery ſingular creature, the immutable eternitie that is in himſelfe, and his omnipotencie in all things: and concludeth in the vnitie of his owne eſſence, that Trinitie of perſons, which was before ſpoken of.

* Chap. 21, 6. and 22, 13.

[f] I am he before whom there is nothing, yea, by whom euery thing that is made, was made and ſhall remaine though all they ſhould periſh

[7] The narration opening the way to the declaring of the authoritie and calling of Saint Iohn the Euangeliſt in this ſingular Reuelation, and to procure faith, and credit vnto this prophecie. This is the ſecond part of this Chapter conſiſting of a propoſition and an expoſition. The propoſition ſheweth, firſt who was called vnto this Reuelation, in what place, & how occupied, verſe 9. Then at what time and by what meanes, namely, by the ſpirit and the word, and that on the Lords day, which day euer ſince the reſurrection of Chriſt, was conſecrated for Chriſtians vnto the religion of the Sabbath: that is to ſay, to be a day of reſt, verſe 10. Thirdly, who is the authour that calleth him, and what is the ſum of his calling. [g] Patmos is one of the yles of Sporas whither Iohn was baniſhed as ſome write. [h] This is that holy rauiſhment expreſſed, wherwith the Prophets were rauiſhed, and being as it were carried out of the world were conuerſant with God, and ſo Ezekiel ſaith often that hee was carried from place to place of the Lords Spirit and that the Spirit of the Lord fell vpon him. [i] Hee calleth it the Lords day, which Paul calleth the firſt day of the weeke, 1. Cor. 16, 2 [8] The expoſition, declaring the third and laſt point of the propoſition (for the other points are euident of themſelues) wherein is ſpoken firſt of the authour of his calling vnto the 17. verſe. Secondly of the calling it ſelfe vnto the end of the Chap. And firſt of all the occaſion is noted in this verſe, in that S Iohn turned himſelfe towards the viſion: after is ſet downe the diſcription of the authour in the verſes following. 13, 14, 15, 16. [k] To ſee him whoſe voyce I had heard. [9] The deſcription of the Authour, which is Chriſt: by the candleſticks that ſtandeth about him, that is the Churches that ſtand before him, and depend vpon his direction, in this verſe: by his properties, that hee is one furniſhed with wiſdome and dexteritie to the atchieuing of great things, verſe 13. and ancient grauitie and moſt excellent ſight of the eye, verſe 14. with ſtrength inuincible and with a mightie word, verſe 15. By his operations, that he ruleth the miniſtery of his ſeruants in the Church, giueth the effect thereunto by the ſword of his word, and enlightening all things with his countenance, doeth moſt mightily prouide for euery one by his diuine prouidence, verſe 16. [10] A religious feare that goeth before the calling of the Saints, and their full confirmation to take vpon them the vocation of God.

[11] A diuine confirmation is this calling partly by ſigne and partly by word of power.

[12] A moſt elegant deſcription of this calling conteined in three things, which are neceſſary vnto a iuſt vocation: firſt the authoritie of him that calleth, for that he is the beginning and the end of all things, in this verſe, for that hee is eternall and omnipotent, verſe 18. Secondly, the ſum of this propheticall calling, and reuelation, verſe 19. Laſtly a declaration of thoſe perſons vnto whom this prophecie is by the commandement of God directed in the deſcription thereof, verſe 20. * Eſai. 41, 4.

18 And am aliue, but I was dead: and behold, I am aliue for euermore, Amen: and I haue the keyes of hell and of death.

19 [13] Write theſe things which thou haſt ſeene, and the things which are, and the things which ſhall come hereafter.

20 [14] The myſtery of the ſeuen ſtarres which thou ſaweſt in my right hand, and the ſeuen golden candleſtickes is this, The ſeuen ſtarres are the [l] Angels of the ſeuen Churches: and the ſeuen candleſtickes which thou ſaweſt, are the ſeuen Churches.

---

[13] The ſumme of this prophecie, that the Apoſtle muſt write whatſoeuer he ſhould ſee, adding nothing, nor taking away any thing, as verſe 2. Hereof there are two parts: one is a narration of thoſe things which are, that is, which then were at that time contained in the ſecond and third Chapters, the other part is of thoſe things which were to come, contained in the reſt of this booke.

[14] That is, the things which was myſticall, ſignified by the particulars of the viſion before going.

[l] By the Angels he meaneth the Miniſters of the Church.

CHAP. II.

1 Iohn is commanded to write thoſe things which the Lord knew neceſſarie to the Churches of Epheſus. 8 Of the Smyrnians, 12 of Pergamus, 18 and of Thyatira, as that they keepe theſe things which they receiued of the Apoſtles.

1 [1] VNto the Angel of the Church of Epheſus write, [2] Theſe things ſaith he that holdeth the ſeuen ſtarres in his right hand, and walketh in the mids of the ſeuen golden candleſticks.

2 [3] I know thy workes, and thy labour, and thy patience, and how thou canſt not beare with them which are euill, and haſt examined them which ſay they are Apoſtles, and are not, and haſt found them lyars.

3 And thou waſt burdened, and haſt patience, and for my Names ſake haſt laboured, and haſt not fainted.

4 Neuertheleſſe, I haue ſomewhat [a] againſt thee, becauſe thou haſt left thy firſt loue.

5 Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent and doe the firſt workes: or elſe I will come againſt thee ſhortly, and will remooue thy candleſticke out of his place, except thou amend.

6 But this thou haſt that thou hateſt the workes of the Nicolaitanes, which I alſo hate.

7 [4] Let him that hath an eare heare what the Spirit ſaith vnto the Churches: To him that ouercommeth, will I giue to eate of the tree of life which is in [5] the middes of the [b] Paradiſe of God.

8 ¶ [6] And vnto the Angel of the Church of the [c] Smyrnians write, Theſe things ſaith hee that is firſt and laſt, which was dead and is aliue.

9 [7] I know thy workes and tribulation, and pouertie (but thou art rich) and I know the blaſphemie of them, which ſay they are Iewes, and are not, but are the Synagogue of Satan.

10 Feare none of thoſe things, which thou ſhalt ſuffer: behold, it ſhall come to paſſe, that the deuill ſhall caſt ſome of you into priſon, that yee may be tried, and ye ſhall haue [8] tribulation ten dayes: be thou faithfull vnto the death, and I will giue thee the crowne of life.

11 [9] Let him that hath an eare heare what the Spirit ſaith vnto the Churches. He that ouercommeth ſhall not be hurt [10] of the ſecond death.

12 [11] And to the Angel of the Church, which is at [d] Pergamus write, Thus ſaith he which hath that ſharpe ſword with two edges.

13 [12] I know thy workes, and where thou dwelleſt, euen where Satans throne is, and thou keepeſt my Name, and haſt not denied my faith, euen in [e] thoſe dayes when Antipas my faithfull martyr was ſlaine among you, where Satan dwelleth.

14 But I haue a fewe things againſt thee, becauſe thou haſt there them that maintaine the doctrine of * Balaam, which taught Balac to put a ſtumbling blocke before the children of Iſrael, that they ſhould [f] eate of things ſacrificed vnto idoles, and commit fornication.

15 Euen ſo haſt thou them that maintaine the doctrine of the [13] Nicolaitanes, which thing I hate.

16 Repent thy ſelfe, or elſe I will come vnto thee ſhortly, and will fight againſt thee with the ſword of my mouth.

17 [14] Let him that hath an eare, heare what the ſpirit ſaith vnto the Churches. To him that ouercommeth, will I giue to eate [15] of the [g] Manna that is hid, and will giue him a [h] [16] white ſtone, and in the ſtone a new [17] name written, which no man knoweth, ſauing he that receiueth it.

18 ¶ And vnto [18] the Angel of the Church which is at Thyatira write, Theſe things ſaith the Sonne of God, which hath his eyes like vnto a flame of fire, and his feete like fine braſſe.

19 I know [19] thy workes and thy loue, and [i] ſeruice & faith, and thy patience, and thy workes, and that they are moe at the laſt, then at the firſt.

20 Notwithſtanding, I haue a few things againſt thee, that thou ſuffereſt the woman Iezabel which calleth herſelfe a propheteſſe, to teach and to deceiue my ſeruants, to make them commit [k] fornication and to eat meate ſacrificed vnto idoles.

21 And I gaue her ſpace to repent of her fornication, and ſhe repented not.

---

[1] The former part of this booke is compriſed in a narration of thoſe things which then were as S. Iohn taught vs, chap. 1. 19. it belongeth wholly to inſtructiõ and in theſe 2. next Chapters, conteineth ſeuen places according to the number and condition of thoſe Churches which were named before, Chap. 1, 11. figured verſe 12. and diſtributed moſt aptly into their Paſtors and flockes verſe 20. which verſe of that Chap. is as it were a paſſage vnto the firſt part. Euery one of the ſeuen places hath three principall members, an Exordium taken from the perſon of the Authour: a Propoſition, in which is praiſe and commendation of that which is good, reprehenſion of that which is euill: and inſtruction conteining either an exhortation alone, or withall a diſſwaſion oppoſite vnto it, and a concluſion ſtirring vnto attention by diuine promiſes. And this firſt place is vnto the Paſtours of the Church of Epheſus.

[2] The exordium wherein are conteined the ſpeciall praiſes of Chriſt Ieſus the Authour of this prophecie, out of the 16 and 13. verſe of the firſt Chapter.

[3] The propoſition, firſt condemning the Paſtour of this Church verſe 2, 3. then reproouing him, verſe 4. after informing him and withall threatning that hee will tranſlate the Church to another place, verſe 5. This commination or threat Chriſt mitigateth by a kind of correction, calling to minde the particular vertue and pietie of the Church, which God neuer leaueth without recompenſe verſe 6. Concerning the Nicolaitans ſee after vpon the 11 verſe.

[y] To deale with thee for.

[4] The concluſion, containing a commaundement of attention and a promiſe of euerlaſting life, ſhadowed out in a figure of which Geneſ. 2, 9.

[5] That is, in Paradiſe after the maner of the Hebrew phraſe.

[b] Thus Chriſt ſpeaketh as the Mediator.

[6] The ſecond place is vnto the Paſtours of the Church of the Smyrnians. The exordium is taken out of the 17 and 18 verſes of the firſt Chap.

[7] The propoſition of praiſe is in this verſe and of exhortation ioyned with promiſe, is in the next verſe.

[8] That is, often yeeres. For ſo commonly both in this booke and in Daniel, yeeres are ſignified by the name of dayes: that God thereby might declare, that the ſpace of time is appointed by him, and the ſame very ſhort. Now becauſe Saint Iohn wrote this booke in the end of Domitian the Emperour his reigne, as Iuſtine and Ireneus doe witneſſe, it is altogether neceſſarie that this ſhould be referred vnto that perſecution which was done by the authoritie of the Emperour Traian, who began to make hauocke of the Chriſtian Church in the tenth yeere of his reigne, as the Hiſtoriographers doe write: and his bloody perſecution continued vntill Adrian the Emperour had ſucceded in his place: the ſpace of which time is preciſely tenne yeeres, which are here mentioned.

[9] The concluſions as verſe 7.

[10] See Chap. 20, 6.

[11] The third place is vnto the Paſtors of Pergamus. The Exordium is taken out of the 16. verſe of the firſt Chapter.

[d] Pergamus was the name of a famous citie in old time in Aſia, where the Kings of the Attalians were alwayes reſident.

[12] The propoſition of praiſe is in this verſe, of reprehenſion in the two following, and of exhortation ioyned with a conditionall threate, verſe 16. Now this Antipas was the Angel or miniſter of the Church of Pergamus, as Aretas writeth.

[e] The faith of them of Pergamus is ſo much the more highly commended becauſe they remained conſtant euen in the very heat of perſecution.

* Num. 24, 14. and 25, 1.

[f] That which is here ſpoken of things offered to idoles, is meant of the ſame kinde which Paul ſpeaketh of, 1. Cor. 10, 13.

[13] Which follow the footſteps of Balaam, and ſuch as are abandoned vnto all filthineſſe, as he ſhewed in the verſe a foregoing, and is here ſignified by a note of ſimilitude. And thus alſo muſt the fixt verſe bee vnderſtood. For this matter eſpecially Ireneus muſt be conſulted withall.

[14] The concluſion, ſtanding of exhortation as before, and of promiſe.

[g] Hee alludeth to that ſermon which wee reade of Iohn 6. and to the place we finde Pſalmes 105, 40.

[h] Aretas writeth, that ſuch a ſtone was wont to be giuen to wreſtlers at games, or elſe that ſuch ſtones did in olde time witneſſe the quiting of a man.

[15] The bread of life, inuiſible, ſpirituall, and heauenly, which is kept ſecretly with God, from before all eternitie.

[16] Which is a ſigne and witneſſe of forgiueneſſe and remiſſion of ſinnes, of righteouſneſſe and true holineſſe, and of puritie vncorrupted, after that the old man is killed.

[17] A ſigne and teſtimonie of newneſſe of life in righteouſneſſe and true holineſſe, by putting on the new man, whom none doeth inwardly know, ſaue the ſpirit of man which is in himſelfe, the praiſe whereof is not of man, but of God Rom. 2, 28.

[18] The fourth place is vnto the Paſtours of Thyatira. The exordium is taken out of the 14 and 15. verſes of the firſt Chapter.

[19] The propoſition of prayſe is in this verſe: of reprehenſion, for that they tolerated with them, the doctrine of vngodlineſſe and vnrighteouſneſſe, is verſe 20. the authours whereof though they were called backe of God, yet repented not verſe 21. whereunto is added a moſt heauie threatning, verſe 22 and 23. of a conditionall promiſe, and of exhortation to hold faſt the trueth, is in the two verſes following.

[i] So hee calleth thoſe offices of charity which are done to the Saints.

[k] By Fornication, is ofttimes in the Scripture idolatrie meant.

22 Behold, I will caſt her into a bed, and them that commit fornication with her, into great affliction, except they repent them of their workes.

23 And I will kill her children with death, and all the Churches ſhall know that I am he which * ſearch the reines and hearts: and I will giue vnto euery one of you according vnto your works.

24 And vnto you I ſay, the reſt of them of Thyatira, As many as haue not this learning, neither haue knowen the [l] deepeneſſe of Satan (as they ſpeake) I will [m] put vpon you none other burden, 25 But that which ye haue already, holde faſt till I come.

26 [20] For he that ouercommeth and keepeth my words vnto the end, to him will I giue [21] power ouer nations.

27 * And he ſhall rule them with a rod of yron: and as the veſſels of a potter, ſhall they be broken:

28 Euen as I receiued of my Father, ſo will I giue him [22] the morning Starre.

29 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit ſaith to the Churches.

* 1. Sam. 16, 7. pſal. 7, 10. iere. 11. 20. and 17, 10.

[l] He pointeth out the bragging of certaine men, which boaſted of their deepe, that is, plentifull and common knowledge, which notwithſtanding is deuiliſh.

[m] I will ſpeake no worſe thing againſt you, being content to haue ſhewed you what I require to be in you.

[20] The concluſion, wherein Chriſt aſſureth vnto his ſeruants the communion of his Kingdome and glory, in this verſe and the next following, and commandeth an holy attention in the laſt verſe.

[21] That is, I will make him a King by communion with me, and my fellow heire, as it is promiſed, Mat. 19, 28. and 25, 34. Rom. 8, 17. and 1 Cor. 6, 3. Epheſ. 2, 6. and 1. Tim. 2, 12. Apoc. 3, 21. and 4. 4.

* Pſal. 2, 9.

[22] The brightneſſe of greateſt glory and honour neerer approaching vnto the light of Chriſt, who is the Sonne of righteouſneſſe, and our head, Math. 4.

CHAP. III.

1 The fift Epiſtle ſent to the Paſtors of the Church of Sardis, 7 of Philadelphia, 14 And of the Laodiceans, 16 that they be not luke warme, 20 but endeuour to further Gods glory.

[1] And write vnto the Angel of the Church which is at [a] Sardis, Theſe things ſaith he that hath the ſeuen Spirits of God, and the ſeuen ſtars, [2] I know thy works: for thou haſt a [b] name that thou liueſt, but thou art dead.

2 Be weake, and ſtrengthen the things which remaine, that are [c] readie to die: for I haue not found thy worke perfit before God.

3 Remember therefore, how thou haſt receiued and heard, and hold faſt and repent. * If therefore thou wilt not watch, I will come on thee as a thiefe, and thou ſhalt not know what houre I will come vpon thee.

4 Notwithſtanding thou haſt a few names yet in Sardis, [3] which haue not defiled their garments: and they ſhall walke with me in [4] white: for they are [d] worthy.

5 He [5] that ouercommeth, ſhall be cloathed in white aray, and I will not put out his Name out of the * booke of life, but I will confeſſe his name before my Father, and before his Angels.

6 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit ſaith vnto the Churches.

7 ¶ [6] And write vnto the Angel of the Church which is of Philadelphia, Theſe things ſaith hee that is Holy, and True, which hath the [e] key of Dauid, which openeth and no man ſhutteth, and ſhutteth and no man openeth.

8 [7] I know thy workes: behold I haue ſet before thee an open doore, and no man can ſhut it: for thou haſt a little ſtrength, and haſt kept my word, and haſt not denied my Name.

9 Behold, I will make them [f] of the Synagogue of Satan, which call themſelues Iewes, and are not, but doe lie: behold, I ſay, I will make them that they ſhall come [8] and worſhip before thy feet, and ſhall know that I haue loued thee.

10 Becauſe thou haſt [g] kept the word of my patience, therefore I will deliuer thee from the houre of tentation, which will come vpon all the world, to try them that dwell vpon the earth.

11 Behold, I come ſhortly: hold that which thou haſt, that no man take thy crowne.

12 [9] Him that ouercommeth, will I make a pillar in the Temple of my God, and he ſhall goe no more out: [10] and I will write vpon him the Name of my God, and the name of the city of my God, which is the new Ieruſalem, which commeth downe out of heauen from my God, and I will write vpon him my new Name.

13 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit ſayeth vnto the Churches.

14 [11] And vnto the Angel of the Church of the Laodiceans write, Theſe things ſaith [h] Amen, the faithfull and true witnes, that [i] beginning of the creatures of God.

15 [12] I know thy works, that thou art neither cold not hote: I would thou wereſt cold or hot.

16 Therefore becauſe thou art luke warme, and neither cold nor hote, it will come to paſſe, that I ſhall ſpew thee out of my mouth.

17 For thou ſayeſt, I am rich, and increaſed with goods, and haue need of nothing, and knoweſt not how thou art wretched and miſerable, [13] and poore, and blind, and naked.

18 I counſell thee to buy of me gold tryed by the fire, that thou mayeſt be made rich: and white raiment, that thou mayſt be cloathed, and that thy filthy nakedneſſe doe not appeare: and anoint thine eyes with eye ſalue, that thou mayeſt ſee.

19 As many as I loue, * I rebuke and chaſten: be [k] zealous therefore and amend.

20 Behold, I ſtand at the doore, and knocke, [14] If any man heare my voyce, and open the doore, I will come in vnto him, and will ſup with him, and he with me.

21 [15] To him that ouercommeth, will I graunt to ſit with me in my throne, euen as I ouercame, and ſit with my Father in his throne.

22 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit ſayeth vnto the Churches.

[1] The fift place is vnto the Paſtors of Sardis. The exordium is taken out of the 4. and 16. verſes of the 1 Chap.

[a] Sardis is the name of a moſt flouriſhing and famous Citie, where the Kings of Lydia kept their courts.

[2] The propoſition of reproofe is in this verſe: of exhortation ioyned with a threatning in the two verſes that follow, and of qualification by way of correction vnto the comfort of the good which yet remained there, verſe 4.

[b] Thou art ſaid to liue, but art dead in deede.

[c] Other things, whoſe ſtate is ſuch, that they are now going, and vnleſſe they be confirmed, will periſh forthwith.

* Chap. 16, 15. 1. theſ. 5, 2. 2 pet. 3, 10.

[3] That is, who haue with all religion guarded themſelues from ſinne and contagion, euen from the very ſhew of euill, as S. Iude exhorteth, verſe 23.

[4] Pure from all ſpot and ſhining with glory. So it is to be vnderſtood alwayes hereafter as in the next verſe.

[5] The concluſion ſtanding vpon a promiſe and a commandement as before.

[d] They are meet and fit, to wit, becauſe they are iuſtified in Chriſt, as they haue truely ſhewed it: for he is righteous that worketh righteouſneſſe: but ſo, as the tree bringeth forth the fruit. Looke Rom. 8, 13.

* Chap. 20, 12. and 21, 27. phil. 5, 3.

[6] The ſixt place is vnto the Paſtors of Philadelphia. The exordium is taken out of the 18. verſe of the 1. chapter.

[e] All power of rule in commaunding and forbidding, deliuering and puniſhing. And the houſe of Dauid is the Church, and the continuall promiſe of Dauids Kingdome belongeth to Chriſt.

[7] The propoſition of praiſe is in this verſe, of promiſes, to bring home againe them that wander, verſe 9. and to preſerue the godly, verſe 10. and of exhortation, verſe 11.

[f] I will bring them to that caſe.

[8] That is, fall downe and worſhip either thee ciuily, or Chriſt religiouſly at thy feete (and thus I had rather take it) whether here in the Church (which ſeemeth more proper to the argument of this place) or there in the world to come. For Chriſt verely ſhall fulfill his word.

[g] Becauſe thou haſt bene patient and conſtant, as I would my ſeruants ſhould be.

[9] The concluſion, which conteineth a promiſe and a commandement.

[10] That is, the new man ſhallbe turned after his Father, Mother, and head Chriſt.

[11] The ſeuenth place is vnto the Paſtors of the Church of Laodicea. The exordium is taken out of the 15. verſe of the 1. chapter.

[h] Amen ſoundeth as much in the Hebrew tongue, as Truely, or Trueth it ſelfe.

[i] Of whom all things that are made, haue their beginning.

[12] The propoſition of reproofe is in this verſe, wherevnto is adioyned a threatning, verſe 15 with a confirmation declaring the ſame, verſe 17. and of exhortation vnto faith and repentance, verſe 18, 19. wherevnto is added a conditionall promiſe verſe 20.

[13] The ſpirituall miſery of men is metaphorically expreſſed in three points: vnto which are matched as correſpondent thoſe remedies which are offered, verſe 18.

* Prou. 3, 12. hebr. 12, 5.

[k] Zeale is ſet againſt them which are neither hote nor cold.

[14] This muſt be taken after the maner of an allegory, as Iohn 14, 23.

[15] The concluſion, conſiſting of a promiſe, as chap. 2, verſe 26. and of an exhortation. Hitherto hath bin the firſt part of the booke of the Apocalypſe.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Another viſion conteining the glory of Gods Maieſty: 8 which is magnified of the foure beaſts, 10 and the foure and twenty Elders.

After [1] this I looked, and behold, a doore was open in heauen, and the firſt voyce which I

[1] Hereafter followeth the ſecond part of this booke, altogether propheticall, foretelling thoſe things which were to come, as was ſaid before, Chap. 1, 19. This is diuided into two hiſtories: one common vnto the whole world, vnto the 9. Chapter: and another ſingular of the Church of God, thence vnto the 22 chapter. And theſe hiſtories are ſaid to be deſcribed in ſeuerall bookes, chap. 5, 1. and 10, 2. Now this verſe is as it were a paſſage from the former part vnto this ſecond: where it is ſaid, that the heauen was opened, that is, that heauenly things were vnlocked, and that a voice as of a trumpet ſounded in heauen to ſtirre vp the Apoſtle, and call him to the vnderſtanding of things to come. The firſt hiſtory hath two parts: one of the cauſes of things done, and of this whole Reuelation, in that and the next chapter. Another of the actes done, in the next 4 chapters. The principall cauſes according to the diſtinction of perſons in the vnitie of the diuine eſſence, and according to the oeconomie or diſpenſation thereof, are two. One the beginning, which none can approach vnto, that is, God the Father, of whom is ſpoken in this chapter. The other, the Sonne, who is the meane cauſe, eaſie to be approached vnto vs in reſpect that he is God and man in one perſon: of whom Chap. 5.

heard, was as it were of a trumpet talking with me, ſaying, Come vp hither, and I will ſhew thee things which muſt be done hereafter.

2 And [2] immediatly I was rauiſhed [a] in the ſpirit, [3] and beholde, a throne was ſet in heauen, and one ſate vpon the throne.

3 [4] And he that ſate, was to looke vpon, like vnto a Iaſper ſtone, and a ſardine, and there vvas a rainebow round about the throne, in ſight like to an emeraud.

4 [5] And round about the throne vvere foure and twentie ſeats, and vpon the ſeats I ſaw foure and twentie Elders ſitting, cloathed in white rayment, and had on their heads crownes of gold.

5 [6] And out of the throne proceeded lightnings, and thundrings and voices, and there were ſeuen lampes of fire burning before the throne, which are the ſeuen ſpirits of God.

6 [7] And before the throne there vvas a Sea of glaſſe like vnto chryſtall: and in the midſt of the throne, and round about the throne vvere foure beaſtes, full of eyes before and behinde.

7 And the firſt beaſt vvas like a lyon, and the ſecond beaſt like a calfe, and the third beaſt had a face as a man, and the fourth beaſt vvas like a flying Eagle,

8 And the [b] foure beaſts had each one of them ſixe wings about him, and they were full of eyes within, and they ceaſed not [8] day nor night, ſaying, Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty, Which was, and which is, and which is to come.

9 And when thoſe beaſtes [c] gaue glory, and honour and thanks to him that ſate on the throne, which liueth for euer and euer,

10 [9] The foure and twentie Elders fell downe before him that ſate on the throne, and worſhipped him that liueth for euermore, and caſt their crownes before the throne, ſaying,

11 [10] Thou art * worthy, O Lord, [11] to receiue glory, and honour, and power: for thou haſt created all things, and for thy wils ſake they are, and haue beene created.

2 The maner of reuelation, as before, 1,10.

a Looke Chap.1,12.

3 A deſcription of God the Father, and of his glorie in the heauens, framed vnto the maner of men, by his office, nature, company, attending, effect, inſtruments and euents that follow afterwards. In this verſe, hee is preſented in office a iudge, as Abraham ſayd, Gen. 18. which is declared by his throne, as an enſigne of iudgement, and his ſitting therevpon.

4 By his nature, in that he is the Father, moſt glorious in his owne perſon, and with his glory ouerſhining all other things.

5 By the company attending about him in that, as that moſt high Iudge, he is accompanied with the moſt honourable attendance of Prophets and Apoſtles, both of the old and new Church, whom Chriſt hath made to be Prieſts and Kings, Chap.1,6. and 5,10.

6 By effects, in that moſt mightily he ſpeaketh all things by his voice and word, as Pſal. 29,3. and with the light of his ſpirit and prouidence peruſeth and paſſeth through all.

7 By inſtruments vſed, in that he both hath a moſt readie treaſurie, & as it were a workehouſe excellently furniſhed with all things, vnto the executing of his will, which things flow from his commandement, as is repeated, chap.15,2. And hath alſo the Angels moſt ready adminiſters of his counſels and pleaſure vnto all parts of the world, continually watching (in this verſe) working by reaſon otherwiſe then the inſtruments without life laſt mentioned, couragious as lions, mightie as buls, wiſe as men, ſwift as eagles, verſe 7. moſt apt vnto all purpoſes, as furniſhed with wings on euery part, moſt piercing of ſight, and finally pure and perfect Spirits, alwayes in continuall motion, verſe 8.

b Euery beaſt had ſixe wings.

8 By euents, in that for all the cauſes before mentioned. God is glorified both of Angels, as holy. Iudge, omnipotent, eternall and immutable, verſ. 8. and alſo after their example hee is glorified of holy men (verſ. 9.) in ſigne and in ſpeach, verſe 10,11.

c God is ſayd to haue glory, honour, kingdome, and ſuch like giuen vnto him, when we godly and reuerently ſet forth that which is properly and onely his.

9 Three ſignes of diuine honour giuen vnto God, proſtration or falling downe, adoration and caſting their crownes before God, in which the godly, though made kings by Chriſt, doe willingly emptie themſelues of all glory, mooued with a religious reſpect of the maieſty of God.

10 The ſumme of their ſpeach: that all glory muſt be giuen vnto God: the reaſon, becauſe hee is the eternall beginning of all things, from whoſe only will they haue their being and are gouerned: and finally in all reſpects are that which they are.

* Chap. 5,12.

11 That is, that thou ſhouldeſt challenge the ſame to thy ſelf alone. But as for vs, we are vnworthy, that euen by thy goodnes we ſhould be made partakers of this glory. And hitherto hath bin handled the principall cauſe vnapproachable, which is God.

CHAP. V.

1 The booke ſealed with ſeuen ſeales, 3 which none could open. 6 That Lambe of God, 9 is thought worthy to open, 12 euen by the conſent of all the company of heauen.

[1] AND I ſaw in the [2] right hand of him that ſate vpon the throne, [3] a booke written within, and on the backſide ſealed with ſeuen ſeales.

2 And I ſaw a ſtrong Angel which preached with a loude voyce, Who is worthy to open the booke, and to looſe the ſeales thereof?

3 [3] And no man in heauen nor in earth, neither vnder the earth, was able to open the book, neither to looke thereon.

4 Then I wept much, becauſe no man was found worthy to open, and to reade the booke, neither to looke thereon.

5 [5] And one of the Elders ſaid vnto me, Weepe not: behold, that * [6] Lion which is of the tribe of Iuda, that roote of Dauid, hath obtained to open the booke, and to looſe the ſeuen ſeales thereof.

6 Then I beheld, and loe, [7] in the mids of the throne, and of the foure beaſts, and in the mids of the Elders ſtood a Lambe, as though he had bene killed, which had ſeuen hornes, and ſeuen eyes, which are the ſeuen ſpirits of God, ſent into all the world.

7 [8] And he came, and tooke the booke out of the right hand of him that ſate vpon the throne.

8 [9] And when hee hath taken the booke, the foure beaſts, and the foure and twenty Elders fell downe before the Lambe, hauing euery one [10] harpes and golden vials full of odours, which are the [a] prayers of the Saints.

9 And they ſung a [b] new [11] ſong, ſaying, [12] Thou art worthy to take the booke, and to open the ſeales thereof, becauſe thou waſt killed, and haſt redeemed vs to God by thy blood out of euery kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation.

10 And haſt made vs vnto our God * Kings, and Prieſts, and we ſhall reigne on the earth.

11 [13] Then I beheld, and I heard the voice of many Angels round about the throne, and about the beaſts and the Elders, [14] & there vvere * [c] ten thouſand times ten thouſand, and thouſand thouſands,

12 Saying with a loude voyce, Worthy is the Lambe that was killed, to [d] receiue power, and ri-

1 A paſſing vnto the ſecond principall cauſe, which is the Sonne of God, God and man, the mediator of all, as the eternall word of God the Father manifeſted in the fleſh. This chapter hath two parts: one that prepareth the way vnto the Reuelation, by rehearſall of the occaſions that did occurre in the firſt foure verſes. Another, the hiſtory of the Reuelation of Chriſt, thence vnto the end of the chapter.

2 That is, in the very right hand of God.

3 Here are ſhewed the occaſions for which this principall cauſe, and this Reuelation was alſo neceſſary: the ſame are three, the firſt a preſent viſion of the booke of the counſels of God, concerning the gouernment of this whole worlde, which booke is ſayd to be layd vp with the Father as it were in his hand: but ſhut and vnknowen vnto all creatures, in this verſe. The ſecond is a religious deſire of the Angels of God to vnderſtand the myſteries of this booke, verſe 2. whereof ſee 1.Pet.1,12. The third is a lamentation of Saint Iohn and all the godly, mooued by the ſame deſire, verſe 4. when they ſawe that it was a thing vnpoſſible for any creature to effect: which is declared in the third verſe.

4 Thus neither of them that are in heauen, nor of them which are in the earth, &c. And this I like better. Now this enumeration of parts is ſufficient to the denying of the whole. For of the creatures one ſort is in heauen aboue the earth: another in the earth: and another vnder the earth in the ſea, as is after declared, verſe 13.

5 The ſecond part of this chapter, in which is ſet downe the Reuelation of the Sonne, as before was ſaid. This part conteineth firſt an hiſtory of the maner how God prepared S.Iohn to vnderſtand this Reuelation in this verſe. Secondly, the Reuelation of the Sonne himſelfe vnto the 7 verſe. Thirdly, the accidents of this Reuelation, in the reſt of the chapter. The maner how, is here deſcribed in two ſorts, one from without him, by ſpeech in this verſe. Another within, by opening the eyes of S. Iohn (which before were held) that he might ſee, in the verſe following.

* Gen.49,6.

6 That is, the moſt mighty and moſt approoued Prince: according to the vſe of the Hebrew ſpeach.

7 The ſumme of this Reuelation: Chriſt the mediator taketh and openeth the booke, verſe 6, 7. Therefore in his Reuelation is deſcribed the perſon of Chriſt, in this verſe. His fact, in the next verſe. The perſon is thus deſcribed, Chriſt, the mediatour betweene God, Angels and men, as the eternall word of God, and our redeemer: as the Lambe of God, ſtanding as ſlaine, and making interceſſion for vs by the vertue and merit of his euerlaſting ſacrifice, is armed with the Spirit of God, in his own perſon, that is, with the power and wiſdom of God eſſentially vnto the gouernment of this whole world.

8 The fact of Chriſt the Mediator, that he commeth vnto the throne of the Father, of which chap. 4. and taketh the booke out of his hand to open it. For that he opened it, it is firſt expreſſed, chap. 6,1 &c.

9 Now follow in the ende the accidents of the Reuelation laſt ſpoken of that all the holy Angels, and men did ſing vnto him: both the chiefe, verſe 9, 10. and common order of Angels, verſe 11, 12. and of all things created, verſe 13. the princes of both ſorts agreeing there vnto, verſe 14.

10 The ſymbols or ſignes of praiſe, ſweet in fauour, and acceptable vnto God. See chap. 8,3.

a Looke chap.9,3.

b No common ſong.

11 That is compoſed according to the preſent matter: the Lambe hauing receiued the booke, as it were with his feete, and opened it with his hornes, as is ſaid in the Canticles.

12 The ſong of the Nobles or Princes ſtanding by the throne, conſiſting of a publication of the praiſe of Chriſt, and a confirmation of the ſame from his benefits, both which we haue receiued of himſelfe (as are the ſuffering of his death, our redemption vpon the croſſe by his blood in this verſe: and our communion with him in Kingdome and Prieſthood, which long ago he hath granted vnto vs with himſelfe) and which we hereafter hope to obtaine, as our kingdome to come in Chriſt, in the verſe following.

* Chap. 1,6. 1.pet. 2,9.

13 The conſent of the common order of Angels, anſwering in melody vnto their Princes that ſtood by the throne.

14 A number finite, but almoſt infinite for one infinite in deede, as Dan.7.10.

* Daniel 7,10.

c By this is meant a great number.

d To haue all prayſe giuen to him, as to the mightieſt and wiſeſt, &c.

ches, and wiſdome, and ſtrength, and honour, and glory, and praiſe.

13 [15] And all the creatures which are in heauen, and on the earth, and vnder the earth, and in the ſea, and all that are in them, heard I ſaying, Praiſe, and honour, and glory, and power be vnto him, that ſitteth vpon the throne, and vnto the Lambe for euermore.

14 [16] And the foure beaſts ſaid, Amen, and the foure and twenty Elders fell downe and worſhipped him that liueth for euermore.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Lambe openeth the firſt ſeale of the booke. 3 The ſecond, 5 the third, 7 the fourth, 9 the fifth, 12 and the ſixth, and then ariſe murders, famine, peſtilence, outcries of Saints, earthquakes, and diuers ſtrange ſights in heauen.

1 AFter I beheld when the Lambe had opened one of the ſeales, and I heard one of the foure beaſtes ſay, as it vvere the noiſe of thunder, Come and ſee.

2 Therefore [2] I beheld, and loe, there vvas a white horſe, and he that ſate on him, had a bow, and a crowne was giuen vnto him, and he went forth conquering that he might ouercome.

3 And [3] when he had opened the ſecond ſeale, I heard the ſecond beaſt ſay, Come and ſee.

4 And there went out another horſe, that vvas red, and power was giuen to him that ſate thereon to take peace from the earth, and that they ſhould kill one another, and there was giuen vnto him a great ſword.

5 [4] And when he had opened the third ſeale, I heard the third beaſt ſay, Come and ſee. Then I beheld, and loe, a blacke horſe, and hee that ſate on him, had balances in his hand.

6 And I heard a voyce in the mids of the foure beaſts ſay, A [a] meaſure of wheate for a penny, and three meaſures of barley for a penny, [5] and oyle, and wine hurt thou not.

7 [6] And when he had opened the fourth ſeale, I heard the voyce of the fourth beaſt ſay, Come and ſee.

8 And I looked, and behold, a pale horſe, and his name that ſate on him was Death, and Hell followed after him, and power was giuen vnto them ouer the fourth part of the earth, to kill with ſword, and with hunger, and with death, and with beaſts of the earth.

9 [7] And when hee had opened the fifth ſeale, I ſaw vnder the altar the ſoules of them that were killed for the word of God, and for the teſtimony which they maintained.

10 And they cried with a loud voyce, ſaying, How long, Lord, which art holy and true! doeſt not thou iudge and auenge our blood on them, that dwell on the earth?

11 And long [8] white robes were giuen vnto euery one, and it was ſaid vnto them, that they ſhould reſt for a little ſeaſon vntill their fellow ſeruants, and their brethren that ſhould be killed euen as they were, were [b] fulfilled.

12 [9] And I beheld when hee had opened the ſixt ſeale, and loe, there was a great earthquake, and the Sunne was as blacke as [c] ſackcloth of haire, and the Moone was like blood.

13 And the ſtarres of heauen fell vnto the earth, as a figge-tree caſteth her greene figges, when it is ſhaken of a mighty winde.

14 And heauen departed away, as a ſcroule, when it is rolled, and euery mountaine and yle were mooued out of their places.

15 [10] And the kings of the earth, and the great men, and the rich men, and the chiefe captaines, and the mightie men, and euery bondman, and euery free man, hid themſelues in dennes, and among the rockes of the mountaines,

16 And ſaid to the mountaines and rockes, [11] * Fall on vs, and hide vs from the preſence of him that ſitteth on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lambe.

17 For the great day of his wrath is come, and who can ſtand?

[15] The conſent of all the common multitude of the creatures.

[16] A confirmation of the praiſe before going, from the conteſtation of the Nobles, expreſſed in word and ſignes, as once or twiſe before this.

[1] This is the ſecond part of this firſt hiſtory (which I ſaid was common and of the whole world) of the workes of God in the gouernement of all things. Of this part there are generally 3. members, the foreſignifying, the caution, and the execution of all the euils which God powreth out vpon this world, which hath moſt hardly deſerued of him. The foreſignifying is ſet downe in this chap. the caution for preſeruing the Church, is in the next chap. and the execution is deſcribed chap. 8,9. In euery part of the foreſignifying, there are three branches: the ſeuerall and expreſſe calling of S. Iohn, to prepare himſelfe to take knowledge of the things that were to bee ſhewed vnto him in the opening of the ſeales: the ſigne and the word expounding the ſigne: And albeit the expreſſe calling of S Iohn, be vſed only in foure of the ſignes, yet the ſame is alſo to be vnderſtood in the reſt that follow. The authour of the foreſignifyings is the Lambe, as that word of the Father made the Mediatour, opening the ſeales of the booke. The inſtruments are the Angels in moſt of the viſions, who expound the ſigne and the words thereof. Now this firſt verſe containeth an expreſſe calling of S. Iohn, to marke the opinion of the firſt ſeale.

[2] The firſt ſigne ioyned with declaration, is that God for the ſins, and horrible rebellion of the world, will inuade the ſame: and firſt of all will as a farre off, with his darts of peſtilence moſt ſuddenly, mightily, and gloriouſly, beate downe the ſame as iudge, and triumph ouer it as conquerour.

[3] The ſecond ſigne ioyned with wordes of declaration (after the expreſſe calling of S. Iohn as before) is that God being prouoked vnto wrath by the obſtinacy and hard hartednes of the world not repenting for the former plague, as ſetting vpon the ſame hand, will kindle the fire of debate amongſt men, and will deſtroy the inhabitants of this world, one by the ſword of another.

[4] The third ſigne with declaration, is, that God will deſtroy the world with famine, withdrawing all prouiſion: which is by the figure Synecdoche comprehended in wheate, barley, wine, and oyle.

[a] Hereby is ſignified what great ſcarcity of corne there was, for the word here vſed is a kind of meaſure of dry things, which is in quantity but the eight part of a buſhel, which was an ordinary portion to bee giuen to ſeruants for their ſtint of meat for one day.

[5] I had rather diſtinguiſh and reade the wordes thus, and the wine and the oyle thou ſhalt not deale vniuſtly. In this ſence likewiſe the wine and the oyle ſhall be ſold a very little for a penny. Thou ſhalt not deale vniuſtly, namely, when thou ſhalt meaſure out a very little for a great price: ſo is the place euident: otherwiſe that is moſt true, which the wiſe man ſaith, that who ſo with-holdeth the corne ſhall bee curſed of the people, Prou. 11,26.

[6] The fourth ſigne ioyned with wordes of declaration, is, that God will addict the fourth part of the world indifferently, vnto death and hell, or the graue by all thoſe meanes at once, by which before ſeuerally and in order hee had recalled their mindes vnto amendment. Vnto theſe are alſo addeth the wilde and cruell beaſtes of the earth, out of Leuiticus 26,22. Thus doeth God according to his wiſedome diſpenſe the treaſures of his power, iuſtly toward all, mercifully toward the good, and with patience or long ſufferance towards his enemies.

[7] The fifth ſigne is that the holy martyrs which are vnder the altar, whereby they are ſanctified, that is, receiued into the truſt and tuition of Chriſt (into whoſe hands they are committed) ſhall cry out for the iuſtice of God, in an holy zeale to aduance his kingdome and not of any priuate perturbation of the mind, in this and the next verſe, and that God will, in deed, ſigne and word comfort them, verſ. 11.

[8] As before 3,4.

[b] Vntill their number be fulfilled.

[9] The ſixt ſigne, the narration whereof hath two parts, the ſigne, and the euent. The ſigne is, that the earth, heauen, and the thing that are in them for horrour of the ſinnes of the world vpon thoſe moſt heauie foretellings of God, and complaints of the Saints ſhall be ſhaken moſt vehemently, trembling in horrible maner, and looſing their light in this verſe: falling from on high, verſe 13. with drawing themſelues and flying away for the greatneſſe of the trouble, verſe 14. So holily doe all creatures depend vpon the will of God, and content themſelues in his glory.

[c] So they called in old time thoſe wouen workes that were of haire.

[10] The euent of the ſigne afore going: that there is no man that ſhall not be aſtoniſhed at that generall commotion, flie away for feare and hide himſelfe in this verſe, and wiſh vnto himſelfe moſt bitter death for exceeding horror of the wrath of God, and of the Lambe, at which before he was aſtoniſhed. Now this perplexity is not of the godly, but of the wicked, whoſe portion is in this life, as the Pſalmiſt ſpeaketh, Pſal 17,14 Not that ſorrow which is according vnto God, which worketh repentance vnto ſaluation, whereof a man ſhall neuer repent him, but that worldly ſorrow that bringeth death, 2. Corin. 7,9. as their wiſhings doe declare: for this hiſtory is of the whole world, ſeuered from the hiſtory of the Church, as I haue ſhewed before, chap. 4,1.

[11] Theſe are words of ſuch as deſpaire of their eſcape: of which deſpaire there are two arguments, the preſence of God and of the Lambe prouoked to wrath againſt the world in this verſe, and the conſcience of their owne weakneſſe, whereby men feele that they are no way able to ſtand in the day of the wrath of God, verſe 17. as it is ſaid, Eſai. 14,27.

[1] The 2. member of this part, is a preuenting of danger as wee diſtinguiſhed the ſame before, Chap. 6,1. that is of the caution whereby God tooke care before hand and prouided for his that after the example of the Iſraelites of old, Exod. 8 13. the faithfull might be exempted from the plagues of this wicked world. This whole place is a certaine interloqution and bringing in for this whole Chap. by occaſion of the prediction and argument of the ſixt ſeale. For firſt that euill is preuented in the elect vnto the 9. verſ. Then thanks are giuen by the elect for that cauſe, verſ. 10,11,12. Laſtly, the accompliſhment of the thing is ſet forth vnto the end of the chap. The firſt verſ. is a tranſition ſpeaking of the Angels which keepe theſe inferiour parts from all euill, vntill God do command. For (as it is excellently figured by Ezech. 11 12.) their faces and their wings are reached vpwards, continually waiting vpon and beholding the countenance of God for their direction: and euery of them goeth into that part that is right before his face, whitherſoeuer the Spirit ſhall goe, they goe, they ſtep not out of the way, that is, they depart not ſo much as a foot bredth from the path commanded them of God.

[a] On the foure quarters or coaſts of the earth.

not blow on the earth, neither on the ſea, [2] neither on any tree.

2 [3] And I ſaw [4] another Angel come vp from the Eaſt, which had the ſeale of the liuing God, and he cryed with a loud voyce to the foure Angels to whom power was giuen to hurt the earth, and the ſea, ſaying,

3 Hurt ye not the earth, neither the ſea, neither the trees, till we haue ſealed the ſeruants of our God in their foreheads.

4 And I heard the number of them, which were ſealed, and there vvere ſealed [5] an hundreth and foure and fourtie thouſand of all the tribes of the children of Iſrael.

5 Out of the tribe of Iuda were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Reuben were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Gad were ſealed twelue thouſand.

6 Of the tribe of Aſer were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Nephtali were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Manaſſes were ſealed twelue thouſand.

7 Of the tribe of Simeon were ſealed twelue thouſand. [6] Of the tribe of [b] Leui were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Iſſacher were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Zabulon were ſealed twelue thouſand.

8 Of the tribe of [c] Ioſeph were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Beniamin were ſealed twelue thouſand.

9 After theſe things I beheld, and loe, a great multitude, [7] which no man could number, of all nations, and kinreds, & people, and tongues [8] ſtood before the throne, and before the Lambe, cloathed with long white robes, and palmes in their hands.

10 [9] And they cried with a loud voice, ſaying, Saluation commeth of our God, that ſitteth vpon the throne, and of the Lambe.

11 And all the Angels ſtood round about the throne, and about the Elders, and the foure beaſts, and they fell before the throne on their faces, and worſhipped God, 12 Saying, Amen, Praiſe and glory, and wiſedome, and thankes, and honour, and power, and might, be vnto our God for euermore, Amen.

13 [10] And one of the Elders ſpake, ſaying vnto me, What are theſe which are arayed in long white robes? and whence came they?

14 And I ſaid vnto him, Lord, thou knoweſt. And he ſaid vnto me, Theſe are they which came out of great tribulation, and haue waſhed their long robes, and haue made their long robes white in the blood of the Lambe.

15 Therefore are they in the preſence of the throne of God, and ſerue him [d] day and night in his Temple, and he that ſitteth on the throne will dwell [e] among them.

16 * They ſhall hunger no more, neither thirſt any more, neither ſhall the ſunne light on them, neither any heate.

17 For the Lambe, which is in the mids of the throne, ſhall gouerne them, and ſhall leade them vnto the liuely fountaines of waters, and * God ſhall wipe away all teare from their eyes.

CHAP. VIII.

1 After the opening of the ſeuenth ſeale, 3 the Saints prayers are offered vp with odours. 6 The ſeuen Angels come foorth with trumpets. 7 The foure firſt blow, and fire falleth on the earth, 8 the ſea is turned into blood, 10, 11 the waters waxe bitter. 12 and the ſtarres are darkened.

[1] AND when hee had opened the ſeuenth ſeale, there was ſilence in heauen about halfe an houre.

2 [2] And I ſaw the ſeuen Angels, which [a] ſtood before God, and to them were giuen ſeuen trumpets.

3 [3] Then another Angel came and ſtood before the Altar, hauing a golden cenſer, and much odours was giuen vnto him, that he ſhould offer with the prayers of all Saints vpon the golden Altar, which is before the throne.

4 And the ſmooke of the odours with the prayers of the Saints, [b] went vp before God, out of the Angels hand.

5 And the Angel tooke the cenſer, and filled it with fire of the Altar, and caſt it into the earth, and there were voyces, and thundrings, and lightnings, and earthquake

6 [4] Then the ſeuen Angels, which had the ſeuen trumpets, prepared themſelues to blow the trumpets.

7 [5] So the firſt Angel blew the trumpet, and there was haile and fire mingled with blood, and they were caſt into the earth, and the third part of trees was burnt, and all greene graſſe was burnt.

8 [6] And the ſecond Angell blew the trumpet,

[3] Now God prouideth againſt the danger of his elect by commaundement, verſe 2. and 3. and by ſigne or figure, both for thoſe of the nation of the Iewes, thence vnto the 8. verſe, and alſo of the Gentiles, verſe 9.

[4] Not onely another, or differing in number from the common Angels of God, but alſo in eſſence, office, and operation excelling all Angels: that is, Chriſt Ieſus the eternall Angel or word of God, and mediatour of the couenant. So hereafter chapter 8,3. and 10,1,5.

[5] That is, of the Iewes a number certaine in it ſelfe before God, and ſuch as may be numbred of vs: for which cauſe alſo the ſame is here ſet downe as certaine. But of the elect which are of the Gentiles, the number indeed is in it ſelfe certaine with God, but of vs not poſſibly to bee numbred, as God, Gen. 15,5. and often elſe where, and Eſay figured moſt excellently, Chap. 19. and 60. This therefore is ſpoken with reſpect, when a certaine number is put for one vncertaine. Conferre this with verſe 6.

[b] He skipped Dan, and reckoneth Leui.

[c] Of Ephraim, who was Ioſephs other ſonne, and had the birthright giuen him, where of he is called Ioſeph.

[6] Here the tribe of Leui is reckoned vp in common with the reſt, becauſe all the Iſraelites were equally made Prieſtes with them in Chriſt by his Prieſthood, chap. 1,6. and 5,10. and Rom. 12,1. and 1. Pet. 2.9. The name of Dan is not mentioned becauſe the Danites long before forſaking the worſhip of God, were fallen away from the fellowſhip of Gods people vnto the part of the Gentiles, which euill many ages before Iaakob foreſaw, Gen. 49,18. for which cauſe alſo there is no mention made of this tribe in the firſt booke of the Chronicles. [7] See before vpon the 4. verſe. [8] As Prieſts, Kings, and glorious conquerers by martyrdome: which things are noted by their proper ſignes in this verſe. [9] The praiſe of God celebrated firſt by the holy men, in this verſe, then by the heauenly Angels in the two verſes following. [10] A paſſage ouer vnto the expounding of the viſion, of which the Angell enquireth of S. Iohn to ſtir him vp withall, in this verſe and Iohn in the forme of ſpeech, both acknowledgeth his owne ignorance, attributing knowledge vnto the Angel, and alſo in moſt modeſt manners requeſteth the expounding of the viſion. [11] The expoſition of the viſion, wherein the Angel telleth firſt the actes of the Saints, that is, their ſufferings and worke of faith in Chriſt Ieſus, in this verſe. Secondly their glory, both preſent, which conſiſteth in two things, that they miniſter vnto God, and that God protecteth them verſe 15. and to come, in their perfect deliuerance from all annoiances verſe 16. and in participation of all good things which euen the memory of former euils ſhall neuer be able to diminiſh, verſe 17. The cauſe efficient, and which containeth all theſe things is onely one, euen the Lambe of God, the Lord, the Mediator, and the Sauiour Chriſt Ieſus.

[d] He alludeth to the Leuites, which ſerued day and night, for elſe there is no night in heauen.

[e] Or, vpon them, whereby is meant Gods defence and protectiõ, as it were towards them, who are as ſafe, as men in the Lords tents.

* Eſai. 25,8. chap. 11,4.

[1] He returneth to the hiſtory of the ſeales of the book, which the Lambe openeth. The ſeuenth ſeale is the next foreſignification, and a preciſe commaundement of the execution of the moſt heauy iudgements of God vpon this wicked world: which foreſignification being vnderſtood by the ſeale, all things in heauen are ſilent, and in horror thorow admiration vntill commandement of execution be ſeuerally giuen of God vnto the miniſters of his wrath. So he paſſeth vnto the third member of which I ſpake before in Chapt 6. ver. 1. which is of the execution of thoſe euils wherewith God moſt iuſtly determined to afflict the world.

[2] Now followeth the third branch of the common hiſtory, as euen now I ſaid: which is the execution of the iudgements of God vpon the world. This is firſt generally prepared vnto the 6. verſe, then by ſeuerall parts expoundeth according to the order of thoſe that adminiſtred the ſame vnto the end of the Chap. following. Vnto the preparation of this execution are declared theſe things: firſt, who were the adminiſters and inſtruments thereof in this verſe. Secondly, what is the work both of the Prince of Angels giuing order for this execution, thence vnto the 5. verſe, and of his adminiſters in the 6. verſe. The adminiſters of the execution are ſaid to be ſeuen Angels: their inſtruments, trumpets, whereby they ſhould as it were ſound the alarme at the commaundement of God. They are propounded ſeuen in number, becauſe it pleaſed God not at once to powre out his wrath vpon the rebellious world, but at diuers times, and by piece meale, and in ſlow order, and as with an vnwilling minde to exerciſe his iudgements vpon his creatures, ſo long called vpon both by word and ſignes if happily they had learned to repent. [a] Which appeare before him as his miniſters. [3] This is that great Emperour, the Lord Ieſus Chriſt our King and Sauiour: who both maketh interceſſion to God the Father for the Saints, filling the heauenly Sanctuary with moſt ſweete odour, and offering vp their prayers, as the Calues and burnt ſacrifices of their lips, in this verſe: in ſuch ſort as euery one of them (ſo powerfull is that ſweet ſauour of Chriſt, and the efficacy of his ſacrifice) are held in reconcilement with God and themſelues made moſt acceptable vnto him, verſe 4. And then alſo out of his treaſury, and from the ſame ſanctuary powreth forth vpon the world the fire of his wrath, adding alſo diuine tokens thereunto: and by that meanes (as of old the Herаulds of Rome were wont to doe) he proclaimeth warre againſt the rebellious world. [b] Our prayers are nothing worth, vnleſſe that true and ſweete ſauour of that onely oblation be eſpecially and before all things with them, that is to ſay, vnleſſe wee being firſt of all iuſtified through faith in his Sonne, be acceptable vnto him. [4] This is the worke of the adminiſters. The Angels the adminiſters of Chriſt, onely by ſounding trumpet and voyce (for they are onely as Heraulds) do effectuall call forth the inſtruments of the wrath of God, through his power. Hitherto haue bene things generall. Now followeth the narration of things particular, which the Angels ſix in number wrought in their order ſet out in the 19 verſe of the next chap. and is concluded with the declaration of the euent which followed vpon theſe things done in the world, and in the 10. and 11. chap. [5] The firſt execution at the ſound of the firſt Angel vpon the earth, that is, the inhabitants of the earth (by Metonymie) and vpon all the fruits thereof: as the comparing of this verſe with the ſecond member of the 9. verſe doth not obſcurely declare. [6] The ſecond execution, vpon the ſea in this verſe and all thinges that are therein in the next verſe, and as it vvere a great mountaine, burning with fire, was caſt into the ſea, and the third part of the ſea became blood.

9 Aud the third part of the creatures, which were in the ſea, and had life, died, and the third part of ſhips were deſtroyed.

10 [7] Then the third Angel blew the trumpet, and there fell a great ſtarre from heauen, burning like a torch, and it fell into the third part of the riuers, and into the fountaines of waters.

11 And the name of the ſtar is called [8] wormewood: therefore the third part of the waters became wormewood, and many men died of the waters, becauſe they were made bitter.

12 [9] And the fourth Angel blew the trumpet, and the third part of the ſunne was ſmitten, and the third part of the moone, and the third part of the ſtarres, ſo that the third part of them was darkened: and the day vvas ſmitten, that the third part of it could not ſhine, and likewiſe the night.

13 [10] And I beheld, and heard one Angel flying thorow the middes of heauen, ſaying with a loud voyce, Woe, woe, woe to the inhabitants of the earth, becauſe of the ſounds to come of the trumpet of the three Angels, which were yet to blowe the trumpets.

[7] The third execution vpon the floods and fountaines, that is, vpon all freſh waters, in this verſe: the effect whereof is, that many are deſtroyed with the bitterneſſe of waters, in the verſe following. [8] This is ſpoken by Metaphor, of the name of a moſt bitter herbe, and commonly knowen, vnleſſe perhaps a man following thoſe that note the deriuation of words had rather expound it adiectiuely, for that which by reaſon or bitternes cannot be drunke, or which maketh the liquour into which is powred more bitter then that any man can drinke the ſame. [9] The fourth execution vpon theſe lightſome bodies of heauen, which miniſter vnto this inferiour world. [10] A lamentable prediction or foretelling of thoſe parts of the diuine execution which are yet behind: which alſo is a paſſage vnto the argument of the next Chapter. Of all theſe things in a manner Chriſt himſelfe expreſly foretold in the 12. Chapter of S. Luke, Verſe 24 &c. and they are common plagues generally denounced, without particular note of time.

CHAP. IX.

1 The firſt Angel bloweth his trumpet, 3 and ſpoiling locuſts come out. 13 The ſixt Angel bloweth, 26 and bringeth foorth horſemen, 20 to deſtroy mankind.

AND the [1] fift Angel blew the trumpet, and I ſaw a [2] ſtarre fall from heauen vnto the earth, [3] and to him was giuen the key of the [a] bottomleſſe pit.

2 [4] And he opened the bottomleſſe pit, and there aroſe the ſmoake of the pit, the ſmoake of a great fornace, and the ſunne, and the ayre were darkened by the ſmoake of the pit.

3 [5] And there came out of the ſmoake Locuſts vpon the earth, and vnto them was giuen power, as the ſcorpions of the earth haue power.

4 [6] And it was commanded them that they ſhould not hurt the graſſe of the earth, neither any greene thing, neither any tree: but onely thoſe men which haue not the ſeale of God in their foreheads.

5 And to them was commaunded that they ſhould not kill them, but that they ſhould bee vexed fiue moneths, and that their paine ſhould be as the paine that commeth of a ſcorpion, when he hath ſtung a man.

6 * Therefore in thoſe dayes ſhall men ſeeke death, and ſhall not finde it, and ſhall deſire to die, and death ſhall flie from them.

7 [7] And the forme of the locuſts vvas like vnto horſes prepared vnto the battell, and on their heads vvere as it vvere crownes, like vnto gold, and their faces vvere like the faces of men.

8 And they had haire as the haire of women, and their teeth were as the teeth of lyons.

9 And they had habbergions, like vnto habbergions of yron, and the ſound of their wings vvas like the ſound of charets when many horſes runne vnto battell.

10 And they had tailes like vnto ſorpions, and there were ſtings in their tailes, and their power was to hurt men fiue moneths.

11 [8] And they haue a king ouer them, which is the Angel of the bottomleſſe pit, whoſe name in Hebrew is Abaddon, and in Greeke hee is named Apollyon, that is, deſtroying.

12 [9] One woe is paſt, and behold, yet two woes come after this.

[1] The fift execution vpon the wicked men inhabiting the earth (as a little before the Angel ſaid) wrought by the infernall powers, is declared in this place vnto the eleuenth verſe. And after the ſixt execution thence vnto the nineteenth verſe. And laſtly is ſhewed the common euent that followed the former execution in the world, in the two laſt verſes. [2] That is, that the Angel of God glittering with glory, as a ſtarre fell downe from heauen. Whether thou take him for Chriſt, who hath the keyes of hell of himſelfe, and by Princely authority, Chap. 1. verſe 18. or whether for ſome inferiour Angel, who hath the ſame key permitted vnto him, and occupieth it miniſterially, or by office of his miniſtery, here, and Chap. 21. ſo the word falling, is taken, Gen. 14. 10. and 24. 64. and Heb. 6, 6. [3] The key was giuen to his ſtarre. For thoſe powers of wickedneſſe are thruſt downe into hell, and bound with chaines of darkeneſſe: and are there kept vnto damnation, vnleſſe God for a time doe let them looke, 2. Pet. 2, 4. Iude 6, and of this booke, Chap. 20, 20. the hiſtorie of which chapter hath agreement of time with this preſent chapter. [a] By the bottomleſſe pit, hee meaneth the deepeſt darkeneſſe of hell. [4] Vnto this is added, the ſmoake of the helliſh and infernall ſpirits, all darke, and darkening all things in heauen and in earth. The ſpirituall darkeneſſes are the cauſes of all diſorder and confuſion. For the deuill at a time certaine (whereof verſe the fift) ſent theſe darkeneſſes into his kingdome, that he might at once and with one impreſſion ouerthrow all things, and peruert if it were poſſible the elect themſelues. By this darkeneſſe all ſpirituall light, both actiue as of the Sunne, and paſſiue, as of the ayre which is lightened by the Sunne, is taken away: and this is that which goeth before the ſpirits: it followeth of the ſpirits themſelues. [5] A deſcription of the malignant ſpirits inuading the world, taken from their nature, power, forme and order. From their nature, for that they are like vnto certaine locuſtes, in quickeneſſe, ſubtilitie, hurtfulneſſe, number, and ſuch like in this verſe. From their power, for that they are as the ſcorpions of the earth, of a ſecret force to doe hurt. For our battell is not here with fleſh and blood, but with powers, &c. Epheſ. 6, 12. This place of the power of the Deuils generally noted in this verſe, is particularly declared afterwards in the three next verſes.

[6] Here that power of the deuils is particularly deſcribed according to their actions and effects of the ſame. Their actions are ſaid to be bounded by the counſell of God: both becauſe they hurt not all men, but onely the reprobate (for the godly and elect, in whom there is any part of a better life, God gardeth by his decree) whom Chriſt ſhall not haue ſeeled, in this verſe: and alſo becauſe they neither had all power not at all times, no not ouer thoſe that are their owne, but limited in maner and time, by the preſcript of God, verſe 5. So their power to afflict the godly, is none, & for the wicked is limited in act and in effect by the will of God: for the maner was preſcribed vnto them that they ſhould not ſlay, but torment the wretched world. The time is for fiue moneths or for an hundred and fiftie dayes, that is, for ſo many yeeres in which the deuils haue indeed mightily peruerted all things in the world: and yet without that publike and vnpuniſhed licence of killing, which afterward they vſurped when the ſixt Angel had blowen his trumpet, as ſhalbe ſaid vpon the 13, verſe. Now this ſpace is to be accounted from the end of that thouſand yeeres mentioned, Chap. 20, 3. and that is from the Popedome of that Gregory the ſeuenth, a moſt monſtrous Necromancer, who before was called Hildebrandus Senenſis: for this man being made altogether of impiety and wickedneſſe, as a ſlave of the deuill, whom he ſerued, was the moſt wicked firebrand of the world: he excommunicated the Emperor Henry the fourth: went about by all maner of trecherie to ſet vp and put downe empires and kingdome as liked himſelfe: and doubted not to ſet Rodolph the Swedon ouer the Empire in ſtead of Henry before named, ſending vnto him a Crowne with this verſe annexed vnto it, Petra dedit Petro, Petrus diadema Rodolpho: that is, The Rocke to Peter gave the crowne, and Peter Rodolph doth renowne. Finally, he ſo finely beſtirred himſelfe in his affaires, as he miſerably ſet all Chriſtendome on fire, and conueyed ouer vnto his ſucceſſours the burning brand of the ſame: who enraged with like ambition, neuer ceaſed to nouriſh that flame, and to enkindle it more and more: whereby Cities, Common-weales, and whole Kingdomes ſet together by the eares amongſt themſelues by moſt expert cutthroats, came to ruine, whiles they miſerably wounded one another. This terme of an hundred and fiftie yeeres, taketh end in the time of Gregory the ninth, or Hugolinus Anagnienſis (as he was before called) who cauſed to be compiled by one Raimond his chapleine and confeſſour, the body of Decretals, and by ſufferance of the Kings and Princes to be publiſhed in the Chriſtian world, and eſtabliſhed for a law. For by this ſleight at length the Popes arrogated vnto themſelues licence to kill whom they would, whiles other were vnwares: and without feare eſtabliſhed a butchery out of many of the wicked Canons of the Decretals, which the trumpet of the fift Angel had expreſly forbidden, and had hindered vntill this time. The effects of the bloody actions are declared vpon the ſixt verſe: that the miſerable world languiſhing in ſo great calamities, ſhould willingly run together vnto death, and preferre the ſame before life, by reaſon of the grieuouſneſſe of the miſeries that oppreſſed them. * Chap. 6, 16. Eſai. 2, 19. Hoſe. 10, 8. [7] The forme of theſe helliſh ſpirits and adminiſters, is ſhadowed out by ſignes and viſible figures in this ſort: that they are very expert and ſwift: that whereſoeuer they are in the world, the kingdome of theirs: that they manage all their affaires with cunning and skill, in this verſe, that making ſhew of mildneſſe and tender affection to draw on men withall, they moſt impudently rage in all miſchiefe: that they are moſt mighty to doe hurt, Verſ. 8. that they are freed from being hurt of any man, as armed with the colour of religion, and facted authoritie of priuiledge, that they fill all things with horror, Verſ. 9, that they are fraudulent: that they are venimous and extremely noiſome, though their power bee limited, Verſe 10. All which things are properly in the infernall powers, and communicated by them vnto their miniſters and vaſſals. [8] The order of the powers of maliciouſnes: that they are ſubiect to one infernall King, whom thou mayeſt call in Engliſh. The Deſtroyer: who driueth the whole world both Iewes and Gentiles into the deſtruction that belongeth vnto himſelfe. And I cannot tell whether this name belongeth vnto the Etymologicall interpretation of Hildebrand, by a figure often vſed in the holy Scripture: which albeit it may otherwiſe be turned of the Germanes (as the ſenſe of compound words is commonly abiguous) yet in very deed it ſignifieth as much as if thou ſhouldeſt call him the firebrand, that is, he that ſetteth on fire thoſe that be faithfull vnto him. [9] A paſſage vnto the next point, and the hyſtorie of the time following.

13 ¶ [10] Then the ſixt Angel blew the trumpet, [11] and I heard a voyce from the [b] foure hornes of the golden altar, which is before God,

14 Saying to the ſixth Angel, which had the trumpet, [12] Looſe the foure Angels, which are bound in the great riuer Euphrates.

15 [13] And the foure Angels were looſed, which were prepared at an houre, at a day, at a moneth, and at a yeere to ſlay the third part of men.

16 And the number of horſemen of warre were twenty thouſand times ten thouſand: for I heard the number of them.

17 And thus I ſaw the horſes in a viſion, and them that ſate on them, hauing fierie habergions, and of Iacynth, and of brimſtone, and the heads of the horſes were as the heads of lyons, and out of their mouthes went foorth fire, and ſmoake, and brimſtone.

18 Of theſe three was the third part of men killed, that is, of the fire, and of the ſmoke, and of the brimſtone, which came out of their mouthes.

19 For their power is in their mouthes, and in their tailes: [14] for their tailes were like vnto ſerpents, and had heads wherewith they hurt.

20 [15] And the remnant of the men which were not killed by theſe plagues, repented not of the workes of their hands that they ſhould not worſhip deuils, and * idoles of gold, and of ſiluer, and of braſſe, and of ſtone, and of wood, which neither can ſee, neither heare, nor goe.

21 Alſo they repented not of their murther, and of their ſorcerie, neither of their fornication, nor of their theft.

[10] The ſixt execution done vpon the world by the tyrannicall powers thereof working in the foure parts of the earth, that is in moſt cruell maner executing their tyrannous dominion through the whole world, and killing the miſerable people without puniſhment, which before was not lawfull for them to doe in that ſort, as I ſhewed vpon the fourth verſ. This narration hath two parts: a commandement from God, in the 14. verſ. and execution of the commandement, in the verſe following.

[11] The commandement giuen by Chriſt himſelfe, who is gouernour ouer all.

[b] Hee alludeth to the altar of incenſe, which ſtood in the Court which the Prieſts were in, ouer againſt the Arke of the Couenant, hauing a vaile betwixt them.

[12] As if he ſhould haue ſaid, Theſe hitherto haue bene ſo bound by the power of God, that they could not freely run vpon all men as themſelues luſted, but were ſtayed and reſtrained at that great flood of Euphrates, that is, in their ſpirituall Babylon (for this is a Periphraſis of the ſpirituall Babylon, by the limits of the ſpirituall Babylon long ſince ouerthrowen) that they might not commit thoſe horrible ſlaughters which they long breathed after. Now goe to: let looſe thoſe foure Angels, that is, adminiſters of the wrath of God, in that number that is conuenient to the ſlaughtering of the foure quarters of the world: ſtirre them vp and giue them the bridle, that ruſhing of that Babylon of theirs, which is the ſeate of the wicked ones, they may flie vpon all the world, therein to rage, and moſt licentiouſly to exerciſe their tyrannie, as God hath ordeined. This was done when Gregorie the ninth by publike authoritie eſtabliſhed for law his owne Decretals, by which he might freely lay traines for the life of ſimple men. For who is it that ſeeth not that the lawes Decretall moſt of them are as ſnares to catch ſoules withall? Since that time (O good God!) how great ſlaughters haue there beene? how great maſſacres? All hiſtories are full of them: and this our age aboundeth with moſt horrible and monſtrous examples of the ſame.

[13] The execution of the commandement is in two points: one, that thoſe butchers are let looſe, that out of their tower of the ſpirituall Babylon they might with furie runne abroad through all the world, as well the thiefe of that crew which are moſt prompt vnto all aſſayes, in this verſe: as their multitudes, both moſt copious, of which a number certaine is named for a number infinitie, Verſe 16. and in themſelues by all meanes fully furniſhed to hide and to hurt, Verſe 17. as beeing armed with fire, ſmoake and brimſtone, as appeareth in the colour of their armour, which dazeleth the eyes of all men: and haue the ſtrength of Lyons to hurt withall, from which (as out of their mouth) the fierie, ſmoakie, and ſtinking darts of the Pope are ſhot out, Verſe 18. The other point is, that theſe butchers haue effected the commandement of God by fraud and violence, in the two verſes following.

[14] That is, they harmefull euery way: on what part ſoeuer thou put thine hand vnto them or they touch thee, they doe hurt. So the former are called Scorpions, Verſe 3.

[15] Now remaineth the euent (as I ſaid vpon the firſt verſe) which followed of ſo many and ſo grieuous iudgements in the moſt wicked world: namely an impenitent obſtination of the vngodly in their impietie and vnrighteouſneſſe, though they feele themſelues moſt vehemently preſſed with the hand of God: for their obſtinate vngodlineſſe is ſhewed in this verſe: and their vnrighteouſneſſe in the verſe following. Hitherto hath bene the generall hiſtorie of things to bee done vniuerſall in the whole world: which becauſe it doeth not ſo much belong to the Church of Chriſt, is therefore not ſo expreſly diſtinguiſhed by certainty of time and other circumſtances, but is wouen, as they ſay with a ſlight hand. Alſo there is none other cauſe why the hiſtorie of the ſeuenth Angel is paſſed ouer in this place, then for that the ſame more properly apperteineth vnto the hiſtorie of the Church. But this is more diligently ſet out according to the time thereof, Chap. 11. and 16. as ſhall appeare vpon thoſe places.

* Pſal.115,4. and 135,15.

CHAP. X.

Another Angel appeareth cloathed with a cloude, 2 holding a booke open. 3 and crieth out. 8 A voyce from heauen commandeth Iohn to take the booke. 10 He eateth it.

AND [1] I ſawe [2] another mightie Angel come downe from heauen, cloathed with a cloud, and the rainebowe vpon his head, and his face was as the ſunne, and his feete as pillars of fire.

2 And hee had in his hand a [3] little booke open, and hee put his right feet vpon the ſea, and his left on the earth,

3 And cried with a loud voyce, as when a lion roareth: and when hee had cried, ſeuen thunders vttered their voyces.

4 [4] And when the ſeuen thunders had vttered their voyces, I was about to write: but I heard a voyce from heauen, ſaying vnto mee, [a] Seale vp thoſe things which the ſeuen thunders haue ſpoken, and write them not.

5 And the Angel which I ſawe ſtand vpon the ſea, and vpon the earth, [b] lift vp his hand to heauen,

6 And ſware by him that liueth for enermore, which created heauen, and the things that therein are, and the earth, and the things that therein are, and the ſea, and the things that therein are, [5] that [c] time ſhould be no more.

7 But in the dayes of the [6] voyce of the ſeuenth Angel, when he ſhall begin to blow the trumpet, euen the myſterie of God ſhall be finiſhed, as he hath declared to his ſeruants the Prophets.

8 [7] And the voyce which I heard from heauen, ſpake vnto mee againe, and ſaid, Goe, and take the little booke which is open in the hand of the Angel, which ſtandeth vpon the ſea, and vpon the earth.

9 So I went vnto the Angel, and ſayd to him, Giue mee the little booke. And he ſaid vnto mee, Take it, and eat it vp, and it ſhall make thy belly bitter, but it ſhall bee in thy mouth as ſweet at hony.

10 Then I tooke the little booke out of the Angels hand, and ate it vp, and it was in my mouth as ſweet as hony: but when I had eaten it, my belly was bitter.

11 [8] And he ſaid vnto mee, Thou muſt propheſie againe among the people and nations, and tongues, and to many Kings.

[1] Now Saint Iohn paſſeth vnto the other Propheticall hiſtorie, which is of the Church of God, as I ſhewed that this booke ſhould be diſtinguiſhed, Chap.4.1. This ſtorie reacheth hence vnto the two and twentieth Chapter. And this whole Chapter is but a tranſition from the common hiſtorie of the world vnto that which is particular of the Church. There are in this tranſition or paſſage, two preparatiues as it were, vnto this Church ſtorie compriſed in this whole Chapter. One is the authoritie of Chriſt reuealing his myſteries, and calling his ſeruants vnto the ſeuenth verſe. The other is Saints Iohn his calling, proper vnto this place, and prepared from before vnto the end of this chapter. Authoritie is giuen vnto this Reuelation by theſe things. Firſt, by the appearing from heauen in this habite and countenance, ſtrong, ready, glorious, ſurueying all things by his prouidence and gouerning them by his omnipotence, verſe the firſt. Secondly, that he brought not by chance, but out of a booke, this open Reuelation, ſet foorth vnto the eye, to ſignifie the ſame vnto the ſea, and land, as Lord ouer all, Verſe the ſecond. Thirdly, that he offered the ſame not whiſpering or muttering in a corner (as falſe prophets doe) but crying out with a lowd voyce vnto them which ſleepe, and with a lyoniſh and terrible noyſe rouſed vp the ſecure: the very thunders themſelues giuing teſtimony thereunto, Verſe the third. Laſtly, for that hee confirmed all by an oath, Verſe 5.6.7.

[2] Chriſt Ieſus, ſee the ſeuenth Chapter and the ſecond verſe.

[3] Namely, a ſpecially booke of the affaires of Gods Church. For the booke that conteineth things belonging the whole world, is ſaid to bee kept with the Creatour, the fifth Chapter and the firſt verſe, but the booke of the Church, with the Redeemer: and out of this booke is taken the reſt of the hiſtorie of this Apocalypſe.

[4] A godly care is laudable, but muſt bee ioyned with knowledge. Therefore nothing is to bee taken in hand, but by calling: which muſt bee expected and waiting for of the godly.

[a] Keepe them cloſe.

[b] This was a geſture vſed of one that ſweareth, which men doe now a dayes vſe.

[5] Neither time it ſelfe, nor the things that are in time: but that the world to come is at hand which is altogether of eternitie and beyond all times.

[c] There ſhall neuer bee any more time.

[6] Whereof Chap.11,15. and 16,17.

[7] The other part of this Chapter, concerning the particular calling of Saint Iohn to the receiuing of the prophecie following which is inioyned him, firſt by ſigne in three verſes, then in plaine words in the laſt verſe. Vnto the ſetting forth of the ſigne belong theſe things: That Saint Iohn is taught from heauen to demaund the booke of the Prophecie in this verſe: for theſe motions and deſires God doeth inſpire: that demaunding the booke, hee is charged to take it in a figuratiue maner, the vſe whereof alſo is expounded, verſe the ninth, (as in the ſecond Chapter of Ezekiel and the ninth verſe) whence this ſimilitude is borrowed: laſtly, for that Saint Iohn at the commandement of Chriſt tooke the booke, and found by experience that the ſame as proceeding from Chriſt was moſt ſweet, but in that it forttelleth the afflictions of the Church it was moſt bitter vnto his ſpirit.

[8] A ſimple and plaine declaration of the ſigne before going, witneſſing the diuine calling of S. Iohn, and laying vpon him the neceſſitie thereof.

CHAP.

CHAP. XI.

1 The temple is commanded to be meaſured. 3 The Lord ſtirred vp two witneſſes, 7 whom the beaſt murthereth, 9 and no man burieth them. 11 God raiſeth them to life, 12 and calleth them vp to heauen. 13 the wicked are terrified, 15 by the trumpet of the ſeuenth Angel the reſurrection, 18 and iudgement is deſcribed.

1 THen was giuen me a reede like vnto a rod, and the Angel ſtood by, ſaying, Riſe and [2] meete the Temple of God, and the Altar, and them that worſhip therein.

2 [3] But the [a] Court which is without the Temple [b] caſt out, and meete it not: for it is giuen vnto the [4] Gentiles, and the holy citie ſhall they tread vnder foote, [5] two and fourtie Moneths.

3 But [6] I will giue power vnto my two witneſſes,&c and ſhal [7] prophecie a thouſand two hundreth and threeſcore dayes cloathed in ſackcloath.

4 Theſe [8] are two oliue trees, and two candleſtickes, ſtanding before the God of the earth.

5 [9] And if any man will hurt them, fire proceedeth out of their mouthes, and deuoureth their enemies: for if any man would hurt them, thus muſt hee be killed.

6 Theſe haue power to ſhut heauen, that it raine not in the dayes of their prophecying, and haue power ouer waters to turne them into blood, and to ſmite the earth with all maner plagues, as often as they will.

7 [10] And when they haue [c] finiſhed their teſtimony, [11] the beaſt that commeth out of the bottomleſſe pit, ſhall make warre againſt them, and ſhall [12] ouercome them, and kill them,

8 And their corpſes ſhall lie in the [13] ſtreets of the great citie, which [d] ſpiritually is called Sodom and Egypt, [14] where our Lord alſo was crucified.

9 And they of the people and kinreds, and tongues, and Gentiles, ſhall ſee their corpſes [15] three dayes and an halfe, and ſhall not ſuffer their carckeiſes to be put in graues.

10 And they that dwell vpon the earth, [16] ſhall reioyce ouer them and be glad, and ſhall ſend gifts one to another, for theſe two Phrophets [17] vexed them that dwelt on the earth.

---

1 The authoritie of the intended reuelation being declared, together with the neceſſity of that calling, which was particularly impoſed vpon Saint Iohn: hereafter followeth the hiſtorie of the eſtate of Chriſt his Church both conflicting or warfaring, and ouercomming in Chriſt For both the true Church of Chriſt is ſaid to fight againſt that which is falſly ſo called ouer the which Antichriſt ruleth. Chriſt Ieſus ouerthrowing Antichriſt by yͤ ſpirit of his mouth: and Chriſt is ſaid to ouercome moſt glorioſly vntill he ſhall ſlay the Antichriſt by the appearance of his comming, as the Apoſtle excellently teacheth, 2. Theſſ. 2, 8 So this hiſtorie hath two parts. One of the ſtate of the Church conflicting with temptations, vnto the 16. Chapter. The other of the ſtate of the ſame Church obtaining victory, thence vnto the 20. Chapter. The firſt part hath two members moſt conueniently diſtributed into their times, whereof the firſt containeth an hiſtorie of the Chriſtian Church for 1260 yeeres, what time the Goſpell of Chriſt was as it were taken vp from amongſt men into heauen: the ſecond containeth an hiſtorie of the ſame Church vnto the victorie perfected. And theſe two members are briefly, though diſtinctly propounded in this Chapter, but are both of them more at large diſcourſed after in due order. For wee vnderſtand the ſtate of the Church conflicting out of Chapters 12 and 13 and of the ſame growing out of afflictions out of the 14, 15, & 16 Chapters. Neither did Saint Iohn at vnawares ioyne together the hyſtorie of theſe two times in this Chapter, becauſe here is ſpoken of prophecie, which all confeſſe to bee one iuſt annd innumerable in the Church, and which Chriſt commanded to be continuall. The hyſtory of the former time reacheth vnto the 14. verſe: the latter is ſet downe in the reſt of this Chapter. In the former are ſhewed theſe things: the calling of the ſeruants of God in 4. verſes: the conflicts which the faithfull muſt vndergoe in their calling, for Chriſt and his Church, thence vnto the 10 verſe, and their reſurrection and receiuing vp into heauen vnto the 14 verſe. In the calling of the ſeruants of God are mentioned two things: the begetting and ſetting of the Church in two verſes, and the education thereof in two verſes. The begitting of the Church is here commended vnto S. Iohn by ſigne and by ſpeech: the ſigne is a meaſuring rod, and the ſpeech a commandement to meaſure the Temple of God, that is, to reduce the ſame vnto a new forme: becauſe the Gentiles are already entred into the Temple of Ieruſalem, and ſhall ſhortly defile and ouerthrow the ſame vtterly. a Either that of Ieruſalem which was a figure of the Church of Chriſt, or that heauenly Example, whereof verſe 19 but the firſt liketh me better and the things following doe all agree thereunto. The ſenſe therefore is, Thou ſeeſt all things in Gods houſe almoſt from the paſſion of Chriſt to be diſordered: and that not onely the citie of Hieruſalem but alſo the court of the Temple is trampled vnder foot of the nations, and of prophane men whether Iewes or ſtrangers: and that onely the Temple, that is, the body of the Temple, with the Altar, and a ſmall company of good men which truely worſhip God, doe now remaine, whom God doeth ſanctifie and confirme by his preſence. Meaſure therefore this, euen this true Church, or rather the true type of the true Church omitting the reſt and ſo deſcribe all things from me that the true Church of Chriſt may be as it were a very litle center, and the Church of Antichriſt as the circle of the center, euery way in length and breadth compaſſing about the ſame, that by way of prophecy thou mayeſt ſo declare openly, that the ſtate of the Temple of God and the faithfull which worſhip him, that is, of the Church is much more ſtraight then the Church of Antichriſt 3 As if he ſhould ſay, it belongeth nothing vnto thee to iudge thoſe which are without, 1. Cor 5. 12. which be innumerable: looke vnto thoſe of the houſhold onely, or vnto the houſe of the liuing God. a Hee ſpeaketh of the outward court, which was called the peoples court, becauſe all men might come into that. b That is counted to be caſt out, which in meaſuring is refuſed as prophane. 4 To prophane perſons wicked & vnbeleeuers, aduerſaries vnto the Church. 5 Or a thouſand two hundred and threeſcore dayes as is ſayd in the next verſe: that is a thouſand two hundred and threeſcore yeeres, a day for a yeere as often in Ezechiel & Daniel, which thing I noted before 2. 10. The beginning of theſe thouſand two hundred and threeſcore yeeres, we account from the paſſion of Chriſt, whereby (the partition wall being broken downe) wee were made of two one, Epheſ. 2, 14. I ſay one flocke vnder one Shepheard, Iohn 10, 16 and the end of theſe yeeres preciſely falleth into the Popedome of Boniface the eight who a little before the end of yͤ yeere of Chriſt a thouſand two hundreth ninety foure, entred the Popedome of Rome, in the feaſt of S. Lucie (as Bergomenſis ſaith) hauing put in priſon his predeceſſor Coeleſtinus, whom by fraud, vnder colour of oracle, he deceiued: for which cauſe, that well ſaid of him Intrauit vt vulpes, regnauit vt leo, mortuus eſt vt canis. That is, he entred like a foxe, raigned like a lion, and died like a dogge. For if from a thouſand two hundred ninetie foure yeeres thou ſhalt take the age of Chriſt which he liued on the earth, thou ſhalt finde there remaineth, 1260. yeeres, which are mentioned in this place and many others. 6 I had rather tranſlate it illud then illam, the Temple then the citie: for God ſaith, I will giue that Temple, and commit it vnto my two witneſſes: that is vnto the Miniſters of the word, who are few indeede, weake and contemptible: but yet two. that is, of ſuch a number as one of them may helpe another, and one confirme the teſtimony of another vnto all men, that from the mouth of two or three witneſſes euery word may be made good amongſt men, 2. Cor. 13, 1.

7 They ſhall exerciſe their office enioyned by me by the ſpace of thoſe thouſand two hundred & ſixtie yeeres, in the middeſt of afflictions though neuer ſo lamentable which is figuratiuely ſhewed by the mourning garment.

8 That is, the ordinary and perpetuall inſtruments of ſpirituall grace, peace and light in my Church, which God by his onely power preſerued in this Temple. See Zacharie 4. 3.

9 The power and efficacie of the holy miniſterie, and which is truely Euangelicall, is declared both in earth & in heauen, protecting the adminiſters thereof, and deſtroying the enemies in this verſe, vertue indeed diuine moſt mightily ſhewing it ſelfe forth in heauen, earth and the ſea, verſ. 6. as it deſcribed. 2. Corint. 10. 4. according to the promiſe of Chriſt, Mark. 16, 17 And this is the ſecond place (as I ſaid before) of the combats which the ſeruants of God muſt needes vndergoe in the executing of their calling, and of the things that follow the ſame combats. In the combats or conflicts are theſe things: to ouercome, in theſe two verſes: to be ouercome and killed, verſe 7. After the ſlaughter follow theſe things, that the carkeiſes of the godly are laid abroad, verſ. 8 being vnburied, are made a matter of ſcorne, together of curſing and bitter execrations, verſ 9 and that therefore gratulations are publikely and priuately made verſ. 10 10 That is, when they haue ſpent theſe thouſand two hundred and ſixty yeares, mentioned verſe 2. and 3. in publiſhing their teſtimonie according to their office. c When they haue done their meſſage. 11 Of which after, chap. 13. &c. That beaſt is the Roman Empire, made long a goe of ciuill, Eccleſiaſticall: the chiefe heade whereof was then Boniface the eight, as I ſaid before: who lifted vp himſelfe in ſo great arrogancy (ſaith the authour of Faſciculus temporum) that he called himſelfe Lord of the whole world, as well in tēporall cauſes as in ſpirituall: There is an extant of that matter, written by the ſame Boniface moſt arrogantly, ſhall I ſay, or moſt wickedly, ca. vnam ſanctam, extra de maioritate & obedientia, and in the ſixt of the Decretals (which is from the ſame authour) many things are found of the ſame argument. 12 Hee ſhall perſecute moſt cruelly the holy men, and put them to death, and ſhall wound and pierce through with curſings both their names and writings. And that this was done to very many godly men by Boniface & others, the hiſtories do declare, eſpecially ſince the time that the odious and condemned name amongſt the multitude firſt of the brethren Waldenſes or Lugdunenſes, then alſo of the Fratricels, was pretended, that good men might with more approbation be maſſacred. 13 That is, openly at Rome: where at that time was a moſt great concurſe of people, the yeere of Iubile being then firſt ordained by Boniface vnto the ſame ende, in the yeere of Chriſt a thouſand three hundred, example whereof is read chap. 1. Extra de pænitentiis & remiſſionibus So by one act he committed double iniurie againſt Chriſt, both aboliſhing his trueth by the reſtoring of the type of Iubile, and triumphing ouer his members by moſt wicked ſuperſtitions. O religious heart! Now that wee ſhould vnderſtand the things of Rome, Saint Iohn himſelfe is the authour, both after in the ſeuenteenth Chapter almoſt throughout. and alſo in the circumſcription now next following, when he ſaith, it is that great Citie (as Chap. 17. 18. hee calleth it) and is ſpiritually termed Sodome and Egypt: that ſpiritually (for that muſt here againe be repeated from before) Chriſt was there crucified. For the two firſt appellations ſignifie ſpirituall wickedneſſe: the latter ſignifieth the ſhew and pretence of good, that is, of Chriſtian & ſound religion. Sodome ſignifieth moſt licentious impiety and iniuſtice: Egypt moſt cruell perſecution of the people of God: and Ieruſalem ſignifieth the moſt confident glorying of that citie, as it were in true religion, being yet full of falſehood and vngodlineſſe. Now who is ignorant that theſe things doe rather, and more agree vnto Rome then vnto any other cities? The commendations of the Citie of Rome for many yeeres paſt are publikely notorious, which are not for me to gather. This onely I will ſay that he long ſince did very well ſee what Rome is, who taking his leaue thereof, vſed theſe verſes.

Roma vale, vidi, ſatis eſt vidiſſe: reuertar
Quum leno, meretrix, ſcurra cinædus ero.
Now farewell Rome, I haue thee ſeene: It was inough to ſee:
I will returne when as I meane, baud, harlot, knaue to be.

d After a moſt ſecret kinde of meaning and vnderſtanding. 14 Namely in his members, as alſo he ſaid vnto Saul, Acts 9, 5. 15 That is, for three yeeres and a halfe for ſo many yeeres Boniface liued after his Iubile, as Bergomenſi witneſſeth, 16 So much the more ſhall they by this occaſion exerciſe iolity of their Iubile. 17 The Goſpell of Chriſt, in the affliction of the world, and the miniſtery thereof, the ſauour of death vnto death to thoſe that periſh, 2. Cor. 2, 16.

11 [18] But after [19] three dayes & an halfe, [20] the ſpirit of life comming from God, ſhall enter into them, and they [21] ſhall ſtand vp vpon their feete: and great feare ſhall come vpon them which ſaw them.

12 And they ſhall heare a great voyce from heauen, ſaying vnto them, [22] Come vp hither: And they ſhall aſcend vp to heauen in a cloude, [23] and their enemies ſhall ſee them.

13 [24] And the ſame houre ſhall there be a great earthquake, and the tenth part of the citie ſhall fall, and in the earthquake ſhall be ſlaine in number ſeuen thouſand: & the remnant were ſore feared, [25] and [e] gaue glory to God of heauen.

14 [26] The ſecond woe is paſt, and behold, the third woe will come anon.

15 [27] And the ſeuenth Angel blew the trumpet, and there were great voyces in heauen, ſaying, [28] The kingdomes of the world are our Lords, and his Chriſts, and he ſhall reigne for euermore.

16 [29] Then the foure and twenty Elders, which ſate before God on their ſeates, fell vpon their faces and worſhipped God.

17 Saying, We giue thee thanks, Lord God Almighty, Which art, and which waſt, and which art to come: for thou haſt receiued thy great might, and haſt obtained thy kingdome.

18 [30] And the Gentiles were angry, & thy wrath is come, and the time of the dead, that they ſhould be iudged, and that thou ſhouldeſt giue reward vnto thy ſeruants the Prophets, & to thy Saints, & to them that feare thy Name, to ſmall and great, and ſhouldeſt deſtroy them, which deſtroy the earth.

19 Then the Temple of God was [31] opened in heauen, and there was ſeene in the Temple the Arke of his couenant: and there were lightnings, and voyces, and thundrings, and earthquake, and much haile.

CHAP. XII.

1 A woman 2 appeareth trauelling with child, 4 whoſe childe the dragon would deuoure, 7 but Michael ouercommeth him, 9 and caſteth him out, 13 and the more he is caſt downe and vanquiſhed, the more fiercely he exerciſed his ſubtilties.

AND [1] there appeared a great wonder in heauen: [2] A woman cloathed with the Sun, and the Moone was vnder her feet, and vpon her head a crowne of twelue Starres.

2 And [3] ſhe was with childe, and cried trauelling in birth, & was pained ready to be deliuered.

3 And there appeared another wonder in heauen: [4] for behold, a great red dragon hauing [5] ſeuen heads, and ten [6] hornes, and ſeuen crowns vpon his heads:

4 [7] And his taile drewe the third part of the ſtarres of heauen, and caſt them to the earth. And the dragon [8] ſtood before the woman, which was ready to be deliuered, [9] to deuoure her child, when ſhe had brought it foorth.

5 [10] So ſhe brought forth a man [11] child, which ſhould rule all nations with a rod of yron: and that her child was taken vp vnto God & to his throne.

6 [12] And the woman fled into the wildernes, where ſhe hath a place prepared of God, that [13] they ſhould feed her there a thouſand, two [18] The third place as I noted before, is of the riſing againe of the Prophets from the dead, and their carying vp into heauen. For their reſurrection is ſhewed in this verſe: their calling and lifting vp into heauen. In the verſe following.

[19] That is, what time God ſhall deſtroy that wicked Boniface.

[20] That is, the Prophets of God ſhall in a ſort riſe againe, not the ſame in perſon (as they ſay) but in ſpirit, that is in the power and efficacie of their miniſtery, which S. Iohn expreſſed before verſ. 5 and 6. And ſo the prophecie that is ſpoken of Elias, is interpreted by the Angel to be vnderſtood of Iohn the Baptiſt, Luke 1,17. For the ſame Boniface himſelfe, who ſought to kill and deſtroy them, was by the fire of Gods mouth (which the holy miniſtery ſheweth & exhibiteth) deuoured and died miſerably in priſon, by the endeauour of Sarra Columenſis, and Nogaretus a french knight, whom Philip the faire King of France ſent into Italy but with a ſmall power.

[21] That is, the moſt greeuous heat of afflictions and perſecution ſhall ſtay for a while, for yͤ great amaze that ſhal ariſe vpon that ſuddẽ and vnlooked for iudgement of God.

[22] They were called by God into heauen and taken out of this malignant world, into the heauenly Church, which alſo lieth hiddẽ here in the earth, to exerciſe their calling ſecretly: as of whom this wretched world was vnworthy, Heb. 11,38. For the Church of the wicked is by compariſon called the earth or the world: and the Church of the godly heauen. So in ancient time amongſt the godly Iſraelites: ſo amongſt the Iewes in the dayes of Manaſſes and other Kings, when the earth refuſed the heſtes of heauen, we read that they lay hidden as heauen in the earth.

[23] Yet could they not hinder the ſecret ones of the Lord (as the Pſalmiſt called them, Pſal. 83,4) but they that went on forward in his worke.

[24] Bergomenſis ſaith, in the yeere of our Lord 1301, this yeere a blaſing ſtarre foretelling great calamity to come, appeared in heauẽ, in which yere vpon the feaſt of S. Andrew, ſo great an earthquake aroſe, as neuer before: which alſo continuing, by times, for many dayes, ouerthrew many ſtately houſes. This ſaith he of the yeere next following the Iubile: which S. Iohn ſo many ages before, expreſſed word for word.

[25] They were indeed broken with preſent aſtoniſhment of mind, but did not earneſtly repent as they ought to haue done.

e Glorified God by confeſſing his name.

[26] Hee paſſeth vnto the ſecond hiſtorie: which is the ſecond part of this Chapter S Iohn calleth theſe the ſecond and third woe, hauing reſpect vnto Cha. 9,12.

[27] Of whoſe ſounding the trumpet Chriſt expreſly foretold. Chap. 10,7 and this the ſecond part of this Chapter, containing a general hiſtorie of the Chriſtian Church, from the time of Boniface 8. vnto the conſummation of the victorie declared by voyce from heauen. In this hiſtory there are three branches: a preparation by the ſound of yͤ Angels trumpet: a narration by the voyces of heauenly Angels and Elders: and a confirmation by ſigne.

[28] The narration hath two parts: an acclamation of the heauenly creatures, in this verſe, and both an adoration by all yͤ Elders verſ. 16. & alſo a moſt ample thankeſgiuing, ver. 17,13. The ſenſe of the acclamation is. Now the Lord is entred on his kingdome, & hath reſtored his Church, in which moſt mightily recouered from the profanation of the Gentiles, he may glorifie himſelfe. Namely, that which the Lord ordained when firſt he ordained his Church, that the faith of the Saints doth now behold as accompliſhed.

[29] As before. 7,11. This giuing of thankes is altogether of the ſame conſent with the words going before.

[30] A ſpeach of the Hebrew language, as much to ſay, as, Gentiles being angrie thine inflamed wrath came vpon them and ſhewed it ſelfe from heauen, occaſioned by their anger and furie.

[31] This is the confirmation of the next prophecie before going by ſignes exhibited in heauen, and that of two ſorts, whereof ſome are viſible, as the paſſing away of the heauen, the opening of the Temple, the Arke of the couenant appearing in the Temple, and teſtifying the glorious preſence of God, and the lightnings: others apprehended by eare and ſuch dull ſenſes which beare witneſſe in heauen and in earth to the truth of the iudgements of God.

[1] Hitherto hath beene the generall prophecy comprehended in 2. parts, as I ſhewed vpon Cha. 11. Now ſhall be declared the firſt part of this prophecy, in this & the next cha. and the latter part in the 14, 15. and 16. chap. Vnto the firſt part, which is of the conflicting or militant Church belong 2 things. The beginning and the progreſſe of the ſame in conflicts & Chriſtian combats. Of which two, the beginning or vpſpring of the Church is deſcribed in this Chap. and the progreſſe thereof in the Chap. following. The beginning of the Chriſtian Church, we define to be from the firſt moment of her conception of Chriſt, vntill that time wherein this Church was as it were weined and taken away from the breſt or milke of her Mother: which is the time when the Church of the Iewes with their citie & Temple was ouerthrowne by the iudgemẽt of God. So we haue in this chapter the ſtory of 60 yeeres & vpwards. The parts of this chap. are three. The firſt is, the hiſtorie of the conception & bearing in womb, in 4. verſes. The ſecond, an hiſtory of the birth from the 5. verſe vnto the 12. The third is, of the woman that had brought foorth, vnto the end of the chap. And theſe ſeuerall parts haue euery one their conflicts. Therefore in that firſt part are two things contained, one, the conception & bearing in womb, in two verſes: and another of the lying in wait of the Dragon againſt that ſhould be brought forth, in the next 2 verſes. In the firſt point are theſe things, the deſcriptiõ of the mother, verſe 1. and the dolors of childbirth, verſe 2 all ſhewed vnto Iohn from heauen.

[2] A type of the true and holy Church, which then was in the nation of the Iewes. This Church (as is the ſtate of the holy Church Catholike) did in it ſelfe ſhine about with glory giuen of God, trod vnder feet mutability and changeableneſſe, and poſſeſſed the kingdome of heauen as the heire thereof.

[3] For this is that barren woman that brought not forth, of which Eſa. 45,1, and Gal 4,27 ſhee cried out for good cauſe, and was tormented at that time, when in the iudgement of all ſhe ſeemed neere vnto death, and in meanes ready to giue vp the ghoſt by reaſon of her weakeneſſe and pouerty.

[4] That is the deuill or Satan (as is declared verſe 9,) mighty, angry, and full of wrath.

[5] Thereby to withſtand thoſe ſeuen Churches ſpoken of, that is the Catholike Church, and that with kingly furniture and tyrannicall magnificence: ſignified by the crowns ſet vpon his heads. & if the ſame with our controuerſie belonged vnto him by the proper right: as alſo hee boaſted vnto Chriſt, Matth 4,9. See after, vpon chap. 13,1.

[6] More then are the hornes of the Lambe, or then the Churches are: ſo well furniſhed doth the tyrant brag himſelfe to be, vnto all maner of miſchiefe.

[7] After the deſcription of Satan followeth this action, that is, his battell offered vnto yͤ Church partly to that which is viſible wherein the wheat is mingled with the chaffe, & the good fiſh with that which is euill: a good part thereof, though in appearance it ſhined as the Starres ſhine in heauen, he is ſaid to thruſt down out of heauen & to peruert: for if it were poſſible he would peruert euen the elect, Matth. 24,24 and partly to the elect members of the holy Catholike Church in the ſecond part of this verſe. Many therefore of the members of this viſible Church (ſaith S Iohn) he ouerthrow and triumphed vpon them.

[8] He withſtood that elect Church of the Iewes which was now ready to bring foorth the Chriſtian Church, and watched for that ſhe ſhould bring foorth. For the whole Church, and whole body is compared vnto a woman: and a part of the Church vnto that which is brought foorth as wee haue noted at large vpon Cant 7.6.

[9] Chriſt miſticall (as they call him) that is the whole Church, conſiſting of the perſon of Chriſt as the head, and of the body vnited thereunto by the Spirit, ſo is the name of Chriſt taken, 1. Cor 12,12.

[10] The 2 hiſtory of the Church deliuered of child: in which firſt the conſideration of the child borne, and of the Mother is deſcribed in 2 verſes: ſecondly the battell of the Dragon againſt the yong child, and the victory obtained againſt him 3 verſes following: laſt of all is ſung a ſong of victory, vnto the 12 verſe. Now S Iohn in conſideration of the child borne, noteth two things: for he deſcribeth him, and his ſtation or place in this verſe.

[11] That is, Chriſt the head of the Church (the beginning, root and foundation whereof is the ſame Chriſt) endowed with kingly power, and taken vp into heauen out of the iawes of Satan (who as a ſerpent did bite him vpon the croſſe) that ſitting vpon the celeſtial throne he might raigne ouer all.

[12] The Church of Chriſt which was of the Iewes, after his aſſumption into heauen, hid it ſelfe in the world as in a wildernes, truſting in the only defence of God, as witneſſeth S. Luke in the Acts of the Apoſtles.

[13] Namely the Apoſtles, and ſeruants of God ordained to feed with the word of life, the Church collected both of the Iewes and Gentiles, vnles that any man will take the word alerent impersonally after the vſe of the Hebrewes inſteed, of aleretur, but I like the firſt better. For hee hath reſpect vnto thoſe two Prophets of whom chap. 11,3. as for the meaning of the 1260. dayes, looke the ſame place.

hundreth and threeſcore dayes.

7 And there was a battell in heauen, [14] Michael and his Angels, fought againſt the dragon, and the dragon fought and his angels.

8 [15] But they preuailed not, neither was their a place found any more in heauen.

9 And the great dragon that olde ſerpent, called the deuill and Satan, was caſt out, which deceiueth all the world: hee was euen caſt into the earth, and his angels were caſt out with him.

10 Then I heard a loude voyce in heauen, ſaying, [16] Now is ſaluation, and ſtrength, and the kingdome of our God, and the power of his Chriſt: for the accuſer of our brethren is caſt downe, which accuſed them before our God day and night.

11 But they ouercame him by that blood of that Lambe, and by that worde of their teſtimonie, and they [b] loued not their liues vnto the death.

12 Therefore reioyce, ye heauens, and ye that dwell in them. Woe to the inhabitants of the earth, and of the ſea: for the deuill is come downe vnto you, which hath great wrath, knowing that he hath but a ſhort time.

13 And when [17] the dragon ſaw that he was caſt vnto the earth, hee perſecuted the woman which had brought foorth the man child.

14 [18] But to the woman were giuen two wings of a great Eagle, that ſhee might flie into the wildernes, into her [c] place where ſhe is nouriſhed for a [19] time, and times, and halfe a time, from the preſence of the ſerpent.

15 [20] And the ſerpent caſt out of his mouth water after the woman, like a flood, that hee might cauſe her to bee caried away of the flood.

16 [21] But the earth holpe the woman, and the earth opened her mouth, and ſwallowed vp the flood, which the dragon had caſt out of his mouth.

14 Chriſt is the Prince of Angels, and head of the Church, who beareth that yron rod verſe the fift. See the notes vpon Daniel, Chap.12.1. In this verſe a deſcription of the battell and of the victoty in the two verſes following. The Pſalmiſt had reſpect vnto this battell, Pſal.68,9. and Paul Epheſians 4, 1. and Coloſſians 2,15. 15 The deſcription of the victory, by denying of the thing in this verſe, and by affirming the contrary in the next verſe. As that Satan gained nothing in heauen but was by the power of God thrown downe into the world, whereof he is the prince, Chriſt himſelfe and his elected members ſtanding ſtill by the throne of God. a They were caſt out, ſo that they were neuer ſeene any more in heauen. 16 The ſong of victory or triumph containing firſt, a propoſition of the glory of God and of Chriſt ſhewed in that victory: ſecondly, it conteineth a reaſon of the ſame propoſition taken from the effects, as that the enemie is ouercome in battell in this verſe, and that the godly are made conquerours (and more then conquerours Rom. 8,37.) verſe 11. Thirdly, a concluſion wherein is an exhortation vnto the Angels, and the Saints, and unto the world, a prophecie of great miſerie, and of deſtruction procured by the deuill againſt mankind, leaſt himſelfe ſhould ſhortly be miſerable alone, verſe 11. b He is ſaid in the Hebrew tongue, to loue his life that eſteemeth nothing more precious then his life: and on the other ſide, he is ſaid not to loue his life, who doubteth not to hazard it, whereſoeuer neede requireth. 17 The third part: an hiſtory of the woman deliuered, conſiſting of two members, the ſecond battell of Satan againſt the Chriſtian Church of the Iewiſh nation, in foure verſes: and the battell intended againſt the ſeed thereof, that is, againſt the Church of the Gentiles, which is called holy, by reaſon of the Goſpel of Chriſt in the two laſt verſes. 18 That is, being ſtrengthened with diuine power: and taught by oracle, ſhe fled ſwiftly from the aſſault of the deuill, and from the common deſtruction of Ieruſalem, and went into a ſolitary Citie beyond Iorden called Pella, as Euſebius telleth in the fift Chapter of the third booke of his Eccleſiaſticall hiſtorie, which place God had commanded her by Reuelation. c Into that place were God had appointed her. 19 That is, for three yeeres and a halfe: ſo the ſame ſpeech is taken, Dan.7,15. This ſpace of time is reckoned in maner from that laſt and moſt grieuous rebellion of the Iewes, vnto the deſtruction of the citie and Temple, for their deſtruction or falling away, began in the twelfe yeere of Nero, before the beginning whereof, many foreſignes and predictious were ſhewed from heauen, as Ioſephus writteth, lib. 7. chap. 12. and Hegeſippus lib. 5. cap. 44. amongſt which this is very memorable, that in the feaſt of Pentecoſt, not only a great ſound and noiſe was heard in the Temple, but alſo a great voyce was heard of many out of the Sanctuary which cried out unto all, Let us depart hence. Now three yeeres and a halfe after this defection was begun of yͤ Iewes, and thoſe wonders happened, the Citie was taken by force, the Temple ouerthrowen, and the place forſaken of God: and this compaſſe of time Saint Iohn noted in this place. 20 That is, he enflamed the Romanes and nations, that they perſecuting the Iewiſh people with cruell armes might by the ſame occaſion inuade the Church of Chriſt, now departed from Ieruſalem and out of Iudea. For it is an uſuall thing in Scripture that the raging tumults of the nations, ſhould be compared unto waters. 21 That is, there was offered in their place other Iewes, unto the Romanes and nations raging againſt that people: and it came to paſſe thereby that the Church of God was ſaued whole from that violence, that moſt raging flood of perſecution which the Dragon vomited out being altogether ſpent in the deſtruction of thoſe other Iewes.

17 [22] Then the dragon was wroth with the woman, and went and made warre with the remnant of her ſeede, which keepe the commandements of God, and haue the teſtimonie of Ieſus Chriſt.

18 [23] And I ſtood on the ſea ſand.

22 Being ſet on fire by this meanes, he began to be more madde, and becauſe hee perceiued that his purpoſe againſt the Chriſtian Church of the Iewiſh remnant was come to nought, hee reſolued to fall vpon her ſeed, that is, the Church gathered alſo by God of the Gentiles, and the holy members of the ſame. And this is that other branch, as I ſaid vpon the 13 verſ. in which the purpoſe of Satan is ſhewed, verſe 17. and his attempt verſe 18. 23 That is, a moſt mighty tempeſt, that he ruſhed vpon the whole world (whoſe prince hee is) to raiſe the floods and prouoke the nations, that they might with their furious bellowes toſſe up and downe, driue here and there, and finally deſtroy the Church of Chriſt with the holy members of the ſame. But the prouidence of God reſiſted his attempt, that he might fauour the Church of the Gentiles, yet tender and as it were greene. The reſt of the ſtory of the Dragon is excellently proſecuted by the Apoſtle S. Iohn hereafter in the twentieth chapter. For heere the Dragon endeuouring to doe miſchiefe, was by God caſt into priſon.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The beaſt with many heads is deſcribed 12 which draweth the moſt part of the world to idolatrie. 13 The other beaſt riſing out of the earth, 15 giueth power vnto him.

AND I [1] ſaw a beaſt riſe [a] out of the ſea, hauing ſeuen heads, and [3] ten hornes, and vpon his hornes were ten crownes, and [4] vpon his head [5] the name of blaſphemie.

2 And the beaſt which I ſaw was

1 The Apoſtle hauing declared the ſpringing vp of the Chriſtian Church and the ſtate of the Church from which ours taketh her beginning, doeth now paſſe vnto the ſtory of the progreſſe thereof, as I ſhewed in the entrance of the former Chapter. And this hiſtorie of the progreſſe of the Church, and the battels thereof, is ſet downe in this Chapter, but diſtinctly in two parts, one is of the ciuill Roman Empire, vnto the tenth verſe. Another of the body Eccleſiaſticall or propheticall, thence vnto the ende of the chapter. In the former part are ſhewed theſe things: Firſt the ſtate of that Empire, in foure verſes: then the actes thereof in three verſes: after the effect, which is exceeding great glory, verſe 8. And laſt of all is commended the vſe: and the inſtruction of the godly againſt the euils that ſhall come from the ſame, verſe 9, 10. The hiſtorie of the ſtate containeth a moſt ample deſcription of the beaſt, firſt entire, verſe 1, 2. and then reſtored after hurt, verſe 3, 4. a On the ſand whereof ſtood the deuill practiſing new tempeſts againſt the Church, in the verſe next before going: what time the Empire of Rome was endangered by domeſticall diſſentions, and was mightily tolled, hauing euer and anone new heads, and new Emperours. See in the ſeuenteenth chapter and the eight verſe. 3 Hauing the ſame inſtruments of power, prouidence, and moſt expert gouernment which the Dragon is ſaid to haue had in the 12 chapter and in the verſe 3. 4 We read in the twelfth chapter & third verſe, that the Dragon had ſeuen crownes ſet vpon ſeuen heads: becauſe the theefe auoucheth himſelfe to be proper Lord and Prince of the world: but this beaſt is ſaid to haue ten crowns ſet vpon ſeuerall, not heads, but hornes: becauſe the beaſt is beholden for all vnto the Dragon, verſe 2. and doth not otherwiſe raigne them by law of ſubiection giuen by him, namely that he employ his hornes againſt the Church of God. The ſpeech is taken from the ancient cuſtome and forme of dealing in ſuch caſe: by which they that were abſolute kings did weare the diademe vpon their heads: but their vaſſals and ſuch as raigned by grace from them, wore the ſame vpon their hoods: for ſo they might commodiouſly lay downe their diademes when they came into the preſence of their Soueraignes: as alſo their Elders are ſaid, when they adored God which ſate vpon the throne, to haue caſt downe their crownes before him, chap 4 verſe 10. 4 Contrary to that which God of old commanded ſhould be written in yͤ head peece of the hie Prieſt, that is, Sanctitas Iehoua, Holineſſe vnto the Lord. The name of blaſphemie impoſed by the Dragon, is (as I thinke) that which S Paul ſayeth in the 2 chapter of his 2. Epiſtle to the Theſſalonians, the 4. verſe. He ſitteth as God, and boaſteth himſelfe to be God. For this name of blaſphemie both the Romane Emperors did then challenge vnto themſelues, as Suetonius and Dion doe report of Caligula and Domitian: and after them the Popes of Rome did with ful mouth profeſſe the ſame of themſelues, when they chalenged vnto themſelues ſoueraignitie in holie things: of which kind of ſayings the ſixt booke of the Decretals, the Clementines and the Extrauagants, are very full. For theſe men were not content with that which Anglicus wrote in his Poetria (the beginning whereof is, Papa ſtupor mundi. The Pope is the wonder of the world. Nec Deus es, nec homo, ſed neuter es inter vtrumque. Thou art not God, ne art thou man, but neuter mixt of both: as the gloſſe witneſſeth vpon the ſixt booke: but they were bold to take vnto themſelues the very name of God, and to accept it giuen of other: according as almoſt an hundred and twentie yeere ſince, there was made for Sixtus the fourth, when he ſhould firſt enter into Rome in his dignitie Papal, a Pageant of triumph, and cunningly fixed vpon the gate of the citie he ſhould enter at, hauing written vpon it this blaſphemous verſe,

Oraclo vocis mundi moderaris habenas,
Et merito in terris crederis eſſe deus.

By oracle of thine owne voice the world thou gouernſt all,
And worthily a god on earth, men thinke, and doe thee call.

Theſe and ſixe hundred the like who can impute vnto that modeſtie whereby good men of old would haue themſelues called the ſeruants of the ſeruants of God, verilie either this is a name of blaſphemie, or there is none at all.

[6] like a leopard, and his feete like a beare, and his mouth as the mouth of a Lyon: [7] and the dragon gaue him his power and his throne, and great authoritie.

3 [8] And I ſaw one of his heads as it were wounded to death, but his deadly wound was healed, and all the world wondered and followed the beaſt.

4 And they worſhipped the dragon which gaue power vnto the beaſt, and they worſhipped the beaſt, ſaying, Who is like vnto the beaſt! who is able to warre with him!

5 [9] And there was giuen vnto him a mouth, that ſpake great things & blaſphemies, and power was giuen vnto him, [10] to doe two and fourtie moneths.

6 And hee opened his mouth vnto blaſphemie againſt God, to blaſpheme his Name, [11] and his tabernacle, [12] and them that dwell in heauen.

7 And it was giuen vnto him to make warre with the Saints, and to ouercome them, and power was giuen him ouer euery kinred, and tongue, and nation.

8 Therefore all that dwell vpon the earth, ſhall worſhip him, [13] whoſe names are not written in the booke of life of that Lambe, which was ſlaine from the beginning of the world.

9 [14] If any man haue an eare let him heare.

10 If any leade into captiuity, hee ſhall goe into captiuitie: * if any kill with a ſword, he muſt be killed by a ſword: here is the patience and the faith of the Saints.

11 [15] And I behelde, another beaſt comming out of the earth, [16] which had two hornes like the Lambe, but he ſpake like the dragon.

12 [17] And he did all that the firſt beaſt could doe before him, and he cauſed the earth and them which dwell therein, [18] to worſhip the firſt beaſt whoſe deadly wound was healed.

13 [19] And hee did great wonders, ſo that hee made fire to come downe from heauen on the earth, in the ſight of men.

14 And deceiued them that dwell on the earth by the ſignes which were permitted to him to doe in the ſight of the beaſt, ſaying to them that dwell on the earth, that they ſhould make the [20] image of the [21] beaſt, which had the wound of a ſword, and did liue.

15 [22] And it was permitted to him to giue a ſpirit vnto the image of the beaſt, ſo that the 5 Swift as the Leopard, eaſily claſping all things, as the beare doth with his foote, and tearing and deuouring all things with the mouth as doth the Lion, That is, hee left the ſame vnto the beaſt to vſe, when he perceiued that himſelfe could not eſcape, but muſt needes be taken by the hand of the Angel, and caſt into the bottomleſſe pit Chapter 20. yet did not he abandon the ſame vtterly from himſelfe, but that hee might vſe it as long as he could. 8 This is the other place that pertaineth to the deſcription of the beaſt of Rome: that beſides that naturall dignitie and amplitude of the Roman Empire, which was ſhadowed in the two former verſes, there was added this alſo as miraculous, that one head was wounded as it were vnto death, and was healed againe, as from heauen, in the ſight of all men. This head was Nero the Emperour, in whome the race of the Ceſars fell from the imperiall dignitie, and the gouernement of the Common weale was tranſlated vnto others: in whoſe handes the Empire was ſo cured and recouered vnto health, as he ſeemed vnto all ſo much the more deepely rooted and grounded faſt, then euer before. And hence followed thoſe effects, which are next ſpoken of: Firſt an admiration of certaine power, as it were ſacred and diuine ſuſtaining the Empire and gouerning it: Secondly the obedience and ſubmiſſion of the whole earth in this verſe: Thirdly, the adoration of the Dragon, & moſt wicked worſhipping of Deuils, confirmed by the Romane Emperours: Laſtly, the adoration of the beaſt himſelfe, which grew into ſo great eſtimation, as that both the name and worſhip of a God was giuen vnto him verſe the fourth. Now there were two cauſes which brought in the mindes of men this religion: the ſhew of excellentie, which bringeth with it reuerence: and the ſhew of power inuincible, which bringeth feare. Who is like (ſay they) vnto the beaſt? Who ſhall be able to fight with him? 9 The ſecond member containing an hiſtorie of the actes of the beaſt, as I ſaid verſe 1. The hiſtorie of them is concluded in two points, the beginning and the maner of them. The beginning is the gift of the Dragon, who put and inſpired into the beaſt both his impiety againſt God and his immanitie and iniuſtice againſt all men, eſpecially againſt the godly and thoſe that were of the houſhold of faith, verſe the fift. The maner of the actes or actions done, is of two ſortes, both impious in minde, and blaſphemous in ſpeech againſt God, his Church and the godly, verſe ſixt, and alſo moſt cruell and iniurious in deedes, euen ſuch as were done of moſt raging enemies, & of moſt inſolent and proud conquerours verſe the ſeuenth. 10 Namely his actions and maner of dealing. As concerning thoſe two and fourtie moneths, I haue ſpoken of them before in the twelfth Chapter and ſecond verſe. 11 That is the holy Church, the true houſe of the liuing God. 12 That is, the godly in ſeuerall who hid themſelues from his crueltie. For this bloody beaſt ſurcharged thoſe holy ſoules moſt falſely with innumerable accuſations for the Name of Chriſt, as wee reade in Iuſtine Martyr, Tertullian, Arnobius, Minutius, Euſebius, Auguſtine, and other: which example the later times followed moſt diligently in deſtroying the flocke of Chriſt and wee in our owne memorie haue found by experience to our incredible griefe. Concerning heauen. See the eleuenth Chapter, and the twelfth verſe. 13 That is, ſuch as are not from euerlaſting elect in Chriſt Ieſus For this is that Lambe ſlaine, of which Chapter the fift verſe the ſix. Theſe wordes I doe with Aretas diſtinguiſh in this maner: Whoſe names are not written euen from the laying of the foundation of the world, in the booke of life of the Lambe ſlaine. And this diſtinction is confirmed by a like place hereafter, chap. 17.8. 14 The concluſion of this ſpeech of the firſt beaſt, conſiſting of two parts. An exhortation to attentiue audience in this verſe: and a foretelling, which partly containeth threatnings againſt the wicked, and partly comforts for thoſe which in patience and faith ſhall waite for that glorious comming of our Lord and Sauiour Chriſt, verſe the tenth. * Gene. 9.6. Matt. 26. 52.

15 The ſecond member of the viſion, concerning the eccleſiaſticall dominion, which in Rome ſucceeded that which was politicke, and is in the power of the corporation of falſe Prophets, and of the forgers of falſe doctrine. Wherefore the ſame body or corporation is called of S. Iohn by the name of falſe prophet, cap 6. ver. 13 and 19. ver. 20. The forme of this beaſt is firſt deſcribed in this verſe, then his actes, in the verſes following, and the whole ſpeech is concluded in the laſt verſe. This beaſt is by his breed a Sonne of the earth (as they ſay) obſcurely borne, and by little and little creeping vp out of his abiect eſtate. 16 That is, in ſhew hee ſembled the Lambe (for what is more mild or more humble then to be the ſeruant of the ſeruants of God) but in deede hee played the part of the Dragon, and of the Wolfe, Matth. 7.15. For euen Satan changeth himſelfe into an Angel of light, 2. Corinth. 11. 14. and what ſhould his honeſt diſciples and ſeruants doe? 17 The hiſtorie of the actes of this beaſt, containeth in ſumme three things, hypocryſie, the witneſſe of miracles, and tyrannie: of which the firſt is noted in this verſe, the ſecond in the 3 verſes following: the third in the ſixteenth and ſeuenteenth verſes. His hypocriſie is moſt full of leaſing, whereby he abuſeth both the former beaſt & the whole world: in that albeit he hath by his cunning, as it were by lime made of the former beaſt a moſt miſerable σκέλετον or anatomie, vſurped all his authoritie vnto himſelfe and moſt impudently exerciſeth the ſame in the ſight and viewe of him: yet hee carrieth himſelfe ſo, as if hee honoured him with moſt high honour, and did in very trueth cauſe him to bee honoured of all men. 18 For vnto this beaſt of Rome, which of ciuill Empire is made an Eccleſiaſticall hierarchie, are giuen diuine honours, and diuine authoritie ſo farre as hee is beleeued to be aboue the Scriptures, which the gloſſe vpon the Decretals declareth by this diuiliſh verſe, Articulos ſoluit, ſynodumque facit generalem.

That is,

He changeth the Articles of faith, and giueth authoritie to generall Councels.

Which is ſpoken of the Papall power. So the beaſt is by birth, foundation, ſeate, and finally ſubſtance, one: onely the Pope hath altered the forme and maner thereof being himſelfe the head both of that tyrannicall Empire, and alſo of the falſe Prophets, for the Empire hath he taken vnto himſelfe, and thereunto hath added this cunning deuiſe. Now theſe words, whoſe deadly wound was cured are put here for diſtinctions ſake, as alſo ſometimes afterwards: that euen at that time the godly readers of this prophecie might by this ſigne be brought to ſee the things as preſent: as if it were ſaid, that they might adore this very Empire that now is, whoſe head we haue ſeene in our owne memory to haue bene cut off, and to bee cured againe. 19. The ſecond point of the things done by the beaſt, is the credite of great wonders or miracles, appertaining to the ſtrength of this impiety: of which ſignes ſome were giuen from aboue, as it is ſaid, that fire was ſent downe from heauen by falſe ſorcerie, in this verſe. Others were ſhewed here below in the ſight of the beaſt to eſtabliſh idolatrie, and deceiue ſoules, which part S. Iohn ſetteth forth beginning (as they ſay) at that which is laſt, in this maner: Firſt the effect is declared in theſe words, He deceiueth the inhabitants of the earth, Secondly the commō maner of working in two ſorts, one of miracles. For the ſignes that were giuen him to doe in the preſence of the beaſts: the othee of the words added to the ſignes, and teaching the idolatrie confirmed by thoſe ſignes, Saying vnto the inhabitants of the earth, that they ſhould make an image vnto the beaſts which &c. Thirdly, a ſpeciall maner is declared: That is giuen vnto him to put life into the image of the beaſt: and that ſuch a kind of quickening, that the ſame both ſpeaketh by anſwer vnto thoſe that aſke counſell of it, and alſo pronounceth death againſt all thoſe that doe not obey nor worſhip it: all which things oftentimes by falſe miracles through the procurement and inſpiration of the Deuil, haue bin effected & wrought in images The hiſtories of the Papiſts are full of examples of ſuch miracles, the moſt of them fained, many alſo done by the deuill in images: as of old in the ſerpent Gen. 3.1 By which examples is confirmed, not the authoritie of the beaſt, but the trueth of God, and of theſe prophecies 20 That is, images by enallage or change of the number: for the worſhip of them euer ſince the ſecond Councill of Nice, hath bene ordained in the Church by publike credite, & authoritie contrary vnto the Law of God 21 In the Greeke the word is of the Datiue caſe, as much to ſay, as vnto the worſhip, honour and obeying of the beaſt: for by this maintenance of images this Pſeudopropheticall beaſt doth mightily profite the beaſt of Rome, of whom long agoe hee receiued them. Wherefore the ſame is hereafter very fitly called the image of the beaſt, for that images haue their beginning from the beaſt, and haue their forme or maner from the will of the beaſt, and haue their end and vſe fixed in the profit and commoditie of the beaſt: 22 And of this miracle of the images of the beaſt (that is, which the beaſt hath ordained to eſtabliſh idolatry) which miraculouſly ſpeake and giue iudgement, or rather marueilouſly, by the fraud of the falſe prophets, the Papiſts books are full fraughted. a To giue life as Iannes and Iambres imitated the wonders that Moſes wrought.

image of the beaſt ſhould ſpeake, and ſhould cauſe that as many as would not worſhip the image of the beaſt ſhould be killed.

16 [23] And he made all, both ſmall and great, rich and poore, free and bond, to receiue [24] a [b] marke in their right hande or in their foreheads.

17 And that no man might [25] buy or ſell, ſaue he that had the [26] marke or the name of the beaſt, or the number of his name.

18 [27] Here is wiſdome. Let him that hath wit, count the number of the beaſt: for it is the [28] number of a man, and his number is ſixe hundreth threeſcore and ſixe.

23 The third place, is a moſt wicked and moſt inſolent tyranny as was ſayd before, vſurped ouer the perſons of men in this verſe and ouer their goods and actions, in the next verſe For he is ſaid, both to bring vpon all perſons a tyrannous ſeruitude, that as bondſlaues they might ſerue the beaſt: and alſo to exerciſe ouer all their goods and actions a pedler like abuſe of indulgences and diſpenſations (as they terme them) amongſt their friends, and againſt other to vſe moſt violent interdictions, and to ſhoot out curſings, euen in naturall and ciuill, priuate and publike contracts, wherein all good faith ought to haue place. 24 That is, their Chriſme, by which in the Sacrament (as they call it) of Confirmation, they make ſeruile vnto themſelues, the perſons and doings of men, ſigning them in their forehead and hands: and as for the ſigne left by Chriſt (of which Chapter 7.3.) and the holy Sacrament of Baptiſme they make as voyd. For whom Chriſt hath ioyned vnto himſelfe by Baptiſme, this beaſt maketh challenge vnto them by her greaſie Chriſme, which hee doubteth not to preferre before Baptiſme, both in authoritie and in efficacie. b The marke of the name of the beaſt. 25 That is, haue any traſfique or entercourſe with men, but they onely which haue this annointing and conſecration of Clearkely tonſure, as they call it. Read Gratian de Conſecratione, diſtinct. 5. c. omnes, cap. Spiritus, &c of the matters. 26 Here the falſe Prophets doe require three things, which are ſet downe in the order of their greatneſſe, a character a name and the number of the name. The meaning is, that man that hath not firſt their annoynting and clericall tonſure or ſhauing: ſecondly holy orders, by reſeruing whereof is communicated the ſame of the beaſt: or finally hath not attained that high degree of Pontificall knowledge, and of the Law, (as they call it) Canonicall, and hath not as it were made vp in account and caſt the number of the myſteries thereof: for in theſe things conſiſteth the number of that name of the beaſt. And this is excellently ſet forth in the next verſe. 27 That is in this number of the beaſt conſiſteth that Popiſh wiſedome, which vnto them ſeemeth the greateſt of all others. In theſe words S. Iohn expoundeth that ſaying which went before of the number of the beaſt, what it hath aboue his marke or accogniſance and his name. Theſe things, ſayth S. Iohn, the marke and name of the beaſt, doe eaſily happen vnto any man: but to haue the number of the beaſt, is wiſedome: that is, onely the wiſe and ſuch as haue vnderſtanding, can come by that number for they muſt be moſt illuminate doctours that attaine thereunto, as the wordes following doe declare. 28 How great and of what denomination this number of the beaſt is, by the which the beaſt accounted his wiſedome, S. Iohn declareth theſe wordes. Doeſt thou demaund how great it is? it is ſo great, that it occupieth the whole man: he is alway learning, and neuer commeth to the knowledge thereof: he muſt be a man indeed that doeth attaine vnto it. Askeſt thou of what denomination it is? verily it ſtandeth of ſixe throughout, & perfectly ariſeth of all the parts thereof in their ſeuerall denominations (as they terme them) it ſtandeth of ſixe by vnities, tennes, hundreds, &c. ſo as there is no one part in the learning & order Pōtifical, which is not either referred vnto the head, and as it were the top thereof, or conteined in the ſame: ſo fitly doe all things in this hierarchie agree one with another, and with their head. Therefore that cruell beaſt Boniface the eight doeth commend by the number of ſixe thoſe Decretals which hee perfected, in the proeme of the ſixt booke. Which booke (ſayeth hee) being to be added vnto fiue other bookes of the ſame volume of Decretals, wee thought good to name Sextum the ſixt: that the ſame volume by addition thereof conteining a ſenarie, or the number of ſixe bookes (which is a number perfect) may yeeld a perfect forme of managing all things, and perfect diſcipline of behauiour. Here therefore is the number of the beaſt, who powreth from himſelfe all his parts & bringeth them all backe againe vnto himſelfe by his diſcipline in moſt wiſe and cunning maner. If any man deſire more of this, let him reade the gloſſe vpon that place. I am not ignorant that other interpretations are brought vpon this place: but I thought it my duety, with the good fauour of all & without the offence of any, to propound mine opinion in this point. And for this cauſe eſpecially, for that it ſeemed vnto mee neither profitable, nor like to be true, that the number of the beaſt, or of the name of the beaſt ſhould be taken as the common ſort of interpreters doe take it For this number of the beaſt teacheth, giueth out, impriueth, as a publike marke of ſuch as be his, and eſteemeth that marke aboue all others as the marke of thoſe whom hee loueth beſt. Now thoſe other expoſitions ſeeme rather to be farre remoued from his propertie and condition of that number: whether you reſpect the name Latinus or Titan, or another. For theſe the beaſt doeth not teach, nor giue foorth nor imprint, but moſt diligently forbiddeth to be taught, and audaciouſly denieth: hee approueth not theſe, but reproueth them: and hateth them that thinke ſo of this number, with an hatred, greater then that of Vatinius.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The Lambe ſtandeth on mount Sion: 4 with his chaſte worſhippers 6 One Angel preacheth the Goſpel 8 Another foretelleth the fall of Babylon: 9 the third warneth that the beaſt be auoyded. 13 A voyce from heauen pronounceth them happy who die in the Lord. 15 The Lords ſickle thruſt into the harueſt, 18 and into the vintage.

THen I looked, and loe, a Lambe [1] ſtood on mount Sion, and with him [2] an hundreth fourtie and foure thouſand, hauing his Fathers [3] Name written in their foreheads.

2 And I heard a voyce from heauen as the ſound of many waters, and as the ſound of a great thunder: and I heard the voyce of harpers, harping with their harpes.

3 And they ſung as it were a new ſong before the throne, and before the foure beaſts, and the Elders: and no man could learne that ſong, but the hundreth, fourtie and foure thouſand, which were bought from the earth.

4 Theſe are they which are not defiled with women: for they are virgins: theſe follow the Lambe whitherſoeuer he goeth: theſe are bought frō men, being the firſt fruits vnto God, and vnto the Lamb.

5 And in their mouthes was found no guile: for they are without ſpot before yͤ throne of God.

6 ¶ [4] Then I ſaw [5] another Angel fly in yͤ mids of heauen, hauing an euerlaſting Goſpel to preach vnto them that dwell on the earth, and to euery nation and kinred, and tongue, and people,

7 [6] * Saying with a loude voyce, Feare God, and giue glory to him: for the houre of his iudgement is come: and worſhip him that made * heauen and earth, and the ſea and the fountaines of waters.

8 And there followed another Angel, ſaying, * Babylon that great citie is fallen, it is fallen: for ſhe made all nations to drinke of the wine of the [a] wrath of her fornication.

9 ¶ And the third Angel followed them, ſaying with a loud voyce, [7] If any man worſhip the

1 The hiſtory of the Church of Chriſt being finiſhed for more then a thouſand and three hundreth yeeres, at which time Boniface the eight liued as before hath bene ſaid, there remaineth the reſt of the hiſtorie of the conflicting or militant Church, from thence vnto the time of the laſt victorie in three chapters. For firſt of all, as the foundation of the whole hiſtory, is deſcribed the ſtanding of the lambe with his armie and retinue in fiue verſes, after his worthy acts which he hath done, and yet doth in moſt mightie maner, whileſt hee ouerthroweth Antichriſt which the ſpirit of his mouth, in the reſt of this chapter, and in the two following. Vnto the deſcription of the Lambe, are propounded three things his ſituation, place & attendance: for the reſt are expounded in the former viſions, eſpecially vpon the fiſt chapter. 2 As ready girt to doe his office (as Acts 7.56.) in the midſt of the Church which a fore time mount Sion did prefigure. 3 As before 7.2. This retinue of the Lambe is deſcribed firſt by diuine marke (as before 7.2.) in this verſe. Then by diuine occupation, in that all and euery one in his retinue moſt vehemently and ſweetly. (verſe 2.) doe glorifie the Lambe with a ſpecial ſong before God and his elect Angels. Which ſong fleſh and blood cannot heare, nor vnderſtand, verſe 3. Laſtly by their deeds done before, and their ſanctification in that they were virgins, pure from ſpirituall and bodily fornication that is, from impiety and vnrighteouſnes, that they followed the Lambe as a guide vnto all goodnes, & cleaued vnto him that they are holy vnto him as of grace redeemed by him: that in truth & in ſimplicity of Chriſt, they haue exerciſed all theſe things, ſanctimony of life, the direction of the Lambe, a thankefull remembrance of the redemption by him: finally (to conclude in a word) that they are blameles before the Lord, verſe 4.5. 4 The other part (as I ſaid on the firſt verſe) is of the acts of the Lambe, the maner whereof is deliuered in two ſorts, of his ſpeech, and of his facts. His ſpeeches are ſet foorth vnto the 13. verſe of this chapter, and his facts vnto the 16. chapter. In the ſpeech of the Lambe, which is the word of the Goſpel, are taught in this place, theſe things: The ſeruice of the godly conſiſting inwardly of reuerence towardes God, and outwardly of the glorifying of him: the viſible ſigne of which is adoration, verſe 7. The ouerthrowing of wicked Babylon, verſe 8. and the fall of euery one of the vngodly which worſhip the beaſt, verſe 9, 10, 11. Finally, the ſtate of the holy ſeruants of God both preſent verſe 11. and to come, moſt bleſſed, according to the promiſe of God verſe 15. 5 This Angel is a type or figure of the good and faithfull ſeruants of God, whom God eſpecially from that time of Boniface the eight, hath raiſed vp to the publiſhing of the Goſpel of Chriſt, both by preaching and by writing. So God firſt, neere vnto the time of the ſame Boniface, vſed Peter Caſſidorus an Italian after, Arnold de villa noua a Frenchman, then Ockan Dante, Petrach, after that Iohannes de rupe caſa, a Franciſcane: after again. Iohn Wicklife an Engliſhman, and ſo continually one or another vnto the reſtoring of the truth and enlarging of his Church. 6 That is, Babylon is deſtroyed by the ſentence and iudgement of God: the execution whereof S Iohn deſcribed cap 18. And this voyce of the miniſters of Chriſt hath continued ſince the time that Babylon (which is Rome) hath by deliberate counſell and manifeſt malice oppugned the light of the Goſpel offered from God * Pſal. 14.5.6. * Acts 14.15. * Iſa. 21. 9. Iere. 51. 8. chap 18 2. a Other fornication, whereby God was prouoked to wrath. 7 That is, ſhall not worſhip God alone, but ſhall transferre his diuine honour vnto this beaſt, whether he doth it with his heart or counterfeiting in ſhew. For he (ſaith Chriſt) that denieth me before men, him wil I denie before my Father, and his Angels. Matt. 10 32. And this is that voyce of the holy miniſtery, which at this time is very much vſed of the holy and faithfull ſeruants of God. For hauing now ſufficiently found out the publique obſtinacy of Babylon they labour not any longer to thunder out againſt the ſame but to ſaue ſome particular members by terror (as S. Iude ſpeaketh) and to plucke them out of the publique flame, or els by a vehement commiſeration of their eſtate to lead them away, they ſet before them eternall death, into which they ruſh vnwares, vnleſſe in good time they returne vnto God, but the godly which are of their owne flocke, they exhort vnto patience obedience, and faith in the Lord Ieſus, and charge them to giue light by their good example, of good life vnto others.

beaſt and his image, and receiue his marke in his forehead, or on his hand.

10 The ſame ſhall drinke of the wine of the wrath of God, yea, of the pure wine, which is powred into the cup of his wrath, and hee ſhall be tormented in fire and brimſtone before the holy Angels, and before the Lambe.

11 And the ſmoke of their torment ſhall aſcend euermore: and they ſhall haue no reſt day nor night, which worſhip the beaſt and his name.

12 [8] Here is the patience of Saints: here are they that keepe the commandements of God, and the faith of Ieſus.

13 Then I heard a voice from heauen, ſaying vnto mee, Write, The dead which die [b] in the Lord, are fully bleſſed. Euen ſo ſaith the Spirite: for they reſt from their labours, and their [c] works follow them.

14 ¶ [9] And I locked, and behold, [10] a white cloud, and vpon the cloud one ſitting like vnto the Sonne of man, [11] hauing on his head a golden crowne, and in his hand a [12] ſharpe ſickle.

15 [13] And another Angel came out of the Temple, crying with a loud voyce to him that ſate on the cloude, * Thruſt in thy ſickle and reape, for the time is come to reape: for the * harueſt of the earth is ripe.

16 And hee that ſate on the cloude, thruſt in his ſickle on the earth, and the earth was reaped.

17 [14] Then another Angel came out of the Temple, which is in heauen, hauing alſo a ſharpe ſickle.

18 And another Angel came out from the altar, which had power ouer fire, and cryed with a loude cry to him that had the ſharpe ſickle, and ſayd, Thruſt in thy ſharpe ſickle, and gather the cluſters of the vineyarde of the earth: for her grapes are ripe.

19 And the Angel thruſt in his ſharpe ſickle on the earth, and cut downe the vines of the vineyard of the earth, and caſt them into that great winepreſſe of the wrath of God.

20 And the winepreſſe was troden without the citie, [15] and blood came out of the winepreſſe vnto the horſe bridles, by the ſpace of a thouſand and ſixe hundreth furlongs.

[8] The patience, ſanctification, and iuſtification by faith: the conſequence whereof are reſt, felicitie, and glory eternall, in the heauenly fellowſhip of God and his Angels.

[9] The ſecond part of this Chapter, as I ſayde verſe 1. Of the acts and doings of Chriſt in ouerthrowing of Antichriſt and his Church by the Spirit of his diuine mouth: ſeeing that hauing beene called back by worde both publikely and priuately vnto his duety, and admoniſhed of his moſt certaine ruine: he yet ceaſeth not to maintaine and protect his owne adherents, that they may doe him ſeruice: and to afflict the godly with moſt barbarous perſecutions. Of thoſe things which Chriſt doeth, there are two kindes: one common or generall in the reſt of this chapter, another particular againſt that ſauage and rebellious beaſt and his worſhippers in the 15 and 16. chapters. That common kinde, is the calamitie of warres ſpread abroad through the whole earth, and filling all things with blood, and that without reſpect of any perſon. This is figured or ſhadowed out in two types, of the harueſt and vintage. Since the time that the light of the Goſpell began to ſhine out, and ſince prophecie or preaching by the grace of God was raiſed vp againe, how horrible warres haue beene kindled in the world? how much humane fleſh hath beene throwen to the earth by his diuine reaping? how much blood (alas for woe) hath ouerflowen for theſe hundred yeeres almoſt? all hiſtories doe cry out, and this our age (if euer before) is now in horrour, by reaſon of the rage of the ſickle which Antichriſt calleth for. In this place is the firſt type, that is of the harueſt. [10] Declaring his fierceneſſe by his colour, like vnto that which is in the white or milke circkle of heauen. [b] That is for the Lord. [c] By workes, is meant the reward which followeth good workes. [11] As one that ſhall reigne from God, and occupie place of Chriſt in this miſerable execution. [12] That is a moſt fit and commodious inſtrument of Execution, deſtroyed all by hewing and thruſting through, for who may ſtand againſt God? * Ioel. 3, 13. * Matth. 13, 39. [13] Chriſt giueth a commandement in this verſe. And the Angel executeth in the next verſe. [14] The other type (as I ſayde verſe 14.) is the vintage: the maner whereof is one with that which went before, if thou except this, that the grape gathering is more exact in ſeeking out euery thing, then is the harueſt labour. This is therefore a more grieuous iudgement, both becauſe it ſucceedeth the other, and becauſe it is vnderſtood to be executed with great diligence. [15] That is, it ouerflowed very deepe, and very farre and wide: the ſpeach is hyperbolicall or exceſſiue, to ſignifie the greatneſſe of the ſlaughter. And theſe be thoſe pleaſant fruites forſooth, of the contempt of Chriſt, and deſiring of Antichriſt rather then him, which the miſerable, mad, and blinde world doeth at this time reape.

C H A P. XV.

1 The ſeuen Angels hauing the ſeuen laſt plagues. 3 They that conquered the beaſt praiſe God. 6 To the ſeuen Angels, 7 ſeuen vials full of Gods wrath are deliuered.

AND [1] I ſawe another ſigne in heauen, great and marueilous, ſeuen [2] Angels hauing the ſeuen laſt plagues: for by them is fulfilled the wrath of God.

2 [3] And I ſaw [4] as it were a glaſſie ſea, mingled with fire, and [5] them that had gotten victorie of the beaſt, and of his image, and of his marke, and of the number of his name, [6] ſtand at the glaſſie ſea, hauing the harpes of God,

3 And they ſung [7] the ſong of Moſes the [a] ſeruant of God, and the ſong of the Lambe, ſaying, [8] Great and marueilous are thy works, Lord God Almightie: iuſt and true are thy * [b] wayes, King of Saints.

4 * Who ſhall not feare thee, O Lord, and glorifie thy name! for thou onely art holy, and all nations ſhall come and worſhip before thee: for thy iudgements are made manifeſt.

5 [9] And after that, I locked, and behold, the Temple of the tabernacle of Teſtimony was open in heauen.

6 And the ſeuen Angels came out of the Temple, which had the [10] ſeuen plagues, cloathed in [11] pure and bright linen, and hauing their breaſts [12] girded with golden girdles.

7 And therefore [13] foure beaſts gaue vnto the ſeuen Angels ſeuen golden vials full of the wrath of God which liued for euermore.

8 And the temple was full of the ſmoke of the glory of God and of his power, and [14] no man was able to enter into the Temple, till the ſeuen plagues of the ſeuen Angels were fulfilled.

[1] This is that other place of the acts of Chriſt, as I noted before, 14. 14. Now therefore is ſhewed a ſingular worke of the iudgement of God belonging to the ouerthrow of Antichriſt and his forces of which diuine worke the preparation is deſcribed in this Chapter and the execution in the next. The preparation is firſt ſet downe generally and in type in this verſe: and is after particularly ſet foorth in the reſt of the Chapter.

[2] Of which Chap. 8, 9 in powring forth in the plagues of the world: for euen theſe plagues doe for the moſt part agree with thoſe.

[3] There are two parts of the narration: one the confeſſion of the Saints glorifying God, when they ſaw that preparation of the iudgements of God, vnto the 4. verſe: another the vocation, inſtruction, and confirmation of thoſe inſtruments which God hath ordained for the execution of his iudgements in 4. other verſes. [4] This part of the viſion alludeth vnto the ſea or large veſſel of braſſe in which the Prieſts waſhed themſelves in the entrance of the Temple: for in the entrance of the heauenly Temple (as it is called verſe 5.) is ſaid to haue bene a ſea of glaſſe, moſt lightſome and cleare, vnto the commodity of choiſe mixt with fire, that is, as containing the treaſury of the iudgements of God, which he bringeth foorth and diſpenſeth according to his owne pleaſure: for out of the former, the Prieſts were cleanſed of old and out of this the vngodly are deſtroyed now chap. 4, 6. [5] That it the Godly martyrs of Chriſt, who ſhall not giue place euen in miracles vnto that beaſt of theſe ſee before Chap. 13, 17, and 14, 9, 10. [6] Glorified God, from the particular obſeruation of the weapons and inſtruments of Gods wrath, flooting in the ſea of glaſſe [7] That ſong of triumph which is Exo. 15, 2. [a] So is Moſes called for honours ſake, as it is ſet forth, Deut. 34, 10. [8] This ſong hath two parts, one a confeſſion, but particular in this verſe, and generall, in the beginning of the next verſe: another, a narration of cauſes belonging to the confeſſion, whereof one kind is eternall in it ſelfe, and moſt preſent vnto the godly in that God is both holy, and alone God, another kind is future and to come in that the elect taken out of the Gentiles (that is, out of the wicked ones and vnbeleeuing: as Chap. 11, 2.) were to be brought vnto the ſame ſtate of happineſſe by the magnificentie of the iudgement of God, in the next verſe. * Pſal. 145. 17. [b] Thy doings. * Ier. 10, 7. [9] The ſecond part of the narration (as was not verſe 2.) wherein firſt the authoritie of the whole argument & matter thereof is figured by a forerunning type of a temple opened in heauen, as Chap. 11, 19. namely that all thoſe things are diuine and of God, that procede from thence, in this verſe. Secondly, the adminiſters or executers, come forth out of the Temple, verſe 6. Thirdly, they are furniſhed with inſtruments of the iudgements of God, and weapons fit for the manner of the ſame iudgements, verſe 7. Finally they are confirmed by teſtimony of the viſible glory of God, in the laſt verſe. A like teſtimony whereunto was exhibited of old in the Law, Exod. 40, 34. [10] That is, commandements to inflict thoſe ſeuen plagues. Here is the figure called Metonymia. [11] Which was in old time a ſigne of the kingly or princely dignity. [12] That is, girding was a ſigne of diligence, and the girdle of gold was a ſigne of ſincerity and truſtines in taking in charge the commandements of God. [13] Of theſe before, Chap. 4, 7. [14] None of thoſe ſeuen Angels might returne, till he had performed fully the charge committed vnto him according to the decree of God.

C H A P. XVI.

2 And 17 the Angels powre out the ſeuen vials of Gods wrath giuen vnto them, and ſo diuers plagues ariſe in the world. 18 to terrifie the wicked, 19 and the inhabitants of the great citie.

AND [1] I heard a great voyce out of the Temple, ſaying to the ſeuen Angels, Goe your wayes, and powre out the ſeuen vials of the wrath of God vpon the earth.

2 [2] And the firſt went and powred out his viall vpon the earth: and there fell a noyſome & a grieuous ſore vpon yͤ men which had the [3] marke of the beaſt, & vpon them which worſhipped his image.

3 [4] And the ſecond Angel powred out his viall vpon the ſea, and it [a] became as the blood of a dead man: and euery liuing thing died in the ſea.

4 [5] And the third Angel powred out his viall vpon the riuers and fountains of waters, and they became blood.

5 And I heard the Angel of the waters ſay, Lord, thou art iuſt, which art, and which waſt: and Holy, becauſe thou haſt iudged theſe things.

6 For they ſhed the blood of the Saints, and Prophets, & therfore haſt thou giuen them blood to drinke: for they are worthy.

7 [6] And I heard another out of the Sanctuary ſay, Euen ſo, Lord God almighty, true and righteous are thy iudgements.

8 [7] And the fourth Angel powred out his viall on the ſunne, and it was giuen to him to torment men with heate of fire,

9 And men boyled in great heat, and blaſphemed the Name of God, which hath power ouer theſe plagues, and they repented not to giue him glory.

10 [8] And the fifth Angel powred out his viall vpon yͤ throne of the beaſt, & the kingdom waxed darke, and they gnawed their tongues for ſorow.

11 And blaſphemed the God of heauen for their paines, and for their ſores, and repented not of their workes.

12 [9] And the ſixt Angel powred out his viall vpon the great riuer [10] Euphrates, & the [11] water thereof dryed vp, [12] that the way of the Kings of the Eaſt ſhould be prepared.

13 And I ſawe [13] three vncleane ſpirits [14] like frogs come out of the mouth of that [15] dragon, and out of the mouth of that [16] beaſt, and out of the mouth of that [17] falſe prophet.

14 For they are the ſpirits of deuils, working miracles, to goe vnto the kings of the earth, and of the whole world, to gather them to the battell of that great day of God Almightie.

15 [18] (* Behold I come as a thief. Bleſſed is he that watcheth, and keepeth his garments, leaſt he walke naked, and men ſee his filthineſſe)

16 [19] And they gathered them together into a place called in Hebrew, [20] Armagedon.

17 [21] And the ſeuenth Angel powred out his viall into the [22] aire: and there came a loud voyce out of the Temple of heauen from [23] the throne, ſaying, [24] It is done.

18 [25] And there were voyces, and thundrings, and lightnings, and there was a great earthquake, ſuch as was not ſince men were vpon the earth, euen ſo mighty an earthquake.

19 [26] And the great citie was diuided into three parts: and the cities of the nations [27] fell: and that great [28] Babylon came in remembrance before God, * to giue vnto her the cuppe of the wine of the fierceneſſe of his wrath.

20 And euery yle fled away, and the mountaines [29] were not [b] found.

21 [30] And there fell a great haile, like [c] talents out of heauen vpon the men, and men blaſphemed God, becauſe of the plague of the haile: for the plague thereof was exceeding great.

[1] In the former Chapter was ſet downe the preparation vnto the work of God: here is deliuered the execution thereof. And in this diſcourſe of the execution, is a generall commandement, in this verſe, then a particular recitall in order of the execution done by euery of the ſeuen Angels, in the reſt of the chapter. This ſpeciall execution againſt Antichriſt and his crew, doeth in maner agree vnto that which was generally done vpon the whole world, chap. 8. and 9. & belongeth (if my coniecture faile me not) vnto the ſame time. Yet here in they doe differ one from another, that this was particularly effected vpon the Princes and ringleaders of the wickedneſſe of the world, the other generally againſt the whole world being wicked. And therefore theſe iudgements are figured more grieuous then thoſe.

[2] The hiſtory of the firſt Angel, whoſe plague vpon the earth, is deſcribed almoſt in the ſame words with that ſixt plague of the Egyptians, Exo. 9, 9. But it doeth ſignifie a ſpirituall vlcer, and that torture or butchery of conſcience ſeared with an hote yron, which accuſeth the vngodly within and both by truth of the word (the light whereof God hath now ſo long ſhewed forth) & by bitternes ſtirreth vp & forceth out the ſword of Gods wrath.

[3] See chap. 13, 6.

[4] The hiſtory of the ſecond Angel who troubleth and moleſteth the ſeas, that hee may ſtirre vp the conſcience of men ſleeping in their wickednes. See Cha. 8, 8.

[a] It was turned into rotten and filthy blood, ſuch as is in dead bodies.

[5] The hiſtory of the third Angel ſtriking the riuers, in this verſe who proclaiming the iuſtice of God, commendeth the ſame by a moſt graue compariſon of the ſinnes of men with the puniſhment of God: which is common to this place & that which went before. Wherfore alſo this praiſing is attributed to the Angel of the waters, a name common to the ſecond and third Angels according as both of them are ſaid to be againſt the waters, all be it, the one of the ſea the other of the riuers, in two verſes.

[6] A confirmation of the praiſe before going, out of the ſanctuary of God, whether immediatly by Chriſt, or by ſome of his Angels, for Chriſt alſo is called another Angel, Chap. 7, 2. 3, 8, & 12, 1.

[7] The hiſtory of the fourth Angel, who throweth the plague vpon the heauen & vpon the Sun, of which Luk. 21, 26. the effects whereof are noted two. The one peculiar, that it ſhall ſcorch men with heat, in this verſe. The other proceeding accidentally from the former, that their furie ſhall ſo much the more be enraged againſt God in the next verſe, when yet (O wonderful mercy & patience of God) al other creatures are firſt ſtriken oftẽ & grieuouſly by the hand of God before mankind by whom he is prouoked: as the things before going to declare.

[8] The ſtory of the firſt Angel, who ſtriketh the kingdome of yͤ beaſt with two plagues abroad with darkenes, within with byles & dolours moſt grieuous, throughout his whole kingdome, that thereby he might wound the conſcience of the wicked, and puniſh that moſt peruerſe obſtinacy of the idolaters, whereof aroſe perturbation, and thence a furious indignation and deſperate madnes, raging againſt God and hurtfull vnto it ſelfe.

[9] The ſtory of the ſixt Angel, diuided into his act, & the euent thereof. The act is, that the Angel did caſt out of his mouth the plague of a moſt glowing heat, wherewith euẽ the greateſt floods, & which moſt were wont to ſwell & ouerflow (as Euphrates) were dried vp by the counſell of God in this verſe. The euent is, that the meere madnes wherewith the wicked are enraged, that they may ſcorne the iudgements of God, & abuſe them furiouſly to ſerue their owne turne, & to yͤ executing of their owne wicked outrage.

[10] The bound of the ſpirituall Babylon, and to the fortreſſes of the ſame, cha. 9, 14.

[11] So the Church of the vngodly & kingdome of the beaſt is ſaid to be left naked, all the defences whereof, in which they put their truſt being taken away from it.

[12] That is, that euen they which dwell furtheſt off, may with more commodity make haſte vnto that ſacrifice which the Lord hath appointed.

[13] That is, euery of them bent their whole force, and conſpired that by wonders, word and worke, they might bring into the ſame deſtruction all Kings, Princes and Potentates of the world, curſedly bewitched of them by their ſpirits, and teachers of the vanity and impurity of the beaſt that committed fornication with the kings of the earth. And this is a right deſcription of our times.

[14] Croking with all importunity, and continually day and night prouoking and calling foorth to armes, as the trumpets, and furies of warres: as is declared in the next verſe.

[15] That is, the deuil, as chap. 11, 3.

[16] Whereof chap. 13, 1.

[17] That is, of that other beaſt, of which, chap. 13, 11. for ſo he is called alſo chap. 19, 20. and 20, 10.

[18] A parentheſis for admonition in which God warneth his holy ſeruants who reſt in the expectation of Chriſt, alwayes to addreſſe their minds vnto his comming, and to looke vnto themſelves, that they be not ſhamefully made naked and circumuented of theſe vncleane ſpirits, and ſo they be miſerable vnprepared at the comming of their Lord, Mat. 24, 16, & 15, 13. Cha. 33. mat 24, 44. luk. 12, 39.

[19] Namely yͤ Angel, who holily according to the commaundement of God was to do ſacrifice: notwithſtanding that thoſe impure ſpirits do the ſame wickedly as ſeruants not vnto God, but vnto that beaſt that hath ſeuen heads.

[20] That is (to ſay nothing of other expoſitions) the mountaine it ſelfe, or mountaine places of Megiddon. Now it is certaine by the holy Scripture, that Megiddon is a city & territory in the tribe of Manaſſes, bordering vpon Iſſacar & Aſſer, & was made famous by that lamentable ouerthrow of king Ioſias, whereof 2. Keg 22 30. & 2. Cor. 37, 22. & Zach. 12, 11. In this mountaine countrey God ſaith by figure & type, that the kings of the peoples which ſerue the beaſt ſhal meet together: becauſe the Gentiles did alwayes caſt that lamentable ouerthrow in the teeth of the Church of the Iewes vnto their great reproach: and therfore were perſwaded that that place ſhould be moſt fortunate vnto them (as they ſpeake) and vnfortunate vnto the godly: but God heere pronounceth, that that reproach of the Church, and confidence of the vngodly ſhall by himſelfe be taken away, in the ſelfe ſame places where the nations perſwaded themſelues, they ſhould mightily exſult & triumph againſt God & his Church.

[21] The ſtory of the ſeuenth Angel vnto the end of the chapter, in which firſt is ſhewed by figure and ſpeach, the argument of this plague, in this verſe: and then is declared the execution thereof in the verſes following.

[22] From whence he might moue the heauen aboue and the earth beneath.

[23] That is, from him that ſitteth on the throne, by the figure called Metonymia.

[24] That is, Babylon is vndone, as is ſhewed ver. 16 & in the Chapters following. For the firſt onſet (as I might ſay) of this denunciation, is deſcribed in this Chapter: and the laſt containing a perfect victory is deſcribed in thoſe that follow.

[25] Now is declared the execution (as is ſaid in ver. 27.) & the things that ſhall laſt come to paſſe in heauen and in earth, before the ouerthrow of the Beaſt of Babylon: both generally, verſ. 18. and particularly in the curſed citie, and ſuch as haue any familiaritie therewith, in the 3. laſt verſes.

[26] That ſeat or ſtanding place of Antichriſt.

[27] Of all ſuch as cleaue vnto Antichriſt, and fight againſt Chriſt.

[28] That harlot, of whom in the Chapter next following. Now this phraſe, to come into remembrance is after the common vſe of the Hebrew ſpeech, but borrowed from men, attributed vnto God.

* Iere. 25, 15.

[29] That is, were ſeene no more, or were no more extant. A borrowed Hebraiſme.

[b] Appeared not, which the Hebrews vtter after this ſort, were not. Re[illegible] 5, 24.

[30] The maner of the particular execution, moſt euidently teſtifying the wrath of God by the originall & greatneſſe thereof: the euent whereof is the ſame with that which is Chap. 9, 12. and that which hath bene mentioned in this Chapter, from the execution of the fourth Angel hitherto, that is to ſay, an incorrigible pertinacie of the world in their rebellion, and an heart that cannot repent, verſe 9. and 11.

[c] As it were about the weight of a talent was threeſcore pound, that is ſixe hundred groates, whereby is ſignified a maruelous and ſtrange kind of waight.

CHAP. XVII.

1 That great whore is deſcribed, 2 with whom the Kings of the earth committed fornication, 6 She is drunken with the blood of Saints. 7 The myſterie of the woman, and the beaſt that caried her, expounded, 21 Their deſtruction, 24 The Lambs victory.

THen [1] there came one of the ſeuen Angels, which had the ſeuen vials, and talked with me, ſaying vnto me, Come: I will ſhew [2] thee the [a] damnation of the great whore that ſitteth vpon many waters,

2 With whom haue committed fornication the kings of the earth, and the inhabitants of the earth are drunken with the wine of her fornication.

3 [3] So he caried me away into the wildernes in the Spirit, and I ſaw a woman ſit vpon a [b] ſcarlet coloured beaſt, full of names of blaſphemie, which had ſeuen heads, and ten hornes.

4 And [4] the woman was arrayed [5] in purple and ſcarlet, and gilded with gold, and precious ſtones, and pearles, [6] and had a cup of gold in her hand full of abomination, and filthineſſe of her fornication.

5 [7] And in her forehead was a name written, A myſtery, [8] that great Babylon that mother of whoredomes, and abominations of the earth.

6 [9] And I ſaw the woman drunken with the blood of Saints, and with the blood of the Martyrs of IESVS: & when I ſaw her, [10] I wondered with great maruell.

7 [11] Then the Angel ſayd vnto me, Wherfore marueileſt thou? I will ſhew thee the myſtery of that woman, and of that beaſt that beareth her, which hath ſeuen heads and ten hornes.

8 [12] The beaſt that thou haſt ſeene, [13] was and is not, and [14] ſhall aſcend out of the bottomleſſe pit, and ſhall goe into perditiō, and they that dwell on the earth ſhall wonder (whoſe names are not written in the booke of life from the foundation of the world) [15] when they behold the beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is.

9 [16] Here is the minde that hath wiſedome, The [c] ſeuen heads [17] are ſeuen mountaines, whereon the woman ſitteth: [18] they are alſo ſeuen Kings.

10 [19] Fiue are fallen, [20] and one is, [21] and another is not yet come: and when he commeth, he muſt continue a ſhort ſpace.

11 [22] And the beaſt that was, and is not, is euen [23] the eight, and is [24] one of the ſeuen, and [25] all goe into deſtruction.

12 [26] And the ten hornes which thou ſaweſt,

[1] The ſtate of the Church militant being declared, now followeth the ſtate of the Church ouercomming and getting victorie, as I ſhewed before in the beginning of the 10. chapter. The ſtate is ſet forth in 4. chapters As in the place before going I noted, that in that hiſtorie the order of time was not alwayes exactly obſerued, ſo the ſame is to be vnderſtood in this hiſtory, that it is diſtinguiſhed according to the perſons of which it treateth, and that in the ſeuerall ſtories of the perſons is ſeuerally obſerued in the time thereof. For firſt is deliuered the ſtory of Babylon deſtroyed, in this and the next chap. (for this Babylon out of all doubt ſhall periſh before the 2 beaſts and the Dragon) Secondly is deliuered the deſtruction of both the two beaſts, chap. 19. And laſtly of the Dragon, chap. 20. in yͤ ſtory of the ſpirituall Babylon are diſtinctly ſet forth the ſtate thereof in this chap. & the ouerthrow done from God, cha. 18. In this verſe & that which followeth is a tranſition or paſſage vnto the firſt argument, conſiſting of a particular calling of the Prophet (as often heretofore) and a generall propoſition. [2] That is the damnable harlot, by a figure called hyppallage. For S. Iohn as yet had not ſeene her. Although another interpretation may be borne, yet I like this better. [a] The ſentence that is pronounced againſt this harlot. [3] Henceforth is propounded the type of Babylon, and the ſtate thereof in 4. verſes. After a declaration of the type, in the reſt of this chap. in the type are deſcribed two things, the beaſt (of whom chap. 13.) in the 3. verſe, & the woman that ſitteth vpon the beaſt, verſe 4, 5, 6. The beaſt in proceſſe of time hath gotten ſomewhat more then was expreſſed in yͤ former viſion First in that it is not read before that he was apparelled in ſcarlet, a robe imperiall and of triumph. Secondly, in that this is full of names of blaſphemy: the other carried the name of blaſphemy only in his head. So God did teach that this beaſt is much increaſed in impiety and in iuſtice, and doth in this laſt age, triumph in both theſe more inſolently and proudly then euer before. [b] A ſkarlet colour, that is, with a red and purple garment: and ſurely it was not without cauſe that the Romiſh clergie were ſo much delighted with this colour. [4] That harlot, the ſpirituall Babylon, which is Rome. She is deſcribed by her attire, profeſſion & deeds. [5] In attire moſt glorious, triumphant, moſt rich, and moſt gorgious. [6] In profeſſion, the nouriſher of all, in this verſe, and teaching her myſteries vnto all, verſ. 5 ſetting forth all things moſt magnificently: but indeed moſt pernicious beſotting miſerable men with her cup, & bringing vpon them a deadly giddines [7] Deceiuing with the title of religion, and publike inſcription of myſtery: which the beaſt in times paſt did not beare. [8] An expoſition: in which S Iohn declareth what maner of woman this is. [9] In maner of deeds: She is red with blood, and ſheddeth it moſt licentiouſly, and therefore is coloured with the blood of the Saints, as on the contrary part. Chriſt is ſet forth imbrued with the blood of his enemies, Eſa. 3, 1 [10] A paſſage vnto the ſecond part of this chapter, by occaſion giuen of S. Iohn, as yͤ words of the Angel do ſhew, in the next verſe. [11] The ſecond part or place, as I ſaid verſ. 1. The enarration of the viſion, promiſed in this verſe, and deliuered in the verſe following. Now there is deliuered firſt an enarration of the beaſt, and his ſtory, vnto the 14. verſe. After, of the harlot, vnto the end of the chap. [12] The ſtory of the beaſt hath a triple deſcription of him. The firſt is a diſtinction of this beaſt from al that euer hath bene at any time: which diſtinction is contained in this verſe: The ſecond is a delineation or painting out of the beaſt by things preſent, by which he might euen at that time be knowen of the godly, & this delineation is according to his heads, verſ. 9. 10, 11 The third is an hiſtoricall foretelling of things to come, and to be done by him: and theſe are aſcribed vnto his hornes, verſ. 12, 13, 14 This beaſt is that Empire of Rome, of which I ſpake chap. 13, 11. according to the mutations and changes whereof which then had already happened, the holy Ghoſt hath diſtinguiſhed and ſet out the ſame. The Apoſtle diſtinguiſheth this beaſt from all others in theſe words. The beaſt which thou ſaweſt, was and is not. For ſo I expound the words of the Apoſtle for euidency ſake, as I will further declare in the notes following. [13] The meaning is, that beaſt which thou ſaweſt before (chap. 13, 1.) and which yet thou haſt now ſeene, was, (I ſay was) euen from Iulius Ceſar in reſpect of beginning, riſing vp, ſtation, glory, dominion, maner and ſtock, from the houſe of Iulius: and yet is not now the ſame, if thou looke vnto the houſe and ſtocke for the dominion of this family was tranſlated vnto another, after the death of Nero from yͤ other vnto a third, from a third vnto a fourth, & ſo forth was varied & altered by innumerable chāges Finally, the Empire is one, as it were one beaſt: but exceedingly varied by kinreds, families & perſons. It was therefore (ſaith S. Iohn) in the kinred or houſe of Iulius: and now it is not in that kinred, but tranſlated vnto another [14] As if hee ſhould ſay, Alſo the ſame that is, ſhall ſhortly not be: but ſhall aſcend out of the depth, or out of the ſea (as was ſaid, cha. 13, 1. (that is, ſhallbe a new ſtock from amongſt the nations without difference, and ſhall in the ſame ſtate goe vnto deſtruction or ruine, and periſh: and ſo ſhall ſucceſſiuely new Princes or Emperours come and goe, ariſe and fall, the body of the beaſt remaining ſtill, but toſſed with ſo many and often alterations, as no man can but marueile that this beaſt was able to ſtand and hold out, in ſo many mutations. Verily no Empire that euer was toſſed with ſo many changes, and as it were with ſo many tempeſts of the ſea, euer continued ſo long. [15] That is as many as haue not learned the prouidence of God, according to the faith of the Saints, ſhall maruel at theſe grieuous & often changes when they ſhall conſider, yͤ ſelfe ſame beaſt, which is the Romane Empire, to haue bin, not to be, and to be and ſtill moleſted with perpetuall mutation, and yet in the ſame to ſtand and continue. This in mine opinion is the moſt ſimple expoſition of this place, confirmed by the euent of the things themſelues. Although the laſt change alſo, by which the Empire, that before was ciuill became Eccleſiaſticall, is not obſcurely ſignified in theſe words: of which two, the firſt exerciſed cruelty vpon the bodies of the ſaints: the other alſo vpon their ſoules: the firſt by humane order and policie, the other vnder the colour of the law of God, and of Religion, raged and imbrued it ſelfe with the blood of the godly. [16] An exhortation preparing vnto audience, by the ſame argument, with that of Chriſt: He that hath eares to heare, let him heare. Wherefore, for mine owne part, I had rather read in this place, Let there be here a minde, &c. So the Angel paſſeth fully vnto the ſecond place of this deſcription. [c] Very children know what that ſeuen hilled citie is, which is ſo much ſpoken of, and whereof Virgil thus reporteth. And compaſſeth ſeuen towres in one wall: that citie it is, which when Iohn wrote theſe things had rule ouer the kings of the earth: It was and is not, and yet it remaineth this day, but it is declining to deſtruction. [17] This is the painting out of the beaſt by things preſent (as I ſaid before) wherby S Iohn endeuoured to deſcribe the ſame, that he might both be knowen of the godly in that age, and be further obſerued and marked of poſteritie afterwards. This delineation hath one type, that is, his heads. but a double deſcription or application of the type: one permanent from the nature of it ſelfe, the other changeable, by the working of men, The deſcription permanent, is by the ſeuen hils, in this verſe, the other that fleeteth, is from the ſeuen kings verſe 10, 11. And here it is worthy to be obſerued, that one type hath ſometimes two or more applications, as ſeemeth good vnto the holy Ghoſt to expreſſe either one thing by diuers types, or diuers things by one type. So I noted before, of the ſeuen ſpirits chap 1, 4. Now this woman that ſitteth vpon ſeuen hils, is the citie of Rome, called in times paſt of the Grecians ἑπτάλοφος. i. of ſeuen tops or creaſts, and of Varro ſepticeps, i. of her ſeuen heads (as here) of ſeuen heads, and of others ſepticollis. i. ſtanding vpon ſeuen hils [18] The beginning of theſe Kings or Emperours is almoſt the ſame with the beginning of the Church of Chriſt, which I ſhewed before chap. 11, 1. Namely from the yeere 35. after the paſſion of Chriſt, what time the Temple and Church of the Iewes was ouerthrowen. In which yeere it came to paſſe by the prouidence of God that that ſaying The beaſt was and is not, was fulfilled before that the deſtruction of the Iewes immediately following came to paſſe. That was the yeere from the building of the city of Rome 109 from which yeere S. Iohn both numbred the Emperors which hitherto hath bene, when he wrote theſe things, & foretelleth of two other next to come: and that with this purpoſe, that when this particular prediction of foretelling of things to come, ſhould take effect the trueth of all other predictions in the Church, might be the more confirmed. Which ſigne God of old mentioned in the Law, Deut. 18. and Ieremie confirmeth chap. 28, 8. [19] Whoſe names are theſe the firſt Seruius Sulpitius Galba, who was the ſeuenth Emperor of the people of Rome, the ſecond Marcus Saluius Otho, the third, Aulus Vitellius, the fourth, Titus Flauius Veſpaſianus, the fifth, Titus Veſpaſianus his ſonne of his owne name. [20] Flauius Domician ſonne of the firſt Veſpaſian. For in the latter end of his dayes S Iohn wrote theſe things, as witneſſeth Ireneus Lib 5. aduerſus hereſies. [21] Nerua. The Empire being now tranſlated from the family of Flauius. This man reigned onely one yeere, foure moneths, and nine dayes, as the hiſtory writers doe tell. [22] This is ſpoken by the figure ſynecdoche, as much to ſay as that head of the beaſt which was & is not, becauſe it is cut off, & Nerua in ſo ſhort time extinguiſhed How many heads there were, ſo many beaſts there ſeemed to be in one. See the like ſpeech in the 3. verſe of the 13 chap. [23] Nerua Traianus, who himſelf in diuers reſpects is called here the ſeuenth and eight. [24] Though in number and order of ſucceſſion hee be the eight, yet he is reckoned together with one of theſe heads, becauſe Nerua and he were one head. For this man obtained authoritie together with Nerua, and was Conſul with him, when Nerua left his life. [25] Namely to moleſt with perſecutions the Churches of Chriſt, as the hiſtories doe accord, & I haue briefly noted chap. 1. 10. [26] The third place of this deſcription as I ſaid verſe 8. is a propheticall prediction of things to come which the beaſt ſhould doe, as in the words following S Iohn doeth not obſcurely ſignifie, ſaying, which haue not yet receiued the kingdome &c. For there is an Antitheſis or oppoſition, betweene theſe kings, and thoſe that went before. And firſt the perſons are deſcribed, in this verſe, then their deeds in the two verſes following.

are [27] ten kings, which yet haue not receiued a kingdome, but ſhall receiue power, as Kings [28] at one houre with the beaſt.

13 [29] Theſe haue one minde, and ſhall giue their power and authoritie vnto the beaſt.

14 Theſe ſhall fight with the [30] Lambe, and the Lambe ſhall ouercome them: * for he is Lord of Lords, and King of Kings: and they that are on his ſide, called, and choſen, and faithfull.

15 [31] And he ſayd vnto me, The waters which thou ſaweſt, where the whore ſitteth, [32] are people, and multitudes, and nations, and tongues.

16 And the ten [33] hornes which thou ſaweſt vpon the beaſt, are they that ſhall hate the whore, and ſhall make her deſolate, and naked, and ſhall eate her fleſh, and burne her with fire.

17 [34] For God hath put in their hearts to fulfill his will, and to doe with one conſent for to giue their kingdome vnto the beaſt, vntill the words of God be fulfilled.

18 And that woman which thou ſaweſt, is that [35] great citie which reigned ouer the kings of the earth.

27 That is, ariſing with their kingdomes out of the Romane beaſt: at ſuch time as that politicall Empire began by the craft of the Popes greatly to fall.

28 Namely, with the ſecond beaſt whom we called before a falſe prophet, which beaſt, aſcending out of the earth got vnto himſelfe all the authoritie and power of the firſt beaſt, and exerciſeth the ſame before his face, as was ſayd Chapter 4, 11.

12 For when the politicall Empire of the Weſt began to bow downewards, there both aroſe thoſe ten kings, and the ſecond beaſt tooke the oppertunitie offered to vſurpe vnto himſelfe all the power of the former beaſt. Theſe kings loug ago, many haue numbred and deſcribed to be ten and a great part of the euents plainely teſtifieth the ſame in this our age. 29 That is, by conſent and agreement, that they may conſpire with the beaſt, and depend vpon his becke. Their ſtorie is diuided into three parts, counſels, actes, and euents. The counſellers ſome of them conſiſt in communicating of iudgements and affections: and ſome in communicating of power, which they are ſaid to haue giuen vnto this beaſt in this verſe. 30 With Chriſt and his Church, as the reaſon following doeth declare, and here are mentioned the factes and the euents which followed for Chriſt his ſake, and for the grace of God the Father towards thoſe that are called, elected, and are his faithfull ones in Chriſt. * Chap. 19, 16. 1. tim. 6, 15. 31 This is the other member of the enarration as I ſaid verſe 7. belonging vnto the harlot, ſhewed in the viſion verſe 3. In this hiſtorie of the harlot, theſe 3. things are diſtinctly propounded, what is her magnificence in this verſe, what is her fall, and by whom it ſhall happen vnto her, in the two verſes following: and laſtly, who that harlot is, in the laſt verſe. This place which by order of nature ſhould haue bene the firſt, is therefore made the laſt, becauſe it was more fit to bee ioyned with the next Chap. 32 That is, as vnconſtant and variable as are the waters. Vpon this foundation ſitteth this harlot as Queene, a vaine perſon vpon that which is vaine. 33 The ten Kings as verſe 12. The accompliſhment of this fact and euent, is dayly increaſed in this our age by the ſingular prouidence and moſt mighty gouernment of God. Wherefore the facts are propounded in this verſe, and the cauſe of them in the verſes following. 34 A reaſon rendred from the chiefe efficient cauſe, which is the prouidence of God, by which alone S. Iohn by inuerſion of order affirmeth to haue come to paſſe, both that the Kings ſhould execute vpon the harlot, that which pleaſed God, and which hee declared in the verſe next before going: and alſo that by one conſent and counſell, they ſhould giue their kingdome vnto the beaſt &c. verſe 13, 14. For as theſe being blinded haue before depended vpon the becke of the beaſt that lifteth vp the harlot, ſo it is ſaid that afterward it ſhall come to paſſe, that they ſhall turne backe, and ſhall fall away from her when their hearts ſhall bee turned into better ſtate by the grace and mercy of God. 35 That is, Rome that greate Citie, or onely Citie (as Iuſtinian calleth it) the King and head whereof was then the Emperour, but now the Pope, ſince that the condition of the beaſt was changed.

CHAP. XVIII.

2 The horrible deſtruction of Babylon ſet out. 11, 16, 18 The merchants of the earth, who were enriched with the pompe and luxurious neſſe of it, weepe and wayle: 20 but all the elect reioyce for that iuſt vengeance of God.

1 AND after theſe things, I ſaw another [2] Angel come down from heauen, hauing great power, ſo that the earth was lightened with his glory,

2 And hee cryed out mightily with a loude voyce, [3] ſaying, * It is fallen, it is fallen, Babylon that great city, and is become the habitation of deuils, and the hold of all foule ſpirits, and a cage of euery vncleane and hatefull bird.

3 For all nations haue drunken of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, and the kings of the earth haue committed fornication with her, and the merchants of the earth are waxed rich of the abundance of her pleaſures.

4 [4] And I heard an other voice from heauen ſay, [5] Go out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her ſinnes, & that ye receiue not of her plagues:

5 For her ſinnes are [a] come vp into heauen, and God hath remembred her iniquities.

6 [7] Reward her, euen as ſhee hath rewarded you, and giue her double according to her works: and in the cup that ſhe hath filled to you, fill her the double.

7 In as much as ſhe glorified her ſelf, and liued in pleaſure, ſo much giue ye to her torment and ſorow: for ſhe ſaith [b] in her heart, I ſit being a queen, and am [c] no widow, and ſhall [d] ſee no mourning.

8 Therefore ſhall her plagues come at [e] one day, death, and ſorow, and famine, and ſhe ſhall be burnt with fire: for that God which condemneth her, is a ſtrong Lord,

9 And the [8] kings of the earth ſhall bewaile her, and lament for her, which haue committed fornication, and liued in pleaſure with her, when they ſhall ſee that ſmoke of that her burning,

10 And ſhall ſtand afarre off for feare of her torment, ſaying, Alas, alas, that great citie Babylon, that mightie citie: for in one houre is thy iudgement come.

11 [9] And the merchants of the earth ſhall weepe and wayle ouer her: for no man buyeth their ware any more.

12 The ware of gold, and ſiluer, and of precious ſtone, and of pearles, and of fine linnen, and of purple, and of ſilke, and of ſkarlet, and of all maner of Thynewood, and of all veſſels of yuorie, and of all veſſels of moſt precious wood, and of braſſe, and of yron, and of marble,

13 And of cinamon, and odours, and oyntments, and frankincenſe, and wine, and oyle, and fine floure, and wheate, and beaſts, and ſheepe, and horſes, and charets, and ſeruants, and ſoules of men.

14 ([10] And the [f] apples that thy ſoule luſted after, are departed from thee, and all things which were fat and excellent, are departed from thee, and thou ſhalt finde them no more.)

15 The merchants of theſe things which were waxed rich, ſhall ſtand a farre off from her, for feare of her torment, weeping and wayling.

1 The ſecond place (as I ſayd before 17, 1.) of the hiſtory of Babylon, is of the wofull fall and ruine of that whore of Babylon. This hiſtoricall prediction concerning her, is three fold. The firſt, a plaine and ſimple foretelling of her ruine in three verſes, the ſecond a figuratiue prediction by the circumſtances, thence vnto the 20. verſe. The third, a confirmation of the ſame by ſigne or wonder, vnto the end of the Chapter. 2 Either Chriſt the eternall word of God the Father (as often elſewhere) or a created Angel, and one deputed vnto this ſeruice: but throughly furniſhed with greatneſſe of power, and with light of glory, as the enſigne of power. 3 The prediction or foreſhewing of her ruine, conteining both the fall of Babylon, in this verſe, and the cauſe thereof vttered by way of allegory concerning her ſpirituall and carnall wickedneſſe, that is, her moſt great impietie and iniuſtice in the next verſe: her fall is firſt ſimply declared of the Angel: and then the greatneſſe thereof is ſhewed heere by the euents, when hee ſayth it ſhall bee the ſeate and habitation of deuils, of wilde beaſtes and of curſed foules, as of old Eſay. 13, 21. and often elſwhere. * Chap. 14, 8. eſay. 21, 9. iere. 51, 8.

4 The ſecond prediction, which is of the circumſtances of the ruine of Babylon: of theſe there are two kinds: one going before it: as that before hand the godly are deliuered vnto the ninth verſe: the other following vpon her ruine, namely the lamentation of the wicked and reioycing of the godly, vnto the twentieth verſe.

5 Two circumſtances going before the ruine, are commanded in this place: one is, that the godly depart out of Babylon: as I mentioned, chapter 12. to haue bene done in time paſt, before the deſtruction of Ieruſalem: this charge is giuen here, and in the next verſe. The other is, that euery one of them occupy themſelues in their owne place, in executing the iudgement of God, as it was commanded the Leuites of old, Exod. 32, 27. and that they ſanctifie their hands vnto the Lord, verſe 6, 7, 8.

6 Of his commandement there are two cauſes to auoid the contagion of ſinne, and to ſhun the participation of thoſe puniſhments that belong thereunto.

a He vſeth a word which ſignifieth the following of ſins one after another, and riſing one another in ſuch ſort, that they grew at length to ſuch an heape that they came vp euen to heauen.

7 The prouocation of the godly, and the commandement of executing the iudgements of God, ſtand vpon three cauſes which are here expreſſed: the vniuſt wickednes of the whore of Babylon, in this verſe her curſed pride oppoſing it ſelfe againſt God, which is the fountaine of all euill actions, verſ. 7. and her moſt iuſt damnation by the ſentence of God, verſ. 8. b With her ſelfſelfe, c I am full of people and mightie. d I ſhall taſte of none. e Shortly and at one inſtant. 8 The circumſtances following the fall of Babylon, or the conſequents thereof (as I diſtinguiſhed them, verſ. 4.) are two. Namely the lamentation of the wicked vnto the 19. verſe: and the reioycing of the godly, verſe 20. This moſt ſorrowfull lamentation, according to the perſons of them that lament, hath three members, the firſt whereof is the mourning of the kings and mightie men of the earth, in two verſes. The ſecond is, the lamentation of the merchants that traffike by land thence vnto the 16. verſ. The third is the wailing of thoſe that merchandiſe by ſea, verſ. 16, 17, 18. In euery of theſe the cauſe and maner of their mourning is deſcribed in order, according to the condition of thoſe ẏ mourne with obſeruation of that which beſt agreeth vnto them. 9 The lamentation of thoſe that trade by land, as I diſtinguiſhed immediatly before. 10 An apoſtrophe or turning of the ſpeach by imitation, vſed for more vehemencie, as if thoſe merchants, after the manner of mourners ſhould in paſſionate ſpeech ſpeake vnto Babylon, though now vtterly fallen and ouerthrowen. So Eſai. 12, 9. and in many other places. f By this is meant that ſeaſon which is next before the fall of the leafe, at what ſeaſon fruits ripen, and the word ſignifieth ſuch fruits as are longed for.

16 And ſaying, Alas, alas, that great citie, that was cloathed in fine linnen and purple, and skarlet, and gilded with gold, and precious ſtones, and pearles.

17 [11] For in one houre ſo great riches are come to deſolation. And euery ſhipmaſter, and all the people that occupie ſhips and ſhipman, and whoſoeuer traffike on the ſea, ſhall ſtand a farre off.

18 And cry, when they ſee that ſmoke of that her burning, ſaying, What city vvas like vnto this great city?

19 And they ſhall caſt duſt on their heads, and cry, weeping, and wayling, and ſay, Alas, alas that great citie, wherein were made rich all that had ſhips on the ſea by her coſtlines: for in one houre ſhe is made deſolate.

20 [12] O heauen, reioyce of her, and ye holy Apoſtles and Prophets; for God hath puniſhed her, to be reuenged on her for your ſakes.

21 [13] Then a mighty Angel tooke vp a ſtone, like a great milſtone, * and caſt it into the ſea, ſaying, With ſuch violence ſhall that great city Babylon be caſt and ſhall be found no more.

22 [14] And the voyce of harpers, and muſicians and of pipers, and trumpetters ſhall bee hard no more in thee, and no craftſman, of whoſoeuer craft he bee, ſhallbe found any more in thee: and the ſound of a milſtone ſhallbe heard no more in thee.

23 And the light of a candle ſhall ſhine no more in thee; and the voice of the bridegrome and of the bride ſhallbe heard no more in thee: for thy merchants were the great men of the earth: and with thine inchantment were deceiued all nations.

24 And in her was found the [15] blood of the Prophets [16] and of the Saints, and of all that were ſlaine vpon the earth.

[11] The manner of mourning vſed by them that trade by ſea.

[12] The other conſequent vnto the other ruine of Babylon, is the exaltation or reioycing of the godly in heauen and in earth, as was noted, verſe 9.

[13] The third prediction, as I ſaid verſe 1. ſtanding of a ſigne, and the interpretation thereof: the interpretation thereof is in 2 ſorts, firſt by a ſimple propounding of the thing it ſelfe, in this verſe, and then by declaration of the euents in the verſes following.

* Iere. 51, 63.

[14] The euents are two, the one of them oppoſite vnto the other for amplification ſake. There ſhall be, ſaith he, in Babylon no mirth nor ioy at all, in this and the next verſe, but all heauy and lamentable things from the bloody ſlaughters of the righteous and the vengeance of God comming vpon it for the ſame.

[15] That is, ſhed by bloodly maſſacres, and calling for vengeance.

[16] That is, prooued and found out, as if God had appointed a iuſt enquirie, concerning the impietie, vnnaturalneſſe and vniuſtice of thoſe men.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The heauenly company praiſe God for auenging the blood of his ſeruants on the whore. 9 They are written bleſſed, that are called to the Lambes ſupper. 10 The Angell will not bee worſhipped. 11 That mighty King of Kings appeareth from heauen. 19 The battell, 20 wherein the beaſt is taken, 21 and caſt into the burning lake.

AND [1] after theſe things I heard a great voyce of a great multitude in heauen, ſaying, [a] [2] Hallelu-iah, ſaluation, and glory, and honour, and power be to the Lord our God.

2 For true and righteous are his iudgements: for hee hath condemned the great whore which did corrupt the earth with her fornication, and hath auenged the blood of his ſeruants ſhed by her hand.

3 And againe they ſaid, [3] Halleluiah: and that her ſmoke roſe vp for euermore.

4 And the foure and twenty Elders, and the foure beaſt fell downe, and worſhipped God that ſate on the throne, ſaying, Amen, Hallelu-iah.

5 [4] Then a voyce came out of the [5] throne, ſaying, Praiſe our God, all ye his ſeruants, and yee that feare him, both ſmall and great.

6 And I heard [6] like a voyce of a great multitude, and as the voyce of many waters, and as the voyce of ſtrong thundrings, ſaying, Hallelu-iah: for the Lord that God that Almighty one hath reigned.

7 Let vs bee glad and reioyce, and giue glory to him: for the marriage of the Lambe is come, and his wife hath made [7] her ſelfe ready.

8 And to her was granted, that ſhee ſhould be arayed with [8] pure fine linnen and ſhining, for the fine [9] linnen is the [b] righteouſneſſe of Saints.

9 [10] Then he ſaid vnto me, Write, * Bleſſed are they which are called vnto the Lambs ſupper. And he ſaid vnto me, Theſe words of God are true.

10 [11] And I fell before his feet, * to worſhip him, but he ſaid vnto me, See thou do it not: I am thy fellow ſeruant, and one of thy brethren, which haue the [c] teſtimony of Ieſus, Worſhip God: for the teſtimony of [d] Ieſus is the Spirit of propheſie.

11 [12] And I ſaw [13] heauen open, and behold a white horſe, and he that ſate vpon him was called faithfull and true, and he iudgeth and fighteth righteouſly.

12 And his eyes vvere as a flame of fire, and on his head vvere many crownes: and hee had a name written, that no man knew but himſelfe.

13 And hee was cloathed with a garment dipt in blood, and his name was called, THE WORD OF GOD, 14 [14] And the hoaſtes which were in heauen, followed him vpon white horſes, cloathed with fine linnen white and pure.

15 [15] And out of his mouth went out a ſharpe ſword, that with it he ſhould ſmite the heathen: for he ſhall * rule them with a rod of yron, for he it is that treadeth the wine preſſe of the fiercenes and wrath of Almighty God.

16 [16] And he hath vpon his garment, and vpon his thigh, a name written, * THE KING OF KINGS AND LORD OF LORDS.

17 [17] And I ſaw an Angel ſtand in the [18] ſunne who cryed with a loud voyce, ſaying, to all the foules that did flie by [19] the mids of heauen, come,

[1] This chapter hath in ſumme two parts, one tranſitory or of paſſage vnto the things that follow vnto the 10. verſe, another hiſtoricall of the victorie of Chriſt gotten againſt both the beaſtes vnto the end of the chapter, which I ſayd was the ſecond hiſtorie of this argument, chap. 17, 1. The tranſition hath two places, one of praiſing God for the ouerthrow done vnto Babylon in 4. verſes, and another likewiſe of praiſe, and Propheticall, for the comming of Chriſt vnto his kingdome, and his moſt royall marriage with his Church, thence vnto the tenth verſe. The former praiſe hath three branches, diſtinguiſhed after the ancient maner of thoſe that ſing: προσφώνησις, that is, an inuitation or prouokement in two verſes, ἀντιφωνία, a reſponſe or anſwere in the third verſe, and συνῳδία, a cloſe or ioyning together in harmonie: all which I thought good of purpoſe to diſtinguiſhed in this place, leſt any man ſhould with Porphyrius, or other like dogs, obiect to Saint Iohn of the heauenly Church, a childiſh and idle repetition of ſpeech.

[a] Praiſe the Lord.

[2] The propoſition of praiſe with exhortation in this verſe, and the cauſe thereof, in the next verſe.

[3] The ſong of the Antiphonie or reſponſe, containing an amplification of the praiſe of God, from the perpetuall and moſt certaine teſtimony of his diuine iudgement as was done at Sodome and Gomorrah, Gen. 19.

[4] The ſecond place of praiſe as I ſaid verſe 1. which firſt is commanded from God in this verſe: and then is in moſt ample maner pronounced of the creatures, both becauſe they ſee that kingdom of Chriſt to come, which moſt they deſire, verſe 6. alſo becauſe they ſee that the Church is called forth to be brought home: into the houſe of her husband by holy mariage vnto the fellowſhip of his kingdom, verſe 7, 8. Wherefore S. Iohn is commaunded to write in a booke the Epiphonema, or acclamation ioyned with a diuine teſtimony verſe 9.

[5] Out of the Temple from God, as 11, 19.

[6] Without the Temple in heauen.

[7] Namely vnto that holy mariage both her ſelfe in perſon in this verſe and alſo furniſhed of her ſpouſe with marriage gifts princely and diuine is adorned and prepared in the next verſe.

[8] As an enſigne of Kingly and prieſtly dignitie: which dignitie Chriſt beſtoweth vpon vs, Chap. 1, 6.

[9] This is a gift giuen by the husband for marriage ſake and a moſt choice ornament, which Chriſt beſtoweth vpon vs, as vpon his ſpouſe.

[b] Good workes which are liuely teſtimonies of faith.

* Math. 22, 2.

[10] Namely the Angel, as appeareth by the next verſe.

[11] The particular hiſtorie of this verſe is brought in by occaſion, and as it were beſides the purpoſe, that Saint Iohn might make a publike example of his owne infirmitie, and of the modeſt ſanctimonie of the Angel, who hath renounced for himſelfe the diuine honours, and recalled all the ſeruants of God, vnto the worſhip of him alone: as alſo 22, 8.

* Chap. 22, 8.

[c] Which are commanded to beare witneſſe of Ieſus.

[d] For Ieſus is the marke that all the propheſies ſhote at.

[12] The ſecond place of this Chapter (as I ſaide verſe 1.) is of the victory gotten by Chriſt againſt both the beaſtes: in which firſt Chriſt is deſcribed as one ready to fight, vnto the 16. verſe then is ſhewed the battell to bee begun, thence vnto the 18. verſe: laſtly is ſet foorth the victorie vnto the end of the Chapter. In this place doe ſhine moſt excellent properties of Chriſt as our heauenly Iudge and reuenger, according to his perſon, companie, effects, and names.

[13] Properties belonging to his perſon, that hee is heauenly, iudge, faithfull, true, iuſt, in this verſe, ſearching out all things ruling ouer all, to bee ſearched out of none, verſe 12. the trumpet, and the very eſſentiall worde of God, verſe 13.

[14] The company or retinue of Chriſt, holy, innumerable, heauenly, iudiciall, royall and pure.

[15] The effects of Chriſt prepared vnto battell, that with his mouth hee ſtriketh the Gentiles, ruleth and deſtroyeth.

* Pſalme 2, 9.

[16] The name agreeing vnto Chriſt according to the former properties, expreſſed after the manner of the Hebrewes.

* Chap. 17, 14. 1. tim. 6, 15.

[17] The ſecond member as I ſayde verſe 11. A reprochfull calling forth of his enemies vnto battell: in which not themſelues (for why ſhould they be called foorth of the king of the world, or prouoked being his ſubiects? for that were not comely) but in their hearing, the birds of the ayre are called to eate their carkaſſes.

[18] That is openly, and in ſight of all, as Numb. 25, 4. and 2. Sam. 12, 11.

[19] That is, through this inferiour heauen, and which is nerer vnto vs: an Hebrew phraſe.

and gather your ſelues together vnto the ſupper of the great God,

18 That yee may eate the fleſh of kings, and the fleſh of high captaines, and the fleſh of mighty men, and the fleſh of horſes, and of them that ſit on them, and the fleſh of all free men, and bond men, and of ſmall and great.

19 [20] And I ſaw the beaſt, and the kings of the earth, and their hoaſts gathered together to make battell againſt him that ſate on the horſe, and againſt his armie.

20 But the beaſt [21] was taken, and with him [22] that falſe Prophet that wrought miracles before him, whereby he deceiued them that receiued the beaſts marke, and them that worſhipped his image. Theſe both were aliue caſt into a lake of fire burning with brimſtone.

21 And the remnant were ſlaine with the ſword of him that ſitteth vpon the horſe, which commeth out of his mouth, and all the fowles were filled full with their fleſh.

[20] The 3. member (as was ſayde verſe 11.) of the victory obteined by Chriſt. Vnto this apperteineth two things: his bucking with the beaſt and his forces in this verſe: and the euent moſt magnificent, deſcribed after the maner of men, in the verſes following. All theſe things are plaine.

[21] Namely, that beaſt with ſeuen heads, of which before, Chapter 13, 1. and 17, 3.

[22] That is, that beaſt with two heads, of which 13, 11. Looke more, Chap. 16, 14.

CHAP. XX.

1 The Angel 2 bindeth Satan for a thouſand yeeres. 8 Being looſed, hee ſtirreth vp Gog and Magog, that is, priuie and open enemies againſt the Saints, 11 but the vengeance of the Lord cutting off their inſolencie. 12 The bookes are opened, by which the dead are iudged.

And [1] I ſaw an Angel come downe from heauen, hauing the key [2] of the bottomleſſe pit, and a great chaine in his hand.

2 And he tooke the dragon that old ſerpent, which is the deuill and Satan, and he bound him [3] a thouſand yeeres:

3 And caſt him into the bottomles pit, and he ſhut him vp, and ſealed the doore vpon him, that hee ſhould deceiue the people [4] no more till the thouſand yeeres were fulfilled: for after that he muſt bee looſed for [5] a little ſeaſon.

4 [6] And I ſaw [a] [7] ſeates: and they ſate vpon them, and iudgement was giuen vnto them, and I ſavv the ſoules of them that were [8] beheaded for the witneſſe of Ieſus, and for the word of God, and which [9] did not worſhip the beaſt, neither his image, neither had taken his marke vpon their foreheads or on their hands; and they liued, and reigned with Chriſt a thouſand yeere.

5 [10] But the reſt of the dead men [11] ſhall not liue againe, vntill the thouſand yeeres be finiſhed: this is the firſt reſurrection.

6 Bleſſed and holy is he, that hath part in the firſt reſurrection: for on ſuch the [12] ſecond death hath no power: but they ſhall be the Prieſtes of God and of Chriſt, [13] and ſhall reigne with him a thouſand yeere.

7 [14] And when the [15] thouſand yeeres are expired, Satan ſhall be looſed out of his priſon,

8 [16] And ſhall goe out to deceiue the people, which are in the foure quarters of the earth: euen * Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battell, whoſe number is as the ſand of the Sea.

9 And they went vp into the [b] plaine of the earth, and they compaſſed the tents of the Saints about, and the beloued citie: but [17] fire came down from God out of heauen, and deuoured them.

10 [18] And the deuill that deceiued them, was caſt into a lake of fire and brimſtone, where that beaſt and that falſe prophet are, and ſhall bee tormented euen day and night for euermore.

11 [19] And I ſaw a great [20] white throne, and one that ſate on it, [21] from whoſe face fled away both the earth and heauen, and their place was no more found.

12 And I ſaw the dead, both great and ſmall ſtand before [22] God: and the [23] bookes were opened, and * another booke was opened, which is the booke [24] of life, and the dead were iudged of thoſe things, which were written in the bookes, according to their workes.

13 [25] And the ſea gaue vp her dead, which were in her, and death and hell deliuered vp the dead, which were in them: and they were iudged euery man according to their workes.

14 [26] And death, and hell were caſt into the lake of fire: this is the ſecond death.

15 And whoſoeuer was not found written in the booke of life, was caſt into the lake of fire.

[1] Now followeth the 3. place of the propheticall hiſtorie, which is of the victory whereby Chriſt ouercame the dragon, as I noted Chap. 7, 1. This place muſt neceſſarily bee ioyned with the ende of the 12. chapter and be applied vnto the iuſt vnderſtanding thereof. This chapter hath two parts, one of the dragon ouercome, vnto the 10. verſe, the other of the reſurrection and laſt iudgement vnto the end of the chapter. The hiſtory of the dragon is double: Firſt of the firſt victory after which he was bound by Chriſt vnto the 6. verſe. The ſecond is of the laſt victory, whereby he was throwen downe into euerlaſting puniſhment, thence vnto the 10. verſe. This firſt hiſtory happened in the firſt time of the Chriſtian Church, when the dragon throwen downe from heauen by Chriſt, went about to moleſt the new birth of the Church in the earth Chap. 12, 17, 18. For which cauſe I gaue warning, that this ſtory of the Dragon muſt bee anexed vnto that place. [2] That is of hell, whiter God threw downe the Angels which had ſinned, and bound them in chaines of darkeneſſe to bee kept vnto damnation, 2. Pet. 2. 4. Iude 6. [3] The firſt whereof (continuing this hiſtory with the end of the 12. chapter) is the 36. yeere from the paſſion of Chriſt, when the Church of the Iewes being ouerthrowen, Satan aſſayled to inuade the Chriſtian Church gathered of the Gentiles, and to deſtroy part of her ſeed, Chap 12, 17. The thouſandth yeere falleth preciſely vpon the times of that wicked Hildebrand, who was called Gregorie the ſeuenth a moſt damnable Necromancer and ſorcerer, whome Satan vſed as an inſtrument when he was looſed out of bonds, thenceforth to annoy the Saints of God with moſt cruell perſecutions, and the whole world with diſſentions, and moſt bloody warres: as Benno the Cardinall reporteth at large. And this is the firſt victory gotten ouer the dragon in the earth. [4] Namely, with that publike and violent deceit which he attempted before, Chap. 12. and which after a thouſand yeeres (a lacke for woe) hee moſt mightily procured in the Chriſtian worlde. [5] Which being once expired, the ſecond battell and victory ſhall be, of which verſe 7, 8. [6] A deſcription of the common ſtate of the Church of Chriſt in earth in that ſpace of a thouſand yeeres, for which the diuell was in bonds: in which firſt the authoritie, life, and common honour of the godly, is declared, verſe 4. Secondly, newnes of life is preached vnto others by the Goſpel, after that ſpace, verſ 5 Finally, he concludeth with promiſes, verſ 6. [a] For iudgement was committed to them, as to the members ioyned to the head, not yͤ Chriſts office was giuen ouer them. [7] This was a type of the authoritie of the good and faithfull ſeruants of God in the Church, taken from the maner of men. [8] Of the Martyrs, which ſuffered in thoſe firſt times. [9] Of the Martyrs which ſuffered after that both the beaſts were now riſen vp, Chap. 13. for theſe three things are expounded.

[10] Whoſoeuer ſhall lie dead in ſin, and not know the trueth of God.

[11] They ſhall not be renewed with that newneſſe of the life by the enlightning of the Goſpell of the glory of Chriſt. For this is the firſt reſurrection, by which the ſoules of the godly doe riſe from their death. In the ſecond reſurrection their bodies ſhall riſe againe.

[12] That whereby both body and ſoule, that is, the whole man is addicted and deliuered vnto eternall death. So chapter 2, 11.

[13] A returne vnto the intended hiſtory, by reſuming the words which are in the end of the fourth verſe.

[14] The ſecond hiſtory, of the latter victorie of Chriſt, as was ſaid verſe 1. In which are ſummarily deſcribed the worke, ouerthrow and eternall puniſhment of Sathan.

[15] Of which I ſpake verſe 2. Then therefore ſhall be giuen vnto him liberty to rage againſt the Church, and to moleſt the Saints for the ſinnes of men: vnto whom the faithfull ſhall haue aſſociated themſelues more then was meete, taſting with them of their impuritie of doctrine and life. [16] The worke or acte of Satan (which is the firſt member as I diſtinguiſhed in the verſe before going) to deceiue the whole world, euen vnto the vttermoſt nations thereof: to arme them againſt the people of God, in this verſe, and to beſiege and oppreſſe the Church, with his whole ſtrength, in the verſe following. * Ezech. 39. 2. [b] As if he ſaid in ſo much that the whole face of the earth, how great ſoeuer it is was filled. [17] The wrath of God, conſuming the aduerſaries, and ouerthrowing all their enterpriſes, Heb. 10, 27. And this is the ſecond member mentioned verſe 7. the ouerthrow of Satan. [18] The third member, eternall deſtruction againſt thoſe that are ouercome: as I noted in the ſame place. [19] The ſecond part of this Chapter, in which is deſcribed the iudge, in this verſe, and the laſt iudgement in the verſe following. [20] That is, a tribunall ſeate moſt Princelike and glorious: for ſo doeth the Greeke word alſo ſignifie. [21] That is, Chriſt, before whom when he commeth vnto iudgement, heauen and earth ſhall periſh for the greatneſſe of his maieſtie, 2. Peter 3, 7, 10. &c. [22] That is, Chriſt the iudge, 2. Cor. 5, 10. [22] As it were, our books of reckoning or accompts: that is, the teſtimonie of our conſcience, and of our works, which by no meanes can be auoyded. This is ſpoken after the manner of men. * Chap. 3, 5. and 21, 27. phil. 4, 3. [24] The booke of the eternall decree of God, in which God the Father hath elected in Chriſt according to the good pleaſure of his will, thoſe that ſhallbe heires of life. This alſo is ſpoken according to the maner of men. [25] This is a preuention or an anſwere to an obiection: for happly ſome man will ſay, but they are dead, whom the ſea, death and the graue hath conſumed, how ſhall they appeare before the iudge? S. Iohn anſwereth by reſurrection from death, whereunto all things (howſoeuer repugnant) ſhall miniſter and ſerue at the commandement of God, as Dan. 12. [26] The laſt enemie which is death ſhallbe aboliſhed by Chriſt (that he may no more make any attempt againſt vs) 1. Cor. 15, 16. and death ſhall feede vpon the reprobate in hell for euermore, according to the righteous iudgement of God, in the next verſe.

CHAP. XXI.

1 He deſcribeth new Hieruſalem deſcending from heauen, 6 The bride the Lambes wife, 12 and the glorious building of the citie, 19 garniſhed with precious ſtones, 22 whoſe Temple the Lambe is.

AND [1] I ſaw * a new heauen, and a new earth: for the * firſt heauen, and the firſt earth were paſſed away, and there was no more ſea.

2 [2] And I Iohn ſaw the holy citie new Hieruſalem come downe from God out of heauen, prepared as a bride trimmed for her husband.

3 [3] And I heard a great voyce out of heauen, ſaying, Beholde, the Tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them: and they ſhall be his people, and God himſelfe ſhallbe their God with them.

4 * And God ſhall wipe away all teares from their eyes, and there ſhall be no more death, neither ſorrow, neither crying, neither ſhall there be any more paine: for the firſt things are paſſed.

5 [4] And he that ſate vpon the throne, ſaid, * Behold, I make all things new, and he ſaid vnto me, Write: for theſe things are faithfull and true.

6 And he ſayd vnto mee, * [5] It is done, I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end: I will giue to him that is athirſt, of the well of the water of life freely.

7 He that ouercommeth, ſhall inherit all things, and I will be his God, and he ſhallbe my Sonne.

8 But the fearefull and vnbeleeuing, and the abominable, and murtherers, and whoremongers, and ſorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars ſhall haue their [a] part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimſtone, which is the ſecond death.

9 [6] And there came vnto me one of the ſeuen Angels, which had the ſeuen vials full of the ſeuen laſt plagues, and talked with me, ſaying, Come: I will ſhew thee the bride the Lambs wife.

10 And hee caried mee away in the ſpirit to a great and [7] an high mountaine, and he ſhewed me [8] that great city, that holy Ieruſalem, deſcending out of heauen from God,

11 Hauing the glory of God, and her ſhining was like vnto a ſtone moſt precious, as a iaſper ſtone cleare as chryſtall,

12 [9] And had a great wall and high, and had [10] twelue gates, and at the gates [11] twelue Angels, and the names written which are the twelue tribes of the children of Iſrael:

13 On the Eaſt part there vvere three gates, and on the North ſide three gates, on the South ſide three gates, and on the Weſt ſide three gates.

14 And the wall of the citie had [12] twelue foundations, and in them the names of the Lambes twelue Apoſtles.

15 [13] And he that walked with me, had a golden reed, to meaſure the citie withall, and the gates thereof, and the wall thereof.

16 [14] And the citie lay [b] foureſquare, and the length is as large as the bredth of it, and he meaſured the citie with the reed, twelue thouſand furlongs: and the length, and the bredth, and the height of it are equall.

17 And he meaſured the wall thereof an hundred fourty and foure cubits, by the meaſure of man, that is, of the [c] Angel.

18 [15] And the building of the wall of it was of iaſper: and the citie was pure golde, like vnto cleare glaſſe.

19 And the foundations of the wall of the citie were garniſhed with all maner of precious ſtones: the firſt foundation vvas iaſper: the ſecond of Saphire: the third of a Chalcedonie: the fourth of an Emeraud:

20 The fift of a Sardonix: the ſixt of a Sardius: the ſeuenth of a Chryſolite: the eight of a Beril: the ninth of a Topaz: the tenth of a Chryſophraſus: the eleuenth of a Iacynth: the twelfth an Amethyſt.

21 And the twelue gates vvere twelue pearles, and euery gate is of one pearle, and the [d] ſtreet of the citie is pure gold, as ſhining glaſſe.

22 And I ſaw no Temple therein: for the Lord God Almighty and the Lambe are the Temple of it.

23 * [16] And their citie hath no neede of the Sunne, neither of the Moone to ſhine in it: for the glory of God did light it: and the Lambe is the light of it.

24 * And the people which are ſaued, ſhall walke in the light of it, and the kings of the earth ſhall bring their glory and honour vnto it.

25 * And the gates of it ſhall not be ſhut by day: for there ſhall be no night there.

26 And the glory and honour of the Gentiles ſhall be brought vnto it.

27 And there ſhall enter into it none vncleane thing, neither whatſoeuer worketh abomination or lies: but they which are written in the Lambs * booke of life.

[1] Now followeth the ſecond part of the hiſtory propheticall (as I ſaid Cha. 1. and 12, 1.) of the future eſtate of the Church in heauen after the laſt iudgement, vnto the fift verſe of the next chapter, in this are two things briefly declared. The ſtation, ſeate or place thereof, verſe 1. Then her ſtate and condition in the verſes following. Before the ſtate of the Church deſcribed, is ſet downe the ſtate of the whole world, that there ſhallbe a new heauen, and a new earth, as Eſay. 65,17. and 66,22. and 2. Pet. 3,13. and this is the ſeat or place of the Church, in which righteouſnes ſhall dwell.

* Eſay. 65,17. and 66,22.

* 2. Pet. 3,13.

[2] The ſtate of this glorious Church is firſt deſcribed generally, vnto the 8. verſe and then ſpecially and by parts, in the verſes following. The generall deſcription conſiſteth in a viſion ſhewed a farre off, verſ. 2. and in ſpeach ſpoken from heauen. In the generall theſe things are common that the Church is holy, new, the workmanſhip of God, heauenly, moſt glorious, the ſpouſe of Chriſt, and partaker of this glorie in this verſe.

[3] The Church is deſcribed by ſpeach firſt of an Angel, in two verſes, then of God himſelfe, in 4. verſes. The Angels ſpeach deſcribeth the glory of the Church by the moſt familiar cohabitation of God therewith, by communication of all maner good things according to the couenant, in this verſe: and by remoouing or putting far away of all euill things in the verſe following.

* Chap. 7,17. eſa. 15,8.

[4] In the ſpeach of God himſelfe deſcribing the Church, is firſt a certaine exordium, or entrance, verſe 5. Then followeth a magnificent deſcription of the Church, by the preſent and future good things of the ſame, in 3. verſes following. In the exordium God challengeth to himſelfe the reſtoring of all the creatures, of which verſe 1. and witneſſeth the calling of S. Iohn vnto the writing of theſe things, in this verſe.

* Eſa. 43,19. 2. Cor. 5,17.

* Chap. 1,8. and 21,13.

[5] The deſcription of the Church is of three ſorts, by aboliſhing of olde things: by the being of preſent things in God, that is of things eternall and by the communication of all good things with the godly, verſe 6. If ſo bee they ſhall ſtriue manfully, verſe 7. But the reprobate are excluded from thence, verſe 8.

[a] Their lot, and inheritance as it were.

[6] A tranſition vnto the particular deſcribing of the heauenly Church by the expreſſe calling of Saint Iohn in this verſe, and his rapting vp by the Spirit, in confirmation of the trueth of God in the verſe following.

[7] Hee meaneth the place and ſtately ſeate of the Church, ſhadowed out in a mountaine.

[8] A type of that Church which is one, ample, or Catholike, holy celeſtiall, built of God, in this verſe: and glorious in the verſe following. This type propounded generally, is after particularly declared, verſe 12. &c.

[9] A particular deſcription (as I noted, verſe 2.) of the celeſtiall Church. Firſt, by the eſſentiall parts of the ſame, vnder the ſimilitude of a citie to verſe 12. Secondly, by forreine accidents, vnto the end of the chapter. Thirdly, by the effects, in the beginning of the next chapter, the eſſentiall parts are noted the matter and the forme in the whole worke: of theſe the ſuperficies and foundation of the wall are entire parts (as they vſe to bee called) which parts are firſt deſcribed in figure, vnto the 14 verſe and afterward more exactly.

[10] According to the number of the tribes, of which chap 7. For here the outward part is attributed vnto the old Teſtament, and the foundation of the new Teſtament.

[11] Hee meaneth the Prophets, who are the meſſengers of God, and watchmen of the Church.

[12] That is, foundation ſtones, according to the number of the gates, as is ſhewed verſe 19.

[13] A tranſition vnto a more exquiſite deſcription of the parts of the Church, by finding out the meaſure of the ſame by the Angel that meaſured them.

[14] The meaſure and forme moſt equall in 2. verſes.

[b] A foureſquared figure hath equall ſides, and outright corners, and therefore the Grecians call by this name thoſe things that are ſteady, and of continuance, and perfect.

[c] He addeth this, becauſe the Angel had the ſhape of a man.

[15] The matter moſt precious and glittering which the preſence of God maketh moſt glorious.

[d] By ſtreete, he meaneth the broadeſt place of the citie.

* Eſa. 10,19.

[16] The ſecond forme of particular deſcription (as I ſaid verſe 12) from forraine and outward accidents: which are theſe, Light from God himſelfe, in this verſe, glory from men, verſe 24. perfect ſecuritie from all harme, verſe 25. Finally ſuch trueth and incorruption of glory (verſe 26.) as can beare and abide with it, nothing that is inglorious, verſe the laſt.

* Eſa. 60,3. * Eſa. 60,11. * Chap. 2,3. & 20,12. phil. 4,3.

CHAP. XXII.

1 The riuer of water of life is ſhewed, 2 and the tree of liue: 6, 7 Then followeth the concluſion of this propheſie, 8 where Iohn declareth, that the things herein contained are moſt true. 13 And now the third time repeateth theſe wordes, All things come from him, who is the beginning and the end.

AND [1] hee ſhewed me a pure riuer of water of life, cleare as chryſtal, proceeding out of the throne of God, and of the Lambe.

2 In the middes of the ſtreete of it, and of either ſide of the riuer was the tree of life, which bare twelue maner of fruits, and gaue fruit euery moneth: and the leaues of the tree ſerued to heale the nations with.

3 And there ſhall be no more curſe, but the throne of God and of the Lambe ſhallbe in it, and his ſeruants ſhall ſerue him.

[1] Here is abſolued and finiſhed the deſcription of the celeſtiall Church (as I ſhewed before chap 21, 12.) by the effects in 5. verſes, and then this booke is concluded in the reſt of the chapter. The effects proceeding from God, who dwelleth in the Church, are theſe: the euerlaſting grace of God in this verſe, the eternall liuing of the godly, as chap. 2, 7. the eternall fruits which the godly bring foorth vnto God, themſelues and others, verſe 2. freedome and immunity from all euill, God himſelfe taking pleaſure in his ſeruants, and they likewiſe in their God, verſe 3. The beholding and ſight of God, and ſealing of the faithfull from all eternity, verſe 4. the light of God, and an euerlaſting kingdome and glory, verſe 5.

4 And they ſhall ſee his face, and his Name ſhallbe in their foreheads.

5 ✤ And there ſhall be no night there, and they need no candle, neither light of the Sunne: for the Lord God giueth them light, and they ſhall reigne for euermore.

6 [2] And hee ſayd vnto mee, Theſe words are faithfull and true: and the Lord God of the holy Prophets ſent his Angel to ſhew vnto his ſeruants the things which muſt ſhortly be fulfilled.

7 Behold, I come ſhortly. Bleſſed is hee that keepeth the wordes of the prophecie of this booke.

8 And I am Iohn, which ſaw and heard theſe things: and when I had heard and ſeene, ✣ I fell downe to worſhip before the feete of the Angel which ſhewed me theſe things.

9 But he ſaid vnto me, See thou do it not: for I am thy fellow ſeruant, and of thy brethren the Prophets, and of them which keepe the words of this booke: worſhip God.

10 [3] And hee ſayd vnto mee, [4] Seale not the wordes of the prophecie of this booke: for the time it at hand.

11 [5] He that is vniuſt, let him be vniuſt ſtill: and he which is filthy, let him be filthy ſtill: and he that is righteous, let him be righteous ſtill: and he that is holy, let him be holy ſtill.

12 [6] And beholde, I come ſhortly, and my reward is with mee, ✤ to giue to euery man according as his worke ſhallbe.

13 I am ✣ Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the firſt and the laſt.

14 Bleſſed are they, that doe his Commaundements, [7] that their right may be in the tree of Life, and may enter in through the gates into the Citie.

15 For without ſhallbe dogs and inchanters, and whoremongers, and murtherers, and idolaters, and whoſoeuer loueth or maketh lies.

16 [8] I Ieſus haue ſent mine Angel, to teſtifie vnto you theſe things in the Churches: I am the root and the generation of Dauid, and the bright morning ſtarre.

17 And the Spirit and the bride ſay, Come. And let him that heareth ſay, Come: and let him that is athirſt, come: and ❦ let whoſoeuer will, take of the water of life freely.

18 [9] For I proteſt vnto euery man that heareth the words of the prophecie of this booke, If any man ſhall adde vnto theſe things, God ſhall adde vnto him the plagues that are written in this booke.

19 And if any man ſhall diminiſh of the words of the booke of this prophecie, God ſhall take away his part out of the booke of life, and out of the holy Citie, and from thoſe things which are written in this booke.

20 [10] Hee which teſtifieth theſe things, ſayth, Surely I come quickly, Amen. Euen ſo, come Lord Ieſus.

21 [11] The grace of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt be with you all, AMEN.

THE END.

✤ Eſai. 60, 19.

[2] The whole booke is concluded and made vp by a confirmation. and a ſalutation. The confirmation hath three places: The words of the Angel vnto the 15. verſe, the words of Chriſt: verſe 16. 17. and the obteſtation made by S. Iohn from diuine authority, thence vnto the 20. verſe. By the ſpeech of the Angel this prophecie is confirmed, vnto the 8. verſe and then he ſpeaketh of the vſe of this booke in the verſes following. The prophecie is firſt confirmed by the Angel from the nature thereof, that it is faithfull and true. Secondly from the nature of the efficient cauſe, both principall which is God, and inſtrumentall, which is the Angel in this verſe. Thirdly from the promiſes of God concerning his comming to effect all theſe things, and concerning our ſaluation, verſe 7. Fourthly from the teſtification of S. Iohn himſelfe, verſe 8. The reſt of the ſpeech of the Angel tending to the ſame and S. Iohn interrupted or brake off by his vnaduiſed act of worſhipping him, in the ſame ver. which the Angel forbidding, teacheth him that adoration muſt be giuen not to him, but onely to God, as for himſelfe, that he is of ſuch nature and office, as he may not be adored: which thing alſo was in like maner done, chap. 16, 10.

✣ Chap. 19, 10.

[3] The Angel returneth vnto his former ſpeech: in which hee teacheth the vſe of this booke, both towards our ſelues, in this and the next verſ. and in reſpect of God for declaration of his trueth, thence vnto the 15 verſe.

[4] That is, propound this prophecie openly vnto all, and conceale no part of it. The contrary whereunto is commanded, Eſai. 8, 6. and Dan. 8, 26.

[5] An obiection preuented. But there will be ſome that will abuſe this occaſion vnto euill, and will wreſt this Scripture vnto their owne deſtruction, as Peter ſaith. What then ſayth the Angel, the myſteries of God muſt not therefore be concealed, which it hath pleaſed him to communicate vnto vs. Let them be hurtfull vnto others, let ſuch be more and more vile in themſelues, whom this Scripture doth not pleaſe: yet others ſhallbe further conformed thereby vnto righteouſneſſe and true holineſſe. The care and reformation of theſe may not be neglected, becauſe of the voluntarie and malicious offence of others.

[6] The ſecond place belonging vnto the vſe of this booke, as I ſayd, verſe 10. Alſo (ſayth God by the Angel) though there ſhould be no vſe of this booke vnto men: yet it ſhallbe of this vſe vnto me, that it is a witneſſe of my trueth vnto my glory, who will come ſhortly to giue and execute iuſt iudgement, in this verſe: who haue taught that all theſe things haue their being in mee, in the 13 verſe, and haue denounced bleſſedneſſe vnto my ſeruants in the Church, verſe 14. and reprobation vnto the vngodly, verſe 15.

✤ Rom. 2, 6.

✣ Chap. 1, 8. and 21, 6. Eſai. 41, 44. and 34, 6.

[7] The bleſſednes of the godly ſet downe by their title and intereſt thereunto: and their fruit in the ſame.

[8] The ſecond place of confirmation, as I ſaide, is the ſpeech of Chriſt, ratifying the vocation of S. Iohn, and the authority of his calling and teſtimonie, both from the condition of his owne perſon being God and man, in whom all the promiſes of God are Yea and Amen. 2. Cor. 1, 20. and alſo from the teſtification of other perſons, by the acclamation of the holy Ghoſt, who here is as it were an honourable aſſiſtant of the marriage of the Church as the ſpouſe: and of euery of the godly as members: and finally from the thing preſent, that of their owne knowledge and accord they are called forth vnto the participation of the good things of God, verſe 17.

❦ Eſai. 55, 1.

[9] The obteſtation of Saint Iohn (which is the third place of the confirmation, as was noted verſe 6.) ioyned with a curſe of execration, to preſerue the trueth of this booke entire and vncorrupted, in two verſes.

[10] A diuine confirmation or ſealing of the obteſtation: firſt from Chriſt auouching the ſame, and denouncing his comming againſt all thoſe that ſhall put their ſacrilegious hands hereunto: then from Saint Iohn himſelfe, who by a moſt holy prayer calleth Chriſt to take vengeance of them.

[11] The ſalutation Apoſtolicall, which is the other place of the concluſion, as I ſaid, verſe 6. and is the end almoſt of euery Epiſtle: which we wiſh vnto the Church, and to all the holy and elect members thereof in Chriſt Ieſus our Lord, vntill his comming to iudgement, Come Lord Ieſus, and doe it, Amen: againe, Amen.

A briefe Table of the interpretation of the proper names which are chiefly found in the Old Teſtament, wherein the firſt number ſignifieth the Chapter, the ſecond the verſe.

WHereas the vvickedneſſe of time, and the blindneſſe of the former age had beene ſuch, that all things together haue beene abuſed and corrupted, ſo that the very right names of diuers of the holy men named in the Scriptures, haue beene forgotten, and novv ſeeme ſtrange unto vs, and the names of infants, that ſhould euer haue ſome godly aduertiſements in them, and ſhould be memorials and markes of the children of God receiued into his houſhould haue bene hereby alſo changed, and made the ſignes and badges of idolatry and heatheniſh impietie: vve haue novv ſet foorth this Table of the Names that be moſt vſed in the Old Teſtament, vvith their interpretations, as the Hebrevv importeth, partly to call backe the godly from that abuſe, vvhen they ſhall knovv the true names of the godly Fathers, & vvhat they ſignifie, that their children novv named after them, may haue teſtimonies by their very names. that they are vvithin that faithfull familie, that in all their doings had euer God before their eyes, and that they are bound by theſe their names to ſerue God from their infancie, and haue occaſion to praiſe him for his vvorkes vvrought in them, and their fathers, but chiefly to reſtore the names to their integritie, vvherby many places of the Scriptures and ſecret myſteries of the holy Ghoſt ſhall better be vnderſtood. VVe haue medled rarely vvith the Greeke names, becauſe their interpretation is vncertaine, and many of them are corrupted from their originall, as vve may alſo ſee theſe Hebrevv names ſet in the margent of this Table, vvhich haue beene corrupted by the Grecians. Novv for the other Hebrevv names that are not here interpreted, let not the diligent Reader be carefull: for hee ſhall finde them in places moſt conuenient amongſt the annotations: at leaſt ſo many as may ſeeme to make for any edification, and vnderſtanding of the Scriptures.
